Wm. Gingery, an officer of the U. S. A., drilled the P. O. S. of A. members here in marching and salutes.

Adam Walizer is working in Nippeno valley.

He was a Little "Twisted."

They tell this on a young fellow who expects to be married in the happy June time, and went to see the preacher for some pointers the other evening. He inquired of the dominie with much hesitation: "Is—is it klistomary to cuss the bride?" The preacher said that was sometimes done, he believed, but hardly ever began so early as the ceremony.

COBURN.

On Saturday evening, May 20, John Rote one of the oldest residents in this community, died at the age of 79 years, 1 month and 5 days from gangrene, after a few weeks of intense suffering. He was married twice, his first wife being Mary Shaffer who died about a score of years ago; his second was Mrs. Sarah Corman (nee Snavelly) who also preceded him to the future world 16 months ago. He is survived by six children, namely: Mrs. Lizzie Stover, Emanuel, Simon, Mrs. Maggie Vonada, Lewis and William, all residing at or near Coburn but Lewis who lives at Lock Haven; fifteen grand children and eight great grand children. Funeral services were conducted by his pastor Rev. F. F. Laufer, on Tuesday morning, in the Reformed church of which father Rote was a consistent member. Interment was made in the Reformed cemetery at Aaronsburg.

A. J. Stover and wife visited at Michael Stover's near Fiedler on Sunday.

ROLAND.

Quite a lot of our people attended the show in Bellefonte on Monday, some took their children to see the parade, and others would not go without an excuse.

There was a social held at this place by one of our churches, and such disorderly conduct that prevailed by the roughs was a disgrace to the place; we would suggest that the men here take up this matter and cool some of them. Once would be sufficient, for a while at least.

The United Evangelical congregation will hold their reopening services on the 3rd and 4th of June, they expect a number of prominent ministers present. Everybody is cordially invited to attend—of course bring a full pocket with you.

Mrs. America, wife of the late G. H. Leyman, made sale of all her personal property, and on Friday last with her son Dannie, and also her brother-in-law, David Mills, left on the 8:36 p. m., train for Ellipticville, N. Y., where she will make her home for the present, among her relatives.

"Hello" our boy Soup has come to the front again in another capacity, viz: "Auto Cop" ladies, look-out for your baby coaches, when out on scorching tours, or he may seize them.

William Dukeman, wife and baby of Bellefonte, visited at his parents over Sunday, and fished all day Monday.

Harvey Barnhart has moved on the farm vacated by Mrs. Leyman.

The Epworth League of Kennedy and Curtin held a Union Anniversary meeting at the former's church and report a very interesting and we hope profitable time.

Any one wishing to procure a Snyder county pump, can do so by calling on Soup, and placing their order, he is representing the "Tacy" Pump Company of that county.

The game of base ball, played at Milesburg on Saturday afternoon between the Snow Shoe and Curtin teams, was won by the latter, the score standing 7 to 9; good job boys, come again, and we will treat you on the square, every time.

BULL RUMS vs Pine Knots.

This interesting bit of Northumberland county local history is related by The Milton Evening Standard: "In the Presidential election in 1844, says The Sunbury Daily, one of the warmest this country ever saw, the total vote of Sunbury was 210, and that of Northumberland 201. Each town at that time had about one thousand population. In those days the Sunburians were called 'Bulls Rums' and the Northumberland people 'Pine Knots.' This lasted for many years, and the boys of the two towns would fight at the fall of a hat. This is all changed now and the best of feeling prevails and good fellowship. In the Odd Fellows' parade the Northumberland Lodge of Odd Fellows, numbering seventy-five, wore pine knots on their coats. Two decades ago they would have raised a riot. Now they were cheered along the entire route."

Lots of people are so polite as to inspire suspicion.

ROCK VIEW.

Ira Herman spent a week at Frank Keen's.

Vianna and George Grove spent Sunday at Ed. Poorman's.

Clayton Koper is all smiles since that little boy arrived.

There was somebody driving through our View on Sunday and I guess they were from the North pole, for they had never slips on their horse. We don't think it was anybody from our View for they would not use any never slips in the summer.

Michael Grove and family spent Sunday at John Grove's.

Miller Herman and family, Alvin Stover, wife and little daughter, spent Sunday at J. F. Hoy's.

One of our young men was to town on Sunday to see the sights at the show, and he had quite a chat with Mr. Robinson, who thought he was the mayor of Bellefonte: how about it?

Misses Kate and Mae Royer were to Madisonburg to hear of their brother William, who is at the hospital undergoing an operation.

Saul Poorman is weatherboarding his house.

Not hurt but badly frightened—Frank has a favorite little riding horse, he calls Freddie; last week one day he got on Freddie's back to go for the calves, and he must have had too much weight in front, for Freddie's heels went up and Frank went right over Freddie's head—so poor Frank had to walk home; no doubt Freddie was sorry when Frank got home.

Expensive Cane.

Miss Lila Gates, of Tyrone, on Friday said to John W. Gates, millionaire and railroad magnate of New York, a cane that was given to her father by the proprietor of the Bingham House, Philadelphia, sixty years ago. The cane contains a sword on which is engraved a man's head and face. Miss Gates valued it at $1,000, but John W. thought it worth a much larger sum and sent her a draft for $2,000. The cane will become the property of one of Mr. Gates' friends now in Europe. Miss Gates says the sale of the cane at the above price was to her a very pleasant surprise.—Herald.

ADDRESSING ENVELOPES.

That we are a nation of poor writers is attributable more to carelessness (shall we say laziness) than to any other one thing. And no class of people notice the results of this carelessness more than those who come in contact with letters every day, viz: The postoffice employees. People in general are exceedingly careless in addressing envelopes, where the very greatest care should be exercised. From the neglect of this precaution thousands of letters and packages are sent every month to the dead letter office. Mail clerks, many times, find a great deal of difficulty in determining the destination of a letter because of the omission of some part of the superscription on the envelope. More care should be exercised in addressing letters, never omitting the town, county, and state. The county should never be omitted unless the town is a large metropolis. If the writer desires a speedy delivery of a letter without a special delivery stamp thereon, he will not omit the county in which the postoffice is located. The public the necessity of exercising more care in addressing letters and we hope that not only a few, but all the people in the state, yea all in this broad land will observe this precaution and put the dead-letter office out of business.

Makes all the Postal Cards.

The modest plant that turns out millions of postal cards every month for Uncle Sam is located in a little West Virginia mountain town, high up in the Appalachian range, not far from the border line of Maryland. The town is Piedmont, Mineral county, W. Va., and here the busy factory is at work six days in the week making the little oblong sheets of cardboard on which so many messages of all sorts and kinds are written by all conditions of people. Here the card board is made from the fresh, sweet spruce trees, here it is cut into the requisite sizes, and here the cards are printed, packed and shipped.
