Because he would be obliged to shave twice in one week, was the objection urged by a Perkiomen township, Montgomery county, school director to holding the commencement exercises on any other evening than Saturday, and the Board considerably made it on that evening.

THE SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.

Owing to interest in the erection of the soldiers' monument at this place, the above picture is republished. The monument will be located in front of the Court House, even with the walk. The base is 54 feet wide, 28 feet deep and the side wings 17 feet high. It will be of Barce granite with bronze panels which bear the names of Centre county soldiers. The pedestal in the centre bears the figure of Andrew G. Curtin, the famous War Governor.

The question of location has caused considerable discussion in the past week owing to the size of the monument. Residents along either side of the hill are pronounced in their objection to the above location, as their view of the diamond will be cut off. Others think the structure too large for the place. Many do not want the shade trees and nice lawn destroyed, and hope that some other site will be chosen. Some parties are preparing a petition to the County Commissioners asking them not to permit the erection of the monument in front of the Court House. There is talk of securing an injunction from the Court if work begins.

On the other hand the old soldiers insist that the site chosen is the best; and they don't want it changed, and with them a few other individuals agree.

The general sentiment, as we learn from inquiry, is that it should not obscure the front of the Court House. The County Commissioners last fall gave the committee verbal consent for this location.

SATISFYING WOMAN'S CLAIM.

Sheriff of Blair County Will Sell a Branch of the Pennsylv.

Monday night Sheriff Samuel Lenhart, of Blair county, empaneled a jury of six men and an inquisition was held to ascertain whether sufficient revenue would be obtained from the old Portage railroad owned by the Pennsylvania railroad within seven years to pay the amount awarded to Mrs. Annie Margo, of Cresson, by a Cambria county jury for the death of her husband on the Pennsylvania railroad. Mrs. Margo was awarded $2,659. This, together with costs amounting to $241, the railroad company refused to pay. At the refusal of the company Sheriff Lenhart sold the furniture and fixings in the Cresson and Clearfield offices which amounted to $600, leaving a balance of $2,500 yet to be paid. If the proceeds from the sale of the old Portage road are not sufficient, the sheriff will secure a special writ from the court to sell rolling stock, road beds, stations, or anything which belongs to the company. Before doing this he must seize all available property not requisite for the carrying out of the company's system.

The Prize Fish Story.

Here is a fish story published by the Williamsport Sun that deserves a first prize: "Lying between the hills not far from Hughesville is a small body of water known as Converse's ice dam, or Fish dam, that is so full of the finny tribe that apparently it is impossible for a fish five inches long to swim straight. The small fish are on top and the large ones below, and in order to get the bait down to the big fellows it is necessary to make a hole in the water and carefully drop the hook down through the wriggling mass. On the first of June Mrs. Irvin Converse and Miss Gladys Koch were at the dam making determined efforts to hook some of the under ones. The little fellows on top, however, made such fierce attacks on the bait that their hooks, time after time, were instantly cleared as soon as they touched the water. Many of the little fellows were pulled out in order to make room for the hooks, but the task had not been accomplished when the reporter left the interesting scene. He was assured, however, by the fair anglers that the big fish were there."

Good Record for Avis Shops.

The month ending May 31, was the biggest in the history of the Avis shops and more work was turned out than ever before in the shops' history, which is very creditable to the management and the employes alike. Between May 1 and June 1, twenty-one locomotives were given thorough overhauling. The best previous record was nineteen locomotives overhauled and the average number is considerably less than that, says the Jersey Shore Herald. Taking into consideration the fact that the shops shut down two whole days during the month the above record is indeed a remarkable one.

At the meeting of the board of directors of Dickinson seminary, Williamsport, Friday, the Rev. William Perry Eveland, A. M., Ph. D., was unanimously chosen as the president of that institution.
