Lawson Says Rogers Cheated.

In the July Everybody's Thomas W. Lawson tells how the National City bank was used to decoy Amalgamated investors and how H. H. Rogers cheated him out of $4,000,000 of his share of the copper deal profits. Mr. Lawson calls on the policy holders of the New York, Mutual and Equitable Life to Supremacy of the Battleship. take concerted action under his leadership for their protection. He urges American naval expert, has written them to have nothing to do with any committee and says that his plan has for its aim the preservation of the face value of all policies, the reduction of future premium payments and the restitution of millions looted from the three great companies.

Eighteen Hour Train Abandoned.

Moved by the disastrous derailment of the eastbound Twentieth Century Limited at Mentor, O., June 21, on the Lake Shore, the New York Central management abandoned the eighteen hour service between Chicago and New York, the old twenty hour schedule being restored. The new service had been in operation with apparent success since June 18. In a statement to the public President Newman of the Central said that while the accident was not due to speed of the train he thought it advisable to restore the Artificial Life Through Radium. twenty hour schedule. He expressed trains.

A Scottish electrical company has bemen's cottages in order to revive cotsmall quantities of power to workingtage industries. It is found that the same motor which runs the sewing machine can be geared to rock the cradle or do other forms of household work. Highest Building In the World.

Announcement was made at New York that the Metropolitan Life Insurance company had planned to erect a tower-like structure on the part of its square at Twenty-fourth street and Madison avenue which is still occupied by Dr. Parkhurst's church. This section of the great office building is expected to be the tallest structure in the world. The plans call for an edifice 75 feet square and 560 feet high. It is certain that the building will exceed any tower or spire in the world. The Washington monument is 555 feet high, the Philadelphia city hall 537, the Cologne cathedral 512 and the Park Row building, the tallest business structure, is 380.

The Young Men's Christian association of New York has a new gift in the shape of a schooner which will be used as a training school for members who wish to learn to be sailors. The vessel will accommodate about thirty pupils, who will be taken on various coastwise voyages.

Felix Adler Against Divorce.

The Literary Digest's summary of the recently published book entitled "Marriage and Divorce," by Dr. Felix Adler, head of the Ethical Culture soclety in New York, shows that the position of this radical unorthodox think- Accidents. er is more uncompromising against divorce than that of the orthodox Chrisdisown his child." may justify separation. The right to remarry he would not grant to the guilty because of inability to fulfill the marriage relation. To the innocent it seems unnecessary to grant remarriage, because he cannot understand how a person of fine feelings who has been dishonored through no fault of his or hers should wish to turn in a new direction. As to duty he does not see how one can be discharged from it. Though the pledge of honor has been violated by one side, that does not annul it for the other. Dr. Adler does not, however, sympathize with the orthodox idea that the marriage bond is permanent because God is a party to

A New Physicological Theory.

Professor Starling, lecturing for the London (England) College of Physiclans on June 22, expressed the belief, as a result of recent discoveries, that each organ of the body produces a chemical substance which excites the next organ into action. He calls these substances hormones, of which an example is adrenalin, which is already isolated. The fact that when disease affects one organ general incapacity results is thought to confirm Starling's theory. He regards it as the task of physicological chemistry to discover the hormone of each organ, how it is produced and how it acts. He thinks this would rationalize the treatment of disease.

Glidden's Auto Globe Trot.

Charles J. Glidden, the Boston automobile enthusiast, has just returned to America from a trip around the world in his twenty-four horsepower automobile. He and his party left Boston July 12 last year on the association run to the world's fair. The car was shipped back to Chicago, and thence they started west by way of Minneapolis, traveling with flanged wheels on the tracks of the "Soo" and Canadian Pacific railroads to Vancouver. There they shipped to Honolulu and toured the Hawaiian Islands. In the Fiji islands they had the distinction of bringing the first steam vehicle of any kind. In New Zealand the auto covered a distance of 1,145 miles along the most miles and found bad roads. The natives of Fiji called the auto "the father of all devils," "boat on the road" and prise, "the carriage of lightning."

To a considerable extent the same thing may be said of girls-that good girls usually make good mothers and that colleges that turn out good women do enough. But a good mother is far more of a specialist than an average good father. She must be a judge of health, diet and clothes and must watch and regulate all the details of the child's life. Mothering is skilled labor; fathering isn't. If the father is a skilled worker his expertness concerns the things that he does for a living and for the support of his family. That skill he acquires by preliminary training. But the mother skill of the mother is applied directly to the children, and if it is lacking the children suffer.-Harper's Weekly.

DRESSING THE NECK.

It Plays a Very Important Part In a Woman's Appearance.

Few women realize how much their appearance depends on the way they dress their neck. Women with short necks bundle themselves up until they look as if they had chronic sore throats, while a girl with a neck like a warm spring day as half a dozen of the giraffe wears a little turndown collar and makes a fine caricature of herself. Let her who has the long neck wear all the high soft neck adornments she bluebottle fly-and Mr. Fly fell to the can get together. With an evening gown she need not be afraid to put a band of ribbon under her necklace, and she will look all the better. In the daytime a medium necked woman should never wear a collar that confines the neck too much. In the even-"Because I have something to tell ing the least adornment possible, and perience he con- you that is of interest to you," answer- if she be fortunate enough to have a Leave pretty neck and throat she is better without any jewels. If she must wear Leave some, let them be a string of pearls or a necklace of solitaire diamonds. The thin necked, scrawny women Leave are those that can drape themselves with the old fashioned necklaces with throat is always much more dressy and even for old ladies is becomingly pretty. But their necks must be thoroughty. But their necks must be thoroughly covered with folds of net or soft tulle. Nothing is prettier for old ladies' wear than the kerchiefs, which consisted of a square of net folded and put under the gown. To be sure, in tulle. AN ATTRACTIVE SETTLE.

How You May Make One From Any

Old Wooden Bedstend. An attractive and serviceable settle one that will be useful either in the house, on the lawn or on a deep porch, can be made from a discarded wooder bedstead, as shown in the illustration. On the plazza it is especially effective as a fine old fashioned settle. To con struct one is easy, and any old bed stead will do-the older the better.

legs. These are joined by cleats on which rests the seat. The width of the seat is made to fancy, twelve to sixteen inches. The sides of the bedstead are fitted for the arms to the settle, although it is not necessary to have them. The settles made from grandmother's bed will not need staining or painting. Those of later date need a dressing to be attractive.

The Importance of Manner.

Graciousness is rather an old fashioned virtue. At least it must be confessed that our modern girls, with their frank, brusque ways, often lack this quality, says the Detroit Free Press. It is nevertheless closely linked with those indefinable gifts, charm and tact. Indeed, a large element in the charm which makes for social success is manner. In greeting a stranger, for example, words may be ever so commonplace if the tone and manner be only winning and gracious, while the most brilliant remarks may make an unfavorable impression if uttered in a chiliing, indifferent way. "In conversation the how is the more important than the what," some one brightly says. Certainly the gental social favorite is one who is not afraid to show friendliness she really feels and is unselfish enough to draw out the best there is in others by an inviting and welcoming manner.
