Continued from page 2 Standard Oil Dividends.

The Standard Oil company has declared a dividend of $6 a share for Sept. 16. This means a distribution of $6.000,000 to the stockholders of the great oil trust, of which the personal share of John D. Rockefeller is understood to be $2,400,000. This has drawn attention to the fact that in the past three months Mr. Rockefeller has given away to education and charity at least $11,500,000. His investments outside of Standard Oil are said to produce $10,000,000 a year.

Negro Business Men Meet.

The sixth annual convention of the National Negro Business league has been held at New York, Booker T. Washington presiding. The keynote of his address was for negroes to get to work and improve their condition by productive industry, to create jobs instead of seeking them. He advised against lighting the fires of racial hostillty in the south.

Chicago Tunnels Dangerous.

The committee of engineers appointed to examine the underground tunnels of Chicago have found that all the settling of land that endangered surface property occurred over those tunnels which were built without air pressure. About thirty-three miles of tunnels have now been completed, and the work is proceeding at the rate of 500 feet a day. Only the first mail line

Radium Upsets Darwinism.

Professor George H. Darwin of Cambridge, England, son of Charles Darwin, the father of evolution, in addressing the British association at Cape Town spoke of some recent experiments with radium, which seemed to support the theory of the transmutation of elements, and said that the results contradicted all that was known footed. about the makeup of the universe. Although the mystery of life remained as impenetrable as ever, he thought it possible that the theory of natural selection, first formulated by his father and by Wallace, might need modification. He said it had been shown by recent experiment that the simplest of all atoms, that of hydrogen, consists of about 800 separate parts, called corpuscles or electrons. By analogy with other systems the chemist was compelled to entertain the suggestion that the elements are not eternal. In this field future discovery would prove deeply Interesting.

Heart Education Wanted.

Professor F. J. Miller set the Chicago students of the junior class to thirds as great in the cities as in the thinking hard when, to illustrate his country belief that our colleges develop the mind rather than the heart, he suggested a number of questions which a candidate for a degree ought to be required to answer, such as the follow. ing

"Do you see anything to love in a little child?"

"Can you look straight in the eye of an honest man or pure woman?"

"Will a lonely dog follow you?" "Can you see as much beauty in washing dishes and boeing corn as in playing golf or the piano?" "Can you see the blue sky reflected in a mud puddle?"

Shower Baths In Public Schools.

and playgrounds of New York city Superintendent Maxwell has decided to recommend the installation of shower baths in all public schools. These baths are now in use in seven or eight of the vacation schools, in one of which 1,300 children are receiving shower baths up to 3 p. m. in a single day, "and Mr. Maxwell estimates that 10,000 children are now receiving daily baths in these vacation schools. He says he is convinced of the usefulness of public school baths "both from the hygienic and moral viewpoints." He will advise the supplying of individual towel and soap.

Burbank to Cultivate Children.

A St. Louis clergyman who has just returned from a visit at the Santa Rosa (Cal.) home of Luther Burbank, the famous plant culturist, says that Mr. Burbank told him that it was the great object of his life to introduce into the rearing of children the ideas which he has used so successfully in the creation of new forms of plant life. "Weeds and trees," said Mr. Burbank, "are responsive to few influences in their environment, but children are infinitely more responsive, and the failure to recognize the spiritual element in the child's environment has been fatal." Mr. Burbank added that every person could be physically, morally and spiritually perfect if the same attention were paid to his or her training that he was giving to weeds. The main principle of his child culture is to bring the child into relation with all the elements of its environment to which it is potentially responsive.

Hanter's Hunger Claim Verified.

A recent medical investigation discloses that out of 13.941 New York school children 6,294 needed treatment and 1,092 were suffering from bad nutrition. This recalls the statement made by Robert Hunter in his book. entitled "Poverty," that probably 70,-000 children went to school hungry.

City Boys Choose a Mayor.

A practical lesson in civil government is what was intended to be conveyed by an election among the boys of the New York east side who used the Hamilton Fish park, lately known as the "Playground City." Park Supervisor Kelly got the boys interested in the plan some time ago and in due form rival candidates for the various city offices, from mayor to councilmen, were nominated, the voters were duly registered and, after much campaigning, the election occurred, Nathan Kase being chosen mayor.
