

Week's News Condensed

The increase in value over the preceding year was $565,565,678. More cotton and less wheat were sent abroad.

EDUCATIONAL

Vacant Lot Crops Valuable.

Philadelphia's public school gardens, which have been conducted this season on the vacant lots of the city, have flourished under the patient cultivation of more than 2,000 boys and girls...

Chicago University's $6,000,000.

President Harper of the University of Chicago announced that $6,000,000 for the construction of new buildings was available, but he declined to say whether it had been contributed by Mr. Rockefeller or by others.

Good Teachers Scarce.

Reports coming from nearly every part of central New York and other eastern states indicate an approaching shortage in the supply of capable schoolteachers up to the present standard of qualifications at the relatively low rate of wages paid.

SOCIOLOGICAL

Should Convicts Support Family?

The Rev. George B. Wight, state commissioner of charities and corrections of New Jersey, proposed to the State Federation of Labor at Trenton that when a man of family is imprisoned "the work that he does in the institution might go for the support of his family, which otherwise would have to be sent to the almshouse and supported by the public."

The Clubhouse Home Next.

The latest solution to be applied to the problem of living in the larger cities is the construction of an apartment house on the general plan of a clubhouse. The plans for such a structure have just been filed at New York by the Home Club, composed of seven persons, headed by Willbur C. Fisk of the banking firm of Harvey Fisk & Sons.

RELIGIOUS

Biggest Camp Meeting Service.

The thirty-first annual camp meeting at Ocean Grove, N. J., resulted in a record breaking service, in which 100 ministers, 65 musicians and 12,000 worshippers took part.

Dowie's Anti Race Suicide Decree.

It now appears that, in issuing his recent order that members of the Church of Zion must have his written consent in order to marry, First Apostle Dowie also sought to direct the birth rate of the city.

Newton Defines New Thought.

The Rev. R. Heber Newton, the distinguished Episcopalian liberal, in concluding a series of articles for Mind on the significance of the new thought movement, says that, according to the new thought, Jesus is seen to be "the Christ of God" and "the idea of man in God becomes the ideal of man in men."

Mrs. Mackay Angers Catholics.

Mrs. Clarence Mackay, who recently was elected to the Roslyn (N. Y.) school board, in refusing to subscribe to the fund for a new parochial school in Brooklyn took occasion to say that she disapproved of all schools of the Romanist faith and considered them a grave menace to our country. This brought a sharp reply from Father Dubigg of St. John's church, under which the school in question is to be conducted. He said that in the Catholic schools the children were taught the ordinary courtesies of life and that the use of the word "Romanist" was bad form.

Methodists Cut Out "Obey." In the revised rules sent out to the ministers of the Methodist church the word "obey" is substituted for the word "obey" in the marriage service. Hereafter the women must promise to "Love, honor and keep" their husbands. The change is in response to numerous requests from brides to omit the word obey.

MISCELLANEOUS

Italian Volcanos Active.

Both the volcanos of Vesuvius and Stromboli have been in violent eruption, throwing up great columns of fire, stones and lava. A violent earthquake accompanied the eruption, especially in the island of Messina, where Stromboli is situated.

New Orleans Bracing Up.

The yellow fever situation at New Orleans has steadily improved, and at this writing less than 200 persons are under treatment. Business is again picking up. The plight of the country districts was not greatly improved.

Accidents.

The steamer Peconic was sunk in a heavy sea off Fernandina, Fla., and twenty men were drowned. The Pennsylvania Traffic company's store at Johnstown, Pa., was burned. Loss, $1,500,000.

Later reports of the cloudburst at Rhode Canyon, Colo., indicate that nearly a score of persons were either dead or missing. The Colorado Fuel and Iron company suffered the heaviest losses. Four hundred Japanese fishermen are reported to have been drowned in the Korean channel during a hurricane.

Four lives were lost and three persons injured in the burning of the Hotel Maranacook, at Maranacook, Me.

Deaths.

Mary Mapes Dodge, who for many years has been known to the children of the land as the editor of St. Nicholas and the writer of sensible juvenile stories, died at Ontario Park, N. Y., recently. She was sixty-seven years old. Her most famous stories were "Hans Brinker" and "Donald and Dorothy."

Adolphe William Bouguereau, the famous French painter, died at the age of eighty at his home in Paris, France. He was president of the Society of French Artists.

THE HOME DOCTOR.

A good cure for indigestion is a full teaspoonful of glycerin in a little water, to be taken after food.

For tender eyes make an infusion of one handful of cornflowers in a pint of hot water. Let it stand one hour. Strain and use either tepid or cold.

Ointments should always be kept in a cool place, for if the lard becomes rancid serious irritation may result in the case of skin diseases for which they are prescribed.

Cloths wet with alcohol and water or laudanum and water and laid on a hot water bottle will relieve neuralgia when the painful part is steamed over the bottle covered with the cloth.

Boiling vinegar applied as hot as can be borne to the gum and cavity of an aching tooth will allay the pain. Use a bit of absorbent cotton to pack the tooth cavity and apply until relief is obtained.

Athletic Womanhood.

The new woman can take care of herself anywhere; she wants no kisses, nor does she resort to womanish screams in time of peril. She wastes no words, but proceeds to knock the man down. Could all women learn this art of self defense it would doubtless be a very good thing, for the revolver is never where you want it, batons are treacherously apt to bend, and no real lady would carry a knife. But our fists we have always with us, and with a few lessons in boxing or jiu jitsu we can feel ourselves equal to all occasions.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Hold Your Head High.

Nobility has difficulty to express itself in a sunken chest. If the knees are bent and seemingly too weak to support the body it is easier for them to shake with fear than if they are straight. Therefore, wives and business girls, stay-at-home misses and engaged lasses, keep your heads up. When the chin is raised, the chest high, courage and hope are indicated. The mind follows. It is true that a woman keeps her head up because she is hopeful; but even if hope is wanting, lift up the head, and it will come the sooner.

O'Brien Potatoes.

What to Eat vouches for the excellence of "O'Brien potatoes," which ought to appeal to lovers of pepper dishes. Cut potatoes in slices and parboil. Butter a baking dish and arrange the potatoes in alternate layers with sliced Jamaica peppers or pimientos. The canned pimientos are usually indicated. Sprinkle each layer with a little flour, pepper, salt and bits of butter. Fill up the dish with the liquor from the can, add milk or cream, cover with breadcrumbs and bits of butter and bake.

An Animal Story For Little Folks Too Fond of Notoriety

There were two little ostriches living on the border of a desert who had become possessed of a great fondness for being among the notables. They wanted people to feel that they moved in the best society. They longed to be seen in company with the celebrated Mr. So-and-so. They always took great pleasure in saying to their friends, "My friend, Mr. Biggest-in-the-Bunch, and I ate gravel together yesterday," or "When I dined with Mrs. Head-in-the-Sand at Castle Cranky-Crow." Every new ostrich on the desert was soon aware that they were sizing him up. Their good parents had warned them of their folly, saying no good would come of it, but they were set in their pride and refused instruction.

One day while walking out for the air they saw coming toward them a new figure in the desert. It was an ostrich of enormous size. He had peculiar feet and legs and carried his head very stiffly.

"It must be General Ninacumpoop," said the ostrich.

"Or Major Stick-in-the-mud," said the other.

"At any rate," said both together, "we can't afford to miss his acquaintance." The figure stood nodding its head, and they both advanced toward him.

But when they came close by they grew suspicious, for out from the feathers there came a great black face and two large black hands.

Terrified, they started to run, but it was too late, for behind a tree was an ostrich hunter with a lasso, who soon had them both in his power.

Love of notoriety was their ruin.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

An Animal Story For Little Folks Mrs. Hen's Queer Family

A hen one day took it into her head to try to guess the kind of chickens that were going to hatch out of a nest of eggs. She eyed all the eggs proudly as her master placed them in the nest, and then she began to guess.

"There will be a nice snow-white chick to come out of this shell," she said. "And out of this shell will come a pretty dominick. Out of this will come a black chicken, and out of this will come a little brown fellow. Then, out of that egg in the middle will hatch a fine game chicken, whose feathers when he grows up will be red and green and golden and brown and yellow. My! my! what a fine set of chickens I shall have!"

Of course she was very proud, and she just sat around there until the day came when the eggs hatched.

Well, what do you think? The first thing that sprang out of an egg was a funny little duck. He looked up at the hen and said "Quack, quack!" and waddled off.

The old hen was very much surprised and disappointed, but her eyes opened wider when out of the next egg hopped a long legged turkey. The turkey said "Gobble, gobble!" and strutted away. Then another shell opened, and out stepped a guinea chicken, who said "B-r-r-r-r!" and skipped out into the barnyard.

The next egg was a large one, and when the shell split open a sad faced gosling stuck his head out.

By this time the old hen was completely bewildered, and when she saw the gosling's head she turned on her heels and ran as fast as she could away from the place. She had never seen so many funny creatures hatched out before, and she said afterward that she never wanted to see them again.

She will know better next time than to count her chickens before they are hatched.—Atlanta Constitution.

The Oregon grape, the state flower, is to have a special day at the Lewis and Clark exposition. The grape is a vine with a leaf somewhat like the ivy common in the east, except that the leaves are bright colored the year around.—Gardening.

After La Grippe

The after-effects of La Grippe is a weak, broken-down nervous system, that leads to many distressing complaints. The system needs a nerve medicine, like to restore nerve energy, and give the organs power to perform their various functions.

"One winter I had La Grippe three times, and it left me in a terrible condition. After doctoring for some time without any apparent improvement I began taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve, and it has done wonders for me. I recovered my usual strength in a short time. I firmly believe I should have died had I not taken Nerve when I did, for I was completely broken down and rapidly growing weaker."
