BABY MANAGEMENT.

The Absolute Necessity For Regularity In Feeding.

Punctuality in feeding your baby is of all things the most essential, and habits of regularity in all of his functions cannot be begun too soon. Once let him get into bad habits of any kiad, such as walking the floor with him, "hushing" him to sleep or feeding him at irregular intervals, and your peace in life is destroyed. The inexperienced mother and nurse are prone to fall into these errors, and bitterly do they have to pay the consequences imposed by the tiny tyrant. But the mother of four children has learned wisdom in baby management, and she knows that punctuality in feeding is not only as important as discipline, but requisite as a rule of health. It must be begun the first day or two after birth, and the two hours' interval rigidly observed during the daytime.

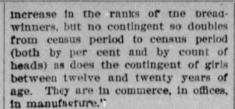

A healthy baby will sleep seven or eight hours at night without awakening, and you should not arouse him for feeding, but let him continue his baby dreams, because he will not sleep too much. As his growing continues and he begins to take more nourishment for his meals the intervals between the feedings must be increased.

'As good as a clock in the house is a vigorous infant who has been taught evidence. regular habits from birth. He will take a nap after each bottle or nursing and wake up precisely at the end of two hours. If his bottle is not ready and waiting (and of course it should so it goes on.

WOMEN AT THEIR BEST.

The Attractions That Present Themselves at Middle Age.

Why should we try so hard to look young? Barrie is right when he says the face of a woman at fifty is far more charming than that of a young girl, because the girl's character is concealed by her round cheeks, her bright eyes, her full lips. But at fifty it is The Woman Who Makes Home Hapthere without anything to hide it, and if the soul is lovely the face will be lovely too. Somehow women have come to think of youth as the one beauty. It is charming while it lasts; but, after all, only youth is youth. Nothing can give its bloom, its genius, it-best preserved. It is like jam after fresh fruit. But when youth goes it takes with it many follies, many crudities. The woman enters upon a new kingdom. She should rule it graciously, without one backward glance; lest she should turn not into a pillar of

SELF TONED ROOMS.

The Way Schemes In Harmony In Colors Are Carried Out.

The self toned room - that is, the room where everything is of one colorhas the lead in the best houses below the bedroom floors. Two or three kinds of furniture of as many different colors jumbled up in the same drawing room are out of the question now.

In a millionaire's new house the drawing room has a long expanse of perfectly plain ceiling, rounding down if they are rubbed with powdered to meet a four inch molding of white charcoal. and gold. The walls between a two foot high wainscoting of white enameled wood and the frieze are paneled with yellow self toned brocade. The chairs and sofas are upholstered in brocade of exactly the same tint, and portieres and window curtains are made of the same material. The frames of the curtains are white enamel. This is the general style of drawing room most in vogue now. Plain ivory tinted cellings devoid of ornamentation are practically the rule. The wide, elaborate frieze has gone

KITCHEN HELPS.

Knives may be brilliantly polished

An excellent covering for the kitchen table is zinc, which saves labor, because it absorbs no grease and is easily kept bright and clean.

A good idea for drying dishcloths is to have a hanging rack with several arms. It should be placed near a window, so that the cloths may have the benefit of sun, light and air while drying

The mixing pan can be quickly cleaned if a little boiling water is poured into it for a few minutes and a close cover put over it. The steam softens the dried dough so that it will readily wash off.

Never clean out tin coffeepots with sal soda. A manufacturer writes that soda eats away the outer coating of tin more quickly than it would naturally wear off and leaves bare the basic metal, steel or iron, spoiling the coffee.

An Inexpensive Electrical Machine. A contemporary in an article designed to promote the interest of young people in electricity tells how to arrange an inexpensive electrical machine. A glass which has been thoroughly dried before fire is placed upside down upon a table, and on the glass is placed a tray, perfectly dry, in such a way that it shall preserve its equilibrium. A paper slightly smaller than the tray is then heated and rubbed rapidly with a brush. It quickly becomes electrified and must then be placed on the tray. This is the electrical machine. If the finger be brought near the tray a spark will appear. This spark will be so much the brighter and its series of sparks so much the longer in proportion as the glass and tray are drier. The first step was taken at Pittsburg toward connecting Lake Erie with the Ohio and Mississippi rivers when the They will be joined by the officials of routes. The cost of the canal, which the strikers, will be about 105 miles long, is expected to reach $30,000,000.

Organized Labor Bank.

Once again an effort has been made at Chicago to organize a bank for the use of labor unions. The Commonwealth Trust and Savings bank has been chartered for this purpose, and directors have been chosen. It is proposed to make this the first of a chain of union labor banks. The reason for this move is said to be that union money is often used to oppose the struggle of the working class for higher wages and justice.

Mail Drivers Win Strike.

The strike of the New York mail wagon drivers ended just in time to prevent the termination of the contract with the government and the introduction of a new contractor. At the last moment the New York Mall company made an agreement with the drivers for an increase in wages and recognition of the union.

Berlin Strike Extended.

The strike of the electrical workers at Berlin, Germany, extended until the total number of men out was 38,000. Nearly enough men were obtained to keep two-thirds of the cars going.

The employing printers of Chicago have established a school of printing and are enrolling young women as pupils, who receive from $12 to $18 a week. This is said to be their latest move in opposing the strike of the job directors of the Lake Erie and Ohio printers. EDUCATIONAL Rockefeller's Gift In Cash.

At a special meeting of the executive committee of the general educational board at New York six checks for $1,-000,000 each and two for $2,000,000 each, drawn in favor of George Foster Peabody, treasurer, by the representatives of John D. Rockefeller were received in fulfillment of the promise given by Mr. Rockefeller on June 30 last that he would give $10,000,000 for the cause of higher education throughout the United States. The checks were brought to the meeting by Mr. Rockefeller's personal representative, F. T. Gates, who is himself a member of the board. The object of paying in cash was to leave the board free to invest the money at its own discretion. It is thought that the income will amount to about $50,000 a year. Already voluminous reports as to the needs of various colleges in all parts of the country have been received by the board. It is said there are between 300 and 400 of the st.aller institutions eligible for aid.

A Million For Milliken University.

The offer of $900,000 by James Milliken of Decatur, Ill., for the university at that place bearing his name has been secured by raising the conditional $100,000 through the agency of the Cumberland Presbyterian church. It is now said that Mr. Milliken offers another million provided the university raises an additional $300,000.

The Catholic university at Washington comes into direct competition with other colleges for the first time this year by opening a regular course for undergraduates. This necessitates some increase in the faculty

Fortune For Socialist School.

The leaders of the Social Democratic party of New York have announced that the late Mrs. E. D. Rand, motherin-law of George O. It is expected that a building will be provided in which there will be libraries for special research and in which specially prepared and valuable papers will be published. The plan also provides for reading and meeting rooms and systematic lecture courses on socialism, popular science and the relation of the different arts and literature to social development. The institution will be fully equipped by the fall of next year. and its principal field of operation will be in New York city.

DRESS HINTS.

Don't put cost before cut. Corded silk won't cover a poor fit.

It is not so much the hat itself as the angle at which it is worn and the colffure which it adorns that count.

No woman who once tries the expedient of making a gown with two waists will ever abandon the practice.

Grosgrain belting ribbon is recommended by a home dressmaker as a tivity were ended, and the time had foundation for collars. She says it will not break or wrinkle.

When new evening gowns are few and far between nothing is so useful as either black or white, which by change of flowers or trimming may be altered out of all knowledge.

If you wish to make a walking skirt just to clear the ground without looking too short, adopt the following plan: Measure the person from the waist to inches.

Table Linen.

Table linen, in order to bring out the bright gloss that makes it attractive, should be dampened considerably. Sprinkle the tablecloth well, being sure that the selvage ends or hemstitched borders are thoroughly damp. Roll up tightly. The napkins and dollies should be arranged alternately one upon the other, first a dry napkin, then one which has been wrung out of warm water, then a dry napkin and so on. Then roll tightly. All linen should be froned very dry. The least bit of water starch in tablecloths will greatly improve them and they will not muss so easily.

Pattening Foods.

A woman dieting for corpulence who eats only lean meats may be allowed a little butter, as some fat is needful to the system, but if eaten immoderately butter is exceedingly fattening. Rice, though popularly supposed to be flesh forming, is not really so if we may judge of its qualities by those thin Chinese. Five articles of food may be said to be the foreordained means of building up fat. They are bread and butter, milk, sugar and potatoes. If you would wax fat, eat candy as much as thy purse can buy.

[Copyright, 1905, by American Press Association.] The kingdoms of this world had passed from the head of gold, Babylon, to the breast and arms of silver, the Medes and Persians (Dan. 11, 32, 37-39). The lion had given place to the bear (Dan. vil, 4, 5), which bear, although so described in reference to other nations, is spoken of as a ram, a harmless domestic animal, in reference to Israel because of the kindness of Cyrus and Darius to Daniel's people (Dan. vili, 20). The seventy years of Judah's capcome for her restoration, according to Jer. xxix, 10. Not only had the resto-ration been foretold, but the very king who should accomplish it had been mentioned by name some 200 years before (Isa. xliv, 28; xlv, 1). Josiah, one of the good kings of Judah, was mentioned by name about 300 years before he was born (I Kings xill, 2; II Kings xxiil, 15-17). Besides these five others are named in Scripture bethe ground, then deduct one and a half fore their birth. Let the scholars tell their names. Every thought and purpose of God will surely be fulfilled; His counsel will stand, and He will do all His pleasure (Isa. xiv. 24; xlvi, 10; Ps. xxxiii, 11). When His time has come He stirs the hearts of whom He pleaseth to accomplish His pleasure. He may have used Daniel, His servant at the court of Cyrus, to enlighten Cyrus concerning His purpose, but He alone could make Cyrus willing. Throughout the whole Bible it is most fascinating and inspiring and leads to heartfelt adoration of Jehovah to watch Him working, whether as Creator or Redeemer, Israel's Messiah, the Great Head of the church or the King of kings and Lord of lords. Notice in the first two verses of our lesson such statements as "the word of the Lord." "the Lord stirred up," "the Lord hath given me" and "He hath charged me," then see the hearty obedience of Cyrus to the word of the Lord.

The central topic of the book of Ezra is the rebuilding of the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, as will be seen more fully in our next lesson, and this house is mentioned at least fifty times races of rice eaters-the Hindoos and in the book. We cannot think of Israel as a nation apart from the temple or tabernacle, for no sooner had God brought them out of Egypt than He gave commands to Moses to have them build Him a sanctuary that He might dwell among them (Ex. xxv, 8). While Israel is for the present blinded, the fullness of the gentiles is being gathered, and another house is being builded, a living temple made of living stones, with which we have to do (Rom, x1, 25, 26; Eph. II, 19-22; I Pet. 11, 5).

To gather the material for this build-days of Cyrus, so now the word is, Let him go who is willing, and God will be with him, and whosoever remaineth let him help with gold and silver and goods those who go forth (verses 3, 4). Whether we ablde at home or go to the ends of the earth, unless we are living to complete the church, the body of Christ, we are not of much use. If we can neither go nor give we can by earnest, believing prayer work through those who have gone and bring blessing from heaven to any part of the earth.

In verses 5 and 6 we see the willing ones whom God made willing going forth and the others helping with willing offerings, for God was working (Phil, II, 13). If there be first a willing mind it is accepted according to that a man hath and not according to that he hath not, and God only expects us to do as of the ability which He giveth (II Cor. viii, 12; I Pet. iv, 11). If we are only yielded to God He will not leave us untalented, but we must be sure to use the one talent if only one we have.

Although the Lord gave the vessels of his house at Jerusalem as well as His people into the hands of other nations for a time (Dan. 1, 1, 2; Jer. xil, 7). He never ceased to care for them. and the man who dared to ill treat them was slain that same night (Dan. v. 2. 30). He cares for each one of His redeemed, even though they may be in man's estimation vessels of a second sort or even lowlier, and whoever touches one of them touches Himself. See verse 10 and Zech. 11, 8; Acts 1x, 4. A gentile handing over these treasures to a Jew makes us think of the queen of Sheba bringing presents to King Solomon and the wise men of the east bringing gifts to the Child Jesus as the King of the Jews and points onward to the time when the wealth of the gentiles shall come to Israel and the nation and kingdom that will not serve Israel shall perish (Isa, 1x, 5-12; Ps. Ixxii, 10, 11).

We are not surprised to read of gold and silver basins and chargers and other vessels, but what about the nine and twenty knives? Well, they were all the Lord's property and belonged to His house, and He had need of them. We do not enjoy the "cutting things" as much as those which bring us what we call "something good," but He knoweth best, and we ought to believe Rom. vill, 28, with its "all things," Let us be content to be anything He wants us, even one of the unnamed "other vessels," and rejoice to be His property under any circumstances. The on closes with the words "from Rabylon unto Jerusalem," which is a great deal better than the other way, as Babylon stands for religiousness without God and reaches from Cain to the and of this age. Let us give beed to Rev. xvill, 4; II Cor. vi, 14-16.

The affairs of the Mutual Life were again under the probe, and it was brought out that the son of President McCurdy had received annually $127. 000 in salaries and commissions for the last fifteen years and also that a sonin-law, Thebaud, had made $50,000 a year or more by his connection with Raymond & Co., agents of the Mutual for the metropolitan district. The younger McCurdy had also received a commission from the foreign business, which he organized. The connection of the Mutual with campaign contributions was also brought out by the statement of Warren F. Thummel, the legal representative of the company, that he personally had given $2,500 to Chairman Babcock of the Republican congressional committee. The reason advanced by Mr. Babcock, as Mr. Thummel remembered it, for asking these contributions was that there was some danger of the election of a Democratic house and consequently a possibillty of tariff and other legislation "likely to disturb business."

Gould Puts Ramsey Out.

The board of directors of the Wabash railroad in session at New York formally removed J. Ramsey, Jr., as president of the company pursuant to the desire of George J. Gould and elected in Ramsey's place F. A. Delano, president of the Wheeling and Lake Erie. This move in the fight for the control of the Wabash was designed to keep Mr. Ramsey from presiding at the called meeting of the board at Toledo for Oct. 10. The reason given for Ramsey's dismissal was that he had openly attacked the company in his suit against Mr. Gould and his associates. Mr. Gould himself presided at the meeting, which was also attended by Mr. Ramsey, the latter protesting against the action taken.

The National Cash Register company of Dayton, O., which has been noted as an example of generous consideration for the welfare of its employees, dismissed 300 men for failing to obey an order to assemble and listen to addresses made by the company officials on the labor situation. The order followed on the heels of a refusal to grant the demand for increased wages.

In offering $50,000 to the board of foreign missions of the Congregationalist church for the use of Annatoli college in Marssavon, Turkey Dr. D. K. Pearsons of Chicago explained how the money was accumulated by him and asked if it would be regarded as tainted. He said he acquired the first $10,-000 by sharp bargains and rigid economy twelve years ago. This stock, besides paying him good interest, could now be sold for $50,000. The money was accepted.

Dr. Pearsons in a subsequent interview said the cry of "tainted money" had become "the rallying cry of the Socialist, the drone and the discontented member of society" and had become concentrated on one man, who is held up to ridicule-namely, Rockefeller. He showed a letter he had received from Mr. Rockefeller in which the senti-

Why Churches Should Advertise.

The Rev. C. F. Resiner of Denver, Colo., writing the Central Christian Advocate, urges advertising as a means of booming church attendance and church work. His reasons for this are-first, that it shows life and enthusiasm on the part of the church; second, that theology has changed so as to fit present problems; third, because it will reach men where they live; and, fourth, will mix religious thoughts with other things. Dr. Resinet urges the constant use of the daily newspapers, such as novel sermon topics, abstracts of sermons, pictures of church events, etc. He thinks that the city churches can afford to use space in the magazines and even goes so far as to suggest the use of posters and bill boards. Besides all this, he advises the occasional use of vest pocket cards and post cards.

Vatican Wants Allowance.

A pamphlet recently published with the approval of the pope or the church authorities at Rome urges the duty of the Italian government to pay over the allowance of $650,000 annually provided by law after Rome was taken in 1870. This allowance, with bank interest, now amounts to over $20,-900,000, as the money heretofore has RECEIVE DEPOSITS; DISCOUNT NO'S been treated as tainted by sacrilegious spollation.
