OLD DESERT JOURNEYS.

MODERN CIVILIZATION, THRIFT AND ABUNDANCE IN SAGE BRUSH COUNTRY.

The Old and The New.

El Paso is old-very old, and El Paso is new, too-very new. This de-lightful paradox is full of surprises and charms. Right up against the old Spanish dwelling of adobe with long, low windows, heavily barred, and its patio in the center, you are likely to and a modern office building with ele-

THE INTELLIGENCE OF ANIMALS.

An English Naturalist Believes That It May be Far Greater Than Imagined.

Sir John Lubbock has brought more popular attention to the subject of the mental capacity of animals than any other writer. He has conducted many careful investigations on the senses, instincts and intelligence of animals and insects. An interesting query pro-pounded by the English scientist re-lates to the existence of other organs of sense than ours.

"We find," he says, "in animals complex organs of sense, richly supplied with nerves, but the function of which we are as yet powerless to explain. There may be fifty other senses as difsoftly intoned aves were echoing here sight, and even within the boundaries for our own senses there may be end-

Thresh by Trampling of Goats.

The unprogressiveness of the Spantard is no where more strikingly re-vealed than in the Rio Grande Valdey, where the descendents of the early spanish explorers are to-day engaged in agriculture in just the same manner as their forefathers practiced it, and indeed with methods strangely like those in the days of Abraham. ## COMMERCIAL DISHONESTY.

JAPANESE MERCHANTS.

They Have No Regard For a Con-tract - Striking Contrast With Contrast With Chinese Tragers.

With the treaty of peace, Japan has seen the accomplishment of a task that has been the ambition of the empire-to hold front rank in the famly of nations. This has been brought | Sultan. about through such military achievements as have evoked the admiration of the civilized powers, but now it seems that Japan has still before her It was the passage of the National a problem which means harder work irrigation act which wrought a wonshe had before the commencement of

That task, is to redeem the commercial reputation of her traders, a reputation which is not enviable. Joseph Walton, a member of the English par-liament, a man who has spent much "Japanese traders are not specially distinguished for honesty, particularly in their business relations with foreigners. We have in this a most striking proof that the character of the people is largely formed by the nature of their surroundings. For hundreds of years the trading class in Japan has occupied a very low place in the social scale. In the last thirty years, since the feudal system has peen abolished, the position of the traders has greatly changed, and now some of those who were nobles are en-gaged in trade; and I am told there is reason to hope that shortly business affairs in Japan will be conducted on more honest lines."

Peculiar Business Dishonesty.

The progress which the Japanese have made in the past fifty years shows them to be a people selfreliant and determined to keep on advancing towards the highest plane attainable, yet travelers in the East have been surprised that the traders of the Occident are so notoriously dishonest, for while the Japanese are far superior to the Chinese as regards achievement of national strength and perseverance, yet the reverse is true in the matter of commercial honesty.

It appears that the Japanese merchants have no regard for a contract. It is said that the most prosperous commercial houses of Japan are managed not by Japanese but by Chinese. The average Chinese merchant is highy esteemed the world over for his honesty; in fact a president of one of the argest corporations of the United States once said that he would not be afraid to ship a barrel of gold coin to a Chinese merchant with instructions to make use of it in trade, but at the end of the year he would receive a detail statement of where every coin went, but if this were done to a Japanese merchant, he would consider himself lucky to get back the empty

It is believed that the hard task accomplished by the Japanese in the war just happily brought to an end will be a beginning to bring out the genius for which the Japanese have been noted in war to a utilization of peace and commercialism.

Cheerful During Trouble.

AN ENGLISHMAN WITH HUMOR.

How He Held His First Job and Moreover Got a Raise in Wages.

Herbert Kelcey, one of the leading actors of the present time, is an Englishman, but, unlike the usual type from the Island has a deep sense of humor. In speaking of his first visit to this country, he describes his experience something like this:

"Yes, I was a bit green when I came over to this country, and I 'ad to tike hanythink in the w'y of a job. I got started in a department store on 6th ivenue, and the floorwalker s'ys to me, s'ys 'e:

"'Now, 'Arry, we'll give you three trials, and if you let three people get away without selling them, we'll 'ave to bounce you.'

"Well, I came down jolly early on Pretty soon a lidy walked up and the custom among women of her rank in China. While in this country she had a surgical operation performed, increasing her feet to the size nature floorwalker and the floorwalker 'e looked at me. That mide one," holding up a lean forefinger. "Then a man came along and stopped to arsk me where 'e could have a 'et I told 'im asked me where she should tike the where 'e could buy a 'at. I told 'im where the 'at counter was, and 'e went That mide two. Jolly poor luck, wasn't it now? I looked at the floorwalker, and that floorwalker looked at me like 'ell, but what could I do? Then another lidy came along as 'ad a large piece of goods to match, and she wanted another yard of the same. I took it and pulled out heverythink on the shelves, but there was no more of it left. I was in a bit of a flunk then, for if I let 'er go without miking a sale I would lose my job, so I

> "'Wite a bit, lidy; I'll see if we ave any upstairs.' I went up, and seeing there was no more there, either, I just cut a yard off her own goods and brought the two pieces down, rolled them up, took the money, and she went aw'y. I 'ad plenty of customers after that, but I didn't feel just comfortable, don't you know.

> "The same afternoon she came back and asked for the floorwalker.
> ""Ere, sez she, I brought five > yards of goods ere to match this > morning and bought a yard more, but > when I got home I found only four > yards in my own piece. Can you expl'in that, please? "I 'emmed an' 'awed and tried to measure the goods and battempted to tell the lidy that she must be mistaken about 'er own piece, but she only glared at me, and in a jiffy she was hup to the floorwalker expl'nin' the conditi n of affairs. 'Er tone hindicated that she was mad, and I said to > meself, "'Arry, you're a dead 'un." "The floorwalker called me hout, and I 'ad to tell 'im all about it, 'ow the first party wanted a tram-car, and the next a 'at, and this one wanted more goods when we 'adn't any. I 'ad to sell 'er some'ow, or lose my fob, so I give 'er a bit from 'er own piece floorwalker looked so bloomin' mad for a bit that I thought my time was come for sure, but then 'e started to larf, and 'e larfed till I thought 'e'd bust. Then 'e sez, ''Arry, sez e' 'I guess we'll 'ave to keep you and raise your wages.' And 'e did."

Wonder Work of the Ancients. Modern quarry machinery can handle single stones larger than any of the monoliths of ancient Egypt. The really surprising thing, however, is how did the ancients handle their monoliths with only their crude machines.
