

Bellefonte and Vicinity

The Local Happenings in Short Paragraphs

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Montgomery are in Philadelphia. Orrie Ishler, of Wilkinsburg, is home visiting his parents at this place. Thanksgiving is appointed for Thursday, Nov. 30. Look up your turkeys. Frank Shaughnessy, of Pittsburgh, arrived home for a visit with his parents. Last Friday we had the first snow of the season, it being about an inch in depth. The Lutheran congregation has decided to install an individual heating plant in the basement of their church. Henry Wetzel, Esq., returned home last week from Virginia where he has been engaged in the government survey. Frank Frain, formerly with McCalmont & Co., of Bellefonte, is now private secretary for A. A. Stephens at Tyrone. November twenty-third has been reserved by the ladies of St. John's Episcopal church for a turkey dinner, at five o'clock. Chas. McCafferty, of Philadelphia, came up to vote and is looking in the best of health, and is the same staunch democrat as of old. Eddie Hill has decided to abandon the U. S. Navy where he made a record as a gunner, and expects to make Bellefonte his permanent home. Ex-sheriff B. F. Shaeffer favored the Democrat with a call the other day, and are pleased to mention, for the benefit of his many friends, looks to be in excellent health. Our esteemed townsman, J. F. Garthoff, has been confined to his home from the result of injuries received by a fall some weeks ago from which he later experienced some inconvenience. Hope he will soon be around again. A new 5 and 10c store, with a large line of notions, hosiery, novelties, pictures, house furnishings, china, etc., will be opened by H. L. Fisherstein, of Harrisburg, Pa., in the room next to Doll's bakery, in the Bush arcade about Nov. 16. Harry Diehl, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Diehl, was an arrival home last week from Indiana, Pa., where he holds a good position with the Indiana carriage works. He has not been in the best of health the past month and is here to recuperate. At a recent meeting of the board of managers of the Bellefonte hospital the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, C. C. Shney; vice president, Dr. J. L. Seibert; secretary, Geo. R. Meek; treasurer, W. Harrison Walker. The Bellefonte Academy defeated the "Good Will" team of Philipsburg on Saturday at Philipsburg by the close score of 9-6 or a goal from the field, and a touchdown to a goal from a touchdown. When will the High school give them another tussle? John Nolan, with his family have moved from Tyrone to Bellefonte and are located in the Keckline house on Thomas street. Christ Young, who lived in the house, has packed his furniture and this winter will reside with his father-in-law, David Barlett. Tuesday, election day, was a legal holiday, however postmaster Montgomery left the front door of the office open all day so the lobby would be accessible to drawer and box holders. That's right, in most all other towns that has been the practice, on all legal holidays. We noticed no drunks on election day in the boro, which is a fact to rejoice over. In "ye olden time," on election day there was considerable booze and it manifested itself even early in the morning continuing into night, the tapering off following next day with many headaches. The ladies of the W. C. T. U. will hold a doll bazaar and fair for the benefit of Petriken hall, which will open on Tuesday or Wednesday, November 14th or 15th, and continue several days. Contributions should be sent to either Mrs. Thomas C. VanTries, Mrs. John P. Harris, or Miss Mary Blanchard. There will be a real musical treat for the people of Bellefonte, in the Court House, Friday evening, 17th, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid society of the Presbyterian church. The following will take part in the program: Miss Marie Stoddard, soprano, Carl H. Tolfsen, both of New York; Mr. Daniels, pianist, Williamsport; and Prof. John Hosterman, baritone, Bellefonte. All are artists of exceptional ability. Admission 50 cents. Rev. Rearick and family, of West Milton, arrived here forepart of last week and now occupy their temporary home on east Lamb street. The Reverend preached his first sermon as pastor of his new charge, the Lutheran church, last Sabbath morning with a large audience in attendance, and this sermon was so entirely appropriate to the occasion that all his hearers were pleased and the members are glad feeling that their pulpit will henceforth be ably filled. In the evening Rev. Rearick also had services and henceforth his preaching will be at the usual hour on Sabbath mornings and evenings.

OVER THE COUNTY.

W. A. Catheman, the Linden Ha blacksmith had the misfortune to chop off the index finger of his left hand. Nathaniel Boob will become a resident of Millheim next spring. He recently sold his farm in Union county for $5000. J. L. DeHaas, proprietor of the Syracuse House, at Howard, is confined to his bed; his health has been failing for some time. Mr. and Mrs. George L. Goodhart will likely become residents of Centre Hall next spring, and occupy the Zerby home recently purchased. The remains of Uriah Fleisher were interred in California instead of being brought back to his former home in Potter twp., for burial. Pork is reported plenty and is likely to be reasonable in price by butchering time, which is usually the case when corn is plenty as it is this fall. Miss Catharine Dale, daughter of Dr. J. Y. Dale, of Lemont, has gone to Spartanburg, South Carolina, where she intends to remain during the winter. On the evening of October 26, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Morgan, in Scranton, Pa., and Miss Margaret Louise Morgan and Dr. John Robinson, of State College, were married. The Centre county teachers' annual institute will convene at Bellefonte on November 13th. County Superintendent D. O. Eters has secured an able corps of instructors for the week. Mrs. David Smith, of Blanchard, fell in her kitchen last Friday and sustained a broken hip. She has suffered intense pain. Mrs. Smith is a very heavy woman, which adds to the seriousness of her condition. Aida Stewart, of Altoona, and Miss Kate Reede, were married at the home of the bride's parents at Scotia, Wednesday noon. The Rev. Kapp, of State College officiated. Only the immediate friends were present. The Howard Hustler entered its eighth volume and Editor Dunham takes occasion to thank those who have stood so loyally by him during the ups and downs of his editorial career. It is one of the leading republican organs and is ably conducted. Monday night of last week dogs killed one hundred and fifty Belgian hares, the property of Aaron Thomas, Centre Hall, which were kept in a dozen or more strongly built pens, with a wire netting in front, and stood two feet from the ground. The dogs tore holes into the netting to gain entrance. A. L. Bolger, ex-postmaster of Philipsburg, while on an eastern trip, died suddenly at Reading, on Tuesday evening 25. He was aged 43 years. Besides his wife he leaves one daughter, Mrs. Reuben Philips, of Tunneltown, W. Va., and three brothers, viz: Aaron, of Martinsburg, and Frank and Wesley, of Woodbury, Pa.

Frank Patton, son of R. A. Patton, of Port Matilda, was hunting for pheasants near Hensheytown one day last week. He saw a pheasant and was in the act of raising his gun to shoot when the weapon was discharged, the charge tearing off the second toe and mauling the other three toes of the right foot. The ball of his foot was also painfully injured. The young man who is 16 years old, was cared for by Ira Wentzel and family, and Dr. Thomas L. Wilson, of Bellwood, dressed his wounds. He was able to accompany his father home a couple of days after the accident. Early in the season though it be, this county has already had a crop of hunting accidents from careless handling of guns. From many other counties come similar reports and some with fatal results. It is about the story—or stories—of this time of the year when sportsmen with their guns are out after game. Many of these accidents could be avoided by using caution and being sure that the object shot at is not a person instead of supposed game. Then is the careless handling of fire arms by which the owner kills or cripples himself or some other one within the range of his recklessly handled gun. From the number of accidents already reported from the hunting grounds we surmise the record, by the close of the season, will tally with the casualties of former seasons. Centre county sportsmen have not had a rich harvest of small game so far this season. Reports make it scarce. Wild turkeys have been killed in nigh the usual number, however. What the harvest will be in killing deer will be developed later on. In some parts pheasants are quite scarce, but rabbits are said to be unusually numerous. Complaint is being made of outside hunters making themselves unusually free when hunting in our county, killing game illegally, committing depredations that are annoying, camping many weeks, even several weeks before opening of the season, coming in to arrange their camps, and have all preparations ready to wade into Centre county game as the open season sets in. Some of these parties are from Philadelphia and other cities and have with them, besides other paraphernalia and equipments, their own "tavern" stocked with explosives that are not spelled powder or g-a-b; and one party came in, we have it from good authority, with fifteen dogs, did illegal hunting, but at the end of the season, went home with one dog only out of the lot. Home sportsmen gave them their dose, indignant over unlawful methods.

Rev. George Stanley West, who has been pastor of the Liberty Baptist church at Blanchard for several years and who resigned recently, has received a call to the pastorate of the Disciple church at Newberry and will accept. He has sold his residence in Blanchard.

PENSION DECISION.

By the Assistant Secretary of the Department of the Interior. Death, cause presumption—soldier, during his fatal illness, suffered from disease of heart, result of rheumatism, for which he was pensioned, and also from disease of lungs, which is not conclusively shown to be due to the service, though the evidence strongly tends to establish the same. Both disease of lungs and disease of heart were factors in causing death, but it cannot be determined with any degree of certainty which of the two diseases was the predominant cause, or contributed most toward producing death; and it is held that, from the evidence, it is more reasonable to assume that death was due to soldier's military service than that it was not, and the doubts in the case will be resolved in favor of claimant. Guardian—payment of pension—habitual drunkard—payment of pension to the guardian of a pension under legal disability is not obligatory, and if the commissioner of pensions shall become satisfied that the pensioner's interests be better subserved by payment to the pensioner himself, he may so direct. Death cause—pathological sequence—the evidence shows that the disease of lungs which caused soldier's death was connected as a result with his military services, entitling his widow to pension under the general law, notwithstanding he had a severe attack of pleuro-pneumonia when a boy, from which he had apparently fully recovered prior to his enlistment. Accrued Pension of widow—minors—in case of the death of a widow who is in receipt of a pension, the pension which accrued from the date of the last payment to her can be paid to her children who are under 16 years of age at the date of her death. It cannot be paid to them if they are over the age of 16 years at the date of their mother's death. Helpless minor—aid and attendance—as applicant is so disabled physically and mentally as to be practically unable to earn an independent support, and requires daily aid and attendance, she is fairly entitled to continuance of pension as a "permanently helpless" child, under the first proviso of the third section of the act of June 27, 1890.

GROUND TO DEATH.

While Yearick & Gentzel with their steam thrasher were at Benj. Gentzel's, on Thursday forenoon, a terrible and fatal accident befell, Ambrose Gill, aged 24 years, of Pleasant Gap, who was stationed on the straw stack, and came in to the barn for a drink of water. He then crawled in the over-den and by the tipping of a board, Gill fell through and dropped into the thrasher, and was instantly killed, being literally cut to pieces. He fell into the machine sideways and his right arm, right side and face were horribly mangled. Some one threw the belt off which stopped the machine. The mangled remains were taken out of the machine; he never uttered a cry or moved a muscle so sudden was the fearful death. The unfortunate man was a son of Amos Gill, and was unmarried, leaves a father and mother, with whom he had his home, and to which his remains were taken for interment.
