

THE CORSET.

It is Important That It Should Be Properly Adjusted.

There is nothing that has so much to do with a woman's figure as the corset. It is the key to her carriage and upon its being adjusted and fitted properly depends her shape. Corsets have been subjected to change and improvement. A woman's health and bearing are so much dependent on them that ill fitting worses are worse than none, and the wrong corset on the wrong figure is just as injurious.

Every woman can be well corseted if she consults one who understands, figures and fitting, which can be done at very little expense. In adjusting corsets it would be well to remember the following:

First.—When inserting the lacers begin at the top and lace to waist line; leave two long loops and continue to the bottom, where the ends should be tied in a knot.

Second.—When taking the corset off, loosen the lacers freely. Put them on with the lacers still loose and pull them well down over the abdomen and hips.

Third.—Hold the corset down with one hand and draw the abdomen gently up into the corset with the other hand. Attach the hose supporters and draw the lacers tight at the waist line.

Fourth.—Adjust the lacings above and below the waist with the fingers until the pressure at the waist is eased. Tie the loops either front or at the back.

NEW GLOVES.

Their Lease of Life Depends Upon How You Put Them On.

The secret of the preservation of gloves is the method adopted when first putting them on. Do not attempt this unless you have at least a quarter of an hour to spare. If the hands are at all moist powder them well, then fold the lower part of the glove backward and insert all the fingers, working them in evenly and leaving the thumb loose till all the fingers are fully in place. Then insert the thumb and work the glove down smoothly over the hand, gently pressing all the seams into their proper position.

Butt the second button, then the ones below it, fastening the first one last of all. Keep on the hand for a few minutes without closing the fingers, then take them off by turning back the wrists and drawing them gradually inside out till they reach the middle joints of the fingers, when they can be easily removed. Turn them right inside out, smooth lengthways and place them separately in their sachet with a layer of fine flannel in between.

FOR BUSINESS PURPOSES.

Don't expect to be successful in business unless you are in the right place. Don't bring your business to the office and air them there.

Don't criticize those who work with you or those for whom you work.

Don't be late to your work and then expect consideration because you are a woman.

Don't wear overtrimmed and fussy clothes. Wear plain clothes, with appropriate blouses.

Don't try to be mannish either in dress or manner. The mannish business woman is out of fashion, fortunately.

Don't sprinkle yourself with heavy perfume. Your particular kind of perfume may be exceedingly obnoxious to those about you.

Don't forget that all of the evil passions are traceable to two roots—anger and worry. These are the thieves that steal precious time and energy from life.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Dainty Nails.

The nails should extend just beyond the ends of the fingers. It is dangerous to allow a greater length, for they may be torn, and a less length will not allow a shapely finish. Only the sharpest scissors should be used in nail cutting. It is very essential to round off the corners. When the nail surface is very rough it may be rubbed once daily with some finely powdered pumice moistened with water. This will make the nail smooth, but dull. A little chalk will get rid of much of the dullness and, after wiping, a film of olive oil will restore the polish.

The Arch of the Foot.

Where there is excessive pain in the calf of the leg it is almost certain that the arch of the foot is giving way or flattening. Bandaging with adhesive plaster across the instep, or, better still, an elastic arch worn inside the shoe, will remedy this and give instant relief from the pain in the leg. The arch of the foot is likely to flatten when wearing badly made shoes, those that offer no support to the instep.

Boys' Stockings.

A mother whose family of boys made the darning of stockings a terror avoided part of the trouble when the knees of the stockings were out by cutting the feet off at the ankle and turning them front to back. Thus the worn place was in the bend of the knee, and with careful sewing there was no discomfort from the seam at the ankle.—Good Housekeeping.

To Cook Beets.

In cooking beets they should be trimmed as little as possible before boiling, great care being taken not to cut off the little rootlets or fibers in order that they may not "bleed," and so lose a great deal of their juice and brilliant coloring matter, which vinegar intensifies, though when used for medicinal purposes it would be better omitted.

VIRGINIA DRUMMER'S STORY.

A group of drummers were trading yarns on the subject of hospitality, when one, a little Virginian with a humorous eye and a delightful drawl, took up his parable thus:

"I was down in Louisiana last month traveling cross country with S. J. C. (the same being Stonewall Jackson, at your service), when we kinder got lost in a mighty lonesome sort of road just about dark. We rode along a right good piece after sundown, and when we saw a light ahead, I tell you it looked first rate. We drove up to the light—finding it was a house—and when I hollered like a lost calf the man came out, and we asked him to take us in for the night. He looked at us mighty hard, then said: 'Well, I reckon I kin stand it if you kin.' So we unhitched, went in, and found 'twas only a two-room shanty and just swarming with children. He had six, from four to eleven years old, and as there didn't seem to be but one bed, me and Stony was a wondering what in thunder would become of us.

"They gave us supper, good hog and hominy, the best they had; and then the old woman put the two youngest kids to bed. They went straight to sleep. Then she took those out, laid them over in the corner, put the next two to bed, and so on. After all the children were asleep on the floor the old folks went in the other room and told us we might go to bed if we wanted to, and bein' powerful tired out we did.

"Well, sir, the next morning when we woke up we were lying over in the corner with the kids, and the old man and woman had the bed."—Southern Furn. Journal.

$41.55 Per Lamp.

The borough of Huntingdon is to have cheaper lighting beginning with July 1, 1907, and extending for a period of six years. The bid of the Huntingdon Gas company was accepted for sixty lamps of 2,000 candle power, to burn all night, at the rate of $41.55 per lamp per year. The bid of the unsuccessful bidder, was also accompanied by the following offer which was also accepted: Commercial and residence lighting, 9 cents per 1,000 kilowatts, with a discount of from 5 to 30 per cent for quantity used from 75 cents to $30 per month. That price is quite different from the charges here in Bellefonte.

Cupid's Way of Working.

Charles Leonard Hollick, a fireman at Osceola Mills, Pa., aged 26 years, made application to the Probate court, Columbus, Ohio, Tuesday 12th, for a license to marry Belle Lakehart, aged 24, of Tyrone, Pa. According to the marriage book, the groom said that parents objected to the marriage and they were in Ohio to carry out their wishes regarding those of the father. They got the license.

The Butler, Pa., school board is up against a serious problem. According to the compulsory school law, every child in the state must attend school regularly until past 14 years of age. The other day a girl who is only 13 years of age got married and now refuses to go to school. The board has referred the matter to the state superintendent for adjustment.

Your child may have croup tonight. Have a bottle of "Oil of Gladness" in the house. It will cure it.

GOT $75 PEARL.

Lucky Lock Haven Oyster Eater Whose Teeth Struck a Prize.

A Lock Haven young man, in payment of twenty-five cents for an oyster stew, got a seventy-five dollar prize. And this is the way he did it, as told by the Express of Thursday evening of which he recently was local editor:

"Harry A. Weindorf, of Lock Haven, dropped into the Imperial hotel and going 'up to the oyster bar' deplored the as-Brand new quarter thereon with a quest that he be given a dozen more oysters in the place. The manager behind the bar proceeded at once to the bivalves and deposit them in the paper bucket, as it was Harry's custom to take them home to eat. Arriving at home he carefully prepared the oysters and began to eat. As the thing struck his palate he detected a hard substance in bed. His further progress was arrested. The hard pearl which proved to be a beautiful pearl worth $75. Harry declares he never before in his life made as good an investment of a quarter."

Co-eds Rebel In Nighties.

To show their dissatisfaction at the new rules for the government of the girl's dormitory the co-eds of Susquehanna University at Selingsrove held an impromptu mass meeting and night gown parade. The alleged cause for this action was the refusal of the preceptress to allow the young ladies escorts after rehearsals of the musical union, in which both sexes take part. Long past the hour of midnight ghostly figures began to appear down fire escapes to finally ascend the campus. Three speeches were made, and after giving the college bell in line and marched up the campus in front of the dormitory, singing "Won't you come with me?" President of the participants a severe rebuke in the chapel.
