

Well Known Men as They Are and As Cartoonists Picture Them

COLONEL WILLIAM D'ALTON MANN, who was a principal witness in the Deuel-Hapgood suit and who was arrested shortly after its conclusion on a charge of perjury based upon his testimony in that trial, offers a good subject for the cartoonist. His exuberant whiskers, cut somewhat on the King Leopold order, and his rather shaggy aspect lend themselves readily to caricature. The publisher of Town Topics, the Smart Set and "Fads and Fancies," who testified to obtaining loans with the utmost facility from members of the upper circles in finance and society, is in his sixty-seventh year and is a native of Sandusky, O. He was educated as a civil engineer and entered the army at the outbreak of the civil war as captain of the First Michigan cavalry. He organized several companies of cavalry and was commissioned a colonel in 1862. He devised army improvements, introduced in the United States and Austria, which made a fortune for him, and he also devised the boudoir car, which was extensively used by European railroads. The company was later bought out by George M. Pullman. He settled in Mobile, Ala., and was the first Democratic candidate for congress from the Mobile district under reconstruction. For several years he edited the Mobile Register. He founded Town Topics in 1891.

W. D. MANN.

District Attorney William Travers Jerome of New York city was placed in a peculiar position in the proceedings which arose relative to Judge Joseph M. Deuel and the now famous Town Topics case. When Judge Deuel instituted suit for criminal libel against Norman Hapgood, editor of Collier's Weekly, it became the duty of the district attorney to assume the work of prosecuting it, but it was a duty evidently not much to Mr. Jerome's taste. When Judge Deuel failed to establish his charge of libel the proprietors of Collier's Weekly, on the ground of testimony adduced at the trial, instituted charges against Colonel Mann, editor of Town Topics, and then it became Mr. Jerome's duty to turn around and prosecute the person in whose defense he had practically been compelled to act in the former proceeding. Mr. Jerome was himself a member at one time of the court of special sessions. During his first campaign for election as district attorney a man called on him one day and handed him a long article to read. "Sketch of my life?" he asked. "Yes, judge." "Seems to be pretty complimentary." "Just what you deserve, judge. We intend to print it in our magazine, and we would like to have you take 500 copies at 10 cents each." "Make it a thousand and leave me out," said Jerome as he threw the article in the wastebasket.

WILLIAM TRAVERS JEROME.

It took Senator La Follette some time to decide whether he would accept the seat in the senate to which he was chosen by the Wisconsin legislature about a year ago. He did not resign as governor of Wisconsin until last December and kept the public guessing until the last moment as to whether he was going to remain governor or take up the duties of a member of the body which was once graced by the presence of such men as Webster and Clay and Calhoun and Sumner. Senator La Follette will be fifty-one years of age next summer and looks young and energetic. He is holding his energy in reserve at present, however, and is studiously keeping in the background. Persons who call on him find him not disposed to talk of his plans for work in the senate. He indicates that he is now devoting himself to "getting the lay of the land," and from his rear seat in the senate "Cherokee strip" he listens attentively to the proceedings. He does not want the public to say that he made a spectacle of himself by jumping into the debates of the senate before he had anything to say. His hobby, as everybody knows, is railroad rate legislation, and when the general debate on a rate bill comes on he will take a hand.

ROBERT MARION LA FOLLETTE.

John D. Rockefeller feels good about two things. The first is Investigator Hadley's inability to get him on the witness stand, and the second is his possession of a wig. For years he tried to find something that would make his hair grow. He offered a large reward to any one who could cause the baldness of his pate to disappear. He hoped against hope that the Standard Oil millions might be able to purchase for him a new crop of hair; but, though he is the richest man in the world, he could not gratify this ardent desire, and at last he gave up the search for a real hair restorer and fell back upon the device of a wig to cover the nakedness of his head. The wig changes Mr. Rockefeller's appearance greatly. In fact, some of his friends failed to recognize him when they first saw him in his new disguise. The difference between Mr. Rockefeller with and without a wig offers quite an opportunity for the makers of funny pictures.

JAMES R. KEENE.

At sixty-eight Mr. Keene is an impressive figure. He wears a close cropped beard which does not hide the firm outlines of his jaw. His gray eyes are searching, kindly and bright. Keene was in California in the early seventies, and it was there he made his first lucky strike. He had become possessed of some shares in a mining stock that was selling at almost nothing. It was believed to be practically worthless, but soon after Keene had departed on a trip east for the benefit of his health it panned out wonderfully rich. The stock went up like a rocket from one figure to three. News traveled slowly in those days. He knew nothing of his good fortune for a long time, but when he returned to San Francisco his few hundreds had grown to $200,000.

There was a spectacular scene in the United States senate when the veteran legislator, John C. Spooner, walked down the aisle to the desk of the presiding officer with Robert Marion La Follette on his arm and presented his new colleague from Wisconsin to be sworn in as a member of the upper branch of congress. It was a moment which had been eagerly awaited by the other senators and by the people in the galleries, for the two had for years been leaders of opposing factions in Wisconsin, and there was curiosity to see how they would conduct themselves under these circumstances. It is a time honored tradition in the senate that when a new member takes the oath he shall be escorted to the vice president's desk for the ceremony by his colleague, and Mr. Spooner determined not to allow his previous cool relations with the former governor of Wisconsin to prevent his adhering to custom in this respect. As the two statesmen stood together, Mr. La Follette with his pompadour and Mr. Spooner with his stiff hair brushed sideways, they formed quite a picture. Senator Spooner is the personification of dignity and is noted for his courtesy. There was nothing in the behavior of the two on this occasion to indicate that they had ever been otherwise than the most cordial of friends.

JOHN C. SPOONER.

It took Senator La Follette some time to decide whether he would accept the seat in the senate to which he was chosen by the Wisconsin legislature about a year ago. He did not resign as governor of Wisconsin until last December and kept the public guessing until the last moment as to whether he was going to remain governor or take up the duties of a member of the body which was once graced by the presence of such men as Webster and Clay and Calhoun and Sumner. Senator La Follette will be fifty-one years of age next summer and looks young and energetic. He is holding his energy in reserve at present, however, and is studiously keeping in the background. Persons who call on him find him not disposed to talk of his plans for work in the senate. He indicates that he is now devoting himself to "getting the lay of the land," and from his rear seat in the senate "Cherokee strip" he listens attentively to the proceedings. He does not want the public to say that he made a spectacle of himself by jumping into the debates of the senate before he had anything to say. His hobby, as everybody knows, is railroad rate legislation, and when the general debate on a rate bill comes on he will take a hand.

John D. Rockefeller feels good about two things. The first is Investigator Hadley's inability to get him on the witness stand, and the second is his possession of a wig. For years he tried to find something that would make his hair grow. He offered a large reward to any one who could cause the baldness of his pate to disappear. He hoped against hope that the Standard Oil millions might be able to purchase for him a new crop of hair; but, though he is the richest man in the world, he could not gratify this ardent desire, and at last he gave up the search for a real hair restorer and fell back upon the device of a wig to cover the nakedness of his head. The wig changes Mr. Rockefeller's appearance greatly. In fact, some of his friends failed to recognize him when they first saw him in his new disguise. The difference between Mr. Rockefeller with and without a wig offers quite an opportunity for the makers of funny pictures.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.

At sixty-eight Mr. Keene is an impressive figure. He wears a close cropped beard which does not hide the firm outlines of his jaw. His gray eyes are searching, kindly and bright. Keene was in California in the early seventies, and it was there he made his first lucky strike. He had become possessed of some shares in a mining stock that was selling at almost nothing. It was believed to be practically worthless, but soon after Keene had departed on a trip east for the benefit of his health it panned out wonderfully rich. The stock went up like a rocket from one figure to three. News traveled slowly in those days. He knew nothing of his good fortune for a long time, but when he returned to San Francisco his few hundreds had grown to $200,000.

There was a spectacular scene in the United States senate when the veteran legislator, John C. Spooner, walked down the aisle to the desk of the presiding officer with Robert Marion La Follette on his arm and presented his new colleague from Wisconsin to be sworn in as a member of the upper branch of congress. It was a moment which had been eagerly awaited by the other senators and by the people in the galleries, for the two had for years been leaders of opposing factions in Wisconsin, and there was curiosity to see how they would conduct themselves under these circumstances. It is a time honored tradition in the senate that when a new member takes the oath he shall be escorted to the vice president's desk for the ceremony by his colleague, and Mr. Spooner determined not to allow his previous cool relations with the former governor of Wisconsin to prevent his adhering to custom in this respect. As the two statesmen stood together, Mr. La Follette with his pompadour and Mr. Spooner with his stiff hair brushed sideways, they formed quite a picture. Senator Spooner is the personification of dignity and is noted for his courtesy. There was nothing in the behavior of the two on this occasion to indicate that they had ever been otherwise than the most cordial of friends.

It took Senator La Follette some time to decide whether he would accept the seat in the senate to which he was chosen by the Wisconsin legislature about a year ago. He did not resign as governor of Wisconsin until last December and kept the public guessing until the last moment as to whether he was going to remain governor or take up the duties of a member of the body which was once graced by the presence of such men as Webster and Clay and Calhoun and Sumner. Senator La Follette will be fifty-one years of age next summer and looks young and energetic. He is holding his energy in reserve at present, however, and is studiously keeping in the background. Persons who call on him find him not disposed to talk of his plans for work in the senate. He indicates that he is now devoting himself to "getting the lay of the land," and from his rear seat in the senate "Cherokee strip" he listens attentively to the proceedings. He does not want the public to say that he made a spectacle of himself by jumping into the debates of the senate before he had anything to say. His hobby, as everybody knows, is railroad rate legislation, and when the general debate on a rate bill comes on he will take a hand.

John D. Rockefeller feels good about two things. The first is Investigator Hadley's inability to get him on the witness stand, and the second is his possession of a wig. For years he tried to find something that would make his hair grow. He offered a large reward to any one who could cause the baldness of his pate to disappear. He hoped against hope that the Standard Oil millions might be able to purchase for him a new crop of hair; but, though he is the richest man in the world, he could not gratify this ardent desire, and at last he gave up the search for a real hair restorer and fell back upon the device of a wig to cover the nakedness of his head. The wig changes Mr. Rockefeller's appearance greatly. In fact, some of his friends failed to recognize him when they first saw him in his new disguise. The difference between Mr. Rockefeller with and without a wig offers quite an opportunity for the makers of funny pictures.

At sixty-eight Mr. Keene is an impressive figure. He wears a close cropped beard which does not hide the firm outlines of his jaw. His gray eyes are searching, kindly and bright. Keene was in California in the early seventies, and it was there he made his first lucky strike. He had become possessed of some shares in a mining stock that was selling at almost nothing. It was believed to be practically worthless, but soon after Keene had departed on a trip east for the benefit of his health it panned out wonderfully rich. The stock went up like a rocket from one figure to three. News traveled slowly in those days. He knew nothing of his good fortune for a long time, but when he returned to San Francisco his few hundreds had grown to $200,000.

The New President of France.
President Loubet retired from the executive chair of France at the end of a full term to make way for a regularly elected successor. This was the first case of the kind in the history of the republic, for with one exception only besides that of Loubet the terms for which the presidents have been elected have been curtailed by death or resignation. The other exception was Jules Grevy, who served a full term of seven years, was re-elected and resigned during his second term. The first president, Thiers, resigned, as did also Marshal MacMahon. Carnot was assassinated in 1894, Faure died in office, and Casimir-Perier resigned under the pressure of impending scandal.

France has in President Fallieres a representative of the radical legislative forces of the republic. His supporters in the presidential congress were radicals, radical Socialists and Socialists, three elements which were arrayed against the anti-republicans or Imperialists, the moderate republicans and the conservatives generally. The process of electing a president in France is undemocratic. The people have no voice in it, and the electors, numbering about 900 senators and deputies of the lower house, exercise their own choice in making combinations.

In the eulogies of Benjamin Franklin, both written and oral, on the occasion of the bicentenary of his birth he was remembered as a printer, publisher, editor, author, philosopher, moralist, educator, scientist, diplomat, administrator and philanthropist. Still there will be those to come forward and offer a new word on the many sided genius.

Don't Dose the Stomach in Nasal Catarrh. Breathe Hyomei.

No dangerous drugs or alcoholic concoctions are taken into the stomach when Hyomei is used. Breathed through the inhaler, the balsamic healing of Hyomei penetrates to the most remote cells of the nose and throat, and thus kills the catarrhal germs, heals the irritated mucous membrane, and gives complete and permanent cure. Hyomei is the simplest, most pleasant and the only guaranteed cure for catarrh that has been discovered. Complete out fit, $1.00; extra bottle, 50 cents. For sale by S. Krumrine.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

ADMINISTRATRIX NOTICE.
Estate of CHARLES H. CRUSE, late of Spring Twp., dec'd.
Letters of administration in the above estate having been granted to the undersigned, all persons indebted to the said estate are requested to make payment, and those having claims to present the same without delay, to JAMES G. CRUSE, Administratrix, Bellefonte, Pa.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.
Estate of SARAH E. EMERICK, late of Walker Twp., dec'd.
Letters testamentary upon said estate having been granted by the Register of Wills to the undersigned, all persons knowing themselves to be indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment, and those having claims, to present them for settlement. G. LYMAN EMERICK, Executor, Bellefonte, Pa.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.
Estate of DAVID M. WHITMAN, late of Walker township, dec'd.
Letters testamentary upon said estate having been granted by the Register of Wills to the undersigned, all persons knowing themselves to be indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment, and those having claims, to present them for settlement. CHARLES E. WHITMAN, J. WILLIAM WHITMAN, Executors, H. S. Taylor, Att'y.

SALE IN PARTITION.
Pursuant to an order, issued out of the Orphans Court of Centre county, the undersigned will expose to public sale on the premises, near Waddle school house, Fatton township, on SATURDAY, MARCH 10, 1906, at 1:30 o'clock p. m., the following described real estate, late of Frederica Gummo, of Patton township, deceased:
A certain TRACT OF LAND situated near Waddle school house in said Twp., bounded and described as follows:
Beginning at a stone corner on line of John Henderson; thence along said line, North, 10 degrees, West, 80 perches to stone corner; thence North, 50 degrees, East, 50 perches to a ditch line; thence South, 10 degrees East, 80 perches to a ditch line; thence South, West, 40 degrees West, 40 perches to place of beginning—containing 40 acres.
A good 2 story frame DWELLING HOUSE.

Your Nerves
It is your nerves that cause the heart to palpitate, the lungs to inhale the oxygen, the brain to direct the motion of every organ of the body, the stomach to digest food, the liver to secrete the bile, the kidneys to filter the blood, and the bowels to carry off the waste. When the nerves of the stomach become weakened, it results in stomach trouble, indigestion, constipation. This is true of all the organs of the body, and proves that to cure disease you must strengthen the nerve. Dr. Miles' Nerve will do it. It seldom fails to cure all nervous affections, Sleeplessness, Neuralgia, Headache, Backache, Epilepsy, Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles. "I was all broken down, nervous, worn out, and in constant pain. I doctored for months, and finally the doctor said he could do nothing for me. I took Dr. Miles' Nerve, and it made me strong and healthy," now weigh 170 pounds. R. T. HAMILTON, CUNNINGHAM, Allegheny, Pa. The first bottle will benefit, if not, the druggist will return your money.

Dr. J. J. KILPATRICK, Dentist, Bellefonte, Pa.
Temple Court, over Postoffice. Special attention given to artificial plates.

NOAH W. EBY, DISTILLER OF Straight Pure Rye Whiskey, WOODWARD, CENTRE COUNTY, PA.

ESTABLISHED IN 1850.

Challenge!
The claims we make for Lucas Paints are not mere idle boasts. They can be proven any time by actual side-by-side tests with any other paints. See our "Challenge" on the can. Try them and know for yourself that Lucas Paints have greater brilliancy, richer gloss and go farther and last longer than any other paint made. Ask your dealer.

John Lucas & Co Philadelphia

JUG GOODS.
UNCLE SAM SAYS IT'S ALL RIGHT.
Uncle Sam, in the person of Government Officials, has charge of every department of our distillery. During the entire process of distillation, after the whiskey is stored in barrels in our warehouse, during the seven years it remains there, from the very grain we buy to the whiskey you get, Uncle Sam is constantly on the watch to see that everything is all right. We dare not take a gallon of our own whiskey out of our own warehouse unless he says it's all right; and when he does say so, that whiskey goes direct to you, with all its original richness and flavor, carrying a United States Registered Distiller's Guarantee (Under Seal of Purity and Age, and saving the dealers' big profits. That's why EBY'S WHISKEY is the best for medicinal purposes. That's why it is preferred for other uses. That's why we have half a million satisfied customers. That's why YOU should try it. You money back if you're not satisfied.

A Word to Invalids. You are cautioned against the purchase of whiskeys with high sounding, fancy names, as in most cases those high-toned brands are used to cover compounds abominable in taste, and absolutely injurious in their consequences to the consumers. My whiskeys have been before the public for twenty five years, and have stood the test thoroughly, having been analyzed by some of the most expert chemists throughout the country, and in every instance their absolute purity—as established and highly commented upon in "Your EBY'S Best" is food for the body and brain, enriches the blood, solidifies the bones, hardens the muscles, quiets the nerves and perfects digestion—unequaled for consumption and wasting diseases.

Will ship the best Strictly Pure Rye Whiskey to any part by Express, C. O. D., or cash with order, at the following reduced prices:

In Gallon Lots, with jug sealed and boxed, $3.25.
In Two Gallon Lots, with jug sealed and boxed, $6.25.
In Five Gallon Lots, with keg, $14.40.

As I solicit orders by mail instead of through traveling salesmen, thus saving a vast expense, I give my patrons the benefit of this saving by selling better goods at lower prices than any house in the country.

Not One Cross Word in a Barrel! Official reports show that I have been manufacturing strictly all-rye whiskey for the last 25 years. I will be pleased to receive your orders, and will give them my best and prompt attention.

The oldest and only distillery in the county, yet all double distilled and extra prepared.

E. K. RHOADS
At his yard, opposite the P. R. R. Passenger station, sells only the best qualities

ANTHRACITE AND BITUMINOUS COALS
—Also all kinds of—
Wood, Grain, Hay, Straw and Sand.

Superior Screenings for lime burning, Builders' and plasterers' Sand.

TELEPHONE CALLS Commercial, No. 68 Central, No. 1321

A. E. Schad

Fine Sanitary Plumbing
Gas Fitting
Furnace, Steam and Hot Water Heating.
Slatting, Tin Roofing, Spouting.
All kinds of Tinware made to order.
Estimates Cheerfully Furnished.
Both Telephones,
Eagle Block, Bellefonte.

RAILROAD SCHEDULE.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD OF PENNA
Time Table effective Nov. 6, 1905

SEAD DOWN		HEAD UP
No. 1	No. 2	No. 3	No. 4
7:15	7:30	7:45	8:00
8:15	8:30	8:45	9:00
9:15	9:30	9:45	10:00
10:15	10:30	10:45	11:00
11:15	11:30	11:45	12:00
12:15	12:30	12:45	1:00
1:15	1:30	1:45	2:00
2:15	2:30	2:45	3:00
3:15	3:30	3:45	4:00
4:15	4:30	4:45	5:00
5:15	5:30	5:45	6:00
6:15	6:30	6:45	7:00
7:15	7:30	7:45	8:00
8:15	8:30	8:45	9:00
9:15	9:30	9:45	10:00
10:15	10:30	10:45	11:00
11:15	11:30	11:45	12:00
12:15	12:30	12:45	1:00
1:15	1:30	1:45	2:00
2:15	2:30	2:45	3:00
3:15	3:30	3:45	4:00
4:15	4:30	4:45	5:00
5:15	5:30	5:45	6:00
6:15	6:30	6:45	7:00
7:15	7:30	7:45	8:00
8:15	8:30	8:45	9:00
9:15	9:30	9:45	10:00
10:15	10:30	10:45	11:00
11:15	11:30	11:45	12:00
12:15	12:30	12:45	1:00
1:15	1:30	1:45	2:00
2:15	2:30	2:45	3:00
3:15	3:30	3:45	4:00
4:15	4:30	4:45	5:00
5:15	5:30	5:45	6:00
6:15	6:30	6:45	7:00
7:15	7:30	7:45	8:00
8:15	8:30	8:45	9:00
9:15	9:30	9:45	10:00
10:15	10:30	10:45	11:00
11:15	11:30	11:45	12:00
12:15	12:30	12:45	1:00
1:15	1:30	1:45	2:00
2:15	2:30	2:45	3:00
3:15	3:30	3:45	4:00
4:15	4:30	4:45	5:00
5:15	5:30	5:45	6:00
6:15	6:30	6:45	7:00
7:15	7:30	7:45	8:00
8:15	8:30	8:45	9:00
9:15	9:30	9:45	10:00
10:15	10:30	10:45	11:00
11:15	11:30	11:45	12:00
12:15	12:30	12:45	1:00
1:15	1:30	1:45	2:00
2:15	2:30	2:45	3:00
3:15	3:30	3:45	4:00
4:15	4:30	4:45	5:00
5:15	5:30	5:45	6:00
6:15	6:30	6:45	7:00
7:15	7:30	7:45	8:00
8:15	8:30	8:45	9:00
9:15	9:30	9:45	10:00
10:15	10:30	10:45	11:00
11:15	11:30	11:45	12:00
12:15	12:30	12:45	1:00
1:15	1:30	1:45	2:00
2:15	2:30	2:45	3:00
3:15	3:30	3:45	4:00
4:15	4:30	4:45	5:00
5:15	5:30	5:45	6:00
6:15	6:30	6:45	7:00
7:15	7:30	7:45	8:00
8:15	8:30	8:45	9:00
9:15	9:30	9:45	10:00
10:15	10:30	10:45	11:00
11:15	11:30	11:45	12:00
12:15	12:30	12:45	1:00
1:15	1:30	1:45	2:00
2:15	2:30	2:45	3:00
3:15	3:30	3:45	4:00
4:15	4:30	4:45	5:00
5:15	5:30	5:45	6:00
6:15	6:30	6:45	7:00
7:15	7:30	7:45	8:00
8:15	8:30	8:45	9:00
9:15	9:30	9:45	10:00
10:15	10:30	10:45	11:00
11:15	11:30	11:45	12:00
12:15	12:30	12:45	1:00
1:15	1:30	1:45	2:00
2:15	2:30	2:45	3:00
3:15	3:30	3:45	4:00
4:15	4:30	4:45	5:00
5:15	5:30	5:45	6:00
6:15	6:30	6:45	7:00
7:15	7:30	7:45	8:00
8:15	8:30	8:45	9:00
9:15	9:30	9:45	10:00
10:15	10:30	10:45	11:00
11:15	11:30	11:45	12:00
12:15	12:30	12:45	1:00
1:15	1:30	1:45	2:00
2:15	2:30	2:45	3:00
3:			