Women Who Are In the News

Mrs. Wilbour's Work -- Baroness von Suttner -- Lady Mary Hamilton. Mrs. Frederick Schoff and Others

HE president Sorosis, Mrs. Charlotte B. Wilbour, is one of the pioneers in the cause of greater liberties for women. Sorosis makes the claim of being the first club to be organized in America for women alone. It came into being in

She wrote the pledge which all members have since taken efforts that the juand which has often been praised for its beauty and expressiveness. She passed by the Pennwas president of the society more than a generation ago and again in 1903 was chosen to preside over the club, a upon the statute position she has retained to this time. She has traveled extensively and for many years lived in France and in Italy except in the winter, when she and her husband usually went to Egypt, as Mr. Wilbour was an Egyptologist. She spent fourteen seasons in a dahabeah, or house boat, on the Nile.

Mrs. Wilbour recalls that Sorosis was organized as a result of a slight put upon the fair sex when Charles Dickens was entertained by the newspaper fraternity of New York. No women were invited to the dinner, though there were women journalists even at that time. The ladies thereupon determined upon having a club of their own.

Mme. Patti is very fond of birds and especially fond of parrots. Some years ago she was persuaded by a New York dealer to give $1,000 for one which, he said, was a marvelous talker. The bird apparently would only talk in America and not for Patti. At any rate, it refused to talk after she matic productions have been enjoying bought it. In England it spoke once only. Mme. Patti had a sore throat, and as she had to sing in the evening she sent for a doctor. As the physician entered the room before the prima donna could speak the parrot cried out, "Oh, doctor, I am so sick!" Then it relapsed into silence, which no one could persuade it to break.

It is considered something of which the gentle sex may well be proud that MRS. the famous Nobel peace prize has been won this year by a woman, the Baroness Bertha von Suttner. The money value of this prize is about $40,000, but it has a value as an honor which could not be expressed in dollars and cents. It was awarded to the baroness for ber services in advancing the cause of international peace through the writing of her noted book, "Down With Arms!" Reading this book caused the czar of Russia to issue his call for the first peace conference at The Hague. It has been very widely read. both in this country and Europe, but in the old world. where standing armies are a great burden upon the people and war is a specter ever present to the eye, the sensation the work produced was greater than can well be appreciated here.

When the baroness was a girl she was betrothed to a young prince who was an officer of the army, and his death upon the field just before the time set for their marriage had a deep and permanent effect upon her life. Her father was an eminent Austrian general, and she thus was familiar with war and its horrors from childbood. Many years after the death of her soldier lover she married the Baron von Suttner, an author, like herself. When he died a few years ago his last request to her was to continue her good work as an author and lecturer in the cause of peace.

Lady Mary Louise Hamilton, who came of age a short time ago, has the good fortune to be both beautiful and rich -- indeed, she is accounted the richest woman in all England. Naturally she has had plenty of suitors, but for a time she was shy of being courted and declared she would never wed. She shunned London society, spent most of her time at her Scottish castle and won fame as a thorough sportswoman. "Ride, shoot, love your country and be proud of your ances-

man. He was an unsuccessful Unionist candidate for the house of commons in the recent elections. Had she been born a boy, Lady Hamilton would have been the holder of two Scottish and ten British titles. She would have been Duke of Chatellerault, premier peer of Scotland and hereditary keeper of Holyrood palace. As it is she has an income of $500,000 a year, owns the Isle of Arran and Brodrick castle in Scotland and Easton Park, Wickham Market, in England.

Mrs. Frederick Schoff, who is serving her fifth term as president of the National Congress of Mothers, can speak with authority on the subject of children, for she has had seven of her own. She has done a great work in behalf of dependent and delinquent children and has been influential in securing the passage of legislation in their interest in many states. She has compiled the laws of every state 1868, and Mrs. Wil. In the Union on the largely through her venile court law sylvania legislature In 1902 was placed

At a meeting at which Mrs. Schoff once presided a man arose and asked with an ill concealed sneer why it was that men were not as much addicted eral import is enough to make the poet to saying spiteful things about one an- of imperialism skip off to Africa. other as women were.

The president answered him. "Men," she said, "are so busy bragging about themselves that they don't have time to attack other men."

It is rather an unusual thing for a woman to start a public career as an actress and then win her greatest fame as a playwright, but that is the way things happened in the case of Mrs. Madeleine Lucette Ryley, whose dra-companies in America. In 1890 she was married in the United States to the comedian J. H. Ryley. She took to writing short stories and sketches for magazines, and from that drifted into dramatic writing. Some of her most popular plays are "Jedbury Junior," "An American Citizen," "Realism," "The Mysterious Mr. Bugle," "Mice and Men," "My Lady Dainty" and "The Altar of Friendship.

When Mrs. Ryley's first play, "Jedbury Junior," was produced the manager of one of the companies had a telegram from one of the actors on tour with the play which read: "Trouble about 'Jedbury Junior.' Parts at variance."
