

Bellefonte and Vicinity

The Local Happenings in Short Paragraphs

—Monroe Armor is visiting with Tyronne relatives. —James S. Furst has arrived home from a trip to Florida. —Mrs. J. A. Mull, of Phillipsburg, is visiting friends in Bellefonte. —Green's drug store has been greatly improved by a new metallic ceiling. —The forty-hour devotion opens next Sunday in St. John's Catholic church. —Miss Nora Brown, of Hanover, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Young. —The Hon. John A. Daley had important business in town on Monday; you bet he had. —From all parts of the county come reports of serious damage done by mountain fires last week. —Mrs. Thomas A. Shoemaker returned Friday evening from an extended visit in Atlantic City. —Miss Rebecca Rhoads returned home Monday evening from a visit with friends at Chambersburg. —Miss Julia Bidwell visited at her home in this place the past week and returned to Pittsburg, Sunday. —Postmaster W. W. Montgomery and family moved last week to the Montgomery homestead on Allegheny street. —Edward Richards has begun work on digging the foundation for his new house on east Linn street, just east of Robert F. Hunter's. —On account of the increased trade on the C. R. R. of Pa., this company have leased a N. Y. C. & H. R. R. engine No. 3608. —The old Cunningham foundry is being put in shape by J. H. Lingle who will operate it in connection with his own extensive business. —Fred Chambers went to Tyrone Tuesday morning where he will open a phonograph store for G. W. Hall & Co., of this place. Fred is over his recent illness. —Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert A. Beaver and little daughter arrived in Bellefonte Monday evening from New York City and will occupy the Nichols property on Curtin street. —A large delegation of Odd Fellows of Centre Lodge attended worship at the Lutheran church Sunday morning, and listened to a splendid sermon by the pastor Rev. J. M. Reardon. —Rev. J. Allison Platts the newly elected pastor of the Presbyterian church and his family arrived in Bellefonte, Tuesday afternoon. A reception was tendered him at the chapel last evening. —The people of Bellefonte have hardly done their duty toward aiding the sufferers in the San Francisco fire. Other towns have contributed twice and three times as much and are not any more able. —Hugh Fiedler's Star Magazine for May is out and proves to be an interesting publication that contains contributions from the best writers. It sells at a popular price and is especially adapted for the family circle. —The Holy Communion services in Zion Reformed church will be postponed until Sunday afternoon, May 13th, at 2:30. The usual services will be held in St. John's Reformed church, Bellefonte, next Sunday morning and evening. —Failing to secure a judge to bear the special cases set down for next week, that special week of court has been cancelled and the cases continued. Judge Mayor of Clinton county was expected to be here, but his serious illness has changed the programme. —Earnest Ardery, of Port Matilda, spent Sunday in town as the guest of his uncle, mail-carrier E. E. Ardery. The young man, during the past winter, taught a successful term of school near Phillipsburg and won a set of the encyclopedia awarded by this paper. —Daniel Eberhart was able to hobble down town a few days ago, his first since the accident he met with in having a boardpile at the Ardell planing mill fall and bruise him up badly. Glad he has recovered thus far—may he soon be clear of all the effects of the accident. —Many complaints are heard of automobilists running their machines about town at an excessive speed. Up to this time no serious accident has occurred but the pace is a little too swift. The automobile is here to stay, but it should be regulated within the limit of safety. —At Altoona, Pa., on the 25th day of April, Harry J. Yearick and Miss Maude Woerner, both of Bellefonte, were united in holy bonds of wedlock by Rev. John D. Hicks. The groom is a machinist by trade while the bride was an operator in the Commercial Telephone Exchange at this place. —The announcement of Hon. John Noll, of Bellefonte, for re-election to the Legislature, under the democratic ticket appears this week. Mr. Noll made a good record. He always did the right thing at the proper time and was always at his place. A clean record like his merits a renomination without any opposition, and the support of good people irrespective of politics. —On Monday James Seibert severed his connection with the J. H. Lingle foundry at this place, after a continuous service of twenty six years, most of the time being superintendent of the plant. Mr. Seibert already has been tendered several excellent positions but has not definitely concluded as to what he will do. He is an expert machinist and such men always are at a premium. —The surveys made recently by Major Richter, between this place and Milesburg, and then on down along the old canal towards Roland has caused much speculation among our people as to the purpose. Some seem to think that a connection is sought between the N. Y. C. R. R. and the Bellefonte Central to get over to Huntingdon, and thence into the southern part of the state; sounds plausible, at least. —Sunday night after 9 o'clock, there was a continued flashing of distant lightning around the sky, later on it came closer and peals of thunder were heard; soon there was a brisk shower lasting a few minutes—the first thunder shower of the season in these parts. In the vicinity of Lemont, the storm was somewhat severe. There were heavy peals of thunder, and the lightning struck three new poles of the local telephone line and shattered them completely. Heavy hail accompanied the storm up that way, and a heavy rainfall for a short time.

—A thundergust passed over this section yesterday afternoon. —Mrs. Martin Cooney has about recovered from a serious attack of pleurisy. —Contractors are making estimates for paving the diamond in front of the monument. Brick will be the material. —Cornell University won from State College in a sixteen inning game at Ithaca, N. Y., Saturday by the score of 2-1. —The large trout from the hatchery, placed in the boro spring, are so tame they will take a worm from the hand when offered. —The Centre County Fair Association have selected the first week in October for holding the annual fair. That will be October 1st to the 5th. —Asbridge Thomas, son of Clifford Thomas, broke his left arm between the wrist and elbow while wrestling with some boys at the Academy, on Tuesday. —G. H. Walker closed out his brokerage office in Temple Court, on Wednesday, and leaves for Pittsburg. His successors are Edgar Vensel and Charles Ekey. —Rev. Geo. Israel Brown, former pastor of St. John's Episcopal church, Bellefonte, spent several days of the past week visiting friends here. He officiated at several weddings while here. —The wedding of John H. Gibson, of Philadelphia, and Miss Blanche Cook, of Bellefonte, took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Cook, on west Linn street, Wednesday morning. —On Saturday afternoon an interesting game of base ball is promised between the Academy team and Dickinson Seminary to be played on the Glass Works meadow. Game called at 3 o'clock sharp. Admission 25 cents. —J. P. Brugger, one of Heinz's salesmen, located at Johnstown, was putting in a few days about Unionville, the past week and dropped around here for a chat. When you talk of pickles or beans he can stagger you with data regarding the Heinz product. —A. J. Greist, the retired merchant, of Fleming, was in town on Tuesday and threw some of the coin at us for our might miss Domino's effusions. After 35 years of continuous business Mr. Greist has earned a vacation. A busy man like he can hardly entertain the idea of taking a rest. —When it is realized that the plates for the monument, containing names of all soldiers, have not been cast, in fact the proofs are not corrected, there is reason to doubt whether the monument will be finished by June 5th, the time set for the dedication. It would be a disappointment to find it only partly done by that time. —Dr. Carl S. Vischer, the noted surgeon, of Philadelphia, arrived in Bellefonte on Tuesday as the guest of Dr. M. J. Locke. In recent years he performed many operations upon people of this section who will be sorry to learn that Dr. Vischer is a victim of cancer and his condition is considered critical. He was considerably fatigued by the journey, but thinks the mountain air will prove a tonic to his system. —Saturday night there was rough house on Pike alley. As the reports go, a game of poker was in progress, in which local sports took part. The usual dispute followed which wound up in a free-for-all knockabout, with clubs and anything handy. A good many bruised heads was the result among whom Frank Miller, colored, was seriously hurt. He had several severe gashes on the forehead that had to be stitched, while there are other bruises that may have caused fractures. His condition is considered critical as a result. —The court house, with its first coat of white paint, looks exceedingly well, and when completed will be a handsome structure. The painting is being done by J. T. Zeigler, of Pleasant Gap, who with a force of workmen are rushing the job through so as to be finished in ample time for the dedication of the monument. Alterations of the yard about the monument are being made. Haupt Bros. are putting in the concrete about the monument, and M. R. Johnson has the contract to pave part of the yard. The commissioners find it necessary to remove some of the trees about the monument and cut out several that are about dead. —Among our callers were Mrs. Em'l Giants and little daughter, of Nittany; C. Reese, Port Matilda; Robert Corl, Jr., Boalsburg; James Hogan, on his way to West Virginia; John Moore and son Thomas, of Centre Hall; Samuel Gephart, the post master at Wolfs Store; A. J. Greist, the ex-merchant of Fleming; Hon. J. W. Kepler and Mr. Musser, the firm of Kepler & Musser, millers at Pine Grove Mills; Postmaster G. W. Young, who handles the mails for the citizens about Nittany; Justice Abner Murray, of Boalsburg, who was attending court; Rev. C. T. Aikens, president of Susquehanna University, Selingsgrove; Clymer H. Stover, prominent business man of Aaronsburg; J. J. Fisher, of Hubersburg. —Every property holder in Bellefonte should make a special effort to prepare for the coming dedication of the monument. There will be many visitors here from all parts of the state, and for that reason the streets and alleys of our town and yards of all homes should be read up, and put in a neat and tidy condition. At many points about the town we see unsightly accumulations of old truck, empty barrels, and rubbish. All this should be removed for the occasion. Lawns and fences with a little extra effort can be made ornamental, while a coat of fresh paint will work a wonderful change. One month from now Bellefonte should have on its very best bit and tucker, and look as pretty as a June bride. The Village Improvement Society can take this matter up, as well as individuals. This is the time for local pride to assert itself, and thus Bellefonte will maintain its prestige for being one of the prettiest towns in the state. —The 2nd Annual District S. C. Convention of Union and Boggs townships and Milesburg borough will be held in the Second Lutheran church, in Altoona, Wednesday evening, April 25, at 7 o'clock. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Matilda Musser, and is one of Altoona's accomplished young ladies. The groom is a live, energetic young man and holds an excellent position with the P. R. R. Co. After the nuptial knot had been tied, they went to their newly furnished home at 425 E. 6 ave., Altoona, and were there met by many of their friends. Later in the evening a sumptuous feast was served, and the guests had a general good time.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Rev. F. E. Lauffer, pastor of the Millheim Reformed church, moved to Martinsburg this week. —Jos. H. Heberling, of Pine Grove Mills, has been suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism. —Dr. Atherton returned to State College last week much improved in health from his trip to California. —W. Cal Meyers, a well known stock raiser on the Branch in Ferguson, was attacked by his young 'short horn bull and had not a neighbor come to his rescue the result might have been serious. —J. Frank Meyer, one of the instructors in the University of Pennsylvania, is critically ill of pleurisy at the Bryn Mawr hospital. He is a son of J. S. Meyer, of Penn Hall. Latest report is that he is recovering. —Mrs. G. Stanley West, wife of Rev. G. Stanley West, who for five years was located as pastor of the Baptist church at Blanchard, now of Newberry, is critically ill with a severe attack of appendicitis, at her home in Newberry. —J. A. B. Miller has bought another farm just north of Pine Grove. Several years ago he bought what is known as the Thos. Kustaborder farm. Last week he became the owner of the Keichline farm adjoining his first purchase. —Calvin Horner and family, of Altoona, visited his mother, Mrs. Wm. Horner, west of Centre Hall this past week. Mr. Horner met with an accident at Altoona some time ago by falling through an elevator shaft, but he has about recovered. —A severe fire out in the mountains last Saturday near Snow Shoe proved disastrous for Charles Reese, as it consumed over 200 cords of wood, and a lot of other timber and many fences. The rain on Saturday night was timely, as it extinguished it. —The toll-houses on the pike through Pennsylvania were sold last week to the following persons: Mrs. Aaron Weaver bought the one at Aaronsburg and G. C. King the one west of Spring Mills. The house at Woodward was bought by Dr. W. P. Ard several days before at private sale. —The corps of civil engineers in the eastern part of the county are at work in the mountains along Penns Creek east of Coburn, with part of the force at Coburn. They are the same party who were there a year ago and are going over the route previously located by them. —An interesting wedding occurred at the Baptist parsonage, Milesburg, on Wednesday evening, 25, when pastor A. C. Lathrop spoke the words which joined in the bonds of holy matrimony Charles Schickler and Nellie B. Wallace. Both are well known and highly esteemed young people Milesburg. —Prof. George P. Bible, president of the School of Oratory in Philadelphia, will deliver the commencement address before the graduating class on Thursday evening, June 7th, in Petriken Hall, Mr. Bible formerly was an editor of the Centre Democrat and since then has become prominent in educational work and attained a reputation as a popular lecturer. —Miss Laura Rumberger, of Fleming, sang in the "First Walpurgis Night" performed by the Combs Broad St. Conservatory of Music, at Philadelphia, May 25. The music of "Walpurgis Night" was written by Mendelssohn for the poem of that name by Goethe. This was the first performance of the work in this country for fifty years and was enthusiastically received and voted an artistic success. —When Harry Emery, of the Emery Grocery company, Phillipsburg, opened his store Saturday morning he found on going to the cash register that robbers had been around during the night. An entrance was gained through the transom of the front door. Fortunately, only about $4 in money was secured—about $2 in pennies and the balance in small change. Some tobacco and a few other articles were taken. —Last Friday the Commissioners of Centre and Clinton counties held a joint meeting at Beech Creek to consider the application for a new bridge across Beech Creek. It is their opinion that the state should build the structure as it is over a navigable stream, and they will proceed to make application to the state authorities. A new bridge is needed at that point and it is a relief to that section to know that something definite has been done. —Wednesday evening, 25, at 7 o'clock Fred P. Gehret, of Bellefonte, and Miss Armona Bathurst, of Roland, were united in marriage at the Evangelical parsonage, of Milesburg, by Rev. Foss, after which the happy couple returned to the bride's home, J. L. Bathurst, at Roland, where the table was filled with delicious things to eat. The bride wore a gown of cream silk with shoes, hat and gloves to match. Many friends and relatives were present, while two or three handsome presents were received. —A farmer near Julian is anxious to know who the party were at an automobile that came down the valley from Tyrone last Sunday morning. At the railroad crossing he found two panels of fence torn down. He says if the critter shied at the cars and ran off from the driver it would not be so bad, but if they were testing their machine at the expense of his fences he will want to know the reason why. He says his fences are hog proof and bull strong but this was too much for it. —The Rev. R. W. Illingsworth was formally installed as pastor of the St. Paul's Presbyterian church of Somerset Tuesday evening. The Rev. Mr. Illingsworth is now serving two congregations with pastoral care—Somerset and Boswell. He is 37 years of age and has been in the ministry ten years. He is very popular and a hard worker, having greatly strengthened the Somerset congregation during the time he has been pastor. Brother Illingsworth is well and favorably known to many readers of the Centre Democrat, having served as pastor in our county.

C. Currin and Mrs. Arthur Gilmore, Williamsport; Percy, of Bloomsburg; and Mrs. Lawrence Clewell and Mrs. Mark Yearick, of Berwick. The deceased was a daughter of Daniel Willow of Centre Hall, who died several years ago. Her husband in his earlier years also, had his home in Centre Hall until he entered the Evangelical ministry. —MARTIN FUNK—an esteemed resident of Port Matilda, died on Wednesday morning 25th, aged 68 years, 2 months and 22 days. He had resided all his life in Half Moon Valley and at Port Matilda. Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Rachel Funk, and the following sons and daughters: Mrs. E. H. Rothrock, Mrs. M. Lloyd Miller, Mrs. Alfred Eves, John Funk, all of Tyrone; Daniel, Ezekiel and Elsie, at home. Three sisters and two brothers also survive him, Mrs. Sarah Ray, of Falls Creek; Mrs. Jerry Farber, of Phillipsburg; Mrs. George Loner, of Stormstown; Wesley and Daniel Funk, of Altoona. He was a devout member of the United Brethren church, and a man above reproach. An invalid for eighteen years during which he suffered from asthma and heart trouble, he was never known to complain. His last illness extended over eleven weeks, drowsy causing death. Interment in the Black Oak cemetery Saturday morning. —HARRY B. WEAVER—son of T. W. Weaver met with a sad and untimely death at Winburne, Pa., where he had been for about a year, employed in the electrical repair shops at the Sommerville colliery. Harry had just been home to visit his father and friends and left Gillettown on the 5:13 train and arriving at Winburne met with some friends of his on their way up town to the boarding place, where a horse hitched in a lively rig dashed suddenly into the crowd, and Harry, having only one leg, could not bring his crutches around quick enough to get out of the way; was thrown down under the horse and the conveyance passed over him, by which he was injured internally, also suffered a fracture of the skull. This occurred between 6 and 7 o'clock, on April 19. He survived till between 8 and 9 o'clock on the next evening. His remains were brought to the home of his father at Moshannon, on Saturday evening, from there the funeral was held on Monday, 23, at 2 p. m. The American Mechanics and the Red Men had charge of the burial. Prior to Feb. 1st, 1904, he had been employed as driver in the mines, on that date he met with a sad accident in the mine, which resulted in the loss of his right leg.

FOR BETTER COMMERCIALISM.

Protecting the People and the Profits of Our Home Merchants. —The people, the consuming public, are becoming tired of adulterations in food products, and misrepresentation of values in all kinds of goods, and this feeling of dissatisfaction has reached our National lawmakers, through their constituents, and has resulted in the agitation of a new and far reaching kind of Federal legislation, protecting the honest American manufacturer, the honest dealer and the victimized consumer. —The National pure food law, which passed the Senate at this session of Congress, and which will undoubtedly pass the House, is perhaps, of first importance, as adulterations and low values in food products work ill against the health as well as the pocketbook of the public. Next to this, and of even higher financial importance, is the misrepresentation in goods made from the precious metals. —For years John C. Duesber, President of The Duesber-Hampden Watch Co., of Canton, Ohio, has been fighting for true and honest standards of value in these goods, and the initial bill of this character to be passed by Congress was the Vreeland, anti-United States Assay measure, which became a law last year, and which originated in Mr. Duesber's fight for better commercialism and higher standards of value in goods made from the precious metals. —Congressman Vreeland, backed by Mr. Duesber, and later by the best element among the manufacturers of smaller articles of jewelry, has placed before Congress this session a "National Stamping Act," which will regulate the making of articles from gold and silver. This measure has received a favorable report from the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee of the House, and will, it is thought, become a law. —This legislation along the right line, and while it protects the people at large, it also protects our home merchants against the illegitimate competition of the mail order fakir, who has no conscientious scruples about misrepresentation if he can gain profit. —For a cough or cold take Krumrine's Compound Syrup of Tar—cures in one day.

ADJOINING COUNTIES.

Mrs. Christian Appel, a well known woman of Sugarvalley, died on 26th, at her home at Booneville. —The Pension office announces that the last survivor of the War of 1812 has just died. —A number of workmen at the Burnham steel works were discharged within the past week. Among those were a number from this county. —The Cumberland (Md.) Times walks boldly up to the peach crop liar and, starting him in the face, declares that the late freezeup has not injured the fruit a bit. —Union county farmers are greatly hindered in their work this spring by the inability to procure workmen. They are weeks behind their schedule on that account. —Two dogs chased a deer at Loyalsockville, Lycoming county, and when the matter was reported to the game warden orders were issued for the shooting of the canines. —There are rumors that the town of Clearfield is to have two new daily papers. The Monitor and The Republican, each contemplating, it is said, the publication of a daily. —Born without hands, Miss Sallie Kleinig, of Mohnsville, Berks county, runs a sewing machine, attends to a lot of correspondence, kills chickens and does all kinds of housework with stumps of her arms. —Shade Gap Huntingdon county, is without a physician, and the citizens have issued a petition, setting forth their need and offering some inducement to a good live doctor of medicine willing to go to their relief. —While excavating in Huntingdon county, it was discovered that the locusts in large numbers are very near the surface. The prediction that the seven-year locusts will be here this year is practically proven by the above. —A simple method of testing whether milk has been watered is to take a well polished knitting needle and dip it into a deep vessel of milk and withdraw it immediately, says the Medina Register. If the milk is unwatered some of the fluid will adhere to the needle, but if it has been watered in the least degree the needle will come out quite free of the milky fluid. —John H. Motter, a well known resident of Rosecrans, in Sugar Valley, and a veteran of the civil war, died in the Lock Haven hospital Monday morning, of peritonitis, following obstruction of the bowels. An operation was performed on Sunday, when it was found that he was beyond help, as a cancerous tumor had formed on the bowels, and peritonitis had developed. Deceased was aged 59 years and leaves his wife and eight children. —APPLICATION FOR CHARTER. —Notice is hereby given that an application will be made to His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, on Tuesday, the 2nd day of May, A. D. 1906, for a charter to be granted to an intended corporation, entitled, THE SUGAR VALLEY TELEPHONE COMPANY, having its principal office in the village of Greentown, Lyman township, County of Clinton and State of Pennsylvania, the object and purpose of which corporation is to construct, maintain, lease and operate a telephone and telegraph lines and exchange in the Counties of Centre and Clinton.
