The readers of the Wingate items will damage to young timber. please excuse the scribe for being short of items; was away on a visit among his old friends of Centre and Clinton coun- ing ties. First to visit was my old friend ex-sheriff Shaffer, and lady of Nittany Hall, where we were kindly treated and Divide enjoyed our visit. Next our old friend We a and neighbor George Young and others. I had the pleasure of meeting Israel Yearick, a farmer and fruit grower; he claims that his peach orchard, some 700 trees, bloomed well and promises a fair yield; so far they look all right. While here and after spending one day and two nights with my old friend, I learned that my old friend Thomas Evers, an old solution of the second sec dier of the late war, a man up in 80, leader. lived near Hublersburg. So we bid our A yo friends good-by, and journeyed to the home of our old neighbor Thomas Evers, found him sitting on his porch, enjoyin good health, except, like most of old folks, complained of rheumatism. We were kindly treated. We declined taking dinner and bid farewell to the family and left for Howard, where I and my wife called on her mother and took dinner. The old lady is far advanced in years, being 89 years old in September. While there I heard of the death of Jacob Glosner of Blanchard, an old school mate | fell here Sunday night and did a great of mine, and to be buried; it being Saturday I didn't reach Blanchard till four in the evening, too late for the funeral. Made a couple calls then went over to Beech Creek to visit old friends and relatives, where I met with both joy and sorrow. The first to meet was my granddaughter, who was mourning the death of her husband, James Meyers. Next the distressed condition of Levi Rupurt's family. Some three weeks ago a son of his and family came to visit his parents, his wife was stricken with tyshoid fever and died. Next to take the fever was Levi Rupurt, the father-in-law and two of his children. By advice of the physician they were sent on Saturday to the Lock Haven hospital. Next I visited my old friend Uria Kitchen, an old Mexican soldier who also served in the rebellion. I was surprised to find him looking so well for a man past 85; his memory is good, he says; he intends to come to Bellefonte in June to be pres-ent at the dedication of the soldier's monument-the writer remembers well when he went to the Mexican war.

Vin-te-na is a perfect tonic, founded on common sense, science and the very highest midical skill. It does precisely what it was designed to do. It gives life and nerve food to the blood. It cures every weakness and bodily disorder that is caused by impure and impoverished blood. It is not a "symptom remedy." If you are suffering from impure blood, thin blood, debility, nervousness, exhaustion, you should begin at once with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the Sarsaparilla you have known all your life. Your doctor knows it, too. Ask him about it.

You must look well after the condition of your liver and bowels.
