EDITORIAL.

TRUE to our predictions Quigley poked the Love bunch a solar-plexus. The blow was painful.

It is pretty well settled by this time that the Standard Oil Company is lubricating old Swallow and windy Castle in their opposition to Emery.

EMERY is fighting the Penna. R. R., the Standard Oil Co. and the Penrose machine. If that suits you, show your manhood by joining forces with him.

If all the articles published by the Keystone Gazette, urging the nomination of Henry C. Quigley, for State Senate were pasted in a scrap book there would be a few blank pages left—yes, quite a few, and then some.

The nomination of Quigley was a bitter pill for Love and the Gazette. They now are preparing the sugar coating and will swallow Henry wholesale this week—boots and breeches—in that sheet, without any show of displeasure.

FRIDAY evening a Prohibition meeting was held in the Court House with Prof. H. D. Patton as the orator. By actual count forty men, two ladies and some boys were present. It was a sensible argument for the Prohibition cause, and far different from the slanderous venom being spat out by Swallow and Castle. Prof. Patton proved above all to be a gentleman. The small attendance at this meeting indicates that a large element of Prohibitionists are disgusted with their campaign this year.

SENATORIAL CONFERENCES.

The Republican Senatorial deadlock, which had been on for some weeks, was broken at the adjourned session held at the Potter House, in Philipsburg, last Saturday afternoon.

State Chairman Andrews had taken a step towards settlement of the difficulty by naming two additional conferees, Harry Keller, of Bellefonte, and Lance Snyder, of Clearfield, both of whom were present at the conference.

Two ballots were taken at this session, the first standing 4 for Quigley and 4 for Alexander. After a thorough discussion of the situation, the second ballot resulted unanimously in Quigley's favor. The nomination was made on the ninth ballot, notwithstanding a number of sessions were held.

The nomination of Quigley will have an important bearing on the local political situation. As all know there is one notorious element of Republicans in this county that is antagonistic to Henry Quigley's political aspirations. It is a small, unimportant coterie of local political celebrities who in the recent past have suffered frequent political frosts. It is the bunch known as the "Love crowd," among them being John G. Love, Tom Harter, Col. Edward R. Chambers and their satellites, who never were a dominating influence in the Republican councils in this county, but always a body of sore heads—disappointed, disgruntled chronic, office seekers—always after loot. Sometime ago they sought to deprive Henry Quigley from becoming the County Chairman, but in this they failed. Next, to gain some prestige they put up the ex-Judge for Congress, in order to swap Centre county's influence at the conference, for recognition from the probable congressman.

In all this time they stood in the way of Henry Quigley, and tried to have Phil. Womelsdorf defeat Quigley, but Henry put the whole bunch to the bad, on the first round. It was plainly evident that Mr. Quigley received no encouragement from them in his endeavors to land this nomination, as they did not wish to see him attain to any political prominence which might overshadow these pigmies whose horizon has always been bounded by unadulterated selfishness.

We do not endorse Quigley's Republican principles, and feel confident that the Democrats can name a man who will put him to sleep in November; but it is gratifying to see Henry wallopp this bunch. It is a bitter pill, and now the community is enjoying the spectacle of seeing them take their physic.

DEMOCRATS CAN'T AGREE.

After numerous conferences, between Wm. C. Heinle, of Centre and Geo. B. Dimeling of Clearfield, and no nomination being made, Wednesday the democratic conference adjourned and the State Committee will choose the party nominee.

TELL THE TRUTH.

A Fitting Rebuke to a Chronic Office Seeker.

TO THE DEMOCRAT.— Since the Editor of the Gazette has become an overly anxious candidate for the postoffice at this place his devotion to the Gang, which has plundered the state for many years, has taken on a new energy. So heroic has he become that in his article on "Malodorous Reform," in last week's issue of his paper he puts the "colossal Real Estate Trust Company's collapse in Philadelphia," on the reformers, and charges that "many of its leading men are active reformers."

The candidate and editor knows better; he ought to tell the truth. The Philadelphia Press in artful editorial, in its issue of the 10th inst., on this subject says: "There is a palpable attempt in certain quarters to make political capital out of the catastrophe of the Real Estate Trust Company. We recall nothing in all our observation quite so disgraceful and contemptible. It is as baseless in fact as it is despicable in spirit. This dastard effort seems to call for and to justify some plain speaking."

The sole basis for the political attack is the truth that two of the Directors have been conspicuously identified with the reform movement in this city. It makes no account of the other truth that a majority of the Directors have followed the Machine. It suppresses the political affiliations of Mr. Betz, Mr. Junkin, Mr. Patton, Judge Porter and Colonel Benson, and concentrates its perversion and its venom upon Mr. John H. Converse and Mr. Bayard Hendry."

The chronic postoffice candidate further overlooks the fact that R. Dale Benson, another of the directors of the broken Trust Company, was a member of the committee of twenty-one, who championed the decoy ticket substituted by the gang in Philadelphia last fall. Out of the twelve of this company, Wm. A. Patton, Ex-Judge Porter, J. deF. McJunkin were well known supporters of the Penrose machine, and Hippie who looted the bank is not known to have contributed, either time or money to the reform campaign of last year, in the city or state. The Press of the same date further says:

"This case is very different from that of the Enterprise Bank last year. The Real Estate Trust was ruined by personal looting. The Enterprise Bank by political looting. The swindlers who wrecked the Real Estate were personal thieves. The harpies who preyed on the Enterprise were political plunderers. It was individual speculation that took the vitals out of the Real Estate. It was the political power of the Ring that gutted the Enterprise. The whole disaster of the Enterprise sprang from political prostitution, while the collapse of the Real Estate was one with which neither politics nor politicians had anything to do."

"The Gangsters who take a ghoulish glee in this calamity and in trying to turn it into an indictment of the Presbyterian religion. Indeed that is the inevitable sequence of their reasoning. Their attitude is a sneer at Presbyterians. It is an impeachment of all religion. It is an implication that because there were one or two black sheep in the flock the whole flock is tainted. Pity for the feeble intellect of which this paltry exhibition is the stature and for the depraved morals which can revel and gloat in this humiliation of a great church."

"Mark our words to the authors. The people love fair play. Strong as is their feeling for justice, they will condemn this injustice to men who, however misguided, are honest and upright, and they will resent this sneer at political and religious virtue. And as for the canting hypocrites whom we brand, if they do not turn scarlet as they contemplate themselves it will be because on their brow 'shame is ashamed to sit.'"

What does this enthusiastic, but overzealous candidate think of this, coming from the Press, one of his own party organs? It is a little strong, but it applies and the last sentence from the Press is repeated: "And as the canting hypocrites whom we brand, if they do not turn scarlet as they contemplate themselves it will be because on their brow shame is ashamed to sit." The candidate is too brazen; on account of his overly anxious greed he won't blush, nor shame sit on his brow.

"A LINCOLN REPUBLICAN."

Letter to Abe Miller, Pleasant Gap.

Dear Sir: Our agent ought to sell nine-tenths of the paint of his town and region; no use to try for the other tenth. The proportion of men, who won't take good advice, and use the least-gallons paint, is about one in ten among even owners of houses and stores and shops and barns and fences.

One man in ten will buy a gold brick or green goods if he has the money and gets a good chance.

Devote at $1.75 a gallon is better than gold; adulterated and short-measured paints are green goods and gold brick.

Devote saves half, more or less, of the labor and wages of painting; it is all paint; full strength and full measure.

There is no other such paint within ten per cent. Ten per cent of labor and paint is worth saving; and ten is the least. There are scores of paints that throw-away half of both gallons and labor on whitening, china-clay, ground barytes, benzine, water—all they are good for is to make gallons of nothing and look like paint in the can; more gallons to buy and more gallons to pay for putting-on—gold bricks and green goods. Here's how they work.

Judge I. D. Fairchild owns two houses exactly alike in Lufkin, Texas. J. H. Torrence painted both houses; one Devote, 15 1/2 gallons; the other with other paint sold at same price; 25 gallons. That 25 gallon paint is weak and 15 per cent whitening; that's why it took 9 1/2 gallons more.

Yours Truly F. W. DEVOTE & CO. New York.

E. G. Fye, of State College, is now in Philadelphia consulting an eye specialist, and the indications are that he will have to have a very serious operation performed.

THE CAMPAIGN.

During the past week Emery and Black have been campaigning through the northwestern portion of this state and their meetings have been attracting wide attention. There is no tinsel and glitter about their meetings, which always are well attended by a sober, intelligent, thinking class of people who mould and shape sentiment. They set the people to thinking wherever they go.

Emery's campaign is a vigorous onslaught against the Standard Oil Company, the Penna. R. R., the Penrose Machine, and all forms of political loot, and corporate greed. It is a noble fight, by a fearless, upright man. Every day the papers contain the names of leading Republican and Prohibition papers who admire Emery and are joining in the crusade for better government. The tide is strong for Emery, and he is hopeful for results.

Castle and Swallow are in charge of the Prohibition campaign. They have been repeatedly proven guilty of uttering slanderous charges against Emery, and their work seems to be backed by the Standard Oil Company. Leading Prohibitionists are growing disgusted at the spectacle. Here in Bellefonte the recognized Prohibitionists are pronounced for Emery, as Castle and Swallow are only working to help the discredited Penrose Gang.

Thus early in the campaign the skies are brightening for the election of a man who will prove a creditable executive of our state.

The boast that the new state capital costs less than $4,000,000, was made by Republicans to show how honest the Gang really is. Treasurer Berry has exposed the joke and shows that the actual cost will exceed $12,000,000. Another scandal will soon be unearthed.

OVER THE COUNTY.

The Reformed church at Zion is undergoing quite extensive repairs.

Mrs. Horace Zerby and daughter, Miss Mabel Olivia, of Salt Lake City, Utah, are visiting friends in Potter township, where she was born, being a daughter of Uriah Oasman, decd.

William Strunk, a deaf mute, who has been spending his vacation with his parents at Howard, has left again for Philadelphia where he is a student in an institution for mutes. He is said to be a bright student, and will graduate at the close of this year.

An interesting event in social circles will be the approaching wedding of Hon. Philip E. Womelsdorf and Miss Emma Warfel, of Philipsburg, which will be solemnized in the Presbyterian church on Wed. Sept. 26, at 6 p. m., invitations to which have been sent out to a large number of friends.

Boyd Hoover, of Harris township, has started out on a new venture. With a new turnout goes to Altoona, having a load of produce, such as butter, egg-lard, sweet corn, potatoes, apples and other fruit gathered from the farmers in that community. He expects to make this trip weekly.

While cutting trees on the McNitt-Huyett lumber tract east of Centre Hall, Samuel Meyer received a severe injury on his head. A limb on a large tree switched back, one of the branches striking his head, cutting his scalp and also bruised him otherwise. Dr. J. R. G. Allison sewed up the wound.

Dr. George P. Bible, of Philadelphia, was a passenger east Thursday of last week. Dr. Bible recently returned from a European tour, and since has been through Ohio, Indiana and several other western states delivering lectures. Arrangements were perfected whereby Dr. Bible will appear in Grange Arcadia at Centre Hall, about the middle of November.

In order that the competition may be purely local the managers of the Great Centre County Fair have decided that in the poultry exhibit only birds grown and owned by Centre county people will be entered for premiums. Of course there will be the usual great exhibit of poultry from some of the large New York poultry farms, but they will not be in competition for the premiums.

A modest but very pretty wedding took place Wednesday evening of last week at 7 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Flegal, of Philipsburg, when their daughter, Miss Iva was married to Robert S. Womer, son of O. Womer, of North Philipsburg. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. J. Head, was witnessed by only the immediate friends of the contracting parties.

While Willie Moore was helping his father, W. S. Moore, of Pine Grove Mills, drive some cattle, a hook which was on the end of a long chain being dragged by a vicious bull caught the boy around the ankle, dragging him over the rocks at a break neck speed. Fortunately some men chanced to be on hand, and rescued the boy just in time to save him a mangled body and perhaps from a horrible death.

The Pennsylvania State College opened Thursday of last week for the new college year. The attendance this year will be close on to 1000 students, the freshman class numbering over 350. Quite a number of changes in headmen and the faculty have been made and the absence of its deceased president, the late George W. Atherton, seemed not in keeping with the usual college opening over which he presided for 23 years.

The pupils of the Rockview high school, of Benner twp, will hold a festival next Saturday evening, Nov. 22nd, on the school ground. All the choice refreshments of the season, including ice cream, cakes, watermelons, peanuts, and candies, will be served. The proceeds are for an organ for the high school. There will be plenty of good music during the evening. Everybody is invited to come.

Mrs. Margaret Keller, who was eighty-five years old on the 3rd of this month, spent part of the day in the house where she was born—the old George Shenberg home, at the Blue Spring, Harris township, now occupied by her grandson W. G. Mothersbaugh. While there she related many reminiscences of her childhood and youthful days. Mrs. Keller is enjoying good health. Of thirteen children she is the only one living.

He leaves to survive four sons and three daughters, viz: Joseph, of Belmont, W. Va.; Edward, of Deutcher, O.; Wallace, of Bird, W. Va.; William, of Arravilla, W. Va.; Mrs. J. C. WILLIAM H. HASSAL—father of Mrs. C. F. Montgomery, of Bellefonte, died very suddenly at his home in Philadelphia Wednesday evening of last week, from heart prostration. He was at his office all day and in the evening went home as usual for supper. He took sick soon afterwards and passed away very quickly. He was a prominent citizen of the Quaker City, and 82 years of age. When Mrs. Montgomery, of Bellefonte, received the sad intelligence it was too late to take a train here, but John P. Lyon took her to Lock Haven where she got the midnight train for the city. Mr. Montgomery attended the funeral.

JOSEPH W. HUBBARD—one of the oldest residents of Beech Creek twp., Clinton Co., died Monday morning at the advanced age of 82 years, of causes incident to old age. Hubbard, commissioner's clerk of Lock Haven; William C., Horace H., and Joseph H., of Patton; Mrs. George Williams of Bellefonte; Mrs. Priscilla Gonsallus, of Patton, and Miss Annie, at home. The first wife died in 1881. In 1889, Mr. Hubbard married Sarah Packer of Howard, who survives him, with two children of this union, Morris Rich Hubbard and Miss Charlotte at home. In 1881 he was elected county commissioner on the Democratic ticket and served with satisfaction to the public until 1884.

A FINE DISPLAY.

Centre county farmers will be interested in knowing that the coming great fair in Centre county will afford an opportunity of comparing products of their own farms and gardens with those of another State. The Norfolk and western R. R. Co. through its agricultural and industrial agent, Mr. F. H. LaBaume, has decided to make a display of the products of the State of Virginia and has asked for a large section of the exhibition building for that purpose. This will be an especially interesting display because a number of Centre Co. farmers have already immigrated to Virginia and their friends and neighbors here will be glad to see how productive the soil of their adopted State is.

Many a broad-shouldered man is narrow minded.
