GREENS GAP.

We all feel very sorry for the Editor of the Gazette, that he lost such an able assistant, but extend a hearty congratulation to Charlie for being so successful in obtaining such an able man for associate editor. Say Charlie do you, think Uncle Tom is jealous?

Mr. Rachau had his right hand badly lacerated by having it come in contact with a rapidly revolving circular saw. His hand has made slow progress in the way of healing and consequently he experiences great pain at intervals.

A certain man in the community lets his dog run loose on the public roads and in several instances it viciously attacked passers by. This dog is a terror to the school children and a public nuisance, if only some good natured person comes along and kills the dog it will serve the owner right.

BOY'S SCHOOL DISTRICT.

Rev. S. Snyder preached an able sermon on Sunday forenoon.

I wonder where the Green Gap scribe is? I think he is some placereading the Centre Democrat.

Grenoble & Ertle's will make cider next week, on Tuesday and Thursday and from this until winter.

A. J. Stover received a car load of cedar shingles and is ready to supply his customers.

Through the courtesy of Wilmer Stover, of Aaronburg, Andrew Vonada and family enjoyed a pleasant ride on the former's automobile on Sunday.

The Coburn band filled an engagement at Rebersburg Saturday evening. Wednesday and Thursday the boys furnished music for the Grangers at Centre Hall, and Thursday of next week for the Lewisburg fair.

The Coburn band filled an engagement at Rebersburg Saturday evening. Wednesday and Thursday the boys furnished music for the Grangers at Centre Hall, and Thursday of next week for the Lewisburg fair.

A. Vonada's cider press will not be in operation on Thursday, Sept. 27, but every other Tuesday and Thursday during the apple season.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Meyer and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Corman and son visited at the home of William Meyer, at Loganton, over Sunday.

J. W. Kerstetter is building a ware house to the rear of his store building, which goes to show that there is an increase in his mercantile trade.

C. F. Kerstetter spent Monday night with his parents.

FOR SPEAK.

We welcome Francis to the fold. And like to read his "chat." He makes an interesting addition to the Centre Democrat.

UNION TWP.

BUSH HOLLOW.

Miss Mattie Lucas, one of Union Twp's popular school marns, departed Monday morning for Chestnut grove, where she is appointed to teach this winter.

POTTER TWP.

EARLYSTOWN.

D. L. Bartzges is done painting his barn and house; when done, it will be nice and attractive.

W. A. Reiber left on Friday morning; he and his family will take in the Grangers picnic and then go to Philadelphia, Atlantic City and New York for his vacation.

The Old Fort hotel had quite a good many guests on Sunday—almost up to two hundred. That is the place to get a good square meal.

BUZZARDS GLORY.

John Foggelman and lady friend, Miss Snoffsmyer, spent Sunday at Hecia and Snydertown, with the latter's parents.

Bush meeting was well attended.

Mr. Grimm, of State College, spent Sunday with his lady friend, Miss Margaret McCormick, at Hubersburg.

Blanche McCallion had been sick but is able to be around again.

UNIONVILLE.

A. J. Griest is now able to take short walks out-doors. Mrs. A. J. Griest has been quite ill for a few days but she, too, is convalescing nicely.

Mrs. Maggie Taylor, of Altoona, with a number of her neighbors and friends spent ten days very pleasantly at Philadelphia, Atlantic City and other eastern cities. Mrs. Taylor said they were "right in the swim."

Tom McClellan and wife, of Altoona, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. McClellan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Morrison. They are on their way to Niagara Falls and will sing, while on their way, "Put me off at Buffalo."

George and Ed. Gill, of Martha, came down to this place one day last week and took 21 mammoth pike out of "Fisher's Reach" in the Bald Eagle creek. Just how they caught them, nobody seems to know.

We are under obligation to Capt. Wm. Fry, of Pine Grove Mills, for a very interesting genealogy of the Kreger family. The research was made by the Rev. Isaac Kreider, of Duncansville, and dates back to 1881 and includes about nine generations.

We nearly forgot to get off the train on last Friday. Because why? Paul Neff, the regular brakeman was not on to call out the station. You see, Paul bought a package of chewing gum and a poke of peanuts and took his best girl to the soldiers reunion at Altoona. Yum! Yum!

DOMINO'S TOUR.

Local items being scarce I concluded to start on my tour of the county (in my mind.) I have been warned that a number of toughs along my intended route are lying for me and that they would probably do me bodily harm. I therefore provided myself with a bottle of arnica and a bottle of spts. turpentine, a large box of Bell Ointment, some lint and bandages so that I am well prepared to patch up any person who will have the audacity to attempt to "do" me while on my way. After winding up my auto, I concluded to test it before starting down the valley. I invited, Sue, Fred, Sara and Marian, and Alfred Heaton to join me in a little jaunt up the pike. We were as far as grandma Fredericks. We found her son Benjamin digging a ditch to turn the water from a little mountain stream over the meadow. He said he thought it would do better if he would "irritate" it. Mrs. Molly Holt was frying doughnuts with a hole in them, I tell you they were fine, but I think we would have had more doughnut if the hole had not been so large. On our return trip we stopped a minute at the Senser home. Miss Minnie was just going to leave for her school at Pleasant view, which she is teaching so successfully, at Bruggers—we almost ran over Betsy Hall who was passing from the barn to the house with a pail of milk in each hand. When we arrived in town I helped the ladies out of the Cadillac and started down the valley by myself. My first stop was at John H. Stover's. I found that gentleman in feeble health but he thinks he is gaining strength. A short distance below, the home of his son-in-law, Henry Parsons, who is doing the farming, was raising potatoes and he asked me to give him a lift. He took a bar rail off the fence and with one end on the wagon I helped him roll up two of the largest. Then he said he could get the rest on. My, oh my! You ought to have seen those potatoes. My next stop was at Snow Shoe Intersection. Herman Aikley was shelling peas and beans and gathering other vegetables preparatory to going to market. D. W. McCloskey wanted me to unhitch and stay for dinner; goodness, me! one can hardly get away from that man. He is one of the most hospitable of all our citizens. I then struck out for Snow Shoe going by way of Runville. I stopped a few minutes at Poorman's store and was surprised to find such a well-regulated establishment in so small a town. I don't think there are over 300 population in the village, all told. I arrived in Snow Shoe and stopped at the Mountain House kept by Larry Redding, who knows how to run a hotel, if he knows anything. Gracious! what a table he does set for his guests, one would think it was a dinner especially prepared for a large wedding party. In the meantime it was noised about that an automobile had arrived in town and it wasn't long until a large crowd had gathered at the Mountain House to see the first horseless vehicle that was ever seen in Snow Shoe. I noticed in the crowd a number of my former pupils, among whom were George Urie, Billy Haynes, John Gunsalus, John H. Reese, Miles S. Zimmerman and others. I also noticed in the crowd, Frank Tabrity, Wm. Kerrin, J. Toner Lucas and A. V. Daugherty, who happened to be in town on that day. In the mob was a great big burly fellow who had imbibed too freely of booze, and he wanted to fight somebody. He was a handsome man, resembling Andy Young or myself. As I was a stranger to him he tried to pick a fight out of me, but I evaded him as long as I could, he pressed me to that point when forbearance ceased to be a virtue. He made a pass at me with his left. I warded it off and landed my right, squarely on the bridge of his proboscis and the big coward collapsed like a dish rag. Four men dragged him to Dr. Neff's office for repairs and after administering powerful restoratives the fellow was brought to his senses. He had both eyes beautifully freckled in some fine hue. He wasn't as pretty as he had been but he knew more. After this bit of unpleasantness I climbed on my wagon, took hold of the balance wheel, turned on the gasoline and sped for home 'mid the vociferous cheers of the assembled crowd which was happy that at last, the bully of Snow Shoe met his Waterloo. My next visit will be to Curtins and Howard and we hope that all fighting men will take warning from this Snow Shoe escapade.

ROMOLA.

Anna Robb is spending a couple weeks with friends in Philipsburg and Osceola.

Marie Harris, of Lamar, visited last week at the home of Edith Robb.

School opened Sept. 17. The grammar school is being taught by Mr. Gardner and the primary by Miss Johnston.

H. S. DeLong returned home after spending a month with friends in Pittsburgh.

We are glad to say that John Kreager is improving at this writing.

Mrs. E. B. Robb is spending a few weeks at her home in Ablera.

To be a philosopher all you have to do is preach what you don't practice.

PORT MATILDA.

H. W. Raybert left on Tuesday for an extended tour throughout the west.

J. Stevens, who has been at the M. E. hospital in Philadelphia, has returned home again, being unable to get help there.

R. R. police Giles arrested two boys for riding freights at the P. R. R. station on Tuesday. Boys, take warning!

J. M. Robinson and H. M. Crain spent the last few days at Atlantic City and report having had a good time.

S. S. Osman had a severe attack of cramp on Saturday night, but is able to be around at present.

Miss Kathryn Reese left on Tuesday for Buffalo to visit relatives and friends there.

Will Reese took his lady friend driving last Sunday and visited at Julian. Bill says he had a grand time.

Extra agent R. J. Downes arrived Monday night to work here for some time. He was delighted to get back once more; says there is no place like Port.

The calthumpians turned out on Saturday evening and serenaded Harry Cowher. After pounding for about an hour, the groom appeared at the door alone, but that didn't suit the boys and they captured him and took him a ride on a rail, till he promised that he would bring his little woman out with him, which he did. He then passed the cigars around and the boys gave three cheers and departed for home, wondering who would be the next one on the list.

A birthday party was given in honor of Geo. Young on Tuesday evening. About 50 young people were present and after enjoying themselves till a late hour, all departed for their respective homes.

HUSTON TWP.

BELLEVUE.

Bellevue school has opened with Miss Lizzie Shawver as teacher. All wish her success.

Plenty of cider will be made this fall; apples are falling very fast.

Davy Swisher, of this place, while working at Beaver Mills, last Wednesday met with a painful accident. While going on the saw mill to pass a few minutes, he got one of his fingers cut off and was taken to the Philipsburg hospital.

We are glad to say that Mrs. Philip Straw, who has been on the sick list, is able to be around once more.

The farmers had better keep their eyes open for there are quite a number of cattle rambling around through this section.

The corn crop is very good through this section; farmers are busy cutting corn and sowing wheat.

The coons are getting scarce. Chas. Harrington and his dog has caught them all. Poor coons!

Many a man who marries money is never seen with it.

The man who lives on his reputation will sooner or later run into debt.
