Reish, Jr., of Millifinburg, a student of the Bellefonte Academy, was taken with a severe pain which finally developed into appendicitis. An operation was performed Saturday at the Bellefonte hospital, and his condition was considered very serious. His father and mother have been here and all possible attention is given the young man who is only 16 years of age. He is the son of James K. Brown and Dick Taylor, of Bellefonte, have leased from company B the armory on the corner of Spring and Lamb streets, and will start a skating rink, which has again become the craze in many of the towns in Pennsylvania. Bellefonte always tries to keep pace with the times, especially when it doesn't take much money. Taylor and Brown are pretty active fellows and the enterprise will be a go. U. will bring to town the Grand Concert Company, representing the Ithaca Conservatory of Music. This season they have selected members of the regular faculty, who with two specially engaged singers will give a limited number of concerts during the Fall season. This company should therefore in no way be confused with the regular student's Concert Companies which will continue as heretofore. Each member of the Special Company is an artist able to give an entire evening concert, and we recommend it to our patrons as the strongest concert attraction ever sent out by the Ithaca Entertainment Bureau. The entertainment will be given in Petriken Hall which should be crowded. —The man in Bellefonte who is interested in the spiritual welfare of the community should attend the special services now in progress in the hall of the Y. M. C. A., which is being conducted by G. C. Sample, of Columbia. He is a railroad engineer and left that vocation in life to travel up and down the State warning men to flee from the wrath to come. He is an able and forceful speaker and since coming to Bellefonte has aroused a great deal of interest. Last Sunday afternoon the hall was crowded. These meetings have been held every night this week and they will be continued each night next week. Every young man in the town should avail themselves of the opportunity to hear a man who has come to Bellefonte with such an excellent reputation as an evangelist. —Friday evening about 7 o'clock, a number of children were playing around the soldier's monument in front of the court house, when Margaret Finnegan, the seven-year old daughter of Mrs. Steve Finnegan, of South Spring street, met with quite a serious accident. There seems to be some difference of opinion as to how the accident happened. Some claim that as the little girl passed, one of the large name plates fell out, striking her in the mouth and knocking several of her teeth down into her gum. Others claim that in trying to get out of the falling plate she stumbled and fell, striking her face on the hard granite. The child, however, was badly injured, and was taken home where medical aid was promptly summoned. She is receiving the very best of care, and for the first time since the accident, she came down stairs on Tuesday. It is thought that the teeth will come all right again, but it will take some time. General Curtin at once put men to work to fasten the plates more securely so that hereafter they will not fall out.
