AN AGED LADY LOST IN MOUNTAINS

Mrs. Lawrence Stover Found After
Two Days Wandering

FOUND TORN AND BLEEDING

In Brushvalley Narrows, Nine Miles
From Her Home at Livonia—Without Food or Water—Hundreds in Search-
Party—Found Sunday Evening.

Mrs. Susan Stover, wife of the late Lawrence Stover, an aged and highly respected woman of Livonia, at the extreme eastern portion of Miles Twp., this county, was lost in the mountains, known as Brushvalley narrows, from Friday afternoon Sept. 28th, to Sunday afternoon Sept. 30th. Mrs. Stover is aged seventy-two years. The circumstances of her being lost and found are substantially as follows: On last Friday forenoon she went to a chestnut grove, a few rods south of the house, to gather chestnuts. She came home at noon with about a pint of ripe and a cup full of half-ripe chestnuts. She told a friend that she had been robbing the squirrels, having gathered their unopened burrs together on a pile, which she intended to open in the afternoon. She left the house some time before two o'clock, telling her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Manasses Stover, that she was going out after those chestnuts.

She was seen going out the door, and that was the last seen of her by any one, until on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. When she did not return in the evening, a party of men was collected, and a torch-light search made about the home and the chestnut grove, lasting all night. The chestnut burrs were found unopened as she had described them at noon, so that apparently she had not been there. Search was continued all day on Saturday by about 40 men. No traces of her were found, except what appeared to be a bed made of a few green twigs broken from the bushes near by, together with some chestnut shells. This was found along the old road, about one and one-half miles from her home, other evidences found were that for about five miles along this track, foot prints and turned up chips and sticks, gave evidence that some one had traveled along this track, here all traces ended. Leslie Stover, a grandson of the lost, and John Wetzel crossed over the mountain to the south, from this point to a lumber camp. Though no one supposed that this aged woman could possibly have gone through the underbrush to this place, yet as shall be seen later on, it was the direct means of her discovery. She was compelled to pass Saturday night, with all its gloom, dampness and rain in the mountains, inhabited by deer and bear for signs of both are in evidence, whilst her neighbors and near friends in sorrow and gloom were wondering where she could be, when she became known to her and manning Sunday's work for her recovery.

Though Sunday morning dawned amid threatening rain and dampness, by eight o'clock about sixty men had assembled in front of Mr. Reuben Stover's house, when F. Wetzel offered prayer and made a few remarks stating the purpose of coming together and the plan of search. These persons were then divided into two parties, a small one of a dozen or more under the leadership of Thomas Stover took up the search about home and the chestnut grove. The remaining fifty under the guidance of Manasses Gilbert and F. Wetzel followed the aforementioned railroad for about four miles, when a little after noon they returned to the house to find that the men had increased to about 175. These then made a most thorough search about the home and grove, without success. At 5 o'clock the search was given up with a feeling on all hands of a day of most thorough work and yet thoroughly disappointed at the failure to find her, a feeling that to find her was well nigh to hopeless, when in the midst of this deep gloom a man and woman came driving up through the narrows, bringing the joyous news that the lost was found at about three o'clock by one of the lumbermen from the above mentioned camp, had found her on top of the fourth mountain south of her home. She had no water as she claimed since Friday evening, nothing to eat but such as she might find in the woods, and her clothing was half torn off her body and her face and body was much scratched and bruised. She had gone at least eight if not nine miles, over rocks and through underbrush, over mountains and through valleys on this long journey, been out 48 hours day and night in one of the wildest parts of Pennsylvania's mountains and thus endured what few younger and stronger persons could have endured.

When found was able to tell from where she came and make noise enough to be heard some distance. For several years she has been considered in feeble health and physically weak; almost miraculous it is to us that she lived through it all. At least 250 persons came upon the scene on Sunday and the two sons and near relatives with us here to thank all these and all others for their kind and helpful sympathy and valuable help in her discovery. Sunday Sept. 30th, 1906, will be long remembered by the people of Livonia for the day of anxious and earnest work, which work closed in gloom, but a day that closed amid joy and rejoicing, because the lost was found. Parents will long tell their children and grandchildren how grandmother Stover was lost and found.

Church Dedication.

Fourteen years ago the Catholic congregation of Philipsburg started to build a brick church, the cost of which was to be $4,000 or $5,000. Sunday it was a source of much gratification to the members to see the handsome structure dedicated in the presence of a large congregation.

ANNUAL HOSPITAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Bellefonte Hospital was held in the Arbitration room of the Court House, at Bellefonte, Pa., Thursday evening, September 27, 1906, at 8:00 p. m. The treasurer made the following report, to wit: The excess of expenses over receipts during his term as Treasurer to January 1st, 1906 is $149.51. He further reported that orders have been drawn for all bills due to September 26th, 1906, leaving a balance of expenses over receipts of $227.21 in the General Fund. In the "Special Funds" there is $20 in the hand of the Treasurer. Dr. J. L. Seibert and C. C. Shuey were elected members of the Board of Managers for the term of four years.

MEETING OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

The regular meeting of the Board of Managers was held immediately following the annual meeting. The following officers and committees were elected and appointed for the coming year: President, C. C. Shuey; vice-president, Dr. J. L. Seibert; secretary, Geo. R. Meek; treasurer, W. Harrison Walker.

Finance committee.—Dr. John Sebring Jr., F. W. Crider, George R. Meek. House committee.—Dr. Geo. F. Harris, Dr. R. G. H. Hayes, W. Harrison Walker.

Auditing committee.—Col. W. Fred Reynolds, Dr. Geo. F. Harris, Dr. J. L. Seibert.

The staff was enlarged by adding Dr. M. J. Lock, Dr. David Dale and Dr. W. W. Feidt.

The management of the hospital are undecided as yet what application to make of the funds which the ladies raised during the recent Midway. The ladies are considering the idea of enlarging the present hospital and Robert Cole, the architect has submitted plans for the same. He has also drawn plans for an entire new building. The present hospital is over-crowded and the matron has had to give up her room frequently to patients. They have more applications than they can accommodate.

The hospital staff has been so arranged as to include all the doctors in town and each has a certain branch of the work. The new staff began their work Oct. 1st.

Berry is Coming.

One year ago Wm. Berry, then candidate for State Treasurer, came to Bellefonte and delivered a speech in the court house to a large audience. It goes without saying that his speech on that occasion was considered one of the cleverest campaign efforts heard in our town for a long time. It was a clean, masterly argument that no matter of what political creed the hearer might be, there was no occasion for anyone taking offence. Then it was one of the most humorous talks, more entertaining than lots of the professional lecturers who come along and charge to entertain you. A great many of our people were greatly disappointed that they did not hear this distinguished gentleman on that occasion. To all these and the public in general we say that the same Mr. Berry will be here again on next Wednesday evening, Oct. 10th, and will speak in the court house on the issues of the campaign. He will give you something to think about. He is the man who took the lid off the State Treasury and has shown to the people of this state how Capitol buildings are erected by the Gang.

Brilliant Nuptials.

One of the most brilliant social events that has ever taken place in Philipsburg was the wedding of Hon. Philip E. Womelsdorf and Miss Emma DuBree Warfel which was solemnized Wednesday evening of last week, at 6 o'clock, at the Presbyterian church. The maid of honor was Miss Edna Turbach, a life-long friend of the bride, and the groom was attended by M. D. Loraine, of Philipsburg. The wedding march was played by Miss Edna Williams. The groom is one of Philipsburg's most distinguished citizens, a leading civil and mining engineer by profession, and quite prominent in political circles. She is the daughter of ex-postmaster and Mrs. H. Warfel, and a most accomplished young lady. They left on the evening train for a two week's trip to Philadelphia, New York, Boston and Maine.

Democratic Headquarters.

County Chairman N. B. Spangler has opened Democratic Headquarters in the Crider stone building in the rooms on first floor, formerly occupied by Joseph Runkle, the plumber, and prior to that by Dr. Geo. Harris as a private office. It is right on the diamond, in the corner beside of the First National Bank building. The location is central and every democrat and all others all cordially invited to call around and pay their respects. The rooms will be open during the day and evenings, and all the late daily papers will be on file as well as other interesting campaign literature.

A Bellefonte Boy Weds.

Clarence F. Longacre, a former Bellefonte boy, and Maude Hullung McCormick, of Williamsport, were married Thursday evening at 8:30 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McCormick, at Williamsport. The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McCormick. The groom is manager of the china department at the Bush and Bull store. They are both well known young people and are held in high esteem by a large circle of acquaintances. They spent part of their honeymoon in Bellefonte at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Longacre.

Look at the Date

All persons who paid any money on their subscription during the past month of September will find that the same has been properly credited on their label this week. Remember all credits of this kind are made at the end of the month. Look at your label now, and in case of an error kindly notify the office at once. Every subscriber should know that the date after the name on the name tag or label tells when your subscription expires, and is printed there on every paper each week.

NEW STATE CAPITOL A GIGANTIC STEAL

Enormous Sums of Money Squandered by the Gang.

$9,000,000 IMPROPERLY USED

As the Facts Become Known the Public is Amazed at the Methods—Without Warrant—Another Sample of Machine Methods.

During the past two weeks the citizens of Pennsylvania have been astounded at the proportions of the scandal that has been unearthed over the building of the new state capitol which is being dedicated at Harrisburg to-day. To go into details would be extremely interesting, but space will not permit us to do that—only a general review of the gigantic steal can be given. When the old capitol building was destroyed by fire, when Hastings was governor, it was evident that it was deliberately burned, and it was believed then that the purpose was, to provide for a fat job for politicians, in the erection of a new capitol. Hastings' open rupture with the Quay element who controlled the Building Commission is a matter of record, in the courts, but the Machine finally won.

The Building Commission was created and by special act they were authorized to erect a suitable capitol building, for which $4,000,000 finally was appropriated with the explicit stipulation that the completed building was to cost no more, which did not include the furnishings. Gov. Stone was a member of the commission, and Gov. Pennypacker, by virtue of his office, was an ex-officio member.

When the selection of a suitable design and architect was made, at once grave suspicions of jobbery were aroused and even charged. Noted builders and famous architects who submitted plans, were ruled out on petty technicalities and Joseph Huston, a favorite with the Quay-Penrose machine, got the job.

About two months ago frequent articles appeared in the papers regarding the magnificent structure being reared on Capitol Hill—a marble palace, completed in the most gorgeous manner. Next came the glad news to the citizens of this state from Gov. Pennypacker and others, that for once there was a splendid edifice erected, free from all taint of plunder and graft and that it was completed within the amount of the appropriation, in fact $9,000,000 of the $4,000,000 remained unexpended and would be returned to the State Treasury. Honest men rejoiced, while machine politicians and machine newspapers like we have in Bellefonte fairly bawled with fulsome praise of the capitol commission; and at the same time were reminding the public that the charges of Treasurer-Elect Berry made a year ago were not only false but wicked, libelous attacks on the public officials at Harrisburg known as the Quay-Penrose Machine. Is there an intelligent reader, or any honest well informed man who has but passing knowledge of current events, that will dispute any of the above events, briefly recalled to mind. We hardly think so, for they have become part of the recent public and political history of this state.

BERRY MAKES EXPOSURE.

Last year Berry was elected State Treasurer over Lee Plummer, the gang candidate because the people believed Berry was competent and, above all, honest. The gang fought desperately to put Lee Plummer in the State Treasury. Now it is fully known why. They needed a fool there badly, but the people said, "NO!" And what is the result? As State Treasurer Berry was the man who kept the people's money, and pays the bills, and as the time arrived for the completion and dedication of the capitol, bills began to pour in that aroused the suspicion of the State Treasurer. Quietly he began investigating, and soon was amazed. As a result he made the startling announcement that instead of the capitol costing four millions, it was near eight millions. This shocked the public. Next came the news that it was twelve millions; public sentiment forced Gov. Pennypacker to open the books, and he had to admit that thus far it cost OVER THIRTEEN MILLIONS—which is larger than the assessed value of every acre of ground in Centre county.

The architect gets over a million dollars for his services for two years. For chandeliers alone $2,000,000 was spent. Chairs were put in costing over $250 apiece. Telephone booths are put down at $300, other furnishings in same proportion. The flag staff represents over $800. In this manner over $9,000,000 was illegally spent under the pretense of furnishings over which the commission on buildings and grounds claim they had authority. The original specifications were ignored and the most unnecessary quantity. To realize the enormity of the plunder, they claim that the building cost less than $4,000,000, while over $9,000,000 were necessary for the trimmings. This capitol scandal is regarded as one of the most gigantic, brazen steals ever perpetrated on the citizens of Pennsylvania. The shocking part of it is that old man Pennypacker, over his name, attempts to apologize for it and intimates that nothing is wrong. He either must be corrupt as the Gang itself who put him there, or is noody in his attic. Certainly he served them well by permitting this gigantic steal.

To every voter, tax-payer—every honest man—this should be a warning. The same Gang against the will of the party again have named a weak, timid old man for the very same office. If he should be elected, do you believe he would try to convict the thieves who, under Pennypacker, looted the bulk of $13,000,000 from our state treasury in building the capitol.

Be honest with yourself as you think it over.

A CHEAP DOG

Proved an Expensive Investment for Billy Rowe.

Monday morning a rather interesting procedure took place at the Court House in which William Rowe, the Deputy Recorder, was the main figure. "Billy" is young and fanciful, and admires the beautiful; and it doesn't matter very much whether the object of his admiration navigates on two legs or four. On this occasion, however, it was a very pretty black terrier dog that followed John Trafford, the janitor, into the temple of justice. As soon as "Billy" had gotten his eye on the canine, he became so fascinated that he at once inquired of Trafford if it was for sale. To this pressing inquiry Trafford replied that he was getting a little tired of the terrier, and if he would give him 50 cents he could have the dog. Delighted at the idea of getting a $5 dog for 50 cents, "Billy" plunked down his good old fifty. The next question that arose was how the dog was to be gotten out to the Rowe parental home on Curtin street. "Billy" finally tied a rope around the terrier's neck, and as big as a lord started out Allegheny street. A short time after Sin Baum, the clothier, appeared on the scene with the perspiration standing on his brow, and looking like a "wild man from Borneo;" he asked whether anybody had seen his pet terrier. He was informed that "Billy" Rowe was on his way home with a dog that tallied with his description, and in a minute Sin was on his track, meeting "Billy" when about half way home. "Billy" said that he bought the dog and was going to keep it until he could get it if he did, it would be over his dead body, and then some more. Rather than pay Frank Nagney for a first-class funeral "Billy" reluctantly gave up his much coveted bow-wow. Now the question of law is, to whom does the 50 cents belong?

THE MACCABEES.

Wednesday evening of last week the Knights of the Maccabees held their third meeting and their first ceremonial session, in the Knights of the Golden Eagle hall. It was largely attended, and one of the most enthusiastic meetings of the kind ever held in Bellefonte. A class of thirty-nine were put through the initiatory ceremony, and all present thoroughly enjoyed the beautiful work so ably performed by the distinguished workers from a distance consisting of I. A. Mammaux, of Pittsburg, taking the part of Mattathias; Dr. J. W. Marsteller of White Haven, as Judas Maccabaeus; Deputy Great Commander S. S. Fouts of Reading Tent taking the part of King and General Appeller; and Dep. Great Commander Harry W. Phillips of Philadelphia, as Capt. of the Guard.

The charter closed with 147 members which is the record membership in the state. During the evening an excellent lecture was given by Deputy Houtz. He was followed by a short address by Deputy Phillips, who spoke of the valuable help rendered him by the members in the organizing of the Tent. He then presented John Sourbeck, Jr., with a handsome gold watch, with his name beautifully inscribed on the lid. John was a hustler while the Tent was being organized and this was his reward. Dr. M. J. Lock, of Bellefonte, presented to Mr. Phillips, the organizer, a solid gold ring, a memento from the new order. Addresses were then made by Col. H. S. Taylor, Harry Keller, H. C. Quigley, Commander Fouts, Dr. Marsteller, and Commander Klutz, of Beech Creek.

CLYDE AUMAN KILLED

Shot While on a Chestnut Tree by Some Unknown Person.

Wednesday afternoon Clyde Auman, a 12 year old son of Joe Auman, of Penn Twp., was shot and killed by some unknown person. The particulars as we got them by phone are as follows: John Kerber was passing along the road near the home of Jacob Sanders, who lives two miles west of Coburn and not far from Rhodes mill. As he passed by a chestnut tree that stood close to the road he saw the boy lying under the tree bleeding and bruised. Examination showed that his body was riddled by a load of shot and that he had fallen from the tree. No gun was found near where he lay which indicates that some one close shot him.

He was taken to the home of his parents, Dr. Frank, of Millheim was summoned but the boy died at about 6 p. m.

The Steele Wedding.

Last evening at 6 o'clock a very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Steele, on East Pine street. The bride was their daughter, Miss Margaret E. Steele, and the groom was Andrew G. Longee, of Williamsburg. The groom's best man was Charles Bower, of Howard, but who is now a student of State College. The maid of honor was Miss Ollie Steele, a sister of the bride. The beautiful ring ceremony was used, and the ring bearer was Marguerite Crider, a niece of the bride, and the flower girl was Catherine Steele, sister of the bride. Rev. James B. Stein, pastor of the Methodist church, tied the nuptial knot, after which a wedding dinner was served. The bride is a most estimable young lady, and for a number of years had been an obliging clerk in the Racket store. The groom owns a bakery and ice cream parlor in Williamsburg, and is quite a progressive young business man, they departed on the 8:16 train for a wedding tour after which they will locate at Williamsburg.

Free Methodist appointments.

The Free Methodist conference was in session at Sharon, Pa., last week, and on Saturday the following appointments were announced for this section: District Elder, J. J. Zanbiser; Bellefonte, Miss Lillian Webster and Miss Jennie Horning; Unionville, E. L. Keiffer; Tyrona, J. C. Davidson; Philipsburg, F. W. Parks; DuBois, A. Smith; Kane, J. K. Mumau.

CENTRE CO FAIR FOR NEXT WEEK

Promises to be the Most Successful
Event in Its History.

SOME OF THE ATTRACTIONS

There Will be a Gorgeous Display of Cattle, Fruits, Fancy Articles, Implements and Variety of Amusements—Special Trains.

It is impossible at this time to estimate the crowds that will be in attendance at The Great Centre County Fair next week. Indications all point to the largest gatherings of people that have ever been recorded within the county. And to please these great crowds the Fair will be all that is expected of it. This means that it will be far greater and grander than ever before. Without going into details we give you the following list of things you may expect to see:

A stupendous exhibit of the products of the fields, gardens and homes of Centre county.

A fine display of horses, cattle, sheep and swine.

Exciting racing on all the days of the Fair.

The great county race on Friday.

Championship base ball games between Pine Grove Mills and Baileyville on Wednesday, Hecla Park and Snow Shoe on Thursday, Spring Mills and Millheim on Friday. All of these games will be called at 11 a. m. sharp.

The Bijou Vaudeville Circus including dogs and ponies.

Miss Maude DeLora the queen of serialists.

Catharine La Belle the premier contortionist.

The Brothers Trevelix, the European sensational tumblers and equilibrists.

Stockharts famous animal show.

Prof. Probst's four-year-old child wonder who charms snakes and has performing rats and mice.

A merry-go-round and a ferris wheel.

Landis Electrical Arcade of moving pictures.

A magnificent exhibit of the products of the State of Virginia made by the Norfolk and Western R. R.

The Pennsylvania State College display of fruits, flowers, grain, and poultry.

Countless other diversions and shows of agricultural implements, dairy paraphernalia and wagons and buggies.

The Evangelical church of Bellefonte will serve meals on the grounds at 25c each.

SPECIAL TRAIN SERVICE.
For persons along the Bald Eagle valley and the line to Snow Shoe no special trains will be necessary as the regulars run so as to accommodate all, coming and going. All trains except the noon flier will stop at the Fair grounds. Excursion tickets will be sold from all stations.

For persons along the Bellefonte Central the regular trains will be ample except on Wednesday when on account of the great reform meeting in Bellefonte that night a special will leave Bellefonte at 10:30 to run clear through to Pine Grove Mills. Excursion rates.

For persons along the C. R. R. of Penna. excursion rates will prevail on Wednesday and Friday, but on Thursday a special rate will be given. On Thursday a special train will leave Mill Hill at noon arriving at the Fair Grounds at 1 p. m. The rate from Mill Hill for the round trip will be only 60c, and proportionate rates from all other points.

For persons along the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad excursion rates will be given and special train will run from Bellefonte to Coburn each evening. On Wednesday evening it will leave Bellefonte after the big reform meeting in the court house at which Emery, Berry and others will speak and on Thursday and Friday evenings it will leave at 7 p. m.

Candidates Emery, Cressy, Black and State Treasurer Berry will visit the fair on Wednesday afternoon.

An Error.
Last week in publishing the game laws there was a mistake that may mislead some of our readers. The article stated that the season for killing wild turkeys opened on the 1st of October. Instead we should have had it that the season for wild turkeys does not open until the 15th of October. This is one of those annoying little errors that creep into the best of papers despite the greatest care. We hope that no one will be so unfortunate as to go and kill turkeys out of season on account of this error.

So that there may be no mistake we herewith give the game laws in compact form so that all can understand:

Deer—Nov. 15 to Dec. 1. Limit, 1.
Bear—Oct. 1 to March 1.
Woodcock—Oct. 1 to Dec. 1. 10 in day; 20 in week.
Wild Duck—Sept. 1 to Jan. 1; April 1 to April 16. 10 in day; 100 in season.
Pheasants—Oct. 15 to Dec. 1. 5 in day; 20 in week.
Wild Turkey—Oct. 15 to Dec. 1. 1 in day; 4 in season.
Quail—Nov. 1 to Dec. 1. 10 in day; 40 in week.
Squirrels—Oct. 1 to Dec. 1. 6 in day.
Rabbits—Nov. 1 to Dec. 1.
Trout—April 15 to July 31. 50 in day.
Bass and Salmon—June 15 to Feb. 15.
Frogs—July 1 to Nov. 1.
Non-resident License Fee, $10.

Down in Cuba.
The insurgent uprising in Cuba has been practically settled by President Palma and his administration resigning. Secretary Taft with several war vessels and troops is on hand and will direct affairs until the Cubans can settle their domestic troubles and establish a permanent Government that will be upheld by the inhabitants.

FACT, FUN AND FANCY.

Bright, Sparkling Paragraphs—Selected and Original.

WHEN FAIR TIME COMES.

Oh, the lazy, lazy days of autumn days,
When the summer has grown old,
When the air takes on a smoky haze
And the leaves their tints of gold,
There's a music sweet goes ringing
While the old vibrator hums,
And my heart and soul seems singing
When fair
time
comes.

There's a cadence in the measures
That is good and glad and sweet,
When Dame Nature piles her treasures
In rich stores at our feet,
And she tells again the story
In every bee that hums,
Oh! there's plenty, peace and glory
When
fair
time
comes.

Oh! the racing and the pacing,
And the dear old friends we meet,
Greatest joy we know we're facing
When the hand plays grand and sweet,
When we hear the music ringing
And the sweet bugles and the drums,
And the world it's song is singing
When
fair
time
comes.

Married in Altoona.

Miss Pearl Weaver and Wilfred Musser, both of Altoona, were united in marriage Monday afternoon at the parsonage of the second Lutheran church by the Rev. A. E. Wagner. Miss Alice Weaver, sister of the bride and Elworth Cutshall were the attendants. Miss Weaver has for some years been a successful clerk in Kline Bro's dept. store, and is well known in Centre county as the daughter of the late Prof. J. A. Weaver of Pine Grove Mills. Mr. Musser is employed in East Altoona, and is the son of Robert Musser, of Spring Mills. After spending a week at Niagara and Buffalo, they will take up housekeeping in Altoona.
