STORMSTOWN.

Wallace Lytle was a welcome guest of Chas. Lytle, Saturday.

Joseph Stiver made a trip to Baldagle valley on Saturday where he visited friends and relatives.

Hugh McAfee evidently has a chronic case of coon fever, let him get wind of a coon hunt, and he has his slouch hat and rubber boots on. I should think Hugh would find more pleasure in pursuit of a Baldeagle girl.

Any one passing Public Square, later than 9 o'clock, doesn't want to make any false alarm about the chicken pen, as a charge of chilled shot would be the result. Ask Billy about it.

Blair Stevens, of Kermoor, Clearfield Co., was a pleasant caller among friends in this vicinity last week.

Wm. Myers and wife, of Tyrone, were in our vicinity last week transacting business.

J. H. Griffin, our up-to-date merchant has purchased a fine lot of winter goods with prices away down. Give him a call, he will satisfy your wants.

Dady Lower, the mail carrier, moved in his new house last week, where he will be as snug as a bug in a rug.

If the Centre Line boys get left the Loveville Scribe should attend services at Stormstown where the boys never get left, but get right next to the real thing. It is a pity Fisher must go home so sadly disappointed.

Henry Lythe, of Pleasant Gap, purchased a mule recently from H. G. Ebbs which died on the road to the farmers home I presume this was very fortunate for the mule, but it doesn't look Christian-like for a man to sell such an animal.

GREENBURR.

A. F. Kahl, Ed. Lebo and Cortland Reninger, arrived from Yeagertown on Friday of last week.

Mrs. J. M. Kahl, paid a visit to her daughter, Mrs. A. M. Wert, of Brushvalley.

Mr. P. F. Wirt made a trip to Brushvalley for peaches, last week. How he succeeded we have heard nothing.

Mrs. John Smith still seems to be about the same. She seems to get a little weaker, because her appetite is very poor, she partakes very little nourishment, hence can gain no strength.

The last report we had of the fever patients, in Booneville, they were all improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Tyson visited their daughter, and incidentally attended the Milton Fair.

Alvin Bechtol, and family, of Bellwood, are guests of his mother, Mrs. Samuel Shaffer, Mr. Bechtol, soon had his coat off and picked his winter apples.

Will we have a singing class this winter? Make your intentions known to J. L. Khal, in the near future, and you will soon have another good class. Don't wait for him to call on you, but just tell him kindly, and it will be O. K.

COBURN.

Charles Hartline is assisting his brother in the bakery. Mr. Hartline has established a profitable trade since he came to this place a few months ago.

H. W. Kaler can hardly keep his hat from flying from his head since that boy, No. 1, arrived.

Mrs. W. L. Hosterman and two sons spent last week at Dewart, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Braucht.

Mrs. Annie Hackenberg is spending this week in Bellefonte.

P. H. Stover, of Hosterman, W. Va., is visiting his aged mother. It is rumored that Perry will soon again become a resident of this place.

Harvey Vonada, of Millheim, visited friends at this place several days this week.

Revival services are in progress. If you don't believe it, come and hear.

HAINES TWP.

WOLFE'S CHAPEL.

Dr. J. D. Bowersov and wife spent Sunday with his parents on the farm.

Few men regard a bald spot as tip-top.

UNIONVILLE.

An apple tree in Owen Underwood's orchard, mistaking this mild weather for spring, is putting forth sweet scented blossoms.

Miss Kate Smith, after a week's visit with friends in Philipsburg, returned to her home on Saturday.

Arthur Buddinger, of Snow Shoe, was seen perambulating our streets on Sunday in company with the pretty magnet that had drawn him hither.

Daniel Stine and his pretty daughter, Anna, of Fillmore, spent several hours very pleasantly at the home of the writer on Sunday, their objective point being Dr. Irvin's, who was away from home at the time, and who has been treating Miss Stine for some physical ailment.

A little child of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McClincy, aged about one year, died on Saturday morning and was buried on Sunday afternoon. The following four small boys acted as pall bearers: Charles Fetterman, Laird Morrison, Raymond Harpster and David Calhoun. Services were conducted by Rev. Zahnizer of the Free Methodist church.

Landlord Wm. A. Peters has placed a handsome street lamp in front of his popular hostelry.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Underwood, of Frankfort, Pa., spent several days visiting the former's brothers, Owen and Jasen, at this place.

Mrs. Mary Holt and Mrs. Annie E. Stere are the champion florists in this town, judging from the great quantity and variety of beautiful dahlias that ornament their respective homes.

Joe Stere, up to date, has killed 11 grey squirrels.

Dr. Clyde A. Van Valin, as a shootist, took the doughnut. One day, within two hours, he shot and killed 100 grey squirrels at two shots, killing two each time.

About 25 of our good people, who were running over with charity and mischief, filled a lot of baskets with "et cetera" and carried them right inside of Miss Nannie Fisher's house, sat them right down on the kitchen floor without asking permission, and then went right to work and emptied the baskets on the table, and then they all gathered around the table and began to eat and then! then—well, they didn't quit for a long time. Didn't they just have a jolly time! though? It was a surprise to Miss Nannie. Of course she had no business to know anything about it until it happened. That's the way to be happy and make others happy.

Look out for my trip in next week's paper.

POTTER TWP.

George Breen and Charley Coldren say they have the nicest and best wheat fields in Potter township; the fields are on Cloverdale farm.

It is rumored that there will be a wedding in the near future on Zion hill.

The fish in the Susquehanna are going down the stream in search of warmer water. The result is that there are plenty of fish in Williamsport; in fact they are a glut on the market. On Thursday the big chute of the dam was the scene of a wholesale catching of eels. They were taken by the basketful. About 100 salmon were also caught, but no bass.

The other Sunday afternoon Geo. D. Bayard, who is now employed in Frank W. Ely's drug store at Clearfield, sang a solo at the afternoon meeting of the Y. M. C. A., and in the evening of the same day he sang a solo in the Episcopal church, and the Clearfield papers speak very flatteringly of him. He is a son of the late Col. Geo. A. Bayard, of Bellefonte.

Edgar G. Toner, recently defeated by a majority of one vote for the office of Chief Burgess of Tyrone, was made defendant in a $25,000 breach of promise suit in the Blair County court Friday. The plaintiff, Miss Elizabeth Gummo, avers that she has been cast aside by Toner, after a twelve years' courtship. The engagement, it is alleged, was made in Atlantic City, where both Mr. Toner and Miss Gummo have spent the past three summers. Miss Gummo avers that Mr. Toner broke the engagement recently and began courting a young woman in Philadelphia. The institution of the suit has created quite a sensation in the county, due the social prominence of the parties.

RUNVILLE, NO. 2.

If the weather permits, and it is not too cold to hold meetings under a tent, Rev. Mumau will hold tabernacle meetings near the depot at this place, beginning Friday evening, Oct. 12, services Friday and Saturday evenings and all day services on Sunday and Sunday evening. The cloak of religion is seldom synonymous with the mantle of charity.

IMPORTANT ARGUMENT.

Our taxpayers are interested in a proceeding brought by the citizens of Haines township to compel the county commissioners to maintain that portion of the turnpike from Old Fort to the Union county line, which passes through Haines township, as provided by a recent act of assembly passed April 1905. If they succeed it means that the entire turnpike, in the future, will have to be maintained by the county. The points at issue are purely legal propositions and came up before Judge Orvis, at Argue Court last Thursday.

W. D. Zerby, of the firm of Getting, Bower & Zerby, solicitors for the County Commissioners, appeared in behalf of the county. He held that the act of Assembly was unconstitutional because the title was defective, it was a special form of legislation, and would cause unequal taxation; also that it was inoperative for the reason that the act did not provide means of raising the necessary funds to maintain such turnpikes, nor did it specify ways and means of controlling or operating it; also that the act of Assembly was not mandatory and contained an alternative, granted permission.

John G. Love Esq., appeared in behalf of the petitioners. He contended that the act was not unconstitutional as alleged, or special, but was regular; that since the county had the power to pay the assessed value fixed by condemnation proceedings it had full power to appropriate funds for its maintenance; that this was the only condemned turnpike in the county that would be affected by this act; that where local districts had made any repairs on former turnpikes, the county was thereby exempt.

Mr. Zerby argued that while the sum paid for damages was an appropriation, the annual cost of maintaining the turnpike would become a regular portion of their taxes, and would prove an unequal tax.

Mr. Love was given permission to file a brief, and now the matter is up to Judge Orvis for his opinion, which is anxiously awaited.

If the Act can be enforced it means that the taxpayers over the county will have to contribute to the maintenance of the principal highway through Pennsylvania. It is to the credit of our commissioners that they have brought the question to a test.

It is quite natural that if it is legal for the Pennsylvania people to have their roads built by the county to insist on the enforcement of this Act. It likewise is natural for the county to object, until they have a decree of the Court.

HUBLERSBURG.

Harry Fisher moved into the James Deckers tenant house.

No Every an

can be a good lawyer, surgeon, a master mechanic or an authority in agriculture, and not every man can be a good clothes—their quality, style, fit.

In matters of this kind, you must all take the other man's "say so"—the man who made the subject in question his business.

In the matter of clothes, you have made it our business to know. When you see the Kuppenheimer Granville Overcoat, everybody tracing back and flare skirt, will be the most overcoat this season, we know what we are talking.

When we tell you Kuppenheimer Clothes have all the quality, style, finish of the sixty and seventy-five dollar garments made by the best metropolitan tailors, we also say because we have made it our business to know clothes.

Careful investigation of experience with rear clothes of various manufacture proved to us the superiority made by The House of Kuppenheimer. They are sold in this city exclusively by us.
