NEW FISH BILL

That about the only way you can get some people in Bellefonte to forgive and forget is to lend them a dollar.

A bill prepared by the Department of Fisheries and intended to take the place of all acts relating to fishing in inland waters has been prepared. The bill is very voluminous, embracing sixty-three sections and covers every conceivable feature of fish protection. A novelty is That the man in Bellefonte who doesn't have to pay a dressmaker for recovering his missing rib is very fortunate.

It is a protection. A novelty is the embodiment of paragraphs protect ing frogs, fresh water terrapin, snapping turtles and pearls mussels. If the new bill becomes a law, these three interests. will have a protection such as the state never before gave them. The bill is very lengthy, covering thirty-six full pages of typewriting, the construction is simple and easily understood. That we have a good many people in In fact it differs materially from the act Bellefonte who are interested in church of 1901. If this bill becomes a law there one as to what device may or may not be used in fishing It is devided into nine groups: First, the classification of all fish in the State without exception. Second, the methods which may be employed That some politicians in Bellefonte bury the hatchet but keep a double-bitted axe handy so that there will be no troube caught daily. Fifth, providing for the unobstructed maintenance of migratory fish and in some cases to prevent carniverous fish from escaping into trout streams. Sixth, enlarging the powers and duties of the Department of Fisheries. Seventh, encouraging the growth of commercial and private hatcheries.

> The new bill is undou tedly the most liberal fish bill ever prepared by the State fishery authorities. The act of 1901, which is now in force, was constructed to be a great advance over all previous acts, but the new bill exceeds the one of 1901 in liberality quite as much as the 1901 act

There are five devices hitherto unlawful proposed to be legalized. The open Belletonte purchased a hat just like the season period for several other, notably dip net and fyke net fishing are extend-ed. Even the hours for the use of fish baskets and layout lines are made longer

Paint and Ocean Travel.

"The worst feature of ocean travel is never mentioned in steamship comin any of our churches. It may be an pany prospectuses or in books of travel," said a returned tourist. "It is not geasickness, for only a few are taken that way in the ocean greyhounds that neither rock nor pitch. It is not the narrow quarters or the inferior cooking or the tipping habit. It is paint. There is always wet paint on an ocean steamer, and there is never a sign on It to warn passengers. The modern sailor is a painter, constantly wielding the brush, always painting some part sailor told me once that every ship is entirely repainted inside and out at least three times a year. The work goes on constantly in port and on the sea, and the passenger never can escape."-Philadelphia Record.

Lightning Flashes.

Lightning flashes in a storm are found by an English observer to be much less irregular in period than they appear. Such storms have usually from each come at regular intervals. That it is said that a young lady in Bellefonte walked into Meese's grocery varying rates of the different centers. In one storm noticed the two foci were about a mile and a half apart, and in an hour the northern center emitted thirty flashes at intervals of fifteen, thirty, forty-five, sixty and ninety seconds, and the southern center gave sixteen flashes at intervals of seventeen, thirty-four and fifty-one seconds.

Another unexplained observation is teen, thirty-four and fifty-one seconds. Another unexplained observation is Petrified Head in Oak Log. While running a sawmill in the moun tains of Adams county, George Wood-ward discovered a petrified head in an oak log. It is in perfect proportions. The features are all preserved to the minutest detail in the body of the wood. The unusual color is all that, detracted from its lifelike appearance. The head was shipped to Dr. G. W. Tate, of Altoona, for examination. The tree in which the head was discovered was cut near the cave of Lewis, a notorious robber, who terrified the travelers along the Shippensburg road many years ago. It is thought the head may have been that of one of his victims.

The Story of a Charm. A titled English lady has a story of a woman who had a little Japanese charm given her. Every time she wore it some mischance happened, and she generally fell ill. Her son at last took the jewel to the keeper of the Japanese curios in the Paris museum and requested to be informed what the charm represented. "This," said the expert at once, "is the emblem of sickness." The woman never wore it
