

PROCEEDINGS IN FEBRUARY COURT

Gambling Debts Can Not be Collected By Legal Process.

CASE CAME FROM PHILIPSBURG

Gives Checks in a Poker Game and Payment Refused—Usual Grist of Commonwealth Cases—Report of Grand Jury.

(Reported by S. D. Gettig, Esq.)

The first February session of Court convened on Monday morning at ten o'clock, with the Hon. Ellis Orvis presiding on the bench. The usual number of motions and petitions were heard, after which the grand jury was called and sworn, C. T. Gerberich, of Bellefonte, being chosen foreman. The constables of the districts also made their quarterly reports to the Court. The civil list of cases for this week were then called over and the following cases disposed of:

Joseph Brothers & Company vs. W. C. Heinle, being an appeal, continued. J. G. L. Myers vs. F. H. Dale and Margaret Dale, being an appeal, the defendants confessed judgment in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $50.00, neither party to file a bill and the defendant to pay the record costs. Amos Copenhagen and J. S. McMonighe vs. J. P. Sebring, being an appeal, settled. The Millburg Buggy Company vs. David Bailey, being an appeal, was transferred to next week's list. Cresson Springs Brewing Company vs. Fred Eisenhour, being an appeal, continued. Levi Segner vs. S. E. Kimpfort, being an appeal, settled. E. F. Gardner vs. Paul Schwartz, being an appeal, continued. The following cases on next week's list were disposed of as follows: William Witmer vs. Edward Sellers, being an action in trespass, continued. James B. Archey vs. W. F. Martin, being an action on an opened judgment, continued.

The first case called for trial was the case of Charlie Foster vs. George Lutz, which is an appeal, and the case grows out of the purchase of a horse, the plaintiff's allegation being that the defendant, manager of a farm in the vicinity of State College which is occupied by a Mr. Smith as farmer. That the plaintiff was looking for a young horse, and, learning that the defendant had a horse, went there to purchase a horse, and that he was told that the horse was all right, and if not it would be made right. The defendant admits the sale of this horse to the plaintiff, but that he did not guarantee the horse, it being a colt five years old, and that it did limp at times, but which was thought was caused by the feet having grown long, and that after it would be shod everything would be right. The plaintiff had the horse for several weeks, had it shod but it limped, and requested the defendant to take her back, which the defendant refused and this suit was brought. In the case of Foster vs. Lutz, the jury rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $40.17.

The next two cases were tried together: W. E. Britton vs. Frank F. Irwin and W. E. Britton vs. S. H. Wigton, both cases being appeals from a justice, and both of them are from Philipsburg. These two cases were tried together, and was an action brought to recover on one check given by Mr. Irwin, and two checks given by Mr. Irwin upon which payment had been stopped. Plaintiff offered his checks and in cross-examination it developed that the checks were given for money lost by the defendants in a "Poker Game." This makes it a gambling contract, which is an illegal contract and cannot be enforced in Pennsylvania. Verdict for the defendant.

Commonwealth vs. Renard Miles Watson, indicted for betrayal, prosecutrix Esther Smith. This case is from Burnside township and the defendant plead guilty. The usual sentence was imposed.

Commonwealth vs. Charles Meyers, indicted for betrayal, prosecutrix Harriet M. Jarrett. This case is from Philipsburg, and the defendant plead guilty, and the usual sentence was imposed.

Commonwealth vs. Harry Kelley, indicted for betrayal, prosecutrix Maudie Cox. This case is from Spring township, the defendant plead guilty and the usual sentence was imposed.

At ten o'clock, there being no bills of indictment found by the grand jury so as to allow the Court to go ahead with trials, and no civil cases being ready, court adjourned until two o'clock, after directing that all witnesses who would appear before the grand jury remain in the Court Room to answer the calls of the grand jury.

Commonwealth vs. Toner Hastings, prosecutrix Mary Minto, indicted on three counts: first count, assault and battery; second count, assault and battery with attempt to commit a rape; third count, felonious rape. After some negotiations between the Commonwealth and counsel for defendants, defendant plead guilty to the second indictment, which was accepted by the Commonwealth, and the defendant was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution, $1.00 fine, and two years in the Western Penitentiary.

Commonwealth vs. James Burns, prosecutrix Bertha Lucas, indicted on two counts: first count, assault and battery; second count, assault and battery with attempt to commit a rape. Verdict on Wednesday morning of guilty on the first count.

The first case taken up on Wednesday morning was the case of Elizabeth Keen and Ida Keen vs. Alfred Keen, being an appeal from the decision of a Justice of the Peace, and the case grows out of the settlement between the plaintiffs and the defendant as to the landlord's share of the crops from a farm in Penn Township, jointly owned

PENNA. FLYER WAS WRECKED

Miraculous Escape as a train Plunges Down a Steep Bank Near Johnstown—Steel Ties May Have Yielded—Used as an Experiment.

David Robb, son of Frederick Robb, residing on a farm near Romola, was seriously and fatally injured on Friday morning. Mr. Robb is the mail carrier on route No. 2, R. F. D., from Howard, known as the lower route, and having a holiday as Washington's birthday, he had planned to swim down some trees on the farm to be saved into lumber for repairs to the barn. About 11 a. m. he and another man were working together and Mr. Robb was in the act of felling a tree when a dead limb, which he had not noticed, evidently, fell and struck him on the head. He was knocked down and called to his companion to come and lift the limb off of his head for he was badly hurt. The man did so, but the injured man immediately lost consciousness thereafter. He was taken home and medical aid summoned from Howard, but his recovery was regarded as hardly possible in the evening. Hemorrhages from the ears, nose and mouth, due to the fracture of the skull, slowly caused the man to bleed to death on Saturday at 11 o'clock. Mr. Robb was aged about 40 years and was a splendid man in every respect. He is survived by his father, a son, two brothers, Harvey and Samuel, and two sisters, Mrs. Wilbur Hall, of Howard, and Emma Robb at home. Funeral took place Tuesday morning 10 o'clock; services and burial at Romola.

RIDER MURDER CASE

Was Called for Trial Wednesday Afternoon—Seven Jurors Secured.

About 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the case of Peter Rider of Coburn, was called. He is charged with killing little Clyde Auman on Wednesday Oct. 3rd by shooting him off a chestnut tree. Shortly after Peter was arrested and brought to Bellefonte, and made full confession. His close confinement shows materially upon his physique. He looks haggard and thin; on coming into court he took his seat with his counsel, N. B. Spangler. Before a jury was called Mr. Spangler made a motion to quash the indictment. District Attorney, W. C. Runkle is being assisted in this case by Gettig, Bower & Zerbby, and Mr. Zerbby made the argument why the case should go to trial. Judge Orvis finally decided in favor of the commonwealth, after which Prothonotary Kimpfort read the indictment to the prisoner, to which he pled "Not guilty." The Commonwealth then stated that Mr. Rider would not be tried for murder in the first degree, as the evidence would not warrant it. They, however, will ask for a verdict of murder in the second degree. The work of empaneling a jury was commenced. Every one called was carefully questioned as to his knowledge of the case and whether they had read the injudicious articles published by a local paper. By Wednesday evening seven jurors were empaneled as follows:

John Lyon, Howard boro. laborer. David Reed, Pine Grove, gentleman. Abednego Williams, Huston Twp. farmer.

Henry Mark Gregg, farmer. Charles Moore, Bousburg, teacher. Ed Johnson, Milesburg, merchant. Shuman Pletcher, Howard, carpenter.

Gay Deceiver's Career.

Joseph H. Bressler, of Clearfield, a former resident of Philipsburg, who has been following the piano tuning business for sometime, now languishes in the Clearfield jail because of his failure to keep in the path of rectitude. About the first of January he was at Falls Creek tuning pianos, and while there formed the acquaintance of Mrs. Emma Stahlman, the pretty widow of Rev. Stahlieman. Bressler had changed his name to Brown, according to the Du Bois Express, and told Mrs. Stahlman that his father was a millionaire physician in Pittsburg. He declared his undying love for the young widow, and insisted that their marriage should take place at once. She was not averse to the proposal and the man with favor provided he turned out to be all he pretended. While an investigation was going on Constable Moore, of Clearfield, arrived on the scene with a warrant charging him with non-support of his wife and family. Mrs. Stahlman accompanied Bressler and the officer as far as Du Bois, and at the latter place, while waiting to take the train to Clearfield, Bressler confessed to the young widow that he had been deceiving her. She turned away thanking her lucky stars that she found the man out.

Furnace Out of Commission.

Monday night, about 2 o'clock, while the Nittany furnace was being filled up with raw material there was an explosion that unfortunately put it out of commission for at least six weeks. It was caused by the gas going back to the stoves, which blew off the large elbow which conducts the cold air to the furnace. It also blew off a number of pipes and valves and did other slight damage. It would not have taken long to make these repairs, but the furnace being lined and so the company will take this opportunity of putting in new fire brick. The fire has been drawn and men are now employed taking the material out of the furnace. The accident is to be regretted as it is bringing a high price, and the company is shipping the output just as fast as the iron could be made. For the time being a number of men will be thrown out of employment.

Good News For Philipsburg.

Philipsburg, because of the organization and prospective activity of the Monarch Coal company, is rejoicing over the outlook for extensive industry operations that are bound to accrue largely to the benefit of that town. The Journal, declares that it has never weakened in its faith for a big future for Philipsburg and he sees in the Monarch's coming coal development the fruition, partially at least, of his hope.

Sebring Going to State.

James Sebring left on Monday for State College, having accepted the offer to coach the college nine during the first month of the coming season. When Sebring coached the nine for the two years previous to 1905 he turned out winning teams, and his experience since that time makes him even a better man for the place in 1907. He will be at the up state institution for four weeks.

New Telephone Line.

A branch company of The Patrons Rural Telephone Company was organized Thursday evening, at the home of Henry Homan, east of Centre Hall. The company will be known as Branch Company No. 18, and extends from Centre Hall to Farmers Mills, following what is known as the Keller road.

Thus far there are no new developments in the Dale murder case at Centre Hall. Some of the unfounded surmises and suspicions as to the guilty certainly did injustice to innocent ones; hope the guilty one will yet meet his doom.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

Penny Flyer Plunged Down Sixty-Foot Embankment and Rolled into Creek.

In one of the most remarkable and miraculous wrecks that has ever occurred on the Pennsylvania railroad, 54 passengers were more or less injured when the Pennsylvania special, the special 18-hour train between New York and Chicago was wrecked while rounding a sharp curve near South Fork, six miles from Johnstown on Tuesday night. Of the injured passengers seven sustained serious hurts necessitating their removal to hospitals.

The train was running about 30 minutes late and was traveling over 50 miles an hour when it reached the curve. The accident was caused by a brake rigging dropping to the track on the first Pullman coach following the engine and combination smoking car. The great speed and weight of the train tore up the tracks and steel ties for a distance of 300 feet. The engine and smoking car remained on the rails, but the three Pullman coaches plunged from the track down over a 60-foot embankment, where they rolled over and over on the thick ice covering the Conemaugh river. The Pennsylvania railroad's official report on the cause of the Mineral Point wreck of the 18 hour flyer, while affording no definite information, declares that if the steel ties did not actually occasion the accident they increased the damage wrought by the derailment. They are, therefore, to be replaced with the long-teeed wooden ties. The wisdom of the Pennsylvania's policy of aiding in preservation and planting trees for future supplies is thus indicated. The layman will easily appreciate the force of the special committee's findings and the peculiar dangers involved in the use of the experimental ties of steel.

Who is She.

A dispatch from Bloomsburg says: A woman of forty, who gave her name as Marie Brown and her home near Bellefonte, and that she is the daughter of a minister, was arrested on the street Wednesday of last week for intoxication. She was confined in the town lock-up, where Burgess Yetter she told a quite remarkable and pathetic story. She said that, accompanied by Abraham Stovitz, her lover, she had left her home near Bellefonte, in accord with his expressed desire that they be made husband and wife. Their proposed destination was Elmira, N. Y., but instead they got to drinking at Lock Haven, then continued their journey, by easy stages, to Williamsport, Milton and Sunbury, finally ending up here, where, the woman said, she was deserted by Stovitz and left her penniless. The authorities decided that the best thing to do with the woman was to send her back to Bellefonte, and with that end in view she was taken to the afternoon Delaware Lackawanna and Western train, with a ticket for Bellefonte, together with a generous luncheon of sandwiches. She was in a deplorable condition, showing the effects of her debauch.

After making an investigation we found that the above was the wife of Jim Brown, who a number of years ago resided in Bellefonte, in what then was known as Mart Garman's stable, in the alley near the gas works. Her husband was killed by being struck by a train at Houtzdale. While in Bellefonte this woman cut a wide swath, and her ranch was a place of revelry and debauch where many a cantico took place. When she left Bellefonte she had some money, and therefore was never a charge on the borough.

Hotel Destroyed.

A destructive fire broke out at Renova Wednesday morning in the Foley hotel, on Erie avenue near Third street. The fire originated in the kitchen from the gasoline stove and gained such headway that John Foley and wife and Jerry Foley, who were upstairs were compelled to crawl along the roof to escape the flames. The Foley hotel and contents were completely destroyed.

Fire Causes $3,500 Damage.

Fire was discovered in the general store of Guy Boone, at Loganton, on Saturday evening at about 11 o'clock, the origin of which is not known. The building was not much damaged, but before the flames were gotten under control the stock was damaged by fire and smoke to the amount of about $3,500, which is covered by insurance. Mr. Boone will resume business as soon as the damaged stock is appraised by the insurance adjusters.

Feast of Purim.

The feast of Purim, one of the most joyous of the Jewish holidays was ushered last night in all the houses of Jewish worship all over the world. The festival commemorates the deliverance of the Jewish people from the plot of Haman to exterminate them as recorded in the book of Esther. The form of celebration of this deliverance is manifested in entertainments of various kinds. The day will be one of special celebration in all synagogues.

It is better to turn pale than to kick the bucket.

Go B. Inspected.

Wednesday evening the annual inspection of Co. B, N. G. P., took place in the Bellefonte armory in the presence of a large number of spectators. There was a full turnout of the company, all of whom made an excellent appearance. The inspection officers were, Samuel W. Jefferies, and Capt. James P. Harrison of the 12th U. S. Infantry. The other officers on the floor were, Col. Hugh S. Taylor, of the 5th Regt; Capt. Melvin J. Locke, Robert Hunter, Maj. R. G. H. Hayes, and Col. W. Fred Reynolds. This was the first inspection of the company under Capt. Phil Garbrick, and the inspection officers were well pleased with the excellent work done under his supervision. This company has always stood at the head of this regiment, and no reason why it should not still maintain its high standard. These inspections are always interesting to bystanders, who take great delight in seeing the boys put through the various military manoeuvres, especially when they understand military tactics.

Pronounced a Cure.

The Cyprian bees have won a victory over rheumatism. The Middletown farmer, who permitted his rheumatic shoulders to be stung by bees every day for three months, declares that he is so much better that now he can shake hands with his friends, and use his hand and arm as well as ever. Professor Surface, under whose direction and observation the bee-sting for rheumatism was conducted, says he has proved by Mr. Young's case that the sting of a bee is really a specific for rheumatism. It might be said, however, that up to date he has not received any more applications for the cure.

Next we may hear that the flea bites and mosquito stings will cure poker and hayfever—"them insects is for some use" after all, is the opinion of the Democrat.

Getting Impatient.

It is stated that the negroes of Virginia are forming themselves into clubs, the only obligation for membership being a faithful avowal that he will not work for a white man. This makes the labor situation in the state still more serious. The colored ministers have signed an appeal to the negroes to mingle more with the whites in order to better their own condition. It appears that the negro is about to take the lead in race exclusion. The upshot of such a movement will mean that a goodly number of white "gentlemen" and "ladies", whose hands were never blistered or soiled by work—being above that—would have to put themselves down to being really useful, which they never were. Go ahead, Sambo.

$50,000 Spent in Dissipation.

A driver of a delivery wagon of one of the laundries in Lock Haven, while making collections Saturday, was handed a $2 note by one of the patrons in payment of his laundry bill. After giving his customer the required change he noticed that there was something written on the money. Taking it to the light he observed the following ominous warning written in carmine ink across the face of the note: "This is the last of $50,000, beware of whiskey and bad women." Whether this was in reality the last of a fortune spent in dissipation is, of course, but a matter of conjecture. The writing was in a plain, business-like hand and looked as though it had been written by an educated person.

Three Miles in Bare Feet.

With the mercury standing at zero a fierce wind blowing, Andy Monar, an alien miner of Windber, accomplished a feat that is probably without parallel in these parts, says the Clearfield Public Spirit. Andy's boarding boss bet Andy that the latter could not walk to Windber postoffice and return barefooted. Andy accompanied by his friend Mike Ellis, who carried the former's shoes, made the trip, the distance of round trip being three miles. On his return Andy pocketed $10, the wager offered. The next day the foreigner returned to work in the mines none the wiser for what he had done. Monar is about 40 years old married and has an unusually robust constitution.

National Protective League.

A local lodge of the National Protective League was instituted in the Undine lodge rooms, Thursday eve, by District Manager, R. H. Merritt, of Lock Haven. Sixty-nine persons carrying 88 certificates, were accepted. The following officers were elected for the year: Past pres., Lewis R. Tryon; pres., Jos. S. Wise; vice pres., William Bremer; secy., James H. Corl; treas., J. R. Cole; chaplain, Kathryn Soubreck; conductor, Frank A. Doll; guard, Maurice Kramer; sentinel, Clarence Gallagher; organist, Henrietta Pacina; trustees: John D. Soubreck, Frank Galbraith, H. J. Hartranft. The league will meet again, March 7th in Undine rooms.

ANOTHER LETTER ON HUNTING LAWS

Advocates a Penalty for Hunting Birds With a Dog.

DESTRUCTIVE TO OUR GAME

Trained "Pointers" are a Luxury Only for the few With Money—Does not Give Game a Chance—Merit in the Argument—Favors a Ban.

The fellows in the legislature, from the county districts, who will vote for the act to license hunters, might as well write "Dennis" for their names. We think however, that few, perhaps none, will be found among the yeas. In a family where there is a father and a number of sons, each one would have to pay the license if wanting to hunt; there are some daughters, too, that hunt, and they would come under the same requirement. A license, to hunt on your own lands! This is nabobism as they have it in monarchical governments, where all privileges are enjoyed by the nobility, rotten as it may be, and is. There are signs of wanting to drift in the same direction in our own free country. Beware, lest there be hunting by an outraged public, for those who would circumscribe Freeman's Rights!

There is nothing in a name, is a sensible saying, unless the bearer, by his actions, makes the suitability of the cognomen. Kalbfus, translated from the German, means Calfoos. The following communication expresses good ideas on this question, by a hunter:

IDEAS OF A HUNTER.

It is becoming quite a question in regard to framing laws for regulating hunting and the proper protection of game. I hunt a little every year, and would like to have laws passed that would make game more abundant and that at the same time protect our game, so some game to repay us for the effort for same. A question confronts us in a bill being introduced in our present legislature, requiring all hunters to pay a license or a heavy penalty. The game commission claim it is intended to debar the foreigners, as they secure a license; but it is not that alone, they have other views on this point, which is brought out more fully in a letter written by the president of the Penna. State Sportsmen Association sent by Joseph Kalbfus secretary of game commission, dated Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 21st, 1907, published in "Forest and Stream" under date of Feb. 2nd, 1907, where they express their views as to existing conditions between men.

They ask the legislature to compel the man, who is not ready and willing, to either pay this money or quit hunting. They think that any man who is not able to pay one dollar toward this purpose should not hunt. Now, as far as paying my fee, I am able to do this; but probably my neighbor is just as good a citizen as I am but, if the law is passed, cannot hunt any game for his family to enjoy which nature produces for all of us alike, because he has not got the one dollar to put up for a license. Of course this is starting in on a small license, but they expect to get increased from time to time till it would be too great for me to pay my fee for hunting privileges.

They have also introduced a bill in our present legislature to prohibit hunting of pheasants, quail, and wildturkey, for five years, which I think is wrong. Instead, they should pass a law to protect our game as follows: Prohibit the hunting of birds by the use of dogs, so-called bird dogs. The keeping of bird dogs is another luxury for the rich man; he can afford to keep a bird dog or pay for his keeping for one year, for a few days hunting as he procures larger quantities of game. The poor man cannot afford to pay sixty or seventy dollars for a trained dog and keep him for one year for his pleasure of hunting, but must take his gun on his shoulder and depend on his alertness of hearing and seeing his bird rise, and by his quick action bring down his game. On the other hand, three or four men will go hunting with a trained dog which will point the game, then the hunters form in a semicircle around their pointer, the master gives him the signal to flush the game and the poor bird has little or no chance of escape. With three or more dogs drawn on it, is this giving the bird a chance? No; the bird has hardly one chance out of a hundred to escape. It is slaughtered. Upon these grounds I consider the bird dog should not be allowed to go hunting for game. When you place the poor bird on equal footing with the man and his gun, they will increase. Prohibit the use of dog or dogs for hunting birds as well as for deer, and include a fine and imprisonment for any person using a dog during the open season for any kind of game protected by law.

I claim a true sportsman is the man that can take his game by alertness, and not by the use of a trained dog. In regard to the bounty on bird killing animals, the legislature passed laws for the payment of bounties on the fox, wild cat, mink, weasels and skunks, but the County Commissioners have abandoned paying these bounties. It would be better to pay the bounty than to make hunters pay a license, and have big appropriations made by our legislature to purchase and maintain fine preserves for our Game Commission and a few of the supposed best people to have privileges which we, as common people, cannot enjoy.

To live and enjoy life, nature has placed an instinct in animals as well as man, and it is left for them to train and cultivate these to the best advantage. Animals which prey upon other animals do not seek the assistance of man, but by their cunning secure a living for themselves. Man, the most intellectual, or considered so, or supposed to be far in advance, cannot go out to hunt a bird in advance, cannot go out to hunt a bird in advance, cannot go out to hunt a bird in advance. This week four communications from about the county were omitted because the writer failed to sign the name. Please do not send us anything for publication if you are not willing to sign your name to it, as it goes to the waste basket.

James Wert, near Tusseyville, is the champion in the line of the developing and fattening hogs, and reports the heaviest hogs killed in the valley this year. One of these weighed, alive, 700 pounds; the other weighed, alive, 540 pounds, and dressed 404 pounds. At the ruling market price eight and a half cents a pound—the value of the two hogs would be $91.12. Talk about money in hogs.

Potatoes possess great cleansing power. Cold potatoes, used instead of soap clean the hands well and keep the skin soft. The water in which potatoes are boiled is excellent for washing the table silver in, enabling one to keep it bright with very little trouble, and even removing egg stains from spoons. Potato water is excellent, too, for sponging out dirt from silk.

WHAT A GOOSE CAN DO.

A farmer would scarcely believe that a goose requires only about six hours in order to prepare it for the footlights, and a critical audience, and that a common pig will in thirty hours be competent to blossom forth as an actor. According to Mr. Clyde Powers, a trainer of wide experience and much patience, it takes a duck three days to learn how to march on the stage, to follow the chorus, and to march off again at the proper time; it takes a chicken a week or more, and a turkey can not grasp the art of acting before six months time. Mr. Powers has tried to train a pea fowl, but he finds that it is impossible. A goose is the most intelligent of all the feathered tribe, and a goose is also the only one of the domestic animals that shows affection.
