

FRANCIS SPEER'S

Breezy "That" Column

THAT there is a man in Bellefonte who never quarrels with his wife until after pay day.

THAT it isn't a very difficult task to tell where Harris Olewine, of Bellefonte, got that new cap.

THAT "Bill" Rowe, of Bellefonte, had better cut that out now. Let someone else have a little "honey."

THAT Ralph Mallory, of Bellefonte photographer, had a great run on his High Street post cards. They sold like hot cakes.

THAT Frank Deitrick, of Bellefonte, who plays the violin to perfection, says that it doesn't require a tonic to tune up an orchestra.

THAT a great deal of sympathy is wasted on the homely girls of Bellefonte, but when you come think of it they are the happiest.

THAT many a Bellefonte girl was severely punished for flirting. They married the man they were flirting with. Look around and see if this isn't correct.

THAT four young men in Bellefonte, who should have sense enough to behave like gentlemen when in church, if they can't then the sexton should collar them.

THAT one of the meanest men in Bellefonte is the fellow who talks to Peter about his gifts to Paul, and then turns around and talks to Paul about his gifts to Peter.

THAT there is a young man in Bellefonte who is making a fool out of himself over a young lady. He is one of those fellows who sees his mistake when it is too late.

THAT there is no reason under the heavens why the wives of Bellefonte automobilists should not learn to run an automobile, only they should take their husbands along to do the swearing.

THAT there are some fellows in Bellefonte who put on a bold front by wearing a loud shirt. Frank Montgomery or Sim Baum will guarantee that this is correct, to the best of their knowledge.

THAT Frank Nagney, the Bellefonte furniture dealer, says that the manufacturer of baby carriages has more men and women pushing that line of goods than in any other line of business he can think of at present.

THAT our friend John Blanchard, Esq., of Bellefonte, a couple of years ago toured Europe. Among the interesting facts he learned while on the trip was that it was well to diet on shipboard, for even too many rolls are apt to make one seasick.

THAT Blair Fisher, who attended the Bellefonte High school, and Jas. Harsberger, clerk in Krumrine's drug store, braved the snow storm the other Sunday and drove to Yarnell to see their lady friends. That's the way it goes when you get the fever.

THAT it is said that a good religious woman in Bellefonte the other day in lecturing a young man as to his slothful habits, finally thought she had clinched her argument by telling him that Adam and Eve never went about the garden with their hands in their pockets.

THAT there is a young lady in Bellefonte who expects to have a dandy time in Atlantic City this summer for a month or so. She is making a catchy bathing suit which she expects to catch the eye of the young men on the beach. She has the nerve, all right, and will cut a great dash.

THAT "if a man had an arm long enough to touch the sun and burn his fingers," said Prof. James K. Hughes, of the Bellefonte Academy, before the class in astronomy, "he would not feel the pain for 5692 years," one of the class asked how many thousand years the man would be swearing about it.

THAT it is said that there is a certain gentleman in Bellefonte who slipped his wife's umbrella out of the house the other rainy day and had the misfortune to lose it. He is afraid to advertise for it because it might be found in a very questionable place. Rather than run the risk of giving himself dead away he is going to purchase a new one for her and lie out of the whole thing.

THAT the other day, while the earth was covered with the beautiful, two ladies on Thomas street, Bellefonte, commenced snowballing each other. It was a friendly contest for the championship, but the great difficulty was that it was the same old story, neither of them could throw straight enough to hit a barn door; during the little escapade, nobody was in any imminent danger.

THAT if the young six-footer, of Bellefonte, doesn't keep off east Lamb street at night the chances are that he will fall through the boardwalk and break a limb. If he is after a "Coal" he can get that at any old coal yard down town without going to so much inconvenience. When you come to think of it a "Coal" in the parlor, these stormy March nights, is both cheerful and embracing.

THAT a man often is justified in going out of Garman's opera house between acts, to get a breath of fresh air, but the lady who sits beside him, often discovers that when he returns he hasn't brought the breath of fresh air in with him. It's odor leads her to think that while he was out mortification had taken place in his stomach. Such a thing is very offensive to the lady next to him. Cut it out.

THAT the other evening a pretty little wife in Bellefonte said to her husband, "Why is it that before our marriage you gave me candy and presents, (the latter being too numerous to mention) and now you never even think of bringing me anything?" "My dear," replied George, "did you ever hear of a Bellefonte fisherman giving bait to a fish that he had caught?" That's the way a large number of men in Bellefonte and vicinity are treating their good, faithful wives.

THAT Bellefonte has too many loose women running the streets between 10 and 1 o'clock at night. It is said that a man disguised himself the other night, and while walking through the streets of the town he was confronted, by at least, six girls who wanted to show him a good time. Some readers may pass this off as a joke, but such actions, on the part of bits of girls, has a tendency to lower the moral tone of the community, and stands in direct opposition to the purity and sanctity of the home. Every girl in Bellefonte who is caught out on the streets after 11 o'clock at night, who cannot give a good excuse for being there, should be taken to the lockup and given a chance to try those new spring couches they have out there.

Rent of Postoffice Boxes.

At many places throughout Pennsylvania the government has raised the rents of postoffice boxes. The impression had gone forth that Bellefonte would be exempt from this additional tax but assistant postmaster William Chambers has received instructions from the department in Washington to increase the box rentals here, and of course the same will be done, to take effect April first. The increase, however, will not be as large as in some towns where the rentals were practically doubled. Heretofore the rentals in the Bellefonte postoffice were 50 cents for the small lock boxes, 60 cents for the large lock boxes and 75 cents for the big drawers. The increase will be to 60 and 75 cents and $1.00 respectively. Of course it may not be much of an increase but it will mean a considerable increase in revenue during the year.

Cut Her Throat.

Mrs. Silas Roadarmel, of Hartleton, a widow aged about seventy years, inflicted frightful injuries upon herself last Friday 8th, which nearly ended fatally. The lady was laboring under a temporary aberration of mind, and being left alone with a small child, secured a razor, and going to the stable, drew the sharp blade twice across her throat. Two frightful gashes were inflicted and the windpipe was almost severed. Dr. Boush was quickly summoned and it was necessary to put twelve stitches in the windpipe and fourteen in the neck in dressing the wound. She will recover despite the great loss of blood.—Lewisburg Journal.

Purchase of Water Right.

It was made public that J. Murray Africa bought outright a large tract of land along the course of Penn's creek in Union county, for the purpose of constructing two mammoth dams. The money was paid by Africa, and the deed was made to the United Light Heat and Power Company. One of the dams is to be sixty and the other 100 feet. For what purpose the power of these dams is to be utilized is a secret, as is the object of the large land purchase between Sellingsgrove and Shamokin Dam. As soon as the weather opens, surveyors will locate the lines for the pipes from the huge water basins.

Move Early or Lose Your Vote.

Any voter who is going to change his residence from one ward to another this spring, must move promptly on the 1st or 2nd of April, or before that date, or else lose his vote at the summer primary. The law requires a residence in a ward of sixty days to vote at the primary. As the primary will be held on the first day of June this year—the first Saturday in June coming on the first day of the month this year—sixty days before will be April 2nd. Hence an early moving is necessary.

Knoxville is Dry.

Last week the residents of Knoxville, Tenn., knocked the saloon sky high. They voted to abolish their charter and get a new one that will prohibit drinking within its limits. In a total of 6,421 votes cast over two thousand more than ever cast before in that city, the "dry ticket" won by a majority of 1,929. Throughout the day women sang and prayed and pleaded with the voters. Many arrests for bribery were made.

Can't Sleep While Fishing.

Lazy fishermen better beware. The superior court has decided that it is illegal to fish with umbrella ribs and sleigh bells; this is reversing a decision by Judge Endlich, of the Berks county court. The defendants in the case used umbrella ribs attached to which bells were rang when they had a bite. In this way they were able to doze while fishing. The superior court in its decision declares the device to be illegal.

Father Hanged For Son's Crime.

William Mitchell was arrested in Estes City, N. H., this week, charged with committing a murder for which his father was hanged in Texas 33 years ago. It is alleged that Mitchell allowed his parent to be convicted through the testimony of a Texas rancher. The rancher died a few days ago. On his deathbed he declared that the son and not the father was guilty of the crime.

SOUL WEIGHS AN OUNCE.

Massachusetts's Physicians Experiment on Dying Persons.

Five Massachusetts physicians have just attained what they believe to be decisive results in an investigation to determine the existence or non-existence of the soul in the human body. They have found that the soul weighs an ounce and departs from the body at the instant life is extinct, except in cases where the dying person has been slow of thought and action. In these cases the soul is slow to come to a consciousness of its freedom.

The experiments were conducted under the direction of Dr. Duncan MacDougal, of Haverhill, in a private sanitarium. The doctor had come to question the existence of the soul. He reasoned that, if it is a part of the body, it must have weight. He resolved to experiment. He fitted up a pair of scales on which he could weigh the bed of a dying patient. The first experiment was performed on a man dying from tuberculosis. It was found that at the instant life ceased the opposite scale fell with a suddenness that was astonishing, as if something had been lifted from the body. After deductions had been made for the respiratory air and the moisture from the excretions and secretions of the body, there was still an ounce to be accounted for. In each of the six experiments, the difference was the same. This led to the conclusion that the soul weighs an ounce and is an entity.

ODD NAMES.

Centre county has some odd names to designate some of its localities and villages. Frogtown and Drum station, a few miles west of Coburn; Heltown; Buffalo Run, named thus because there was always much fighting there; Shingletown, in Harris township, between Boalsburg and Pinegrove, named so because its first house, away back, and we believe, still standing, was "weatherboarded," roofed and covered on its exterior, altogether with shingles. Puddledown, near Penna. Furnace, named thus, because at an early day a family lived there that had pudden at every meal.

There is Slababin up the Branch, that in lumbering days had a house built of slabs, and it still bears the name. Then we have the musical name of Ruggertown, in the western section of the county.

Then we come to the "halls," a string of them located along the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad starting from the west and we get to Oakhall, Lendenhall, Centrehall, Pennhall, in Nittany valley are Nittanyhall, and Coverlyhall. In Ferguson, Pinehall and Whitehall. This affix, "hall," is not, as many suppose, in honor of any family name, but was first used to dub Nittanyhall, which was an important stage-coach station between Lock Haven and Bellefonte, and a centre for that rich and beautiful valley. Other points springing up, subsequently, the affix "hall," from the popularity of Nittanyhall, became a mania, and was tacked on the name, for any popularity that it might carry with it. Then up the Bald Eagle we have quite a number of stations bearing the names of four sisters, daughters of an early-day iron master, who were christened, Martha, Julian, Mattilda, and the fourth above Tyrone, Elizabeth, names given four different furnaces. By adding "furnace" as an affix, the reader gets the full name as originally used and at the day when those furnaces were yet alive. The railroad company has eliminated "furnace" from each of these stations which greatly simplifies the station names.

MIX THIS AT HOME.

The following simple home-made mixture is said to readily relieve and overcome any form of rheumatism by forcing the kidneys to filter from the blood and system all the uric acid and poisonous waste matter, relieving at once such symptoms as blackheads, weak kidneys and bladder and blood diseases.

Try it, as it doesn't cost much to make and is said to be absolutely harmless to the stomach.

Get the following harmless ingredients from any good pharmacy: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and again at bedtime.

This simple mixture is said to give prompt relief and there are very few cases of Rheumatism and Kidney trouble that will fail to cure permanently.

These are all harmless, everyday drugs, and your druggist should keep them in the prescription department; if not, have him order them from the wholesale drug houses for you, rather than fail to use this if you are afflicted.)
