RECENT DEATHS.

DAVID SPOTTS :--death came very sud-den to David Spotts, of Patton twp., on Thursday eve, May 9. He had been in feeble health for some time. He was seized with a faintness which resulted in his death in a few hours. He was born John say he came near taking a fit and falling into the water. He says that he was out again on Tuesday evening and was united in marriage to Miss Louisa falling into the water. He says that he was out again on Tuesday evening and had hold of a much larger one, but the question is how did he know? as the trout was in the water and he on the trout of the stream. It keeps us busy Jacob J. George Knisely was taken seriously ill on Sunday with what finally developed into a case of appendicitis. Up to this time it has not been thought necessary to resort to an operation as the ailment possibly can be overcome by other treatment. John McGinley is looking after the store and pool room during his illness.

-Squire W. J. Carlin, of Rebersburg, was in Bellefonte, last week to lift his sixth commission as justice of the peace of Miles township. Mr. Carlin has already held this office for twenty-five years. This is highly complimentory to him, showing that the citizens of the community are satisfied with the ruling and the manner he does business.

-Harry Barnes, brother of Homer and Joe Barnes, of Bellefonte, who for the last ten years has been an employe of the Westinghouse Electrical Co., at Pittsburg, has been made general inspector of the work. -Robert A. Cassidy, of Canton, Ohio, visited his son, W. C. Cassidy on Bishop street. He is always a welcome visitor in Bellefonte, but everytime he health and says he gets three meals a day and sleeps with a clear conscience, which is about all that a man can reasonably expect.

-The house on east Howard street, which is the entrance to the Union Cemetery, is undergoing extensive repairs. The southern side of the building was way in the ground which made it inconvenient as well as unhealthy. The en-tire building has been raised, an addiional wall placed under the structure. When completed it will be a pleasant place to live, that is if the ghosts don't get after you. George Port, who has charge of the cemetery, and who is the right man for the place, has moved to his own house, just a short distance
