

The Gift of Glen Iris by Hai-wa-ye-is-tah.

By EDWARD HALE BRUSH.

ONE of the most beautiful and historic regions in the United States is the far famed Genesee valley of New York. The name of the valley is Indian and signifies "beautiful," and it has always been agreed that the red men chose well when they selected it. In this valley is the large private estate known as Glen Iris, which has recently been presented by its owner, William P. Letchworth, to the state of New York for use as a public park. It embraces about a thousand acres and extends for three miles along both sides of the Genesee river. Mere mention of the gorge and valley of the Genesee calls to mind the deeds and fame of the Indian chiefs Red Jacket and Cornplanter and Joseph Brant; of Robert Morris, that great Revolutionary financier who, with Hamilton, had so much to do with placing the fiscal system of the young republic on a sound and enduring basis; of the Holland Land company, the big real estate syndicate of a century ago, which "developed" western New York, and of the Wadsworths, who generation after generation have served in legislative halls and on the battlefield.

It recalls, too, the strange story of "the old white woman" of the Genesee, Mary Jamison, who once owned 18,000 acres of the "beautiful valley" and might have been richer than Hetty Green had she survived to the present day. It was at the "big tree council" of 1797, when Morris negotiated the purchase of a great portion of the lands of the Genesee valley from the Indians of the Six Nations, that Mary Jamison's claim was presented, and, though Red Jacket opposed the action, it was agreed to reserve for her those 18,000 acres of rich land, with the Genesee river running through it, which was long known as the Gardeau reservation. "The old white woman" was born in midcoast about 1742 and was captured as a child by a party of Shawnees.

HERO OF NANSHAN HILL.

Prince Fushimi of Japan, Who is Now in England.

Much was heard of Prince Sadamuru Fushimi of Japan, cousin of the emperor, during the war with Russia. He is forty-nine years of age and a full general and fought in the war against China as well as in that against the armies of the czar. In the latter war he was most prominent while directing the operations of a division of the army in southern Manchuria, and his heroic conduct at the battle of Nanshan Hill, when the Japanese troops charged the enemy nine times in the face of a withering fire, is still well remembered.

Prince Fushimi visited the United States at the time of the world's fair at St. Louis, and he is now attracting attention by his visit to England as special envoy of the Japanese emperor. Prince Edward of Connaught not long since journeyed to the orient and conveyed the Order of the Garter to his majesty the emperor of Japan. Prince Fushimi was charged with making a return call, so to speak, and acknowledging the honor conferred by the British sovereign on the mikado. On his arrival in England he was met by the prince of Wales, the cabinet and officers of army and navy. An amusing incident occurred in connection with the visit. It so happened that the comic opera entitled "The Mikado" was being presented at one of the theaters of London when the prince arrived. Fearing that the burlesque of Japanese customs and officials which it contains might offend the emperor's envoy the British lord chamberlain prohibited its performance. This caused protest and the visiting prince was appealed to with the result that the ban was removed. Prince Fushimi remarking that he did not see any harm in the opera and would like to witness a performance himself.

CAREW-TERRY.

Great English Actress and Her Marriage to Her Leading Man.

It seems that the great actress Ellen Terry was wooed both before the foot-lights and behind the scenes by her leading man, James Carew. When Miss Terry sailed for England at the close of her recent tour of the United States the interesting fact was disclosed that she had for a third time taken a husband, the marriage, which occurred on March 22 before a justice of the peace, having been kept secret until the actress was ready to sail for home. News of the romance was then conveyed to the public by the groom.

Mr. Carew is well known both in America and England and is a resident of Chicago, though born about thirty-five years ago in the state of Indiana. He played prominent roles with Amelia Bingham in "The Climbers," with Henrietta Crosman in "Sweet Kitty Bellairs" and with Alice Fischer in "Mrs. Jack." About two years ago he joined the company of Miss Maxine Elliott and went abroad with her, appearing in "Her Own Way." A year later he joined Miss Terry's company, returning to America with her for the season just closed.

SENATOR STEPHENSON.

Ally of Robert M. La Follette, Who Has Been Chosen as His Colleague.

The outcome of the senatorial contest in Wisconsin has an important bearing on national politics because it puts in the senate an ally of Robert M. La Follette. Isaac Stephenson. Senator La Follette and former Senator Spooner, whose unexpired term of two years Mr. Stephenson will fill, belonged to opposing factions of the party in Wisconsin. When Mr. La Follette took his seat as the junior senator from Wisconsin, the fact that he was a new man and that his colleague was of a different faction from his own proved an obstacle to him in the furtherance of the ideas which he represents. It is expected that Mr. La Follette will be able to do more effective work for measures in which he is interested in the Sixtieth congress, for he will not then be a "freshman," and his colleague will be a man who has been his ally in state politics for about a dozen years. Previous to 1898 Senator Elieot Stephenson, who is a millionaire several times over and is sometimes called the richest man in the Badger State, belonged to the Republican group which included Mr. Spooner, the late Senator Sawyer and the late Henry C. Payne, but he left that group for the anti-incorporation faction in consequence of the outcome of the senatorial fight in 1898. He and Senator La Follette have been close friends since that time.

Mr. Stephenson was born in Frederickton, N. B., in 1829, removed to Bangor, Me., in 1840 and a year later to Wisconsin, where he worked on a farm. He bought a schooner and sailed on the lakes, investing his savings in timber lands. It was in this way that he came to make a fortune in the lumber industry. He now controls several lumber companies and several banks. He has served in the Wisconsin legislature and was a member of congress from 1883 to 1889. The main planks in his platform are tariff revision, federal income tax, popular election of senators, federal appraisal of railway property and increase of the power of the interstate commerce commission in dealing with railroads.

ROMANCE OF A PRINCESS.

Alexandra Victoria and Her Royal Fiance, Prince August Wilhelm.

Princess Alexandra Victoria of Sleswick-Holstein, whose betrothal to Prince August Wilhelm, fourth son of the kaiser, was recently announced, is seventeen years old and a charming girl of simple, unpretentious manners. She has been brought up to know how to work in the kitchen, is an excellent cook and understands many lines of housework which princesses are not supposed to bother themselves about.

PRINCESS ALEXANDRA VICTORIA.

She is the second daughter of Duke Frederick of Sleswick-Holstein and is a niece of the German empress, mother of her fiance. The latter is one of the most promising of the kaiser's sons. He is twenty years of age and has manifested much talent and originality. The emperor thought at one time of sending him to the United States, not for a visit of pomp and ceremony, but to study American institutions, become acquainted with typical American citizens and perhaps even take a course of study at Harvard university. The affair with the Princess Alexandra, culminating in their engagement, put an end to plans for this American trip.

The Twins.

The Harmon twins looked so much alike as babies that their parents could scarcely tell them apart. As they grew older it became evident that to Grandmother Harmon at least the twins were a unit.

"You were asking me how much the twins weigh," said Grandmother Harmon to a neighbor. "When I went out that afternoon I put one of them on the scales at the grocery and found they weigh just twenty-six pounds."

"Do they always weigh exactly the same?" inquired the neighbor, and Grandmother Harmon looked quite impatient.

"The twins?" she said. "Of course, why not?"

The neighbor had no reason to give, but she rebelled a few days later when in answer to her inquiry Grandmother Harmon said:

"Where are the twins? Oh, they got a cinder in one of their eyes, and their mother has taken them down to the oculist's to have it removed, they were fussing so over it."—Youth's Companion.

Where Diners Had to Be on Time.

Closely parallel to the flag end of the Euston road and visible from it at various turnings is a street which belongs to few men's London. It is a dingy, granite paved, populous street of no attraction. Yet this street has known better times and eager guests. In the house he knew as 43, now obliterated by a big new warehouse, Dr. William Kitchener entertained his fellow wits and gourmets. He had ample means to ride his three hobbies, optics, cookery and music. His dinners were often elaborate experiments in cookery, and the guests had to recognize this fact. Five minutes past 5 was the minute, and if a guest came late the janitor had irrevocable orders not to admit him, for it was held by the mythical "committee of taste," of whom Kitchener was "secretary," that the perfection of some of the dishes was often so evanescent that "the delay of one minute after their arrival at the meridian of concoction will render them no longer worthy of men of taste."—T. P.'s London Weekly.

When Cleveland Said "By Gosh!"

"A long legged friend of mine, who may be called Bill Jennings as well as anything else," says Emerson Hough in Appleton's Magazine, "always insisted that he was responsible for the opening of the Cherokee country. 'I went down to Washington,' said he, 'to see Cleveland about it. I went up

The Badge of Honesty

Is on every wrapper of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery because a full list of the ingredients composing it is printed there in plain English. Forty years of experience has proven its superior worth as a blood purifier and invigorating tonic for the cure of stomach disorders and all liver ills. It builds up the run-down system as no other tonic can in which alcohol is used. The active medicinal principles of native roots such as Golden Seal and Queen's root, Stone and Mandrake root, Bloodroot and Black Cherrybark are extracted and preserved by the use of chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine. Sent to Dr. R. V. Pierce at Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet which quotes extracts from well-recognized medical authorities such as Drs. Bartholow, King, Scudder, Coe, Ellingwood and a host of others, showing that these roots can be depended upon for their curative action in all weak states of the stomach, accompanied by indigestion or dyspepsia as well as in all bilious or liver complaints and in "wasting diseases" where there is loss of flesh and gradual running down of the strength and system.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes rich pure blood and so invigorates and regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, and, through them, the whole system. Thus all skin affections, blotches, pimples and eruptions as well as scrofulous swellings and old open running sores or ulcers are cured and healed. In treating old running sores, or ulcers, it is well to insure their healing by applying to them Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve. If your druggist don't happen to have this Salve in stock, send fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and a large box of the "All-Healing Salve" will reach you by return post.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

to the door of Cleveland's house—right at the front door—and I knocked, and I heard Cleveland holler out to me, "Come in!" I went in, and there was Cleveland sittin' in the parlor, with all his cabinet there too. I says to Cleveland, "Cleveland, them Injuns has got to go and them cow men too." I put it to him right plain. Cleveland he listened, and by and by he got up and come and put his hand on my shoulder, and says he, "Bill, by gosh, she pops!"

The Dressmaker's Diploma.

Many New York women who patronize a new dressmaker for the first time propound an embarrassing question.

"Have you a diploma?" they ask.

"I didn't know what answer to make to the first customer that put that question to me," said one dressmaker. "I certainly did not have a diploma. I knew how to sew, but I had no certificate to that effect. Finally I found that many women have suffered so grievously at the hands of incompetents that they were unwilling to trust their work to a person who could not show some guarantee of experience and efficiency, so, although I knew more about sewing than half the fashionable dressmakers in town, I actually worked in one such establishment for four months so that I could point to a printed diploma which says, 'Formerly with Mme. A. of Fifth avenue.' It pays any dressmaker to arm herself with credentials of that kind. She ought to have her diploma framed and hung on the wall like a doctor's diploma, so as to give confidence to doubtful customers."—New York Sun.

Great Schemers.

These traveling men are great schemers when it comes to getting rooms assigned to them ahead of other guests who registered first," said a hotel clerk. "There were several guests on the waiting list for rooms yesterday. One traveling man came up to the desk holding his hand to his stomach, saying he was so sick he must have a room at once. He was accommodated. In a few minutes another traveling man who was among the list of guests waiting for rooms, came up and said he had boarded a sleeper at 2 o'clock in the morning and tried to get some sleep, but that it ran into an open switch and gave him such a shaking up he couldn't sleep. He said he was almost dead with exhaustion and loss of sleep and must have a room at once. Hardly had he gone to his room when a third one came up and said he, too, must have a room immediately. What do you suppose his reason was? He said a horse fell on him the day before, and he thought he was injured internally."—Kansas City Star.

Pepper and Onions and Garlic and—

At a restaurant downtown, redoubt of pepper and garlic, where swartly representatives of Spain and all the Spanish-American countries gather every day at the lunch hour a lone American, accustomed to strictly unseasoned food, was glancing apprehensively at the bill of fare.

"What is chile con carne?" he asked the waiter.

"Ah, senior, zat is pepper and a leetle meat and pepper again and once more pepper and—"

"No matter. What is bacalao a la vizcaina?"

"It is delicious—codfish and red pepper and gar!"

"Forget it! What is oia a la Espanola?"

"Ah! Zat is onions and pepper and garbanzos and chorizos and!"
