EDITORIAL.

CHRISTMAS.

All over the civilized world, the advent of Christmas is hailed with delight—old and young, rich and poor, Saint and Sinner, to all is Christmas welcome. All celebrate and are glad—it commemorates the greatest event in the world's history, the birth of the Savior, who came to redeem a sinful world, was crucified upon the cross that through His sufferings and death every sinner might be saved, free and without price, if the means of salvation, offered by washing in the blood of the Crucified One, are accepted. History does not, and never will, record a parallel to the birth of the Savior and His great work, in miracles, teaching, and sufferings upon the cross that unworthy mortals might attain salvation.

We give gifts because Christ was a gift from the Father, that the way to Heaven might be gained to mankind, free to all who would tread therein. Wonderful Gift! Wonderful! by the Son of God. Let Christmas then be celebrated becomingly, by holy rejoicings, appropriate gifts,—significant and typical of the Father's great gift to His children. Unseemly hilarity, carousing, sinful pleasures, oft set apart for Christmas, these are an insult to what the great holiday commemorates. There is a great lesson in all this—let its import be impressed upon the minds of young and old.

The readers of the Centre Democrat have our best wishes for "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

THE Chicago Tribune rightfully announces that Mr. Roosevelt received the best of his ideas from—Mr. Bryan.

ANOTHER idiot has been discovered in the person of a congressman who favors the making of a new legal holiday—for the discovery of America. The legal holiday business has been overdone already and is within a stone's throw of being a score. One half of the legal holidays can well be spared, and should be eliminated. The discovery of America and the discovery of another fool in congress, are just 515 years apart.

JUST NOW a temperance wave is running over the country and drowning out many saloons and some taverns. In some states prohibition has triumphed at the polls and set the states "dry." The brewing and license brigade are feeling alarmed over the bigness of the wave, and the prospect of having to go out of the "whistle wetting" business. Prohibition, within the past year, has carried largely in states where it was least expected—which is portentous of what may be coming in other commonwealths. The low class saloons and badly kept licensed taverns of the scum class, and the harm they do in making drunks, has been the cause of this awakening in public sentiment to curb the evil through the ballot.

THIS State Grange was in session at West Chester last week. As usual, they ask for considerable legislation, mostly of a needed character, and to which grangers, and many not grangers, will subscribe as wholesome. The grangers for years have demanded legislation on the same as well as on other lines, but the fact is that when it comes to voting their tickets are cast for the party that has enacted all legislation in the past quarter of a century; and in spite of the demands of the grange, the grangers, whom they have been supporting from year to year and aided to keep in power, have given them a stone instead of bread. Blindly the grangers have been kept in power by the aid of grange voters who complain they get no recognition from our lawmakers. The grangers, to a large extent, did not support Creasy when he was on the state ticket, although he has been the solid brains in all grange demands, and largely to be credited with what good was accomplished.

Last Case.

At time of going to press last week the jury had not returned its verdict in the case of A. W. Gardner vs. Verdine Butler. The verdict was for the plaintiff, A. W. Gardner, in the sum of $74.42. This was the last case tried during the week.

OVER THE COUNTY.

M. H. Confer has flitted from Yarnell to Peale where he will follow teaming.

The venerable James Hasson, of Harris township, fell on an icy sidewalk last week and received painful injuries.

A hog was killed recently by Amos Koch, of near Boalsburg, that weighed 615 pounds. Where is there a man who can beat it?

Samuel R. Gettig, of Aaronburg, has been appointed postmaster at Madisonburg and will move his family there in the near future.

Lester Musser, who for the past year has been employed at Greensburg, is spending several weeks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Musser, at Millheim.

If you are having sale this season now is the time to have your date announced in the Centre Democrat's Sale Register, so that no one else will interfere in your section.

Mrs. Geo. Boal, of Boalsburg, had some of her household goods shipped to Washington, D. C., where she expects to reside after the holidays, and remain until spring time.

The residence of Peter Zones, at Shingletown, caught fire from an overheated stovepipe one night recently and but for the efforts of a bucket brigade it would have been totally destroyed.

Curtis Musser and family have returned from Ladysmith, Wis. He says that Pennsylvania is good enough for them and will round out his existence within her borders. He was formerly of Pennsylvania.

Lumberman W. J. Smith, of Madisonburg, purchased all the oak and hickory timber on C. H. Creb's tract of land in Miles township, and will convert it into lumber as soon as a sawmill can be placed on the tract.

Miss Helen Beck, a stenographer from State College, and Andrew R. McNitt, of the McNitt-Huyett Lumber firm were two of the several guests entertained at dinner recently by Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Huyett, of Centre Hall.

Hon. Leonard Rhone has leased the Rhone homestead, near Centre Hall, to Cloyd Brooks for a period of five years. Mr. Brooks is a young promising farmer who spent two years on Prof. H. F. Bitner's farm near Boalsburg.

The Keller property in Centre Hall, occupied by L. G. Rearick, was sold by D. C. Keller to Thos. L. Moore, for $1000. The dwelling house was erected by Samuel Flory. Mr. Moore expects to occupy his new possessions after April 1st.

James W. Stover, wife and daughter, Beatrice, of Berrien Springs, Mich., are visiting relatives and friends in Millheim. It is twenty-eight years since Mr. Stover went west, but twelve years ago he came east for a short visit at his old home.

W. R. Neff, of near Pottery Mills, has his hands full these days stocking a saw mill and hauling the lumber to market. He recently sold a small tract of timber land to Lumberman Treaster, and retained for himself the privilege of doing the hauling.

Mrs. James H. Fortney and son, Master James, of Amboy, Illinois, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Noll, on Nittany mountain. Mrs. Fortney and family went to that state thirteen years ago, and this is her second trip to Pennsylvania since going west.

The real estate and personal property of Jacob Brungart, deceased, was sold at public sale. Mrs. Alice Sholl, widow of the late Jacob Sholl, bought the house and lot for $1670. A lot containing one-fourth acre, adjoining this property, was also bought by Mrs. Sholl for $160.

A small oil stove used to heat an upstairs room at the residence of Wm. Campbell, at Spring Mills, got beyond control Tuesday night. Mr. Campbell succeeded in throwing it out the window and extinguishing the flames it had started, but burned his hands severely in doing so.

The other day, while assisting Elmer Royer, at Old Fort, to cut down trees for fire wood, Benjamin Emerick, of Centre Hall, received a pretty severe injury to one of his legs. A tree lodged and a cut was being made several feet from the butt when the stick parted, one of the pieces striking Mr. Emerick.

The citizens of Rock Springs held a meeting to make arrangements for farmer's institute, which will be held Feb. 21 and 22. The following committees were appointed: Entertainment, Messrs. McCracken and Goheen; transportation, Messrs. Gardner and Vantrise; advertising, Messrs. Goheen and McWilliams.

The timber tract on the W. S. Brooks farm, in Pennsylvan, has all been cut and manufactured into lumber, and now Charles Bilger, who operates the mill, has moved it to the timber tract purchased from Miss Mary Potter, a short distance west. The mill is being stocked by Jacob Walker, who also hauls the lumber to Linden Hall for shipment.

Union Evangelistic services were commenced at Rebersburg on Sunday. The initial service was held in the United Evangelical church in the morning at 10 a. m. Services were held every evening during the week. Evangelist B. F. Campbell, of Catsauna, preached at these services and will continue to assist each evening for the next two weeks.

Last spring Mrs. Nancy Murphy with her daughter, Nancy, moved from Brooklyn to the farm up Buffalo Run valley with the expectation of making it their permanent home. Their eight months residence there, however, proved entirely too lonely without associations of Linn and his family and last week they moved from Buffalo Run back to Brooklyn.

What promises to be a successful departure in the work at State College this year is a short course in home economics which will be opened on Jan. 7, and last 12 weeks. The subjects to be taught both by laboratory work and lecture will include cooking, sewing, household management, laundry work and others. Prospects appear bright for a good enrollment.

St. Johns Reformed church in Millheim was re-opened Sunday evening, with appropriate services. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Frank Wetzel, of Rebersburg. This church has been under repairs for the past two months and the members are very much pleased with the improvements. The whole inside of the building has been newly papered, painted and varnished; the pulpit has been raised and a railing put around it, the platform for the choir has also been raised and chandeliers have been put in. Altogether the church presents a new appearance on the inside. The outside of the building will be painted in the spring.

Claude Jodon, of Flemington, who had been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Jodon, of Coleville, left on Saturday for his home.

The Aaronburg Reformed Sunday school will have an entertainment in the church on Christmas evening, and with it a distribution of gifts.

Miss Anna Rich, of Unionville, was a guest recently at Tyrone, at the McCann home. She afterwards left there to visit friends at Philipsburg.

Miss Helen Potter, daughter of John F. Potter, Esq., of Milesburg, who has been seriously ill with typhoid fever, is much better, and it is thought she will recover.

A teachers' local institute of the district comprising Millheim borough, Penn. Haines, Miles and Gregg townships, will be held at Millheim Friday evening and Saturday, January 3-4.

Kyle Osman, who has been working in Tyrone, went home to spend the balance of the winter with his parents at State College. Work at his trade is rather scarce this time of the year.

Boyd Noll, of Zion, has bought the double frame dwelling house on east Lamb street from Mrs. Josephine Cruise. The price paid was $2,300. Mr. Noll expects to move to Bellefonte in spring.

The other evening, Mrs. John Breon, who lives at Rhoneymede, in Pennsylvan, was on the second floor of the house and on crossing the hall from one room to another lost her bearing, and fell down a stairway. Dr. Dale was summoned, who found no bones broken, but the unfortunate lady was obliged to remain in bed for several days.

It is said that Charles Fisher, of Boalsburg, who is traveling for the Harrisburg Burial Case Co., has the legislative bee buzzing in his ear. He is a promising young republican, but if he doesn't want his political aspirations nipped in the bud he had better get that notion out of his head and stick to the casket business. Everything, from the president down, is going democratic next fall and Charles's friends would dislike very much to see him lost in the shuffle. This may not be very encouraging, but it's the plain unvarnished truth. The better business proposition for our young political friend would be to let some other republican go on the ticket and afterwards sell him a casket.

Observing an item in last week's edition of the Centre Democrat in regard to the biggest porkers thus far killed in Gregg township by Mrs. Sarah Jamison weighing 514 and 593 total of 1107 lbs., a reader at Yeagertown writes that "the mates to those hogs were killed by W. H. Madara, of Yeagertown, Millfin county, dressing a total weight of 1150 lbs., one weighing 572, and the other 584 lbs. Of course this is not beating her in the weight of one hog, but the total is the greater, comparing this with the advantage country people have in raising hogs with those living in town, it should be considered very good. They are the largest heard of in Millfin county, so far, and would like to hear from some of the other big pork raisers in Centre county."

Masons Elect Officers.

Tuesday evening the Masonic Fraternity, of Bellefonte, held its annual election of officers in their handsome lodge room in the Masonic Temple, on Allegheny street. The odor of those big fat turkeys must have penetrated every nook and corner in the town and county, as the attendance was unusually large. The gentlemen received official honors during the evening, and who will be the ruling spirits of the lodge during the coming year are as follows: Worshipful Master, Henry C. Quigley; Senior Warden, Robert Hunter; Junior Warden, Hon. Ellis L. Orvis; Treasurer, A. C. Mingle; Secretary, Homer Crissman; Trustees, John I. Olewine, Harry Keller, J. L. Spangler, W. R. Jenkins and H. Sechler.

After the election the members repaired to the large dining room where a regular turkey dinner was served. It was gotten up under the direction of Mr. Olewine whose main purpose in life is to eat all the good things that comes his way. It was an occasion thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

First Body At Bridge Found

Pinned under the heavy motor and a piece of false work near the second pier, the body of A. W. Fahs, of Sealingrove, the first of the seven victims of Millfinville bridge disaster, was taken from the river Monday. There were no marks upon the body, with the exception of one small blue spot upon the cheek. It is thought that Fahs was shocked into insensibility by electricity when the bridge went down, and was unable to help himself.

Superintendent of Construction Sutton has decided to dynamite the stream in the hope that some of the other bodies may be brought to the surface.

Large Porkers.

Probably the largest porker reported thus far this season was killed by W. W. Vonada, of near Sober Station in Penn. He dressed 600 pounds. Mrs. Sarah Jamison, of same place, killed two that weighed 1107. When it comes to raising large porkers those farmers over in Pennsylvan seem to know how to do the trick.

MOYER—SHEARER.

Peter Moyer, a retired merchant of Kylertown, Clearfield county, and a brother of Adam Moyer, of Philipsburg, and Mrs. Jacob Shearer, of Kylertown, came to Bellefonte recently and were quietly married by Rev. Wm. Laurie, D. D., at his home on Spring street. Mr. and Mrs. Moyer will continue to make their home at Kylertown.

Whom She Saw.

Four-year-old Marjory, the minister's daughter, was confined to her room with a cold. She began to pine for company.

"I want to see papa," she said. "Papa's busy, dear," said her mother. Presently the pleading little voice was raised again.

"I want to see papa ever so much, please, mamma!"

"No, dear," was the answer. "Papa cannot be disturbed."

Silence for a few moments, and the four-year-old parishioner rose to a question of privilege.

"Mamma," she said insistently, "I am a sick woman, and I want to see my minister!"

And she did.

Generous Restitution.

A few years ago there went to one of the northwestern states a Boston newspaper man whose mission it was to "write up" lynching in that quarter, although there had not been an illegal execution in the state for a long time. The natives took the questions of the eastern scribe in good part and even "jollied" him into believing that for downright lawlessness the community wherein he was sojourning was about the most conspicuous portion of the United States.

"Don't you ever make a mistake in these lynchings?" guilelessly asked the Bostonian. "That is, don't you ever lynch the wrong man?"

"That happened once," put in some one, "but we tried to do the square thing by the widow."

"Indeed!"

"Yes; we appointed a committee to inform her that the joke was on us, and we gave her the choice of the crowd for her second husband."—Lippincott's.

Struck Blind.

After acquiring a considerable amount of money in the United States a young Englishman returned home and decided to give his old father a treat by taking him to London. The father had never been in a train before and commenced the journey with many outspoken anticipations of dire events. All went well until the train suddenly dashed into a tunnel. Bang went the old man's fist on his son's nose as he cried: "I told you something would happen, you young villain! I'm struck blind!"

Acknowledging a High Honor.

Archbishop Patrick J. Ryan of Philadelphia once was invited to speak before the Philopatrian society, the members of which include many of the prominent Irish-Americans of the city. In acknowledgment of the round of applause which greeted him the archbishop said:

"I appreciate your greeting, and I thank you, my friends, from the heart. Permit me, too, upon this occasion to express my gratitude to you for your interest in me in naming your society after me, the Philo-pat-rian society. It is not every archbishop who is thus highly honored."—Lippincott's.

Why God Discriminates.

"Why does not God strike dead everybody that lies, the same as he did Ananias and Saphira?" asked a Scotch preacher who was examining the school.

"Because, sir, there wouldna be any one left," replied one of the children.

The Anxious Mother.

The principal of a girls' college while talking to a friend was rung up on the telephone. After a few minutes he slammed down the receiver with the exclamation, "Great Caesar!"

"What's the matter?" asked the friend.

"Oh, one of those doting mothers. She has a daughter here whom she idolizes, and she has just explained to me that the girl is engaged to be married and she is very anxious about her health. Heard we were having a rainy season, and when I told her it had poured here this morning she calmly asked me to call her daughter and feel of her feet to see if they were wet. And the girl is twenty-three!"—Ladies' Home Journal.

Saying "Something Nice."

The young ladies of the Thompson Dry Goods company invited us in the other afternoon to drink lemonade with them, prefacing the invitation with the remark that we must say something nice about them in the paper, and of course we could not do otherwise, for they are all, without a single exception, just as nice and sweet as they can be, and our only wonder is that they have been allowed to remain single so long—and some of them, oh, so long.—Marion Record.

Heavy Weight Porkers.

Millheim and vicinity is still holding its reputation for killing large hogs. As the butchering season is about closed the Journal publishes the following record of the weight of a number of hogs killed and the persons who killed them:

Millheim.—Isaac Shaver, 1, 424; H. Stover, 1, 455; C. Garrett, 1, 407; W. F. Colver, 5, 2111; P. P. Leitzel, 2, 912; M. S. Fiedler, 2, 942; F. O. Hosterman, 2, 985; H. E. Duck, 2, 943; L. E. Siover, 1, 404; E. I. Musser, 2, 841; W. H. Reifnyder, 2, 981; E. H. Zimmerman, 2, 819; Coburn, C. Meyer, 3, 1569; Jacob Kerstetter, 2, 843; Wm. Musser, 1, 627; James Hartler, 3, 1367; Jackson Stover, 1, 500; Daniel Geary, 1, 560; F. Hackenberg, 2, 860; Jas. Auman, 1, 461; Frank Bartges, 2, 900; Henry Kahler, 1, 468; Wm. Vonada, 1, 601.

Smithtown.—H. Frankenberg, 5, 555; W. H. Musser, 1, 500; W. F. Smith, 2, 845.

If there is any other community in the state can give a better showing we would like to see it.

Last Fiscal year's production of distilled spirits of every sort was 24,602,000 gallons in excess of that of the year before, and the production of beer was 3,897,449 barrels greater than in the previous fiscal year.

THE FIFTH REGIMENT.

The Fifth Regiment, Second Brigade, National Guard of Pennsylvania, it is reported will be disbanded after the inspection of the guard in January, unless one of the other regiments shows even worse condition. The Second Brigade has five regiments at present, and one must be mustered out to comply with the new bill which allows but four regiments to a brigade. The Fifth is reported to be in very poor shape, and the quota of men is far below the average. Lack of good drill halls has hurt the Fifth much. Companies of the Fifth are located in Altoona, Hollidaysburg, Bellefonte, Indiana, Blairsville, Huntingdon and Clearfield.

The above is the substance of an article that has appeared in the papers during the past week. While some of the companies in the 5th Regiment are not up to the standard, that hardly would be cause for such a course. According to a comprehensive article on the states militia, published in the Pittsburg papers on Sunday, the quota of men and companies in the guard is far below the standard in most of the regiments, and instead of disbanding organizations in the 5th Regiment new companies more likely will be organized. Further assurance is given that no organization in the guard will lose its identity and no headquarters will be disturbed. Another straw showing how this plan is looked on with favor is, that the efforts are making to have companies organized in Somerset, Ligonier, Johnstown, Lock Haven and Punxsutawney to bring the Fifth infantry up to the full strength of a regimental organization.
