Messrs. Paul Fishburn, of K. S. N. S. G. P. Piper, of Wilkinsburg, and Nellie Gherret, of Bellefonte, spent Saturday and Sunday at J. F. Hoy's.

There was a merry straw party passed through our View on Monday evening. I have enjoyed myself very much at uncle Jakes, helping to dehorn cattle, running pigs, and cutting wood; then I went up and helped Geo. Grove break in a bronco, that was the time of my life, I saw all kinds of things; then I visited the Rock View high school, and they surely are doing fine work. I think that would be the place for any young man that wanted to settle down in life, to chose a companion, for there are so many bright and intelligent girls there, that I think, from the appearance, they would make fine housekeepers, not just for education, but because they do house work in their homes, like all country guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. H. W. Winkleman over New Years. Katie wife does have the finest house of flow-ers; and from there I went to see Royers, and when I got there, uncle Clayton said "By Jinks, we must have some dinliams, of Bellefonte, were callers here on ner."
