CAUTION IS NEEDED.

Monday, March 16:—J. C. Walker will sell horses, 5 years old, 1 black mare 3 years old, 10 years old, 1 black mare 3 years old, precautions as formerly. Let unreliable workers slight their tasks of renovating the hair that is brought in to them and dire troubles may result.

If one will buy casual puffs and pompadours, then by all means see that the hair is thoroughly fumigated before wearing. It is much safer, however, only to buy the artificial locks from some one on whom you can thoroughly rely.

Another precaution to be observed is in putting on those puffs, if you will wear them. It is not enough to match the color of the hair, but special pains must be taken with placing the puffs.

Some women seem to think if they have a few loose rolls of hair securely pinned into place on top of their heads that the last word in smartness has been achieved. In point of fact, this pinning may be done so as to make a carlcature of the wearer and utterly ruin the contour of her face.

Study your facial lines carefully before arranging your hair, whether false or real, and if you have not the knack of making your coiffure improve your looks then by all means take a few lessons from a skilled hairdresser, who will show you just the right angle at which your hair should go.

This is, after all, the important thing.
