THE ENGLISH CHURCHILL.

Brilliant Career of a Member of the New British Cabinet.

There has been considerable comment on the appointment of Winston Churcaill, son of the late Lord Randolph Churchill, to a post in the new British cabinet, as he is one of the youngest men who ever occupied so important a position. He was born in November, 1874, and therefore is not yet thirty-four, and he looks even younger than he really is. In England it is less customary for young men to reach high political position than it is in this country, which makes the achievement of Mr. Churchill the more notable. He occupied the position of undersecretary of state for the colonies during the premiership of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, and it was freely predicted that when the next shift in the Liberal cabinet occurred he would become a member of it. This prediction has now been fulfilled by his appointment to the post of president of the board of trade in the ministry formed by Premier Herbert Henry Asquith.

that he is a British cabinet member, will not be confounded with the American Winston Churchill so often as before, although the latter has political aspirations too. The fact that both men are in literature has in the past led to much confusion. The American writes novels, however, while the English Winston Churchill has written chiefly accounts of military expeditions, although his latest and most talked of work is his biography of his father. He has served as soldier and senate, was born on a farm in Jackson in Senator will be made to the Court of Common Pleas of Centre County, Penna. on Monday, the 4th day of May, 1908, at 10 o'clock a.m., under the Act of Assembly entitled "An Act to provide for the chiefly accounts of military expedifather. He has served as soldier and war correspondent in Cuba and in two African wars and in one of the latter, that with the Boers, had especially exciting and romantic adventures, being captured and escaping from the enemy, who offered a reward for him, dead or alive. One night at the height of the campaign some British officers heard a knock at their door and listened until again there came a faint tapping. On throwing open the door they appeared to be on the verge of starvation. "Are you Britons or Boers?" he asked as he supported himself against the doorpost. The officers replied that they were British, and the young man strumbled inside and fell in a dead strumbled inside and fell in a dead specific or appeared to be on the verge of starvations and social character. It was Churchill, just escaped from the Boer lines.

The new cabinet member has a spe cial interest for Americans on account of his mother, formerly Lady Randolph Churchill, now Mrs. Cornwallis West, being American born. As Miss Jenny Jerome she was one of the belles of New York.

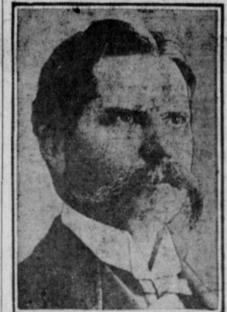

Mr. Churchill entered parliament as a Conservative, but is now a Liberal, his change of parties being due to Mr. Joseph Chamberlain's championship of protection. He was once asked if he thought there was any truth in the report that Mr. Chamberlain was suffering from "softening of the brain."

"No fear," snapped the young commoner viciously. "He has a malady of a different sort—hardening of the
