M. F. Loy and N. Vallimont have improved their houses by painting, giving them a fine appearance.

The most enjoyable event of the season thus far, in this place, was Children's Day service held in the Methodist church Sunday evening. The program was begun by a march in which over forty members of the Sunday school participated; the greetings were well rendered by little Flora Meeker, and also by two boys; an exercise by three little children—"What he gave was good;" and the exercises—Violets, Daisies and little Gardeners—by the little girls, greatly pleased the audience as did two exercises by the boys—"Life's sea and strewing the blossoms."—Excellent recitations were given by a number of the larger girls, and perhaps the cutest part of the entertainment were the recitations by the little tots, Mildred Wagner, Roper Barr, Minnie, Margaret and Beatrice Daugherty, the last named capping the climax by her cute speech and gestures. The special feature of the evening was the pantomiming by the young ladies, of "Home Sweet Home." As the audience gazed upon the white robed figures, and heard the sweet strains of that old hymn, many eyes were wet as they thought of that beautiful home to come, to which just such exercises as these will surely pave the way, and help many souls to endeavor to gain that heavenly home. Special mention should be made of the music which was fine. A solo and chorus, and a duet as well as the general music was enjoyed by all. Eliza Loy presided at the organ and had charge of all the music, while Misses Grace Vallimont and Jerusha Daugherty had trained the children. At the close of the exercises an excellent address upon education was given by Geo. F. Daugherty who was followed by Rev. Ake, upon the same subject. The church was packed to its utmost capacity, even standing room outside the windows was at a premium and every one departed wishing that Children's Day might come more than once a year.

PORT MATILDA.

Reunion: The family of Geo. R. Williams held a reunion on Wednesday, June 17th, at his farm, located near Port Matilda. Of the five children three boys and two girls, all were present except the oldest son Aaron; there are ten grandchildren, and all were present. A few friends of the family were also present. Twenty-four persons in all. Their youngest son, Gordon, just came home for a vacation, from Dickinson college where he is studying for the ministry, hence they decided to have a little reunion while he was at home. A sumptuous dinner was served under two maple trees in the meadow. While they were eating they were agreeably surprised to see Mr. Quimby, also from Dickinson college, who was on search for Gordon. After dinner speeches were made by Gordon and Mr. Quimby, which were enjoyed by all. Mr. and Mrs. Williams have been married 39 years, and as they are not able to do the work, on the farm any more, they have moved to Port Matilda and their son Walter is helping on the farm.

Mrs. Fisher and her bright little son, George, Jr., are visiting grandpa, George Fisher, Sr., at the home of Miss Nannie Fisher.

Children's Day was observed in the Presbyterian church on last Sunday and was a most enjoyable affair. The exercises were opened with responsive reading, singing and prayer, followed by a march of five little tots from 3 to 5 years old, led by John P. Harris the third, it was real cute. "Children's Day," by Margaret Brady, was exceptionally fine and well rendered. Song, by the juniors, five little girls—was very pretty. "Knowledge of the King," by Sidney Shipley, was well spoken. "Service of the King," by Nannie Fisher, was very interesting. Solo by Ruth Parsons, with full chorus, was very enjoyable. Ruth has a fine voice and by the time she reaches maturity, with a course in voice culture, will rank among our best singers. "King's Jewels," by Elizabeth Musser and Jenny Parsons, the former doing the speaking and the latter the singing, was very nice. "Power of the Child," was an article read from a missionary paper, by Mrs. Holtzworth and was the most interesting of the exercises. Mrs. Holtzworth is a fine reader and with her clear, ringing voice rendered the article very effective. To Miss Hannah Thompson, the superintendent, is due great credit for her untiring labors in training the little ones for this delightful occasion. The singing by the choir, directed by Mrs. Sarah Brown, was very good and the selections appropriate for the occasion.

The death of Mrs. Alice Smith Holderman, which occurred on last Tuesday afternoon, about 3 o'clock, at her home here, is one of the saddest that it has ever been my mission to record. Her death came very suddenly and unexpectedly, and seemed to throw a pall over our town. Mrs. Holderman was born at Penna. Furnace, Aug. 22, 1874, and died June 23, 1908, aged 33 years, 10 months and 1 day. She was the daughter of M. M. and Nancy Smith. She leaves to mourn their loss her husband, F. A. Holderman, her little daughter Helen and an infant son, Francis. Also her father and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. H. S. Sprankle, Mrs. D. E. Harvey, Sarah Smith at home, P. W., William and Charles, all of Tyrone. She was married to Frank A. Holderman at Tyrone by the Rev. Isaac Heckman, Dec. 25, 1902. Brief services were held at the house on Wednesday afternoon after which her remains were taken on the 5 o'clock train to Tyrone for interment. Funeral Thursday afternoon; services by her pastor, Rev. Dr. Piper, assisted by Rev. C. W. Carns. She enlisted in the services of the Master in her youth and served Him faithfully during life under the banner of the Methodist-Episcopal church. In conversation with her heart-broken husband, he said he couldn't understand why this great sorrow was thrust upon him but felt constrained to say "God's will be done." Her bereaved husband and dear little ones have the sympathy of the entire community.

White Cement Tombstones

Their attractiveness is permanent. Even granite loses its lustre before them. Concrete grows more firmly knit with each passing year, and its lifetime is forever.

These facts forcibly illustrate the value of CONCRETE FOR YOUR BUILDING. Miracle double air chamber concrete blocks on the highest development of concrete in a form for building houses.

The air chambers are in the blocks to make a continuous staggered air space around within the walls of the building. This dead air space neutralizes the difference between outside and inside temperature, which may be as much as 150 degrees with no reaction.

This absolutely prevents moisture gathering on the inner surface to which plaster can be directly applied.

Most people would be much surprised if they knew the capability of concrete. Are you using it? If not, why not?
