UNIONVILLE.

Mrs. John A. Hutchinson, mother of Mrs. John P. Harris, Jr., and Mrs. Clyde R. Barlett, Mrs. Harris' sister of Parkersburg, West Va., are pleasant visitors at the home of the latter.

Rebie Calhoun, after spending three or four weeks at the home of her brother in Altoona, returned home a few days ago, looking pretty as a posy.

Elmira Rodkey, of McKeesport, John Austin and wife, of Lancaster, and Mrs. Richards of Julian, were recent visitors at home of Wm. B. Parsons and wife. Miss Rodkey is the special guest of her cousins, Ruth and Jennie.

T. E. Griest is again quite ill, but we are glad to note that he is improving.

Chappie Underwood had quite an exciting experience on last Friday. His rural mail carrier on this route, and on coming down from his home about 9 o'clock, just opposite Herb. Finch's residence, a short distance above town, he met an automobile which was occupied by two men and a woman. His horse took fright, he jumped out of his mail wagon to hold his horse, but the horse turned before he caught hold of the bridle and upsetting the vehicle broke one of the wheels and bent one of the axles. In the mean time the party in the auto sailed on past, never stopping to learn what damage was done. Chappie took the number of his car, telephoned a warrant to chief of police Sankey, who arrested the owner of the car, who proved to be none other than the distinguished Ex. U. S. Senator Geo. W. Ketcham, of Newark, N. J. The Hon. gentleman became very indignant and plead not guilty, but policeman Sankey had him in his clutches so he had to do something. He finally gave bail in the sum of $100, for his appearance to court. He also left $150 with Squire LaPort, requesting him to settle the matter of damages with Mr. Underwood but chappie refused to take that amount and the case will probably come before the court. That time, Chappie, you did "Ketcham."

HOWARD.

Huckleberries on the Alleghenies are reported very plentiful; many of our people are emigrating thitherward in search of the delicious blueberries. Harry Turner and the Rev. Keifer in one day picked 70 quarts, and mind you they traveled about 16 miles in going and coming. On Tuesday a half dozen rigs loaded with people and tubs and buckets, went to the hunting grounds and came home with bushels of berries, besides being drenched in the heavy rains on their return home.

Perry McDowell, Bennisson and wife, of Pittsburgh, are sojourning for a few days with Capt. and Mrs. S. H. Bennisson.

A. A. Schenk has greatly improved the quarters of the smoking club, by installing electric light in his hardware store and also in his tin shop.

Mrs. Joseph McDade, of Philadelphia, formerly Miss Maud DeHass, of this place, with her husband and daughters, are visiting Mrs. J. L. DeHass.

Our base ball club is going some, judged by the large contract they have made with themselves for next Saturday. They expect to wipe the Mill Hall team from the face of the earth in the two games which will be played on our field in the afternoon at 1:30 and 3:30, will hold a festival in the evening, on the school house campus, which will make every one who attends it "feel like thirty cents" or more (abstracted) for which they will have received in return, at least five dollars worth of fun, music and ice cream.

John M. Robb and Henry M. Confer each lost a valuable horse on Tuesday last, by acute indigestion. Too great caution cannot be exercised in feeding hard worked horses in the time of hot weather, succulent grass and new hay.

SNOW SHOE.

Two very interesting and exciting games of base ball were played at Snow Shoe last Saturday between Snow Shoe and Woolrich, of the Centre & Clinton League. Both teams played fast ball and by the good support of the out-field and equally erless in-field to Pitcher Renaud, Snow Shoe shut Woolrich by a score of 3-0. Woolrich had three hits off Renaud, while Snow Shoe knocked Red Miller an extristate pitcher, out the box. The afternoon game was played in the record breaking time of 58 minutes with a score of 2-0 in Snow Shoe's favor; the effective pitching of Gilliland and his erless support the Woolenpicker were handicapped; only 30 men faced Gilliland, nine of which were strike-outs and the rest failed to connect with the ball. We did not fail to note Manager Kelly on the side lines, forgetting all about his game leg, went dancing around like a two-year old, while W. A. Sichel, in the excitement, ate a box of Sab Rosas, stub and all.

People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones; but you can't convince the glazier of the truth of this.

REBERSBURG.

On Sunday evening Reuben Smull, of Smullton, died, after a long illness. His age was about 69 years. The survivors of his immediate family are his wife (nee Gramley) and his son George Smull, the well known insurance man. The funeral is arranged to take place on Wednesday at the Evangelical church, Rebersburg. Mr. Smull was a highly respected member of the community in which he spent his entire life and succeeded in whatever he undertook. For some years he had resided with his son George in the old and hospitable mansion once owned by Joseph Kreamer and before him by Wm. Wolf, who went west many years ago.

A large number of citizens are assisting Noah Brungart to search the mountains of the East end, for his driving horse which was lost or stolen last week.

Prof. Theel of the Schuykill-Seminary, Reading, spent Sunday and Monday at the home of Wilson Cole, in Rebersburg. His wife and son went to Williamsport on Monday.

A harvester who harvested without gloves said he was as unlucky as "Theophilus thistle the unsuccessful thistle sifter, who, in sifting a sieve full of unsifted thistles, thrust through three thousand thistles through the thick of his thumb," and now he wants to know what the state agricultural college doctors can do to unthistle his thistle thick thumb of Canadian thistles, and prescribe some antidote for the future. On this thistle theme, it is said that Canada thistles do not grow from seed, but propagate readily by root. Prof. Gramly maintains that the roots extend and travel beneath the surface. Our thistles would like to hear from the thirty-seven wise men of the State College on this subject.

There is an old belief, still lingering, that there is a day in the month of July, when, if weeds of a noxious nature are beheaded, they will die—and this day is said to be named "Abdon" in the almanac—coming on the 30th of July.

There is no disaffection here with the nomination of Bryan this time. Even republicans think he will give big Bill Taft a close race. Everyone is pleased that James H. Kerr was named committeeman. He will, at least, not sell out to Penrose, and throw the fight before it is commenced.

A few days ago Postmaster Miller got a letter of inquiry about the Reitzels, who lived here prior to 1840, and Philip Reitzel at one time owned the tavern. George Weaver, who is hale and hearty and upwards of eighty relates about the olden times. Reitzel was succeeded by Dubbs as landlord, and then by Dubbs and son, who went west to Freeport, Ill. They were succeeded by Uncle Dan Kreamer who ran it during the exciting years of the war.

Maud Ocker was called home from Vicksburg, to attend her father, John J. Ocker, in his last illness.

Harvest came so close to the heels of haying that the farmers are all kept busy, early and late.

Hail on Sunday destroyed some corn-fields near Farmers Mills.

Last week Noah Brungart drove out into the Long Narrows to gather huckleberries, tied his horse and when he returned with a vessel full, found that the horse had escaped. Up to this writing, no trace of it has been found. It was Mrs. Brungart's driving horse.
