That of course, no young man in Bellefonte likes to be roasted, yet this is no more uncomfortable than to be kept in hot water.

THAT the man in Bellefonte with a charitable heart will never be asked what church he belongs to when he arrives at St. Peters' gate. THAT Sheriff Woodring of Bellefonte, who read his Bible pretty faithfully, says that Jonah looked down in the mouth when the whale swallowed him. THAT in Bellefonte you never see a woman with her ears covered, no matter how cold it is. She wants to hear everything that is going on and then some. THAT Henry Hoy, of near Bellefonte, says you shouldn't fool with a wasp because it happens to look weary and tired, you'll probably find him all right in the THAT the maddest girl in Bellefonte on Saturday night was found on Curtin street. She ate onions because she was sure nobody was going to call, and then

THAT our friend John Dubbs, of Bellefonte, is now wondering what that fellow who touched him up for $10 the other day did with the money. He blew it in just like the rest of us do. What makes John just a little bit sore is that the fellow took it before his very eyes.

THAT Col. E. R. Chambers, of Belle fonte, thinks that it is cruelty to animals for "Billy" Taft to ride a horse because he is too big, and suggests he ride an elephant. That's his job now; but William is afraid that before the election the huge brute will lie down on him

THAT Bellefonte has in it a n girls who think they are uncommonly nice but they are nothing more than from the common stock of humanity. Because a girl puts all she makes on her The boy who is honest, earnest and in back and face, and tries to talk French dustrious, will not long be out of a jeb

THAT it is a sin and a shame the disgrace a certain woman in Bellefonte is bringing to a household where, at one does not depend on fortune. It is a time, the environments were chaste, pure certain air which distinguishes us and and undefiled. The people, as she passes along on the street, cannot help passing low degrading remarks about her and yet she imagines that what she does behind closed doors isn't known to the public. UNIFORM APPLE PACKING.

The Porter bill, which was framed the past winter by a New York legislator and will be presented for passage at the next session of congress. provides for a uniform grading of apples packed for domestic and foreign consumption. As things stand at present, there is a wide variation in the grading of apples in different localities and in different seasons in the same locality, with the result that little reliance can be placed on the label that a given barrel may bear. For some years past Canadian apple growers and shippers have benefited by a law requiring uniform grading of apple stocks, with the result that on the London markets, where much of the Canadian fruit is retailed, it brings 2 shillings a barrel more than New York pack because of a certainty that the grading is uniform. The law referred to may work some hardship on the careless or dishonest packer, but it will without question be a boon to those who are reliable and conscientious and be welcomed by commission men, who in a way are at present working at a great disadvantage.

TREATING FENCEPOSTS.

In view of the increasing cost of post timber it is well worth while for one That you generally find in Bellefonte who has a good many of them to set to treat the posts so as to increase their life and usefulness. This may be done in one of several ways. One of the best preservatives for this purpose is carbolineum, which is highly it may be somewhat more effective That they say a pretty little girl of and more expeditious to dip the butts East Linn gave Harold Gardner a lemon of the posts into a recentacle contain of the posts into a receptacle containing the preservative, the same results can be obtained by giving the portion of the post to be set into the ground and six inches above two coats of the carbolineum, the first being allowed to the posts are dipped in hot tar or painted with it, much the same results will secured. In the absence of either of these preservatives the application of two coats of common black roof

LOCATING A HOME.

In the location and construction of a home it is well to remember that heat is vastly preferable from the standpoin of health to coolness, coupled with dampness, while dust, though bothersome, has more in its favor than mildew.

Oil on Roads. That the experiment of using oil or country roads for the purpose of laying the dust has been succesful is demonstrated by the fact that Allegheny county commissioners have placed a contract for the purchase of 300,000 gallons of oil and the construction of half a dozen wagons to be used as sprinklers to be used on the various county roads so far that while over in Philipsburg, on is held that in addition to laying the Friday, Samuel Geisweite of Bellefonte, dust the oil serves as a binder for the took a chance on a bird and cage, and top covering of the roads, giving them

Whether contributions to churches, the little songster will always bring cheer and comfort.

That John J. Bower, Esq., of Bellefonte, besides being a good practicing attorney, has other, accomplishments which might some day bring him both fortune and favor in the realm of music. He is developing into an expert snare drummer who handles the sticks with the accuracy of the oldtime musicians who have placed their names high up on the pinnacle of fame. He ought to join the Repaz band.

That John J. Bower, Esq., of Bellefonte, is regular election expenses, is the question the court of Columbia county was called upon to decide, when a case was stated against Elisha Ringrose, a recent candidate for county commissioner. Ringrose was charged with giving $20 to Rev. Mr. Harmon of the West Berwick Methodist church. He admits it and defies his accuors to prove that he violated the election laws by doing so.

of the isthmian canal commission in 1905. General Hains went on the retired list of the regular army in 1904 after a career of much value to his country. He was born in Philadelphia in 1840 and is a West Point man. He is known as one of the ablest of military engineers. For many years he was senior engineer of the Nicaragua canal commission, conducting the investigations of that body into the merits of the various routes for the great waterway. General Hains left West Point to go to the front at the outbreak of the civil war through which he served as an engineer officer from Bull Run to Appomattox He received three brevets for gallant service. In 1862 he was assigned to the charge of the reclamation of the Potomac flats at Washington and continued in charge until 1891, when that work was well advanced toward completion. A PRINCESS NOW

The Former Countess de Castellane as Bride of Prince de Sagan.

Photographers keep on the trail of the Prince and Princess de Sagan, and their honeymoon can hardly be said to be a quiet one. The snapshot reproduced in the picture was obtained

The informality of these nuptials was in contrast to the doings when she married Count Ront de Castellane. The recent marriage seemed more like the wedding of two ordinary middle class people than the union of one of the richest of American beiresses to a scion of one of the oldest and noblest houses of Europe-However, the bride wore a stunning gown of white cloth and Paris make with a splendid lace collar on this occasion, and a "Merry Widow" hat and necklace of pearls completed her costume.
