MT. EAGLE.

M. L. and C. P., of Yarnell, are frequent callers in our town. Wonder what the attraction is.
Stanford Leathers, of Williamsport, has been visiting his aged grandparents S. B. Leathers, also his many friends here.
Estella Bitner and Mayme Smoyer visited at the home of James Barger's on Sunday and report having a very pleasant time.
Edna Gramley, of Woolrich, visited her parents and uncle here.
Florence Leathers and Estella Bitner attended the chicken and waffle supper at Curtin on Saturday eve.
Sam Barnhart, of Curtin, was a very pleasant caller in our town on Sunday.
Erie Leathers was visiting out of town on Saturday and Sunday.
Loner G. Bathurst, of McKeesport, is visiting relatives here.
T. G. Batnurst caught a wild turkey one day last week. Coming home with his game his eyes were bulged out of his head, and he was coming at a good rate.
Quite a number of our people attended Epworth League in the M. E. church on Sunday night, W. F. Leathers was leader.
Anna Dietz spent Sunday with her parents here.

YARNELL.

The revival services that are being held in the U. B. church, by the pastor Rev. Hamilton, are largely attended and much interest taken.
Austin Lucas, of Altoona, was circulating among friends at this place last week.
Mell Kelley and Elmeda Powell were Sunday visitors at the Powell home.
Daniel Poorman and wife passed through our town on Sunday on their way to Pleasant valley.
Maud Brown and gentleman friend, Percy Kunes, were guests of Miss Brown's mother recently.
Frances Confer entertained her friend, Maud Daley, on Saturday and Sunday.
Nancy Kelley spent Sunday with her friend Anna Shank.
John Richard and wife spent Sunday with their nephew, Chester Hastings and wife, at their home in Curtin twp.
Seymour Confer, who has been spending some time here, Sunday at his home in Moose Run.

STORMSTOWN.

W. H. Lytle, a great lover of horse flesh, attended the horse sale at Bellefonte on Saturday.
Moses Behers shot a wild turkey on Tuesday, but do not know if it was blind or not.
The stork visited the home of T. V. Stevens and left a little baby girl.
D. C. Harpater and wife attended the horse sale, in Bellefonte on Saturday.
A wild turkey strayed into the yard of Moses Behers and while he held it Frank Ebbs shot it.
The chicken and waffle supper was well attended on Friday evening of last week.
Tommy is all smiles since Lula came home.
Nannie Stiver is a pleasant visitor at her parental home, Joseph Stiver's.
—Ladies Russia calf button or blucher shoes, $3. At Yeagers.

NITTANY.

Mrs. Cal. Wilson visited friends at Zion last week.
Harry Baker and Wilson Ammerman were to Lock Haven, one day last week.
Butchering has begun around here, you can hear the squeal of the porker.
A. C. McClintick, our jolly auctioneer, has quite a number of sales to cry yet this fall and he has a large list on his program. He is a first class auctioneer and any one wishing to employ him for that purpose should see him at once, so that dates can be arranged not to interfere with other sales.
Morris Smith left Monday morning for South Dakota.
Yon Allison, who is attending the Lock Haven Normal, spent Saturday and Sunday at home with her many friends.
Daniel O. Dorman shot a fine wild turkey one day last week; it was a hen and weighed eleven pounds.
Election passed off very quietly here; the Democrats elected one man, while everything else went Republican, hope we will have good times for the next four years—gratulations to all.
There are quite a number of wells and cisterns dry around here; the people have to carry and haul water.
Harry Mauck, who is employed at State College, visited his parents and many friends here, over Sunday.
James Mauck and wife, of Rote, and Al Gummo and wife, of near Fursts, were guests of William Mauck and family, on Sunday.
Mrs. Hannah Krape, of Clintondale, is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Daniel Showers and family.
Mayme Zerby was a Bellefonte shopper one evening recently.
James Gansullus were to Lock Haven one day the past week to visit their grandson in the Lock Haven hospital, who was accidentally shot in the abdomen while out hunting for the boys.
Mrs. G. W. Tolbert was to Clintondale, Saturday, attending quarterly meeting.
Some of our young men were to Clintondale Saturday evening to attend literary society, but were left.
Rev. Hower, of Bellefonte, preached a very able sermon, to a large audience in the E. V. church, Sunday night and also conducted communion services.
William Knecht and wife, of Farvin, visited Ex-sheriff Shaffer and family, on Sunday.
Rev. Bartholomew is holding a series of protracted meetings at Rote.

HOUSERVILLE.

William Shuey, of Rock, attended the funeral of John Albright, of Spring Mills, Wednesday.
Seven or eight of our progressive farmers are laying poles for a Bell telephone line, starting at Centre Furnace mills and going down as far as Ira Lytle.
E. M. Houser and wife were Bellefonte visitors on Saturday.
Two fish wardens, of Bellefonte, were through this vicinity Thursday and condemned several fish baskets along Spring Creek.
Mrs. Cal. Houts, of Selingsgrove, visited her sister, Mrs. S. S. Keller the past few days.
Clement Dale transacted business in Bellefonte on Wednesday.
Rae Brennan, Helen Hazel and sister, Mrs. Oran Houtz spent Thursday at the home of J. J. Clark's.
Mrs. William Seanson spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents in the Loop.
Charles Walters, who lives on the H. I. Ailman farm, expects to have sale in the spring.
V. G. Coble is slowly improving.
Wm. Seanson has resumed work in the Housererville woolen mills after a year's vacation.

BOGGS TWP.

John Spicer, wife and three children, from near State College, are visiting Mr. Spicer's parents near here.
Clair Watson and three sisters, Daisy, Goldie, and Pearl, after a month's stay with their parents, have returned to their home in Mitesburg.
Charley Williams, of Mitesburg, was a caller at John Spicer's on Sunday.
Clayton Sliker, of Moose river, was a Divide visitor, Sunday p. m.
The farmers have all been making good use of the nice weather we had; most of them have their corn husked and fodder hauled in; some of them are busy ploughing their corn ground for 1909.
John Burd spent Sunday p. m. with his son E. M. Burd, at Divide.
Ellis and Elmer, Pownell, two enterprising young farmers of near Yarnell, are seen quite frequently in our Hollow; can any one tell us what the attraction is?
Lee Johnson has been very busy looking after his interests in and around the burg.

PINE GLENN.

Elmer Bowes, of Tyrone, was a business caller on Monday.
Paul Mulholland moved his family to Curwensville on Monday, where he has been employed for some time. Mrs. Jennie Askey accompanied them to their new home.
John Fye moved in Mrs. Cassie Loy's house on Monday.
Tuesday Lonza Heart moved on the Wm. Bowes property.
Mrs. Theodore Watson went to her home in Clearfield on Saturday, her brother Clair Lewis accompanied her.
Geo. Harvick and wife, of Medix Run, spent Sunday at their old home here.
The League social held at the Loy home was well attended; about twenty members being present; the business transacted was plain and to the point, and after a social chat refreshments were served; all went home highly pleased with the entertainment.

LIVONIA.

Harry Ammerman, of Washington, D. C., spent a week with his uncle M. C. Shade.
Nathan Hough has improved his property by giving his house a new coat of paint.
Ruth Stover spent Sunday at home, bringing along her friend Alpha Smull.
Another bear was shot in the woods near here last Friday, making four this season.
Thomas Adams came home to vote and spent two days among friends here.
Mrs. J. H. DeLong spent a few days in Rebersburg last week.
Jane Adams returned from Linden last Monday.
—Ladies warm shoes for cold feet, 98c. At Yeagers.

HOWARD.

Hard frozen ground in the early morning of Friday, November 6th, and snow squalls during the day which piled up the beautiful in some of the corners in quantities quite equal to the needs of the snail boy as raw material for the manufacture of ammunition wherewith to pelt his teacher as she passed, was some indication that old winter is on this trip, and fully equipped for business.
Mrs. Carolyn Boves Evans of Wilkes Barre, is spending a couple of weeks home with her parents, Thomas and Mrs. Boves.
On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Williams took a family over to Pleasant Gap, to spend the day with their son Sherman.
William Quay is pushing the work on his new house at the corner of Black street and Hogan's alley.
Emma Fletcher, and her bright young brother George, looked after some business matter in Bellefonte last Wednesday.
The ball ground was the scene, on Wednesday evening, of the only jollification resulting from the election. The boys thought it a good opportunity for a little fun, and improved it by burning a few tar barrels and boxes, and the Howard band good naturedly furnished the music. It is worthy of note that the boys were suited with a small fire, because the high wind which prevailed would have made a large fire dangerous. Boys who are thoughtful and careful in their fun should be commended and given large liberty.
The petit jurors drawn from Howard borough for the December term of court are Marins Mingo, D. L. Welsh, and Sherman Holter. George Hagen, of the township, is drawn for the grand jury.
W. B. Henderson's dislocated knee does not improve, and he is planning to consult a specialist.
Mrs. J. A. Commerford, of Bellefonte, spent Tuesday with friends here.
Walter B. Fletcher, one of the popular ticket sellers at the Broad street station, Philadelphia, is spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David W. Fletcher.
Little Alma Fletcher, suffering from dropsy, following scarlet fever, Ralph Mays, ill of typhoid fever, and Willard McDowell, tortured with acute rheumatism, are all making brave fights for recovery, and though the progress is slow in each case strong hopes are entertained by their friends.
On Saturday afternoon next, immediately after dinner, Mrs. Hiram T. Lucas will make public sale of household goods at her residence near the railroad station.
The special meetings under the pastorate of Rev. W. H. Patterson, in the Christian chapel, were discontinued after service last Thursday evening.
Henry M. Confer has moved into his new house on the McKinney addition, and is at home to all his friends.
Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Mann, of Folsom, W. Va., are making a somewhat extended visit at the home of Mrs. Mann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Fletcher.
Rev. Lewis A. Mancher, of Lock Haven, celebrated mass in St. Bernard's church here, last Wednesday morning.
Former Sheriff Robert Cook has added to the improvement he recently made to his property by putting down a substantial flagstone walk on the alley south of his house. Mason John B. Holter made a good job of it.
Little Eleanor, aged ten years, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wagner, after an illness of many weeks, in which she suffered from rheumatism, scarlet fever, a weak heart and pneumonia, in succession, was taken over to the better land early last Sabbath morning. This is the third child the parents have lost in very early life, and the sympathy of the entire community goes out freely to them. The funeral service was at the house. Rev. H. I. Crow, pastor of the Reformed church, of which the whole family are members, preached the sermon, and the little worn body was laid to rest in the Reformed churchyard at Jacksonsville.
Sheriff Kiene looked us all over here last Monday. The smile he wore was of unusual breadth because he can hand over his official toga, which come with them, to republican Hurley rather than to democratic Smith.
A social, which will include a lunch to help pay expenses, will be held by the Junior Epworth League next Saturday evening, the 14th, at the Methodist parsonage.
Dr. McIntyre's new cottage, on railroad point, begins to shape up, and promises to be a cozy little residence.
Probably because he expected to take a trip up Salt River this fall, Ray Allison spent some time and labor last summer building a snug boat house in the Bald Eagle creek. The day after the election he borrowed John Wetzel's big engine truck, loaded the wagon upon it and hauled it to a vacant lot up town, and now he has everybody who has nothing else to do, busy guessing what he is going to do with it.
Russel Deitz, son of Mrs. S. C. Deitz, has registered as a student at Girard College.
A jolly Hallo-ween party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Holter, their young daughter Gladys, having invited a number of her friends. Yarns, music, readings and chit chat filled the house until refreshment time, when a royal feast was served, and very soon the pleased and gratified youngsters started homeward and bedward. The guests were Harvey Weirick, Myrtle Paul, Helene Weber, Gertrude Thomas, Lota Bouse, Jennie Miller, Ruth Gardner, Elfreda Confer, Mabel Cummings, Vivian Solt, Margaret Kane, Charles De Haas, George Fletcher, Clair Leathers, Russel Wagner, Walter Holter, Fred Taylor, Mrs. Edward Green and Mrs. Bouse.
Andrew Jackson Walizer, long one of our useful citizens, left us for the other shore of the dark river about ten o'clock last Sabbath morning. He had been a severe sufferer and almost helpless cripple, from rheumatism, for many years. About seven o'clock, Saturday evening he sustained a slight paralytic stroke and passed quietly away without having regained consciousness. Mr. Walizer served through the Civil war as a member of Co. E, 49th regiment, Pa. Volunteers, and was followed to the grave by all the veterans of the community. He was born at Mackeyville, December 16, 1842, and was married to Nancy Woodin January 11, 1864, at Duncannon. Mrs. Walizer and the following children survive him: Samuel A., Syracuse, N. Y.; Eber J., Houtzdale, Pa.; Charles A.; Mrs. I. K. James and Mrs. Orlando Smith, Howard; Emery B., Jersey City, and Mary M., Tyrone. A busy city, plain, simple funeral service, conducted by Revs. W. W. Rhoads and Rollin S. Taylor, was held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. I. K. James, Tuesday afternoon and interment was made in the M. E. cemetery.

WINGATE.

Martin Harnish and wife are spending a few days at J. M. Harnish's.
Claude Summers and wife spent Sunday with the former's parents.
Irvin Lucas is spending a few days with his lady friend, Viola Summers.
Mary Fisher has returned home after a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. W. A. Tice, of Howard, and report having a fine time.
Among those who were callers at Wm. Summers on Sunday, were Mr. Bennet and wife, Dora Sterl, Sue McLaughlin, Mary Fisher, Florence Lucas, Sue Murray, Edna Lucas, Jeraldeen Murry. While there, saw a white bear, one of the largest they had ever seen.
Mark Hartsock is all smiles since the stork made a visit and left a bouncing girl.
W. E. Fisher and wife spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Lucas of Mitesburg.
Bessie Smith made a flying trip to the county seat on Saturday.
Jennie Watson spent Sunday with her parents in Unionville.
George Snyder and lady friend, of Mill Hall, spent Sunday eve with this brother Jim Snyder.
Those who are on the sick list are Maude, Edna, and Marie Murray.

Missed a Rabbit and Shot a Man.
Samuel Turner, of Smoke Run, while hunting rabbits the other day had the misfortune to step in the way of a load of shot which was fired at a rabbit and got the entire charge in his foot and leg. Dr. Keeler, of Ramey, dressed the wound.

Just because a man is inquisitive doesn't make him a questionable character, does it?
