

FRANCIS SPEER'S

Breezy "Chat" Column

THAT the physicians of Bellefonte never give up a patient unless he dies or "broke."

THAT push is a good quality, but dentist Fred Gutillus, of Millheim, relies more on "pull."

THAT if a certain young man in Bellefonte doesn't care to be his own boss all he has to do is to get married.

THAT Harry Irvin, the tobaccoist, says that the only difference between his five cent cigar and his ten cent cigar is a nickel.

THAT there is a young man in Bellefonte, who has spent a mint of money to acquire that cheapest of all titles "Dead Game Sport."

THAT a servant girl in Bellefonte generally stays until she has a chance to look in the closets and size up the family skeletons.

THAT a soft answer turneth away wrath, but soft drinks stir up anger with the fellow in Bellefonte who wants something stronger.

THAT the real woman of fashion in Bellefonte must wear tassels on her stockings even if her husband must wear fringe on his trousers.

THAT the man in politics in Centre county who is simply in it for his health is a thing of the past. They are generally after the "dough."

THAT if there is anything more disgraceful to a town than the crossing in the diamond of Bellefonte we wish somebody would point it out.

THAT the fellow in Bellefonte who is always wanting the earth can gain some satisfaction from the fact that he will get what he desires when he dies.

THAT the other day the question was asked why the Brockerhoff House was like the Union cemetery. Because they both are a resting place for travelers.

THAT it is not necessary to put a hog in scalding hot water in order to shave it. The barbers of Bellefonte have often performed a feat of that character.

THAT we have often wondered if some girls in Bellefonte really imagine that fellows can't distinguish the difference between paint and a natural complexion.

THAT there are some fellows in Bellefonte who do not believe in the literal idea of a future punishment for themselves but they believe in it for the other fellow.

THAT Bellefonte has a woman in it whose favorite hymn is "I would not live always" and during the year her husband has paid about $130 for patent medicines.

THAT if you kiss a Julian young lady she calls it faith. If you kiss a married woman up there she calls it hope, but if you kiss one of those old maids she will call it charity.

THAT it is said that Bellefonte may have a female barber in the near future. She will never make a success of it here because the young men object to being cut by a woman.

THAT if money didn't talk there would be some people in Bellefonte who would have to go way back and sit down by themselves. In other words they would drown in the social swim.

THAT in Bellefonte you can't judge a man's piety by what he gives to the church, especially if he is single and his lady friend is with him when the collection basket is passed around.

THAT a Washington court has decided that a woman has a right to get up in the night and search her husband's pockets. Few wives in Bellefonte ever recognized that the courts had anything to say in the matter.

THAT the woman in Bellefonte who can sleep with her husband after he came home from eating a lunch of onions and whisky could work in a phosphate plant and imagine that the odor was from the sweetest scented cologne.

THAT the young man in Bellefonte who met a girl out at the big spring on Friday night about 11 o'clock must certainly have had something jumped himself. He had much better jump into Spring Creek and cooled off.

THAT the young man in Bellefonte who is in love with two girls is a good bit of a fool. They will hate each other, and make him trouble and he will get no enjoyment out of either of them. The fellow who has but one, and sticks to her like bark on a tree, is the fellow who has his cup of joy filled to overflowing.

THAT if you are troubled with dyspepsia, diarrhoea or have a bad case of love which makes you look and feel like 30 cents take one or two of John Smith's compound charcoal tablets. You can secure them by applying to Dr. Smith, at Parrish's drug store. They will either put a grin on your countenance or give Frank Nagney or Hard Harris, our undertakers, some extra work.

THAT the other evening a young lady went out to a party with a young man and the whole topic of her conversation was to make the other young ladies believe that she could marry him any day she wanted to. The truth of the matter is that nobody cares whether she can marry him or not. There wasn't one of the other feminine beauties present would take him off a bargain counter.

THAT the other day a certain young lady, residing on High street, Bellefonte, dropped a love letter and the finder, in order to discover who lost the tender missive, opened it. The contents were exceedingly sentimental and characteristic of a young man who was head over heels in love. Among the pathetic sentences was the following: "Dearest _____, when I sit and look at the stars I think of thee." Wonder what the poor fellow does when it is raining and snowing, and the twinkling stars are veiled from his view?

THAT there are a number of thoughtless women in Bellefonte who seem to have a mania for scrubbing their front porches in cold weather and leaving the water run down over the pavement which soon is converted into ice of the most dangerous character. Frequently pedestrians sustain bad falls, which have been known to be attended with serious results. In many towns this practice is forbidden by the authorities, and the same should be especially true here where the people are constantly climbing or descending hills. Every woman found endangering life and limb in this way should be made kiss the homeliest man in the town. Do you know who that is?

OVER THE COUNTY.

Daniel W. Garner is ill at his home at Pine Hall.

Grandma Barnhart, of Curtin, who had been seriously ill, is slowly recovering.

Howard Zigler will sell the John Olewine farm at Axe Mann the season of 1909.

Miss Virginia Allison, of Ingram, Pa. is a guest of her friend, Miss Blanche Buddinger at Snow Sho.

If anxious to know what age this is, read the Democrat's correspondence and you will find it is the same age.

The other day C. A. Williams, of Blanchard, killed a porker which weighed 525 pounds. That's going some.

W. H. Goss, of Pine Grove Mills, bought a dwelling from Mrs. Anna Williams. Consideration about $1,400.

A tuberculosis dispensary has been opened at Philipsburg for the reception and treatment of patients. Dr. McGirk is in charge.

On Friday evening the Epworth League will hold a sociable at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Eckley, everybody is cordially invited.

Daniel Ripka, of Spring Mills, who was kept hooded up for some time on account of a soreness of his eyes, is very much pleased at being able to be out again.

The Lutheran church, at Tylersville, which is being remodeled, will be painted by A. E. Strayer, of Rebersburg. The carpenter work is being done by Smith and Bierly.

By the first of the year Ammon Burkholder, of Centrehall, expects to enter a railroad office at Philipsburg, with a view of learning railroading in its various branches.

Miss Sadie McKinney, who makes her home with her sister, Mrs. (Dr.) George Lee, in Centre Hall, had the misfortune to fall while in the back yard and broke one of her lower limbs.

After almost twenty-eight years in Hastings, Nebraska, John Sausserman has returned and is visiting friends at Pine Grove Mills and in Stonevalley, looking quite well and, as the saying goes, is well heeled.

Mrs. Charles E. Rethburn and daughter Miss Gladys, of Oleam, N. Y. who have been pleasant guests at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Jerry Lutz, of Zion, left on Friday for a visit with friends in Altoona before returning home.

Emanuel Kerstetter, who has been occupying the Kerstetter farm near Coburn for the past thirty-five years, will retire from farming next spring. W. F. Musser, of Pine Creek, will take possession of the farm on April 1st.

By getting his hand mixed up with a hay baler, Paul, the little son of J. H. Ross, of Linden Hall, had it badly crushed. The lad was playing about the machine, and in some manner got his hand fast in the chamber of the machine.

About one year ago Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rice, of Philipsburg, buried their only child. Two weeks ago Mr. Rice died after a lingering illness and the other week Mrs. Rice died of heart trouble, the whole family being wiped out by death.

John and Hamill Bathgate have bought the McFarlane farm at Puddentown. The Bathgate's have lived there over thirty years and finally decided to buy. The deal had been on for some time and at their Thanksgiving feast it was decided to close it up at the $50 per acre mark.

A few days ago, while Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Rossman, of Spring Mills, were returning from a visit to Penn Hall, their horse became frightened at a passing bicycle and got unruly. As a result, Mrs. Rossman was thrown from the buggy and rendered unconscious, but sustained no serious injuries.

A valuable horse belonging to George Gingerich, of near Centrehall, was kicked on the inside of the hind knee four weeks ago, and later complications set in that will likely cost the animal's life. Mr. Gingerich and Dr. Ritter have been giving the horse much attention but there is not much prospect of getting the animal on his pins again.

Linn C. Bottorf, formerly of Lemont, this county, but of late of Curwensville, has gone to Asheville, South Carolina, where he will probably spend the winter. Mr. Bottorf is a brother of Mrs. John Olewine, and Wm. Bottorf, of Bellefonte. He has been ill for the last year, and he went there to recuperate.

William H. Baird, south of Centre Hall, is having a well dug on his farm. The drilling is being done by the Eeroids, of Pennsdale, Lycoming county. For some time past the water supply on the farm has been uncertain but Mr. Baird intends avoiding future shortage of water provided it can be found within a depth that can be reached by modern well digging machinery.

The other morning Mrs. Morgan Swisher, who lives near Philipsburg, went out to feed her chickens and upon returning to the house found her little three-year-old daughter lying on the floor in a terrible agony. The clothing burned from her body and her flesh burned to a crisp. The child had evidently been playing with matches and caught fire to her clothing. She died within a few hours.

Irvin V. Musser, of Beaver, had a serious mishap. The wagon he was driving was struck by a trolley car and Mr. Musser was seriously injured. He was confined to bed for several weeks, and at present is unable to dress himself or help himself at the table. His many friends will regret to hear of his predicament.

Mr. Musser was the former partner of Merchant W. H. Meyer, of Centre Hall, and is his son-in-law.

Dr. E. P. Ball of Lock Haven, assisted by Drs. J. E. and McDowell Tibbens, of Beech Creek, performed an operation for appendicitis Thursday afternoon, on Miss Emma Johnson, the 14-year-old daughter of Henry Johnson, of Blanchard. Miss Happersett, superintendent, and Miss Gilbert, of the Lock Haven hospital, were also present.

The young lady died on Saturday morning, at her home in Blanchard. She is survived by her parents and two sisters, Bertha wife of Shuman Williams, of Pleasant Gap, and Martha, who is also married.

Harry D. Shope, of Port Matilda, was in town on Friday.

Leuel Zindel, of Snow Shoe, visited among friends in town on Thursday.

Mrs. Virgie Heaton and little daughter of Millersburg visited Mrs. Heaton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bryan at Roland recently.

Jos. P. Condo, a former resident of Pennsylvania, but who now resides at Tower Hill, Ill., is in Millheim at present visiting relatives and former acquaintances.

A young daughter arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Kessler, of Millheim, the other night. This is the eighth arrival in Mr. Kessler's family and Abe is feeling quite a "pater familias."

Olive Snook, who was first operator in the Bell telephone exchange in Millheim, has resigned and will go to Sunbury. Grace Meyer has taken Mrs. Snook's place, and Lizzit Stoner has been appointed night operator.

Ex-street Commissioner, of Philipsburg, is laid up at his home with a broken leg. He was dismounting from a mine car at the P. H. Mul operation at Mapleton branch. The leg was broken between the knee and hip.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wert, of Tusseyville, spent a few days with the former's brother, Luther Wert, at Aaronsburg and while there he bought the Israel Weaver home for $400, and expects to occupy the same in the spring.

George Sweeney, a well-known resident of Centre Hall, had a severe stroke a short time ago, which has laid him up. Mrs. Sweeney, several weeks ago, had two strokes, which have confined her to the home of a friend, where she had been staying on a visit.

Five steam threshing machines owned in Pine Grove Mills, this county, threshed 188,000 bushels of grain during the threshing season of 1908. Meyers and Albright held the list as having threshed 45,000 bushels. Walter Weaver has 38,000 bushels to his credit; Adam Cramer, 30,000 bushels; Charley Corl, 35,000, and John Glenn, 54,900 bushels.

The real estate of Israel Weaver, late of Aaronsburg, deceased, was sold by the executors to the following purchasers: The farm was bought by Benjamin Haffley, for $5,000; the house and lot in Aaronsburg was bought by James Wert, of Tusseyville, for $1,450; the lots in Aaronsburg were sold to Lewis Mensch, for $320, and the mountain land to F. S. Tomlinson for $100.

On Thursday G. M. Betz, a prominent citizen of Jacksonville, in the act of testing an old revolver which he was desirous of using on Friday to shoot several hogs. As it had not been used for some time the barrel had become a little rusted, and, in order to loosen it up Mr. Betz began pounding on it, when it went off, the entire cartridge lodging in his left hand. It was there for twenty-four hours before it was extracted, the old gentleman, in the meantime, suffering excruciating pain. The hand was badly mutilated, and as Mr. Betz is 72 years of age it is testing his vitality, although no fatal results are anticipated.

That the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will "loosen up" and spend five million of dollars in damming the Juniata river, cutting away a mountain and building a power plant for the electrification of the system at a point near Lewistown. It is partly confirmed by practical railroad men that within the next six years such a thing as a steam locomotive will not be seen on the Pennsylvania railroad in this state. The contracts for improvements at Lewistown will involve five million dollars.

Men connected with these three big contracting concerns who have been active for some time about Lewistown, however, have let slip sufficient information to justify the belief that the railroad company has gigantic plans for improvements at Lewistown.

It has been planned for several years to eliminate a big curve in the line at Lewistown near a point where the proposed dam is to be built in the Juniata. At that point there is considerable of a fall in the river and men up in hydraulics claim that sufficient power could be generated there by damming the river to supply a division of the system with electricity.

It is claimed that the scheme to eliminate the curve by tearing down a portion of the mountain there is for economic purposes as the stone blasted from the mountain would be utilized partly in the construction of the dam and for filling in purposes at the point where the power plant is to be located.

Stolen Rig Recovered. About three weeks ago a stranger went to the livery stable of Hummel & son, at Philipsburg, on the pretense of going to Osceola. Failing to return at the proper time W. I. Hummel started after him, and it was not until Friday night that he recovered the rig. Mr. Hummel received trace of the missing property through Isaac Smith, a Falls Creek liveryman, who sent him word that a young man had left at his stable a buggy and harness answering to the description of that stolen from him. Mr. Hummel left for Falls Creek, found the buggy and harness were his and from there traced his horse to Johnsonburg, where the culprit had left it with a liveryman to sell. He took possession of the animal, came back to Falls Creek, hitched up the rig and started for home, arriving at Philipsburg Saturday evening. A description of the young man who did the stealing indicates that he resided in the neighborhood of Brockwayville, and Mr. Hummel is expecting that he will soon be in the clutches of the law.

Check For 58,739 People. Checks for the payment of the Pennsylvania semi-annual dividend were of $9,437,839 mailed to holders of that corporation's stock on Saturday. This is the largest dividend disbursement of any railroad in the United States. Checks were forwarded to 58,739 shareholders, as against 52,622 last November. During the year the number of women shareholders has increased about 400 or 10 to 20 per cent., so that Saturday checks were sent to 25,000 women.

The Editor and His Wife. An editor and his wife disagree with each other materially. She sets things to rights and he writes things to set. She reads what others writes, and he writes what others reads. She keeps the devil out of the house as much as possible and he retains him and could not go to press without him. She knows more than he writes and he writes more than she knows.

The I. O. O. F. Orphans' Home.

E. E. Chubbuck, the superintendent of the Odd Fellows' Orphans' home at Sunbury, states that the new home for Odd Fellows' orphans is about completed and that they expect to celebrate Christmas in the new building. The structure is arranged to accommodate 154 children, and is expected to answer all demands of central Pennsylvania for years to come. The old home could only accommodate 92 children and there are eight on the waiting list at present, so that the new home will start in with 100 children. The building at present occupied will be repaired and rearranged and turned into a home for aged, Odd Fellows and their wives, and will be under the same management as the orphans' home. This home is supported by an association of Odd Fellows' lodges throughout northern and central Pennsylvania, who, upon joining the association pay a per capita tax of $1 per member, and 25 cents a year thereafter. When the Home for Aged Odd Fellows is established it will be supported by a small additional per capita assessment.

Will be Brought Back for Hearing. Application has been made to Governor Stuart for the return to this state of Mrs. Harriet E. Munroe, of Washington, D. C., who is charged with involuntary manslaughter in connection with the burning of the Rhoades opera house at Boyertown, Pa., last January, when 171 persons lost their lives. Mrs. Munroe was the owner of the entertainment that was being given in the opera house when the fire started and it is alleged that incompetent help was used in operating a calcium light. The application was made by District Attorney Schaeffer, of Reading, and, as a protest was made, the governor will fix a date for a hearing.

A Family of Hunters. The Lucas family, of Henderson township, Huntingdon county, are mighty hunters. A party of five including W. F. Lucas and two sons, Jesse and Lemuel, Samuel Lucas and a nephew, Brady Lucas, made a hunting trip to the Snow Shoe region. The first day they hunted being the first day of the season, they secured three deer; on the second day they got another one and on the third day still another, making five in all each man getting a deer. Their weights follow: 154 pounds, 192 pounds, 264 pounds, 165 pounds and 154 pounds. Mr. Lucas had one of them shipped to Huntingdon county on Thanksgiving.

Shot Broke The Four Legs. "A man named Coleman, of Mahoning City, said to be the champion wing shot of the world, secured a deer in a remarkable manner while hunting last week in the vicinity of McClure's springs, Clinton county. He fired at long range and the bullet passed through and broke every one of the animal's legs between the hoofs and the knees. Local hunters explained the unusual occurrence in this way. A deer when making a leap throws its hind feet directly between its front feet, a position the one shot by Mr. Coleman must have been in when the missile struck it."

Costs $25 Per Hog. Mayor W. H. Gillespie, of Pittston, Saturday decided that it should cost $25 to buy a Pittsburg girl without her consent. The decision was against Daniel Crowley, the higger.

Don't Throw Rice—Eat it. A halt is being called upon the custom of throwing rice at departing brides and bridegrooms. Pullman car conductors are complaining of the trouble it gives them. A learned divine reminds us that Adam and Eve had no rice thrown at them on their honeymoon, and a physician denounces rice-throwing as dangerous to life. Very recently a bridegroom received a handful of rice in his ear, with the result that he had to spend his honeymoon in a hospital and undergo a serious and dangerous surgical operation. Old shoes are also dangerous missiles, and in the hands of an envious and revengeful rival they may easily prove mortal to the happy man or woman. In fact, it is not clear that rice and shoe-throwing is a kind or elegant proceeding.

To get Rid of Rats. Rats are so destructive about buildings that any method promising their extermination is worth heading. One farmer tells us that he put about half a teaspoonful of molasses on each of a number of old shingles, and on that, with a pocketknife blade, he scraped a small amount of concentrated lye. He then placed the shingles about under the stable doors and in the runways of the rodents, and the next morning he found many dead rats. He continued the treatment for a few times, and his farm was cleared of them. He says he has never known it to fail. It is an accepted claim that rats will not eat anything that bears the smell of the hand, and by this method, their "medicine" is clear of the human odor.

Merchandise at Auction. The stock of merchandise of the Mari- on Supply Company, bankrupt, located in the Brown building, on the corner of Bishop and Allegheny streets, Bellefonte, Pa., will be sold at public outcry on Saturday, December 12th. The sale begins at 2 p. m., and will continue during the day and evening, and if necessary will be adjourned from evening to evening thereafter until the entire stock is disposed of. The sale will be made by G. F. Musser, Trustee in bankruptcy. The stock, including groceries, gent's furnishing goods, fixtures, etc., will be disposed of at once.

A New Theory. County Physician Frank G. Seamell of Trenton, N. J., announced today that he would make an effort to resuscitate the next man electrocuted in the New Jersey state prison in order to disprove the claim of a New York physician, recently put forth that electricity does not kill, but that electrocuted criminals die under the surgeon's knife in the autopsy or in the quick lime in which they are buried. The next man to be electrocuted is John Mantasano, who is to die during the week of December 21.

Run Over By Ox Team. It is seldom that we hear of ox teams nowadays, but there are many people who feel so lazy and dumpy that if an ox team came along they would not feel able to get out of the way. For such people there is no remedy equal to Sechler's Pills, the great nerve and body builders. Price $1 a box; 6 boxes $5 with a guarantee. Address or call C. M. Parrish, druggist Bellefonte, where they sell all the principal remedies and do not substitute.

The Family Physician. The best medicines in the world cannot take the place of the family physician. Consult him early when taken ill. If the trouble is with your throat, bronchial tubes, or lungs, ask him about taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Then take it or not, as he says.

Ayer's. Bileous attacks, sick-headaches, indigestion, constipation, dizzy spells—these are some of the results of an inactive liver. Ask your doctor if he endorses Ayer's Pills in these cases. The dose is small, one pill at bedtime.

Made by the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Mr. Deemer's Expenses.

Elias Deemer, Republican candidate for Congress in among those who filed accounts in Williamsport. Mr. Deemer expended a total of $6,490.70. This amount was largely for assessments by county committees. He paid Lycoming county committee $2700, Potter county $1,000, Clinton county $500 and Tioga county $1,000. For postage he paid out about $300. The balance was for advertising traveling expenses for himself, printing, etc. This added to the $8,501.03 Mr. Deemer expended for his nomination as he reported following that date, makes a total of $14,991.73 or almost the total amount of his salary had he been elected.

Sorry For the Queen.

An English professor wrote on the blackboard in his laboratory: "Professor Wilson informs his students that he has this day been appointed honorary physician to her majesty Queen Victoria."

In the course of the morning he had occasion to leave the room and found on his return that some student-wag had added to the announcement the words: "God save the queen!"

Finger marks disappear from varnished furniture when sweet oil is rubbed on the spot and from wood when paraffin is used in the same way.

Never iron silk with a hot iron or on the right side. It is better, in fact, not to press directly on the silk, but to cover with a slightly dampened cloth.

DOCTORS MISTAKES. Are often told to be buried six feet under ground. But many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they present alike to themselves and their easy-going or over-busy doctor, separate diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some ulti- mate disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, keeps up his treatment until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better because of the wrong treatment, but probably worse. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For over-worked, "worn-out," run-down, debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nerve- tonic "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.
