Perhaps no other teacher in Centre county has done as much for the school under his or, her supervision, as the Miss Louisa Turner, who is attending a school for deaf and dumb, near Pittsburg, spent Christmas at home.

John P. Harris, Jr., and family took Christmas dinner at the home of the elder John P. Harris in Bellefort. Rev. E. E. Haney at the Hoys school cooler, which altogether makes it appear like home to the scholars. Besides this, he raised a subscription and hada school bell placed on the building. Several days before Christmas he had a fine Christmas tree placed in the room and decorated it with the most beautiful trimmings. On the day before Christmas he treated all his scholars to candy, oranges, post cards and each a beautiful calendar for 1909; after he was through treating his school Chas. C. Beck went in the hall and got several large packages and presented them to him. Upon opening the parcels he was completely overcome with surprise to find a pair of costly fur gloves, a shirt, a beautiful dish and other articles, Albert Miller is making frequent visits which the school children had purchased to Bellefonte and always in the evenings for him. ADMITTANCE

Does this sound as though the people have taken advantage of this big Closing Out Sale? Our sales slips show that there have been fully 6,000 satisfied purchasers that have taken advantage of this mighty sacrificing of Merchandise.

HUNDREDS TURNED AWAY

for not being able to gain admittance. The crowds were immense. The sidewalks were black with people. But what could we do? It was a perplexing problem to handle the crowds. We did our best. Everyone that gained admittance was waited on. But now, during the closing days of this BATTLE OF PRICES, all of the odds and ends and broken lots of this once splendid stock must leave the house without further notice. We say to you: Take anything you want and at your own price, as positively no goods will be placed to the side. Our lease expires on this building on January 18th, 1909, at 12 o'clock noon, and not a minute longer, at which time the concern so well known as the Manufacturers' Outlet Clothing Company will have been entirely wiped out of existence.

LISTEN? LISTEN? LISTEN?

An extra force of salespeople has been employed for these last days of this mammoth Battle of Prices, but it will become absolutely necessary at times to close the doors in order to take care of the crowds. You will be waited on as quickly as possible.
