—Among the many pleasant callers at this office on Tuesday was W. A. Auman who was on his way from Oldtown, Md., to his home at Spring Mills. He had been away from home since November, working on lumber jobs in Maryland and West Virginia. Mr. Auman will remain with his family for several months and then leave again for Richwood, W. Va., where are located large lumbering operations.

His place in the Palace Livery has been filled by William Larimer who formerly became manager of the concern after it had been purchased from Jesse Cox several years ago. He is a good horseman and understands the livery business. John Lyon has not yet decided what he will do.

—A meeting for working men, which was held in the Friends Meeting House, on Friday, was well attended. Herman Newman, of Philadelphia, editor of the American Friend, and encouraged those present to form an organization in Bellefonte along the line of a movement called "Auld School," which has met with success in England, and is being attempted in and about Philadelphia. This movement aims to bring the working men together, in a democratic organization, in an entirely unsectarian spirit, for the purpose of finding ways of their helping each other. —The ladies of the Bellefonte Lutheran church don't want the public to forget their rummage sale which will be held in the Brown building, on the corner of Allegheny and Bishop streets on Friday and Saturday, the 19th-20th of this month. If you are waiting for bargains you can surely get them there.

—A. T. Bartges, of Millheim, was in Bellefonte Monday on legal business with W. Harrison Walker, Esq. He was making a final settlement of his father's estate. Mr. Bartges is a close reader of the Centre Democrat, and is much interested in the "That Column" to which he paid a nice compliment.

—The young lady, better known in Bellefonte as Miss Nannie McClain, daughter of James A. McClain, of Spangler, has been seriously ill at the home of her sister at Patton, where she had been visiting. —On Saturday the ladies of the Bellefonte St. John's Episcopal church will hold an exchange at the store of Sheffer & Son, on Allegheny street. They say it will be the largest and best one they ever held. If you are in need of bread, pies, cakes and the many delicacies of the season there will be the place to go. The proceeds will go towards paying off the debt contracted in making recent repairs to their handsome new church.

—For the present Robert Hunter, of Bellefonte, is receiving a royalty from a firm in Jersey Shore which is manufacturing his patent automatic ventilator. If at the end of two years the firm desires to purchase the patent for $5,000 they can do so. This price only includes the patent to the ventilator and not Mr. Hunter's other patents. It is to be hoped "Bobby" may make 'er and make 'er good. From the way things look now he'll get the $5,000, as the ventilators are in great demand.

—Dr. John Sebring, Dr. J. L. Seibert, C. V. Wagner and Peter Keichline, of Bellefonte, attended the big automobile show in Philadelphia last week. —On next Monday the stockholders of the Bellefonte Furnace Co. will hold a meeting and will transact business, some of which will be of special interest to this community. Rumors are of no effect. The Nittany furnace and thus both furnaces will be under one management. If this should prove to be true we hope the iron market will go up like a skyrocket, giving work to our unemployed and make the managers walk around here like millionaires on easy street.

—On Friday Ex-county Commissioner Daniel Heckman, of Bellefonte, was 65 years of age, but to watch his firm elastic step and youthful appearance anyone would come to the conclusion that he was much younger, although 65 isn't old. In honor of the event about twenty-six of his friends called in the evening at his home on east Lamb street, and gave him a surprise. Mr. Heckman, however, was equal to the occasion, and at once gave them a cordial welcome, and made it pleasant for them during the evening. He is a first class citizen and made one of the most trustworthy and reliable officials ever in the commissioners office. May he live to round out 100 years.

—John I. Olewine arrived safely at Asheville, North Carolina. When he jumped off the train the first thing he beheld was a cart with a mule and a donkey were hitched. Being used to fast horses and automobiles the scene would naturally strike him as being very odd. He writes the climate down there isn't very much different from what it is in Bellefonte, although he is having a pleasant time. He sent a booklet to some of his friends containing views of the streets and buildings in the city, and a number of places of interest in the country surrounding the health resort.

It is a beautiful place if its natural contour shows up as well as it does on paper. Mr. Olewine also sent several post cards to some of his friends, one of which had a number of men standing along the railroad attired in stripes. He neglected, however, to mark which one of the odd looking gentlemen was himself. Working on a railroad must pay down there.

—Emanuel Eisenhuth, king of High-valley, was jolly caller the other day, lively as a cricket and looking the picture of health, for, as he tells us, he lives off the fat of the land. When Manuel dies if ever he does die—he would die all over but die smiling.

—George Gearhart, of Lock Haven, has been in Bellefonte for the last couple of weeks making experiments with reference to making brick from cement and furnace slag. The gentlemen in Bellefonte who are at the head of the enterprise feel greatly encouraged.

—Everybody in Bellefonte knows what a good entertainment the Bellefonte Academy minstrels gave last year and, naturally, all will want to hear them again this year. They are now hard at work under the direction of Prof. Sherwood E. Hall, practicing for their annual appearance in Garman's opera house which will be on Tuesday evening, February 23rd. The boys will give a program of entirely new stunts this year. The music will be new and there will be no thrashed-over jokes. Remember the date and make your arrangement so that you can be there, as it will be too good to miss.

—James C. Shook has been elected principal of the Bellefonte High School to take the place of Jonas E. Wagner who was promoted to superintendent of the school. Mr. Shook is a self-made man, who has carved out his own way to success by his strong determination to be one of the men whom the world wants and needs. He graduated from the Bellefonte High school, and later from the Juniata College. At both places he took high honors, and was recognized as a young man of ability. He was formerly principal of the Elk Lick schools. Since writing the above Mr. Shook has sent a letter to the Board declining to accept the position.

—The Chemical Lime Co., of which Archibald Allison, John Walker, A. C. Mingle, John Olewine and Andy McNitt are stockholders, have recently had the offer of several very large orders. In fact they are so large that they cannot fill them with the present capacity of their plant and can only accept them provisionally that they will be given time to erect an additional kiln in order to bring their output up to the demand. The voluntary offer of such orders to the Chemical Co. is evidence that they are putting on the market an excellent quality of lime for chemical purposes. Their operations are on Buffalo Run, and less than a year ago started up, and have been running right along.

"Billy" reports things going his way to the extent that the two last months were the best he had since he has been in business. —Friday evening a large number of basket ball enthusiasts gathered in the Y. M. C.
