BUSINESS CHANGE IN BELLEVILLE

W. A. Moore Becomes Manager of both Furnaces

MOST ENCOURAGING OUTLOOK

The Iron Business to Boom in This Community in the Near Future—Other Interests Affected— Large Production.

Within the last month there had been a number of rumors afloat in reference to the future changes and business policy of the "Belleville" and "Nittany" iron furnaces near our town, and which have been operated for a number of years under different managements. For some years past the principal stockholder in the Nittany furnace was Rodgers, Brown & Co., of Philadelphia, and the Drexels, of Philadelphia, held the controlling stock in the Belleville furnace. While it is true these furnaces have been running steadily, with the exception of the Nittany which has been closed down for the last year, it was apparent that the cost of operating these industries was much more than it should be in order to derive a fair profit. As a business proposition it became evident that either the expenses had to be lowered or more drastic and radical measures taken.

On January 25th, the stockholders of the Nittany Furnace Co. held their annual meeting in Belleville when the entire proposition was gone over, and it was the sense of the meeting that the two furnaces in Belleville ought to be under one good substantial management. It was also learned at this meeting that W. W. Moore, the president of the company, had come into possession of the controlling stock, and was ready to take his chances to make the enterprise go. In consequence of this, an agreement was made, through a representative of the Belleville Furnace, that Mr. Moore should become president of both the Nittany and Belleville furnaces. To this end the following officers were elected: W. A. Moore, president; W. W. Waddle, secretary; and W. J. McHugh, of Philadelphia, treasurer. The directors are: W. A. Moore, J. N. Sherer, W. J. McHugh, Welsh and H. C. Quigley. It was also decided to start the wheels of this industry just as soon as possible, or as soon as the iron market shows some strength.

On Tuesday the stockholders of the Belleville Furnace held their annual meeting when the situation was again thoroughly discussed. Col. C. M. Clements, of Sunbury, who had been the efficient president of the company for a number of years, handed in his resignation, as did Harry Keller, Esq., who was solicitor and a director. Mr. Keller's place was filled by Henry C. Quigley, Esq. After due consideration the stockholders were unanimous in their opinion that the only way both furnaces could be made more profitable in the future than in the past, would be to not consolidate them, but put them under one management, with W. A. Moore at the head. The same officers and directors were chosen as at the meeting of the Nittany stockholders, so that there can be no friction in the management.

It is believed that the change will be a benefit to not only those financially interested but to this community in general. First, the furnaces are to be more economically operated as Mr. Moore is a practical man who has devoted much time and study since coming here as to how iron can be manufactured on a paying basis. He has struck the plan and there is no doubt but that it will work out. Those who are associated with him in the management have a like interest in seeing the new arrangement succeed. Another good feature under the new management will be the increased operations at Scotia where the company will mine ore not only for the two furnaces here, but they will open up a stronger market for it elsewhere. This means that as soon as the iron business gets back to where it was a year or more ago a large number of men will find employment. Another advantage will be to the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania whose tonnage will be largely increased, as much of the raw material will be shipped to the furnaces and finished product taken from them. As before lake ore mixed with the native ore will be used in manufacturing iron which has gained such a wide-spread reputation for its superiority over most foundry iron, and the furnaces will be run to their fullest capacity when the occasion demands, which will be about 250 tons every twenty-four hours. It is to be hoped that everything will go along swimmingly. The citizens of the town, in connection with the new organization, will do everything towards making Belleville a greater iron centre in the future than it has been in the past.

Raid Speakeasies

The Altoona police department early Monday morning resumed the vigorous campaign of municipal house cleaning started a week ago, and when the detail led by Chief of Police Clark called a halt; at daylight four speakeasies and drinking clubs had been raided and seventy-five offenders were incarcerated at police headquarters.

In two weeks the police have broken up six of the most notorious dives that have ever operated in this city, capturing thousands of dollars' worth of gambling paraphernalia, bar fittings and liquor. It is believed that the crusade will be continued until the illegal resorts that have flourished for several years have been driven out.

Church Social

The ladies of the United Evangelical church, of Jacksonville, will hold a social in the church, Feb. 13. Ice cream and cake will be served. Come one, come all and help the good cause along.

LIST CORRECTED.

Everybody who sent us money on subscription during the month of January will find credit given for same by a change of the date on the label. Although this announcement was made last week, soon after the paper was issued complaints came pouring in from all sections that an error was made. The situation was confusing but upon investigation was found that an old mailing sheet was used instead of the one that had been previously corrected for that purpose. It caused much confusion and many papers went wrong, and was discovered by the publisher several days later when it was impossible to correct the mistake.

The incident was the first of the kind that ever happened, and shows that many persons keep an eye on the "label" while a great many more never look at it at all.

Therefore we repeat: If you sent us any money during the month of January, look at the date on your label now and see if you have received credit for same.

If you have not sent us any money it is equally important to look at your label to refresh your memory.

Lincoln Day Exercises

The public meeting announced for Friday evening promises to be a successful affair. It will be held in the Court House commencing at 7:30 o'clock. The program has been completed in which the following features will prevail. Hon. Ellis L. Orvis, President Judge, will preside. Addresses will be made as follows:

Rev. John Hewitt, rector of the Episcopal church—"Lincoln an Example and Inspiration for Young People."
W. H. Musser, Esq.—"Reminiscences of Lincoln in Army Life."
Hon. J. C. Meyer—"Lincoln the Lawyer and Legislator."
Hon. John G. Love, Hon. Wm. C. Heinle, Col. H. S. Taylor and D. F. Portney, Esq., will make addresses. The music will be furnished by a quartette.

A. A. Stevens To Entertain

A. A. Stevens, Esq., of Tyrone, who has large business interests in Belleville, and who is one of the leading members of the Blair county bar, has issued invitations to the court and resident members of the bar to attend a complimentary reception and banquet to be given by him on Lincoln's birthday, tomorrow evening, in the assembly hall of the First National bank building in Tyrone. The reception will be held at 8:30 and the banquet will begin at 9 o'clock.

It goes without saying that his brethren at the bar have accepted the gracious invitation extended them by Mr. Stevens and that they will spend a royal evening together. Mr. Stevens never does things by halves, and the coming function is one to be looked forward to with pleasant anticipation, enjoyed to the fullest extent and remembered with grateful recollections.

The Handsome Man

The CENTRE DEMOCRAT is not a man worshiper, but it does admire the fellow who makes good when he is placed in a position where something is expected from him. When J. C. Meyer went to Harrisburg, at the opening of the legislature, his ability was recognized by being at once placed on some of the best committees of which we made mention in a former issue. The Philadelphia Press on Sunday paid the following tribute of praise to Centre county's representative of which both he and his constituents can be justly proud, because it emanates from a sheet so strongly Republican: "Representative J. Calvin Meyer, of Centre county, is one of the handsomest men in the House and is one of the best orators on the Democratic side."

Was a Lincoln Pall-Bearer

Simon S. Barr, who was born in Hollidaysburg, Blair county, in 1849, and who is now a resident of Altoona, has distinction of being the last survivor of the twelve active pallbearers at the funeral of Abraham Lincoln. Mr. Barr served through the Civil war, being wounded twice.

While serving in the Veteran Reserve Corps, Mr. Barr was chosen as one of the first sergeants who officiated as active pallbearers for President Lincoln, each of the twelve being over six feet in height. After the funeral of President Lincoln, Mr. Barr was detailed as one of President Johnson's body guards and served in that capacity until December 20, 1865, when he was honorably discharged from the army.

Storm Topples wall Over

The strong wind Saturday afternoon blew down the east wall of the new chemistry building, at State College, which was not yet under roof. The structure is built of concrete blocks, and the damage incurred is several thousand dollars. The wall remaining is in such condition that it will have to be torn down to the foundations. Fortunately nobody was hurt.

The Ben Greet Co.

The famous Ben Greet company of players, which played with such success in all the leading colleges of the country during the past few years, has been secured for State College for afternoon and evening of February 27. At the matinee it will present "The Merchant of Venice," and in the evening "Macbeth."

A Practical Institution

While Rev. C. H. Dunlap, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Avalon, a suburb of Pittsburg, was preaching to his congregation on Sunday evening on the dangers of laying up treasures on earth, where thieves break through and steal, his home was ransacked and a quantity of silverware, jewelry and some money taken.

SPRING ELECTIONS NEXT TUESDAY

Should be Attended by Every Tax- payer and Citizen

SELECT ONLY GOOD OFFICIALS

A Few Timely Observations for Thoughtful Voters—Forget Self- ish Interests—Protect Your Local Affairs.

The regular spring election takes place throughout the county on next Tuesday, February 16th. It is an important event, as all the local public officials are chosen at that time. The men who direct the building of your roads, manage your schools, care for your poor, collect and expend your taxes, fix the valuations on your property, conduct other local public offices necessary to the welfare of your community—all are chosen at this time.

In fact these local offices more directly affect the voter's interests than the result of either State or National elections. It means, above all, local or home government; and by your vote you show whether your community is capable of it.

It certainly is important to you to have efficient schools, better roads, lower taxes, and upright, capable men filling the important positions in your community. All this, to a large extent, can be secured if the citizen goes to the election next Tuesday and votes only for the men who, regardless of politics, are best fitted to fill these various positions.

The CENTRE DEMOCRAT does not believe in the election of an incompetent democrat, simply because his name appears on the ticket through connivance of peanut politicians at the primaries. The same should apply to other parties. At the same time this, to a defeated candidate, should not be the mere pretext of an excuse for defeating some competent man on a party ticket because he bears towards him a personal grudge, and looks forward to the election as the opportunity to "get even"; and often not only opposes the party nominee but succeeds in electing notoriously incompetent men to fill the most important offices. Such work is disgraceful, small and cowardly.

Public needs should appeal to every man, on spring election day, to rise above the desire to gratify mere personal spite at the ballot box. It is not the place to arouse local factions in a bitter struggle, due often to local religious rivalry or family feuds, while the real interests of the community are actually overlooked and suffer, as so commonly is the case every year throughout the county.

In the minds of too many the spring election is regarded merely as an occasion for a local scrap, a time for renewing and intensifying the factional strife of the community—a sort of free-for-all slash and cut in which often some ridiculously incompetent is elected to an important office over a prominent and capable man, merely for the humiliation it will afford. ALL THIS IS WRONG.

In conclusion, we appeal to every reader of the CENTRE DEMOCRAT to go to the annual spring election—next Tuesday, February 16th. In addition see that all your neighbors attend. When you come to vote be big, broad-minded, manly—don't oppose a capable nominee on your ticket (be you either democrat or republican) through desire for revenge or personal difference, as such work indicates that you are a mean, miserable creature, unworthy of a vote. Have the interests of your community at heart always; don't let those interests suffer if you recognize a more competent man on another ticket, for the success of the spring election depends more upon the active, patriotic, independent, honest, well-thinking men than upon the work of enthusiastic partisans and the election of petty politicians.

Go to the spring election next Tuesday, and do your duty as becomes a good citizen.

Missionary Rally

Next Sunday evening at 7:30 the Young People's Missionary Society and Mission Band of the local United Evangelical church will observe their annual rally. Instead of the usual recitations etc., as has been the custom, Miss Emma Messinger, of Lewisburg, will deliver an address. Miss Messinger is the organizer of Mission Bands, and is deeply interested in her work. Wherever she speaks on the subject of missions she always makes a good impression. All are cordially invited.

Attacked an Old Lady

Intense excitement was created at Patton on Saturday by a criminal assault on a woman 85 years old, by a big negro, in her lonely home about half a mile from the town. The negro asked for something to eat and while she was getting something for him he attacked her and then fled, leaving her half dead. He was afterwards arrested.

RECENT DEATHS

DAVID RENNINGER—aged 75 years, also a resident of Sugarvalley, died Tuesday morning from the effects of paralysis with which he was stricken several days ago.

MRS. O. ATWOOD HARVEY—wife of Flemington's most respected ladies, died at her home in that place at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, after a lingering illness of cancer, aged 71 years.

MRS. JAMES WOODS—a highly respected lady of near Julian, died Monday very suddenly at her home. She was sitting on a chair when she fell over and quickly passed into the great beyond. Heart failure was probably the cause of her demise. Her age was about 50 years, and was one of the most pleasant and affable women in that community, and her death is sincerely mourned by those who knew her. She is survived by her husband. She was a half-sister of Ex-Sheriff Wm. Cronister, of Martha. The funeral took place on Wednesday.

JOHN RIDER—the well known veterinary surgeon of Centre Hall, passed away Wednesday at noon at the home of his son-in-law, Benjamin Brown, on East Lamb street, Belleville. He had been ill for about three weeks, having first had a stroke of paralysis. Later dropsy and heart trouble set in, and he grew weaker until death ensued. John Rider was the son of George Rider, a native of Centre county, and was 70 years of age. During the Civil war he served his country faithfully as a member of Co. E, 15th regiment. He was a veterinary surgeon and met with great success in his business. He was married to a Mrs. Poorman, who preceded him to the grave several years ago. He leaves the following children: Mrs. Ben Brown, of Belleville; Mrs. Edith Ross, of Pittsburg; Edward Rider, of Centre Hall. He also leaves a stepson, Matthew Poorman, of York, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Ada Kunkle.

HERMAN ROBE—the shoemaker, who for the last eight years had been employed in A. C. Mingle's shoe store, died Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at his home on Logan street. For several years he had suffered from liver and stomach trouble. Monday morning one week ago he was found on his bench but in the afternoon he took sick and since then had been gradually growing weaker until the final end came. He was about 65 years of age and was born at Eagleville. He learned the shoemaker trade and was considered one of the neatest workmen to be found anywhere. He belonged to the Methodist church and was as familiar with the Scriptures as any minister of the gospel. He was thoroughly religious and, in a quiet way did much good. He possessed a kindly disposition, and was greatly attached to his home. He belonged to the Pentecosts in which organization he had $3000 insurance. He is survived by a wife and five daughters: Inis, Grace, Carrie, Edna and Crillie.

MRS. BRIDGET DALEY—the aged resident of Runville, died suddenly Saturday evening at 10:30 o'clock. Shortly after partaking of a hearty supper she retired in her usual good health. About the time above mentioned her son, Martin Daley, heard her coughing and on going to her room found the blood spurting from her mouth. Before he could summon assistance she had passed away. It is believed death was due to the bursting of a blood vessel. The deceased, whose maiden name was Bridget Pearl, was born in County Galway, Ireland, 74 years ago. When quite young she came to America, making her first home in Wilmington, Delaware, where as a wife she was married to Martin Daley, who preceded her to the grave about two years ago. About 50 years ago they located on a little farm at Runville, where she has resided ever since. She is survived by the following children: William H., of Belleville; Martin, of Runville; Thomas, John and James, whose whereabouts are unknown. She was a sincere member of St. John's Catholic church, of this place, and a kind friend and neighbor. The remains were brought to the home of her son, William Daley, on Lamb street, Monday afternoon. The funeral was held from St. John's Catholic church Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment in the Catholic cemetery.

MISS ANNA HARRIS—daughter of Mrs. Rachel Harris, of Belleville, died in the hospital Wednesday morning about 9 o'clock, where she had been taken to be treated for typhoid fever. About two weeks ago she returned from Philadelphia where she had made a pleasant visit at the home of Dr. Blackburn. Shortly after returning she became ill, the disease developing into typhoid fever. She was taken to the hospital where everything possible was done to save her life, but it was of no avail. She was born in Belleville and had lived until next month she would have been 22 years of age. From childhood to the end she was ever the same genial, unaffected, courteous young lady, thus having a large circle of friends. Several weeks ago she was maid of honor at the Smithgall-VanPelt wedding, which took place at the residence of Col. and Mrs. J. L. Spangler, and was getting ready to act the same at the wedding of her sister, Jennie, to John VanPelt, which was to take place in the near future. Being a Christian young lady she identified herself with the Presbyterian church. Her premature death is therefore a sad blow to the family and the community. She is survived by her mother and the following brothers and sisters: Joseph, of Baltimore; Charles, of Washington, D. C.; Guy and George, of Pittsburg; Jennie and Mary at home.

Bids for Mail Route

According to orders received from the second assistant postmaster general, new bids will be accepted at the office of the second assistant postmaster general, Washington, D. C., up to February 23, 1909, for the convenience of the mail on star route No. 10,553, from Loganton, Pa., to Rebersburg, Pa., all the old bids under original advertisement having been rejected. Blank proposals can be obtained at the postoffice at Loganton and Rebersburg.

A SPOOK STORY TOLD BY DOMINO

Being an Eminently Truthful Man, no Need for Doubt

A FAMOUS HAUNTED HOUSE

Visited at Night by Strange Creat- ures—Made Peculiar Noises— All True Because "Domino" Knows all About It.

"WHEN I WAS A BOY,"

We lived in a house that was said to be haunted. It was the farm house at Centre Line, the one I referred to in my article two weeks ago. The house stood about 40 rods across the Centre and Huntingdon county line, on the Huntingdon county side. It was a large, high, weatherboarded house with a high unroofed porch in front with, perhaps, twenty steps at the end leading to the floor. The incidents I will relate have been indelibly stamped on my memory, as they were frequently related by my parents, and those of your readers who believe in ghosts and hobgoblins, may draw their own conclusions. As for myself, I never believed in spooks and witches.

One night my father went along with the other members of the family to spelling school, which was held at the Spanagle school house, leaving my mother at home with the younger children. About half-past eight o'clock she heard what she thought was father and the boys coming up the steps of the high porch, and tramped hurriedly past the door to the other end of the porch, across which were high bulsters and suddenly all was quiet. My mother went out on the porch, thinking they were playing a joke on her, but she saw no trace of any person. This so frightened her that she never could stay alone in the house after night. It was nearly ten o'clock when the spellers returned.

One other night, when all were at home a great noise was heard in the cellar under the kitchen floor, as if tubs were being rolled about, and washboards dropped in the tubs as if some one was getting ready to do a week's washing, but on investigation nothing had been disturbed. A number of times unnatural noises were heard on the garret which, it was claimed, could not have been made, by rats and mice.

On Saturday, in mid-winter, sledding being excellent, my father and mother and younger members of the family went to Gatesburg to visit at grandfathers, returning on the following evening. My aunt, then Sarah Sellers, my mother's sister, lived with us. She and my older brothers were left to "keep house" and take care of the stock. That Saturday night, about midnight when all spooks are supposed to make their appearance, my aunt was awakened by hearing a noise like a cow tramping about the kitchen floor, occasionally licking the side of the house, then she heard the cow come into the kitchen, and tramping around over the kitchen floor smelling at this and that as everybody had heard cows. She was sure she had shut and locked the door, but thinking the boys might have been out, she went to see what was going on. She found the door open and the cow coming in. She was so frightened she took courage, lit a candle and went down to investigate, but found the door securely fastened. She went back to bed, resolved not to get up again whatever noises she might hear. Scarcely had she laid down when she heard another noise down in the kitchen, as if some one was walking about, then she heard the stair door of the stairs, leading directly to the room in which she slept, open and foot steps coming softly up the stairs step by step. Finally she saw the figure of a ghost-like person with a long white robe over it, and slowly approach her bedside raising its arms, it leaned across the bed; then in the twinkling of an eye it disappeared. My aunt was too much frightened to scream, she averred that she felt its weight as it leaned over her. She buried her head under the covers for the balance of the night. Nothing could have induced her to sleep in that room again or "keep house" after night when her parents were not there. These are a few of the instances I remember as having been related about the supposed haunted house.

Next week I will give your readers the particulars of a political meeting held in the little red school house in Gatesburg by the Democrats in the fall of 1844, during the Polk and Clay campaign, as I remember it. DOMINO.

MARTHA

The revival meeting has started again, in the Baptist church, it will be conducted by Rev. Dillen and a missionary lady of Altoona.

One of our operators, C. M. Hazelet, who has been employed here for the past year, has returned home where he has secured a better position.

Mrs. Margaret Calhoun, of Unionville, spent a few days with her parents here.

L. L. Melcher, of Swissvale, has returned home after spending a couple of weeks with friends here.

Pearl Gingery and her gentleman friend, of Port Matilda, spent Sunday at the former's home.

Samuel Hollenbaugh's sale, on Monday, was largely attended especially by the female sex.

Barn Burned

The large bank barn on the E. H. VanDyke farm, now owned by A. H. Kaufman of Lock Haven, and Mr. VanDyke's two grandchildren, located in Pine Creek township, Clinton county, and nearly all the contents were destroyed by fire Sunday morning. Three horses and one cow perished in the flames. Total loss about $8,000.

The only solution to the servant girl problem is to engage. Men are used to being bossed.

CLINTON CO.

George Strawbert, Wm. Miller's teamster, met with a painful accident on Thursday morning; while in the act of hitching up, one of the horses ran around the barn; he then caught the horse and took him back in the barn to give him a licking, but the horse got the better of George, as he did not want to be licked, and he cut George down with his front feet and rendered him unconscious for some time; however, when Strawbert, came to his senses he found his nose broken and his teeth knocked loose and his face is badly cut. It must have been a real prize fight.

D. D. and M. L. Barner shipped a car load of staves last Tuesday.

Annie Shultz purchased a house and lot in Loganton and contemplates moving in the same next spring.

About two weeks ago James Overdorf killed a big beef and was going to live fat the balance of the winter, but some good friend, thought Jim might overdo himself and broke in the summer house and kindly stole every piece; hard luck, Jim.

Lloyd Limbert and Annie Franks made a flying trip to Williamsport, and while there got the nuptial knot tied.

SNOW SHOE TWP.

Park Bullock and wife spent Sunday very pleasantly at the home of Mart Bullock's.

Adelaide and Celia Smoyer have returned home after visiting at the home of Manning Resides, of Bush Grove, and also attended the protracted meeting that was held there.

Harvey Witherite was summoned home Thursday on account of the illness of his mother, who has been quite ill, we hope for a speedy recovery.

Malin Shank, of Phillipsburg, spent Sunday with his relatives in this vicinity.

George and John Walker, of Runville, spent Saturday with their sister, Mrs. Mary Witherite, who is ill.

Blanch Smoyer has returned home after visiting her aunt Miss Lucy Smoyer, of Runville.

Bessie Hunter, our school marm, spent Sunday with her parents at Mill Hill.

Oscar Carver visited friends and relatives at Bush Grove and Runville recently.

Edward Mayes, a popular young man of our town, spent Saturday evening out of town.

LEMONT.

Mrs. Ray Hoy is visiting at the home of B. F. Hoy, this week.

The sick are all slowly improving. Wednesday of last week brought snow but it did not lay long, for Saturday and Sunday were like spring days.

The United Brethren protracted meeting is still going on, and the Presbyterians have started a meeting with evangelist, Rev. Boston, helping.

Jacob Ray and wife visited among friends in Boalsburg, Thursday.

Mrs. John R. Williams has been on the sick list since last week.

Earl Dougherty is kept busy nursing several boys on the back of his neck.

Jessie Shuey and bride returned home Saturday afternoon, and some of his chums met them at the train with an old buggy trimmed with old tin cans, and they hauled them through the main streets of their town and took them to his home and Jessie certainly enjoyed the trip, for he did not have to wade the mud; so thanks the boys for their kindness.

Saf-Crackers Caught

Caught, the police declare in the act of touching a match to the fuse that was to blow open the safe in the dry goods store of Flesher and Reynolds in Lewis-ton last Thursday night, Albert Gardner, an employe and John Maybus, Lewiston, Thursday were arrested at the point of a pistol and lodged in the county jail.

Investigation showed two men in the manager's office working at the safe. Hoot and Peters the officers, entered at the back door, which the burglars had entered, and just as Gardner, it is alleged, was lighting the fuse he was called upon to drop it.

Gardner was employed as a general utility man about the store. It is said that a large number of indictments will be lodged against the two men, as they answer closely descriptions of men who have been seen near places recently robbed.

WADDLE.

Protracted services at the Methodist church are proving quite a success.

Hazel and Bond Hartsack spent a few days visiting their cousin, Mrs. Dr. Meek, at Avis.

Jessie Way returned home after an extended visit with friends and relatives in Altoona; she reports having a fine time.

Mrs. Way spent a week visiting friends in Valley View.

Mrs. Jane Hartsack is reported on the sick list.

We see Ross Sellers' smiling face around Waddle again.

Curtis Jones, of Windber, spent a few days in our town.
