EDITORIAL.

ON THE coming fourth of March, will end the seven years' administration of Theodore Roosevelt. He goes out amidst a great fight with a republican senate and house. It is a singular fact, that with all the republican vice presidents, who became presidents owing to the death of the President, the party got into a fight with each one—they were Tyler, Arthur, Fillmore, Johnson, and now Teddy. The reason was all, under oath, got a leaning towards democratic planks.
