

FRANCIS SPEER'S
Breezy "That" Column

OVER THE COUNTY.

THAT the man in Bellefonte with a poor memory has no business to become a liar.

THAT a good many jokes are afloat that need an application of benzogate of soda.

THAT some men in Bellefonte are born foolish; others become amateur politicians.

THAT there is a young lady in Bellefonte who could command a good salary as a ballet girl or a high kicker.

THAT there is a woman on Bishop street who may not be able to drive a nail but she can drive her husband, all right.

THAT it is amusing how some women in Bellefonte prefer to be an old man's darling rather than a young man's sweetheart.

THAT a certain young man in Bellefonte becoming tired of riding on the water wagon, went to a dentist's chair where he fell off.

THAT to a crusty old bachelor in Bellefonte we would just say that a smile can accomplish more in a minute than harsh words do in a month.

THAT T. Clayton Brown, the fisherman, of Bellefonte, is of the opinion that to say a man drinks like a fish is a libel on the fish who don't drink at all.

THAT there are women in Bellefonte who really imagine they are economical. They save the pennies on necessities in order to spend a dollar on luxuries.

THAT the young fellows around Bellefonte who are kindling fires in the hearts of young ladies may find that it will take tons of hard and bituminous coal to keep the fire going.

THAT when a married woman of Bellefonte goes down to Atlantic City this summer she should be very careful not to forget her own name, as she may get somebody else in trouble.

THAT it is said that the man who loves horses and dogs loves women. There are some practical illustrations of that in Bellefonte. The great trouble is they love strange women more than dogs.

THAT Hassie Taylor, the efficient superintendent of the Bellefonte gas works, says that those who desire to have their gas bills cut in two should insert it between the blades of a pair of scissors and press together the blades.

THAT John J. Bower and James Furst, the Burgess aspirants, say that it seems exceedingly difficult to get the gentle sex of Bellefonte interested in politics. About the only ticket they are interested in are tickets to Garman's opera house.

THAT the young man in Bellefonte is finding it very difficult to keep his trousers creased while going with a certain young lady. Ask one of our spry young lawyers to render an opinion on the question. He's the man who ought to know.

THAT Samuel Rumberger, of Bellefonte, is giving some of his lady friends a tip how he has to go down into his socks when he takes them to a soda fountain or an ice cream parlor. The fair damsels blush a little but that's in the game.

THAT a certain young merchant of Bellefonte, is taking entirely too many "jiggers." That is, he is "jiggered" from morning till night. He perhaps argues that is nobody's business but his own, but his wife and children say that his argument won't hold good.

THAT the sale register doctor has been in Bellefonte making an effort to bluff and deceive the people of this vicinity by publishing a falsehood in a certain newspaper. When an editor has to resort to misrepresentations to maintain what little reputation the paper has, it is like grabbing at the last straw.

THAT the other evening a young lady in Bellefonte dropped a certain young man overboard. It was very stupid on her part for there was a young lady present who threw a line in and brought him out, and now she is having a great time. The first young lady is raving with anger, and some hair pulling may be the result in the near future.

THAT if a certain young lady in Bellefonte should get a dollar for every time she was hugged and kissed while on duty in a certain place of business she could buy all the fine dresses and Merry Widow hats she needs for the next five years. The young lady may not receive the money but she is having a Dickens of a nice time, and some day may gain her point.

THAT the other day a prominent man, talking upon religious subjects, was overheard saying that you don't find many persons in Bellefonte who are wearing wings. The people who ought to be doing good in the world, and who have their names on the church rolls, are wasting their time and talents at the card table. Of course when they die, the minister will have to send them to Heaven, whether he knows they are fit for it or not.

THAT it is said there is a young fellow in Bellefonte who has a troubled conscience, and who is losing hours of good refreshing sleep over an act of desecration which would cause him bushels of trouble if the facts become known. Rumor has it the crises has not yet passed, and he will be in hot water for some time to come. Talk about hell in the hereafter—he's having a taste of it now.

THAT Bellefonte has such a bunch of pretty and attractive young girls that all the old bachelors in the town are going down to McCoy's mineral spring and drinking of its waters, thinking it will bring back the glow of youth and make them fit companions for those just budding into sweet womanhood. It's funny that these old has-beens never take kindly to the poor creature who is so anxious for a man, that every night she retires she looks under the bed for one.

THAT the messenger of death which has been visiting Bellefonte so frequently, claiming the young as well as the aged, is a warning to us all to be ready for in such a time as ye think not the Son of Man may come. Securing honor and the accumulating of a little wealth in this life is not to be discouraged, but the greatest achievement is to be prepared for the realities of the eternity that knows no bounds. We are not having a spasmodic religious streak, but merely making a timely suggestion.

David Stoner, of Tusseyville, who had been critically ill, is now considered on a fair way to recovery.

Dr. John Hardenburg, of Millheim, has fully recovered from his recent illness, and is now attending to his practice.

Mrs. Carrie Ruhl, of Buffalo Cross Roads, will occupy several rooms in the house in which Mr. and Mrs. John Rossman live, in Centrehall.

B. O. Webster, who has been connected with the Bellefonte fish hatchery for several years, has resigned his position to accept another in Wisconsin.

George Q. Miller, of Lock Haven, sold his valuable mare, Cardington Girl, for a large sum of money to George Furst, of Beech Creek. Cardington Girl has a record of 2:12 1/4.

The sport-loving people of Snow Shoe and Clarence are arranging to have a bag match in the pavilion at the new driving park at Snow Shoe on Monday, Washington's birthday.

Mrs. James Runkle, of Tusseyville, returned from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. James High, in Lock Haven, and Williamsport. She went to the latter place to have her eyes treated.

George Fleck, of Julian, is making arrangements to go into the cattle herding business on a large scale on the Allegheny mountains next summer and will prepare to take care of six hundred head.

County Auditor J. W. Beck passed the third highest examination for mail carrier at State College but as only two carriers are needed for the service there he will probably not be called. Sixteen men took the examination.

W. Howard Durst sold his farm located near Lewisburg, and is now looking around for another farm. Mr. Durst moved to Union county from east of Centrehall four years ago. He would prefer living in Centre county.

Adam Q. Stover, of Clifford, Michigan, who recently was the guest of his sister, Mrs. M. L. Emerick, in Centre Hall, is now ill at the home of his brother, Michael Stover, at Fiedler. His daughter, Miss Edith, is assisting to take care of him.

D. L. Redding, a son of Laurence Redding, proprietor of the Mountain House at Snow Shoe, who had been a student at Villa Nova college, has been forced to give up his studies temporarily because of ill health. He is now at his home at Snow Shoe.

It is stated that including contracts already let and those in sure prospect between fifty and sixty new dwelling houses will be erected at State College the coming summer. This is a bigger building boom than has been experienced in Bellefonte in years.

The Western Union Telegraph Co. has opened its telegraph office at State College in Shuey's jewelry store. The operator is Helen Dreese, of Lemont. The first message taken by the operator was sent by John L. Holmes to the office of the commissioner of railway, Harrisburg. Seven messages were sent over the wires on the first day.

Frank Kock, formerly of Pine Grove Mills, second sergeant of Troop K, now in Manila, very kindly remembered his parents by sending them some valuable presents. To his mother a silk shoulder shawl and silk handkerchief, and to his father a coon-skin cap and gloves on the Daniel Boone style. Frank's second term of enlistment will expire next June when he will turn his face homeward.

Mr. and Mrs. George Allen, of Muirkirk station, Washington, D. C., have been enjoying themselves with relatives and associates in Boalsburg and other parts of Centre county. Their childhood days were spent in Boalsburg. They moved to some of the western states in 1871; visited here in 1881; that was Mrs. Allen's last visit here. Mr. Allen spent a short time here sixteen years ago. They have been living in Maryland during the last fifteen years. Mr. Allen is employed in the government printing office at Washington.

The aged Mrs. Katie Durst, widow of Peter Durst, of Centre Hall, is again in a weakened condition of health. She is the oldest person in that section, and has been blessed with an allotment of life beyond the scriptural mark of three score and ten. She has been a lifelong and devoted member of the Lutheran church, and never failed in attendance upon services when health permitted. She attained the age of ninety years last November, but up to quite recently was able to be about and enjoy life with rest of humanity until recently.

Consumption

is, by no means, the dreadful disease it is thought to be—in the beginning.

It can always be stopped—in the beginning. The trouble is: you don't know you've got it; you don't believe it; you won't believe it—till you are forced to. Then it is dangerous.

Don't be afraid; but attend to it quick—you can do it yourself and at home. Take

Mrs. Rentschler, wife of Prof. M. J. Rentschler, of State College, underwent a surgical operation recently, at the Woman's Hospital, in Philadelphia she withstood the ordeal very well.

The venerable John Bower, of Aaronsburg, now 92 years of age, of whose serious illness we made mention several weeks ago, is able to be about again and attends to light work on his premises.

Don't forget the Farmers' Institute to be held in the Friends' meeting house, two miles west of Stormstown. Prominent speakers will be present, and it is to be hoped there will be a large turnout.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Smith gave a house party last Thursday night at their residence on East College avenue, State College, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. B. Miller, David Washburn, Misses Willard, Zimmerman and Shoopie, of Bellefonte. There were 15 couples present who thoroughly enjoyed the occasion.

That some fellows in Bellefonte who are laying up treasures in Heaven should make it a point to see Harry Fenlon and make sure that their fire insurance policies have not expired.

More Telephone Service.

A movement has been on foot in Nippenose valley to organize a stock company and erect more telephone lines. Several representatives of the American Union Telephone company were there recently making a tour among the people and have secured a sufficient number of subscribers to warrant the building of additional lines throughout Nippenose, the company to be called the Nippenose Telephone company. Arrangements have already been made to put in an exchange at Oriole, and fifty telephones and a switch board have been ordered and are on the way. The company say they will have a switch board installed and the exchange in working order in about three weeks. The local company is to pay the American Union company two dollars for each telephone, in return for which it gives the local company free service to Avis, Jersey Shore, Newberry and Williamsport exchanges.

It seems strange that when a theatrical attraction meets with a frost it cuts no ice.

Celebrated Diamond Wedding.

It is not a rare occurrence for a husband and wife to celebrate their golden wedding, but Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kreamer, of Juniata, went such couples ten years better by celebrating their diamond wedding (sixtieth anniversary) on Sunday, the 6th. An interesting fact in connection therewith is that they are both natives of Centre county and are still in fairly good health, notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Kreamer is 84 years old and his wife 83. Both Mr. and Mrs. Kreamer were born in Harris township. He is the last surviving member of a family of nine children. Mrs. Kreamer, whose maiden name was Rebecca Riley, is the eldest of a surviving family of four sisters and two brothers. They were married at Oak Hall February 7th, 1849. Three of their four children are living. Mr. and Mrs. Kreamer were residents of Johnstown at the time of the big flood in 1889 and lost most of their possessions at that time.

Science, being a foe to romance, regards a kiss as merely an exchange of microbes.

Where ignorance is bliss 'tis folly to get married.

Million and Half for College.

Representative David Hunter, Jr., of Pittsburg, presented the appropriation bill for State College calling for $1,593,891.76. The money is requested for the following purposes: Maintenance of the school of agriculture and experiment station, $177,072; additional equipment, and repairs of buildings, $228,350, of which $175,000 is to be used for a horticultural building and the necessary greenhouses; maintenance of the school on natural science, $45,301; relieving the overcrowded laboratories and lecture rooms, $900,000; maintenance of the school of engineering, $222,668; erection and equipment of an addition to mechanic arts and engineering building, $213,118; maintenance of the school of mines and metallurgy, $31,118; maintenance of the department of home economics, $10,800; relieving overcrowded condition of class rooms, $100,000; maintenance of heat, light, power and water plants, $57,377 for improvements in these plants; $151,900 insurance, $470,76; repairs to college buildings, $21,000; maintenance of the institute of animal nutrition, $19,000; maintenance of Carnegie library, $7,164; maintenance of the department of military instruction, $4,150.
