EDITORIAL.

The governor is to be commended for signing the bill which prohibits the alien population from carrying weapons, and making these liable for a fine for merely becoming the owners of firearms.

Mr. Boyle and his wife, Mrs. Helen Boyle, aged 23 years, have had their trial in Mercer last week, for kidnaping Willie Whitla. The two were found guilty, and will receive a long term in the penitentiary.

ONE OF OUR "fair and square" exchanges seeks to remind the Democrat that Quay was a soldier of brave deeds in the late war and in recognition congress voted him a medal of merit.

The sugar trust was a regular and fat contributor to the G. O. P. campaign fund which in turn, secured for it high tariff protection against the importation of sugar.

The Sugar Trust, through officers far more important than these men who merely did the weighing, must have known of the thievery. The company bought sugar at one weight and paid duties upon it at another, and uniformly a lower one.

IN THE U. S. Senate—the American millionaire's club—they are still wrangling over tariff revision for which the democrats have been pleading these twenty-five years.

In these times much is said of a tax on incomes, as if such a tax had no existence says the Philadelphia Record. In the last analysis what are the exorbitant duties on clothing and other articles of necessity but taxes on the income—the earnings of the masses of the people?

THE SCHOOL CODE.

Pennsylvania has got along fairly well for a good many years without a new school code while some of the men who are among the most earnest advocates of the bill, changing the whole plan, now in the hands of the Governor were boasting that no State in the Union had a better school system than ours.

There is no denying the fact that the bill was rushed through during the closing days of the session; amended so hurriedly and in so many ways, that not one man in five, probably not one in twenty-five, who voted on it knew what was in it nor does yet.

A measure that has met such widespread criticism and aroused such intense opposition is one that Governor Stuart will, doubtless give the most painstaking consideration.

Unless he is convinced that great harm will result if the bill is not approved by him, he will be justified, even though it may contain many good features, in disapproving it, so that the whole subject may be more carefully considered and all mistakes corrected before the meeting of the Legislature of 1911 by which it should receive much more thorough discussion and calmer consideration than it got during the recent session.

A Heavy Shower.

May 5th being the 65th birthday anniversary of Mrs. J. A. Confer, a highly esteemed lady of Yarnell, who for nearly five years has been an invalid, her daughter Fannie decided to give her a surprise by asking a few lady friends to spend the day and enjoy an old-time quilting bee.

HUBLERSBURG.

Fruit trees are out in full bloom. Farmers are busily engaged planting corn.

The ice cream and box social held by the base ball team was a success.

Gertrude Yearick, of Lock Haven, is spending this week at home with her mother in Hublersburg.

Dean, son of Geo. McAuly, who is confined to his bed with pneumonia, is convalescing.

Teachers examination will be held here next Tuesday.

Warm weather has again aroused activities base ball, their national sport. The local club ushered in the season on Saturday by defeating the strong aggregation from Hecla Park on the local diamond.

More New Laws

The bill increasing from fifty cents to $1 the marriage license fee; the Shields bill empowering traction companies to carry all kinds of freight.

The Oster gypsy taxation bill is designed, as its father admits, to free the State entirely of nomads, rather than to produce revenue. It provides a tax of $50 for the use of the county in every county in which a gypsy band locates, and an additional fee of fifty cents to the treasurer for issuing the license.

Making it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of from $10 to $100 and six months' imprisonment, for anyone to offer for sale a horse which could not be worked without violating the cruelty to animals laws.

Lewistown Narrows.

A contributor to the Newport Ledger who is giving a series of articles on Glimpses Along the Blue Juniata, tells something about the Lewistown Narrows in last week's issue. He says:

A part of the old stone tavern about half way between Millin and Lewistown is still standing. This is the tavern in which the noted highwayman, David Lewis, was captured (the exact date of which I cannot give) and taken to the Lewistown jail, and later to the Bellefonte jail where he died.

RECENT DEATHS.

WILBER W. DAVIS—died at the home of his brother-in-law, L. L. Miller, in Rush township, May 6, of Bright's disease, in his 38th year. The deceased was the youngest son of the late E. A. Davis, of Phillipsburg. He was married to Miss Clara Southard, who survives him together with one daughter, Lucille.

MRS. A. C. MCCLINTICK—suddenly died Friday evening at 6 o'clock at the home of her son, I. C. McClintick, at Mill Hall, where she was spending a few days. The cause of her death was heart failure. She is survived by her husband and one son, Irvin, C., where she died. Mrs. McClintick's home is near Salona, in Lamar township, Clinton county, where she and her family have resided for many years.

WILLARD S. HENDRICKS—died at his family residence in Pittsburg, May 7, at 1:45 a. m., aged 11 years, 1 month and 24 days. He was buried in St. Peter German Lutheran cemetery, Pittsburg. The floral decorations were many and beautiful; he was the youngest son of Frank P. Hendricks, formerly of Blanchard, Centre county, and Sadie Hoy Hendricks, formerly of Madisonburg, and grandson of John S. Hoy, of Gregg township. His death was due to pneumonia and peritonitis.

GEORGE GROSS—died at his home at New Berlin on Wednesday morning, April 28, after an illness of long duration, at the advanced age of nearly 86 years. Mr. Gross was born August 23, 1823, at the old homestead, and his education was begun at New Berlin, and later taking a course of two years at the Lewisburg Academy. Some years thereafter he entered the employ of his brother Henry, a merchant at Aaronsburg. In 1848 he was married to Miss Elizabeth C. Nettle, a native of Carlisle, who, with a son, Wm. G. Gross, survives him. The year following his marriage he removed to Rebersburg, where he engaged in the mercantile business, serving as postmaster in that place for some time. In connection with this store he opened a branch at Loganton, continuing both places until 1858, when he disposed of them and removed to New Berlin and became a member of the firm of Gross & Wilson until 1875.

Mrs. EMANUEL NOLL—died Thursday morning at her home on North Allegheny street from stomach trouble from which she had been a sufferer since February. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas and was born in Pennsylvania about sixty-eight years ago. When a young woman her parents and family moved to Milesburg and after the death of her father and mother she kept house for her brother, M. B. Thomas, until in 1851, when she was united in marriage to Mr. Noll. In 1852 they moved to their present home in Spring township, just outside the borough limits on North Allegheny street, where they have lived ever since. When a young woman Mrs. Noll became a member of the Sinkingvalley Presbyterian church and is the last surviving charter member of the Milesburg church and was always a faithful attendant. She was a woman of rare christian attainments and unselfishly devoted to all kinds of church work. In her home she was the embodiment of a happy household. Kind, loving and cheerful, always, even when suffering the pangs of illness, she gave to her family and her friends the helpful care and heartfelt sympathy of the true womanly woman. Surviving her are her husband, one son, E. B., in Illinois, three step-children, Mrs. Chauncey F. York, of Detroit, Mich.; John, of Altoona; and Miss Rebecca, at home; and one brother, Wm. B. Thomas, Saturday afternoon from the home. Interment was made in the Union cemetery.

Mrs. CATHERINE WAGNER—widow of Jacob D. Wagner, formerly of Bellefonte, died suddenly at 11:50 Saturday night at her home in Altoona from a stroke of paralysis. She has been in her usual good health, and in the early part of the morning she visited the city market. After returning home she started to do some housecleaning. At about 11:30 a. m. she was assisting in cleaning a carpet when she was stricken, and fell to the ground, passing away at the time named. Deceased was born in Boalsburg, Centre county, on August 30, 1860. She was married at that place to Jacob D. Wagner. The family finally moved to Bellefonte, where Mr. Wagner was engaged in the milling business with his nephew, C. V. Wagner. About four years ago Mr. Wagner died after which the family moved to Altoona where they have since resided. She was a member of the Christ Reformed church and is survived by the following children: Charles W., Marie I., George J., Ruth I., Nevin J., Curtis A., Frank E. and Susan C., all at home. She is also survived by four brothers and one sister: John Fortney, of Boalsburg; James Fortney, of Amboy, Ill.; William Fortney, of Ellwood City; Philip, of Indianapolis; Mrs. William Patterson, of Boalsburg. Funeral services were held in the house at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening and on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock the remains were brought to Bellefonte and taken direct from the train to the Union cemetery, where interment was made. Services were afterward held in the Reformed church.

Samuel E. Walker, one of the prominent citizens of Salona, and his son, J. C. Walker, of the same place, were shaking hands with friends in Bellefonte on Tuesday. W. Harrison Walker, Esq., entertained his father and brother while here and it is needless to say that they had a pleasant time.

Local Amusements.

This evening, May 13, the Pennsylvania State Concert Orchestra will give a concert in the court house. A full orchestra of thirty people will be present under the directorship of R. H. Allport. H. I. Armsby, the famous vocal soloist, will be present which will be an attractive feature of the evening. Every player is an artist on his instrument, and the young men guarantee to give an entertainment that will be pleasing in the highest degree. Tickets now on sale at Parrish's drugstore. The price is 50 cents.

Bellefonte has been billed for a good many entertainments during the last ten days but none ought to be more liberally patronized than the one Friday night, May 21, in Garman's opera house, in the interest of the ambulance for the Bellefonte hospital. The program will be unique from first to finish, thus everybody will get the worth of their money, besides contributing to a most worthy cause. The opera house should be packed from the entrance to the stage, thereby giving the ladies a good big sum of money with which to purchase an up-to-date conveyance.

The vaudeville at the Electric Theatre is moving along with quickness and dispatch. Every other evening the program changes which brings some new and attractive feature that is unique and laughable. Most of the vaudeville attractions are worth three or four times what is charged to see the entire show which lasts about an hour. In addition to this number of moving pictures are shown each night which are both amusing and instructive. Going there each night drives dull cares away, cures the blues and makes you forget your troubles. If you haven't been there it is time to commence.

The magnitude of the havoc caused by the earthquake in Sicily can only be realized after seeing Lyman H. Howe's remarkable reproduction at Garman's opera house on Wednesday May 19. Beautiful Messina with its stately streets, busy waterfront, and palatial buildings, will be shown just as it was before the great earthquake that transformed the city into a hopeless ruin. The pictures take the audience through the devastated streets lined everywhere merely with fragments of buildings. What relief work is being done, and how it is done, is also depicted. The grim realities may be seen in the desperate efforts made to succor the wounded, and the number of refugees mournfully seeking a way of escape from their once beautiful city.

There is no show touring the country today that has kept more pace with the times than has the Cole Brothers World Toured Shows, which will be at Bellefonte on Wednesday, May 26. Progressiveness is so strongly in evidence in every department, that it can be truthfully said that modernism has completely relegated all that no other shows of a kindred nature have done, namely those things which make a performance tiresome on account of the many acts and features that have so often been seen in the past. Of course there are many acts that must be retained in order to be classified with a circus, but then the Cole Brothers have so materially improved on these that they would be unrecognizable as the acts given by other shows. In organizing for the present season there was absolutely nothing left undone that experience could devise or unlimited capital could procure that would aid in placing this gigantic aggregation on the very topmost rung of amusement, and that this effort has been successful is evident not only in the extreme magnitude of the shows but in its unequalled merit as well. The Cole Brothers have adhered to the old time habit of giving a street parade and will continue to do so as long as they remain in business, irrespective of what the circuses in the circus trust may do, as they have refused to affiliate with them. One of the innovations with these shows, and we know one that will be appreciated and commended by every one, is the re-erecting of the old time plank seats. Comfort was out of the question when they were in use. The Cole Brothers have adopted comfortable seats with back and foot rests and every ticket purchaser is assured of a comfortable seat to himself or herself, no matter how large the crowd may be.

During the past few days we have had so many inquiries in regard to what we intend doing with the business, that we think it but fair to the public to announce that Montgomery & Co. has been in existence for over seventy years and that if the friends of the firm continue to stick to us, we will undoubtedly be here seventy years to come. We shall be always glad to welcome our friends.
