HOWARD.

Look out for the Colorado beetle. He is on hand in full force. Over three hundred clusters of eggs was the surprising find on one hundred hills of fine early potatoes on Wednesday morning.

Ty Catholic mission, or retreat, which was held here in St. Bernard's church last week, under the direction and leadership of Rev. A. H. O'Hanlon, proved of large interest as well to many members of other denominations as to the adherents of the Catholic faith, and the several meetings were attended by Christian people of all faiths.

Mrs. D. Walter J. Kurtz visited relatives in Williamsport last week. Ronald Welsh is having serious trouble with congested lungs, but it is hoped that pneumonia may be avoided.

Lester Bowes and wife were Lock Haven visitors last Saturday. Lulu Johnson spent last Saturday at her old home, Kennedy district.

Ella Butler was a passenger on No. 50 last Sabbath, bound for Mill Hall, where she will visit her sister, Mrs. Wilton Clark.

The Evangelical quarterly conference, for this charge, the first for the new year, met here last Saturday, with Rev. J. C. Reeser, P. E., of Carlisle, presiding. The usual routine business was accomplished. A visiting minister was Rev. J. F. Hower, of Bellefonte, who preached and administered the communion here on Sabbath morning and at Fairview in the afternoon, returning to Bellefonte for a similar service with his own congregation in the evening.

Capt. S. H. Bennisson and his nephew, Willard McDowell, are daily growing stronger, and their friends are greatly encouraged. John Bowes, wife and three children, of Jersey Shore, were guests at the home of their parents, Thomas Bowes and wife, over Sunday.

Lost—A white and red spotted calf, between Wallace run and Moose run; a liberal reward will be given for the return of the calf. W. F. Peters. Mrs. Bert Lucas, who has been on the sick list for some time, is improving, and visiting her parents in Unionville.

William H. Shultz is now the mail messenger on route No. 21070, and W. T. Hall's bidding had the same figures for the work; in this case it looks as if the soldiers have the preference in the mail business.

W. A. Brower is now in Pittsburg, working at the papering and painting business. Mrs. Ed. Bullcock took her vacation week visiting friends out of town.

in a proper and humane manner leaves the community a distinct gainer, but poisoning is neither a proper nor humane method, and should be frowned upon by every good citizen. Too much of this has been practiced here recently. Let there be a stop to it. The enforcement of the Act of June, 1907, would either rid the community of the dog nuisance, or give it the benefit of the tax; and it is the duty of "the tax collector," and "the right and privilege of any citizen" to take steps toward this enforcement. That would be better in every way than poisoning.

James A. Leathers met with a painful accident at his saw mill by cutting a bad gash in his leg, below the knee. He is doing well. Jesse Leathers, a brother, has gone to Gallegon, N. Y., on a business trip. The cemetery is being cleaned up and furnished in preparation for Memorial day.

Charles Lucas is in attendance at the L. A. convention at York this week, as a substitute for Chester Moore, who was chosen a delegate, but detained at home by important business. Little Marie Schenck thinks it pretty hard times to turn a grindstone to sharpen the axe one day, and then have the misfortune to cut her own knee with it by a mistake when driving a stake the next day.

Bower Holter gets about the streets nearly every fine day now; Wm. McDowell takes a few steps on crutches every day; Capt. Bennisson seems to gather strength slowly, and, generally speaking, our invalids have made a week's gain. The annual convention of the Ministerial association of the Altoona district, M. E. church, will hold a two days' meeting here some time, (date not yet fixed) in September.

At the request of the old soldiers and citizens generally, of Curtin, Rev. Rollin S. Taylor will preach a special sermon to the old soldiers at that place on next Sabbath morning, May 23, at 10.30. John H. Cadwallader, who was formerly employed at Braddock in the Carnegie Steel plant, after a rest of about 6 months, has returned to his "first love." The diphtheria scare has about vanished. There are no new cases and the two formerly reported are practically well.

John Rowan was laid up for a few days with a sore throat and for a time was a little "shaky" for fear it might develop into diphtheria; but Johnie is well and can ride his "bike" as well as ever. So if anybody wants to visit friends in town don't stay away on account of sore neck disease.

If you should happen to meet Dr. W. U. Irwin and he gives you the cold shoulder, don't you mind it, he'll get over it after a while. He can't help but feel a little "stuck up" for a while—after he gets left five miles from home with a balkey auto and almost sun-down, he'll climb down a few rungs and be as friendly as ever.

Mrs. Amanda Moran will open an ice cream parlor in the Grange Hall on next Saturday evening, to be continued every Saturday night. John Shadle, son-in-law of B. W. Shipley, Esq., had a very close call for his life on last Thursday evening. He has a lime plant across the Bald Eagle creek opposite Dix Run siding, and intended going there that evening. He was at the station when the 8 o'clock passenger train passed through, east.

A long freight train then pulled out for the moving cars, intending to jump off at Dix Run, but before the train got half way to that point, he fell off the moving train, which by that time had gained considerable speed, and was so badly hurt that he was unconscious until help arrived. George Moran had taken a stroll up the railroad and was on his way home and stepped off the track to let the train pass. On returning to the track he discovered Mr. Shadle lying along the track and thought him dead, but did not know him. He was so badly frightened that he made no effort to help him but hurried on down to town and gave the alarm, when a score or more hurried to his assistance. When aroused he was in a semi-conscious state. He was brought down to the Shipley home and a doctor called in who at once declared his injuries not serious. He received a number of cuts and
