

FRANCIS SPEER'S

Breezy "Chat" Column

THAT the young man gets his first taste of married life when he has to anti-

THAT the dressmaker, of Bellefonte, can supply a woman with a wedding gown but not with a divorce suit.

THAT a certain woman in Bellefonte always considered her husband the light of her life until he began going at night.

THAT when a young man in Bellefonte commences to think seriously of marriage then is the time he will remain single.

THAT your cup of joy will never run over if you allow the bartender to handle the bottle. Remember that, young man.

THAT "Kid" Pilkington, the Bellefonte pugilist, will tell you that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound on the nose.

THAT the girl in Bellefonte with a swan-like neck may be all right in a novel but she doesn't show up well in real life.

THAT some parents in Bellefonte raise children with less care than a farmer raises hogs. They are found on the street every day.

THAT if you are going to make a bet don't let John Eckley, the butcher, at Gettig's meat market, hold the stakes. He might cut them.

THAT R. B. Taylor and Snyder Tate, the Bellefonte ice dealers, are perfectly satisfied this season to have their customers take the cake.

THAT there are fellows in Bellefonte so thundering slow that Hard Harris or Frank Nagney would hesitate to ask them to be palbearers.

THAT when that Lock Haven man thinks he can outwit one of Bellefonte's widows he has another think coming, and don't you think he hasn't.

THAT the best way a young lady on High street, Bellefonte, could have avoided being disappointed in love would have been not to have fallen in.

THAT there are men in Bellefonte who are following the band but they cannot face the music. If they did some of them would be wearing striped suits.

THAT Ed. Robb, of Bellefonte, has learned enough since he is married to know that a man can't laugh at a joke while he is taking down the stovepipe.

THAT it doesn't tire most of the girls in Bellefonte to dance until the next morning when their mothers want them to help wash the dishes or make the beds.

THAT the girls of Bellefonte should not marry a "handsome" man unless they are well up in the art of chasing a dirty shirt and soiled linens up and down a washboard.

THAT another circus is coming and if Peter Mendis, of Bellefonte, doesn't mind his "ps" and "qs" he will be buying his own iron from the chap who is anxious to see the elephant.

THAT the say that "Bill" Rowe, of Bellefonte, has been putting in the time nursing babies and showing his friends how to cook on the European style. Probably he is practicing for future events.

THAT, of course, the average young man in Bellefonte is not as jealous as a woman—because it is so hard for him to believe that a girl on whom he boasts himself could possibly wish for anything better.

THAT they say a young man up in Unionville fell in love with a young lady because she had a small foot. That's all right, but the girl has a cloven foot, and he doesn't know it. Looks, often times, are very deceiving.

THAT the man in Bellefonte is up against a hard game when he goes in to Ralph Mallory's studio and is asked to look pleasant before the camera when he knows his wife is at the millinery store purchasing a hat.

THAT a young man in Bellefonte called on a Bishop street young lady and they must have sat pretty close, for when he went home and looked into the mirror he had the appearance of a clown. No, he wasn't from Howard.

THAT the man who invented girls may not have known it, but he was playing right into the hands of Krumrine, Parrish, Zeller and Green, the Bellefonte druggists, who are making the finest and most delicious soda water in the state.

THAT on Monday night a girl jilted a young man in Bellefonte and when she saw he didn't care a continental it was an awful jolt on her. She became very hysterical and had to be taken home by a couple of kind friends. Not every fellow is fool enough to end his career on account of a silly, half-witted girl.

THAT they say that "Burley" Love, of Bellefonte, has become a Baptist, and if it hadn't been for "Loge" Long he might have been up with the angels or at some other sea port. The other day he walked across the creek, on a log near the mack factory, when he slipped and in he went, up to the neck. He, however, did not get enough of water in his mouth to rust his stomach.

THAT if a young married man in Bellefonte doesn't keep track of his wife she may be missing one of these days. It looks as if she is developing entirely too much love for the other fellow. He ought to break away from his business about 10 o'clock in the morning or 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and go home. He might accidentally run onto something that would be of interest to him.

THAT because a certain man in Bellefonte lives in a mansion and makes long prayers in prayer meeting is no indication he is on the way to Heaven. It is very probable that his hypocrisy will get him into lots of trouble after he has passed in his checks. He is now living suspiciously every day here but there will be a time when he will do more serious thinking than he does now. He will some day be mighty glad to restore ten-fold.

THAT there are a number of young fellows in Bellefonte who are bending every effort to get rich but they never think of the advantages of being poor. The poor man is not bothered with pick-pockets and the tax collectors do not hound him. Nobody tries to borrow money from him and no one asks him to endorse a note. He cannot run over head and heels in debt, and he is not robbed or harassed by litigations. Burglars don't invade his premises and he can sleep in peace. When he dies nobody questions his last will or attempts to steal his body.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Bald Eagle Grange will hold a festival in their hall to Central City on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, June 26th.

Robinson's show will be at Bellefonte on next Wednesday. See their advertisement in another column of this issue.

The members of the Evangelical church of Zion will hold a festival at that place on Saturday evening, June 19th, for the benefit of the church. The public is cordially invited to be present for the evening.

The shirt factory at Philipsburg is crowded with orders. In order to get about the work and meet the demands now being upon him the proprietor, H. W. Sallade, will have to double the number of girls he now employs.

The new $30,000 Odd Fellows' Orphanage, near Sunbury, which is to be dedicated on Thursday, June 17, will be dedicated practically free from debt, since the bulk of the cost of erecting the structure and its equipment has been subscribed.

An important meeting of the graveyard committee will be held at the Advent church on Saturday afternoon, June 19, at 2 o'clock, in Boggs township. It is earnestly desired that all members interested be present for the transaction of special business. By order of the committee, E. J. Coufer, Sec'y.

For a woman of seventy-six years, Mrs. Sarah Foreman, of Centre Hall, is one of the best preserved and most active ladies in that community. She celebrated a birthday Monday last week. She is the mother of eleven children, all of whom grew to manhood and womanhood except one son.

Mrs. J. E. Fryberger, of Philipsburg, accompanied by her three children and nurse, left Friday morning for Atlantic City, where she will spend several weeks. Mrs. G. W. McGaffey, mother of Mrs. Fryberger, who has been visiting in Philadelphia, joined them at the latter place and will also spend a while at the sea shore.

The mutilated body of William J. Bottomfield, of Philipsburg, was found Thursday night in the Pennsylvania railroad yards at Harrisburg. Before he was killed he had $100 on his person which could not be found when the body was discovered. It is thought he had been foully dealt with and an investigation will be made. He was about 22 years old.

The Mrs. R. Pierce frame store building on north Front street in Philipsburg, will give way shortly to a handsome new business block. The building will be of the same width as the present structure, but will have a depth of 110 feet. It will be constructed of brick and stone, and be finished in modern style. Mrs. Pierce says that she expects to begin work on the same on or about the first of July.

The speakers engaged for Pennington Memorial services to be held June 23rd, on the site of the first Methodist church in Penna. valley, near Centre Hall, are Rev. J. M. Lantz, Spring Mills, pastor of the Penna. valley Methodist church; and Rev. J. M. Weeks, of Millifield.

Other speakers will be announced as heard from. A general invitation is extended to the public. It will be an all day gathering.

The Philipsburg Ledger says that preparations to celebrate on July 5 are moving along like greased lightning, everybody is working together to help make this celebration the very biggest thing of the kind the town can stand up under, but you can rest assured that the people most interested will not attempt anything that they cannot carry out successfully. Visitors will not be disappointed if they spend the holiday here.

A large automobile driven by Willis Rishel, of Montgomery, frightened the horses of John P. Myers and Charles Smull in the narrow road of Millheim the other evening and caused the wrecking of both rigs. A wheel, dash and shafts were broken for Mr. Myers and the harness and rig of Mr. Smull also suffered. This pike at some places in the narrow is not very wide and on one side there is an embankment of several feet, and the horses in both cases jumped over the embankment causing the damage to the vehicles.

Dr. H. F. Bitner, who has taught in the Millersville Normal school for twenty-three consecutive years, has resigned and will make Centre Hall his future home. The trustees of the Normal school at their last meeting unanimously adopted a series of resolutions commending his conduct, his character, his ability as a scholar and teacher, etc. Recently a large number of the members of the Reformed church at Millersville assembled at the home of David H. Landis, Esq., when a beautiful gold-headed cane was presented to Dr. H. F. Bitner by the members as a token of their love and esteem for him.

The new school board at Millheim has organized for the ensuing year. The following officers were elected: President, J. H. Hoffman; secretary, R. S. Stover; treasurer, Dr. John Hardenberg. Woodling was elected janitor. The president appointed the following committees: Supplies—H. T. Frank and R. S. Stover; fuel—J. C. Hosterman and G. W. Stover; finance—H. T. Frank, R. S. Stover and J. C. Hosterman; building and grounds—G. W. Stover and Dr. John Hardenberg. No teachers were elected at this meeting. The regular meeting of the board will be held on the first Monday night of each month at 7:30 o'clock.

The class in Millheim, no doubt, was the largest examined this year by Superintendent Eiters for teacher's certificate, it numbering 29. Appended are the names: Mildred Acker, Helen Stover, and Nellie Mingle, of Aaronsburg; Lodie Rishel, Rosie Smith, Roy Corman, Gross Shook and Clarence Musser, of Spring Mills; Bessie Mallory and Estelina Brungart, of Rebersburg; Sara Condo, of Penn Hall; Roy Musser, Fred Guisewite and Ammon Mingle, of Woodward; Domer Ishler and William Heckman, of Tusseyville; I. A. Meyer, A. M. and Warren Martin, of Coburn; Boyd Hazel, of Madisonburg; Bruce Arney, of Centre Hall; Helen Keister, Mae Musser, Grace Throssel, Byron Musser, Harry Shires, Dale Musser, Ernest Schreckengast and Katharine Stover, of Millheim.

DUE THE PUBLIC.

Legal Advertisements Must be Placed in Leading Papers.

Our esteemed neighbor, the Altoona Tribune, in a recent issue bewails the methods used by the county officials at Hollidaysburg in not placing public advertisements, intended by law to have the widest publicity possible in the county papers, and that the Altoona papers, which have a far larger circulation than any of the papers in Hollidaysburg, are ignored, and Altoona, the metropolis of the county, being thereby denied the benefits of publicity to be given county affairs—the citizens of that city having a larger population than the balance of Blair county. The reasoning of the Tribune is not at all unfair. Upon investigation the Tribune will find that the courts in a number of counties, upon complaints being made have decided that the "intent" of the law is, public advertisements must be made so as to give the widest publicity in the selection, by the officials, of the newspapers for that purpose. In a number of counties in the eastern part of the state judges have thus construed the law, and the officials were instructed accordingly. The law intends that one of such papers shall be of the minority party, and that the insertions shall be "in not less than two papers." This leaves it entirely in the discretion of the officials to say whether the advertising should go into more than the two, and if they so decide their action is legal. In Clinton county and in this county, former judges have also, upon several occasions, thus interpreted the law, and it is entirely founded upon reason and justice to the public.

After a Fortune.

To locate $25,000 in gold and silver which is cached near Neelytown, in Huntingdon County, Pa. C. B. Ayres, a Salt Lake City mining man, will leave that city in a short time for his former home in the vicinity of Huntingdon to make an extensive search for the forgotten treasure. The money was hidden under a rock in a secluded spot in the backwoods along a stream 65 years ago and Mr. Ayres now believes that a recollection which came to him a short time ago will enable him to find the place.

The money was placed in the ground by T. H. Ayres, father of the Utah man, who, being skeptical of banks chose the earth as a depository. He was suddenly stricken by paralysis and died without being able to reveal the hiding place of the coin. A search was begun by the members of the family, but this was fruitless. In a letter received from the home of his childhood a few days ago Mr. Ayres recalled some of the incidents connected with the hiding of this vast sum, and he feels assured that he can find the spot where the money was hidden.

Mr. Ayres remembers being led as a child to a rock beside a stream and remembers having seen his father at work about the rock. He believes his father was burying the money at these times, and that he can find the rock and dig up the money. Mr. Ayres is 72 years old.

As this story comes from a Huntingdon county source, we are inclined to take it with a grain of salt, as there is a fertile brain over there that regularly injects something of this order on the reading public every few weeks of the year. While we enjoy them we are at liberty to believe only as much as we like.

John Robinson's Shows.

Have grown to such magnitude as to necessitate enlargement in every department. And this famous amusement institution is proud of its record.

It has taken many years and several fortunes to place this department on such a lavish magnitude, to tickle the fancy and satisfy the mind of the grand street display from which no revenue is derived—only the gratification to please both young and old children—remember that what follows in the big canvas is more meritorious. In the main tent many new features will surprise and delight the beholder.

Every act in the monster program is a revelation to the people. The finest specimens of horse flesh in the world, the highest aerialists in the circus profession, all the champion riders, both male and female. The finest specimens of the cutest ponies in the world. The grandest specialties ever produced. The funniest clowns on earth are with the John Robinson Shows. The big shows will exhibit at Bellefonte, Wednesday, June 23.

Two Ways of Doing

In days ago, a builder dealt with a dozen different supply houses. He bought his brick and stone here, lumber there, glass elsewhere, and nails and bolts round the corner.

A building that didn't "jibe" was the usual result, but no one person could be blamed for it or held responsible.

In THESE days Mr. Builder does it differently. He makes his plans, orders everything from one complete supply house, and when the material comes, IT SUITS.

And you are here now, today, with the B. L. Co.—not yesterday with the dozen.

Rockefeller Tells How To Grow Rich

HEALTHY ADVICE TO YOUNG MEN.

The first $50 John D. Rockefeller was able to save out of his wages as a farm hand he loaned to a neighboring farmer up in New York state at 7 per cent.

And to this day Mr. Rockefeller, who is now the richest man in the world, declares that the $3.50 which that $50 earned for him during the first year of the loan was the real foundation of his present fortune.

"It made me realize that it was not enough to work for money; that you must make money work for you," he says. "Seven per cent. was not such a high rate of interest then, and $3.50 is not so very much money; but it was enough to impress upon me the importance of making money multiply itself.

"When I thought about the fact that I had added something to my store of wealth without turning over my hand, that I had grown richer without working I saw at once the necessity of adopting the aid to success. Of course hard work is the basis of all success, and saving is the corner stone of all wealth; but a man may be industrious and save, yet, if he does not know how to make his savings work for him, he will not reap the full reward of his labors.

"Young men do not take this into consideration as they should. And young men do not realize the importance of saving something out of every dollar they make. It is not what a man makes, but what he saves, that counts in the end. This country is full of men getting good wages and fair salaries who will never be worth much money, because they have not learned how to save."

After reading the above the Bellefonte Trust Company invites you to investigate their savings fund department, where small deposits are received and interest is regularly paid thereon.
