EDITORIAL.

THE general assembly of the Presbyterian church declared at Denver the other day that clergymen and laymen should not use tobacco.

SPECIAL FEATURES.

This week ex-President Roosevelt writes very entertainingly about "Hunting Deer on Horseback" which is a method quite different from that pursued by our local hunters.

It would be a mistake for us not to refer to Pastor Russell's sermon in this issue, on Page 2. He has chosen for his theme "Awake, O Sleeper," and deals with it in a practical way that will appeal to all interested in gospel truths.

AARONSBURG.

Mrs. Gutelius, of Mifflinburg, accompanied by Chas. Adams and sister Maud and her husband, of Philadelphia, came up through the Narrows on an auto to this, their former place of residence.

Mrs. Miriam Keister Colden has gone to spend some time with her husband at Centre Hall.

Lisle and Mildred Acker, Bessie Stover and Martha Cole, of State College, have come to spend their vacation with their parents here.

Prof. J. M. Kahl was called to Mackeyville to teach the band for a week.

A reunion—the first class in singing, taught by Prof. J. M. Kahl, was taught thirty years ago, at Livonia.

John Musser, one of its members, who left for the west some twenty years ago, and finally located in Kansas, being a hustler and of a jovial disposition, he acquired considerable of this world's goods, and after visiting Washington, D. C., Mount Vernon and other places of note, came to Livonia, his old home.

Having a strong desire to see the teacher and members of the old singing class, he started the ball a-rolling to have a reunion of the old class, which took place last Sunday afternoon, at the home of George B. Stover, known in earlier years as Stover's hotel.

All of its members were present, excepting two, who have gone to their eternal reward. A very pleasant time was spent in singing some of the old songs. Something seemed remarkable to the writer and others, for in a certain piece we were accustomed to "hum" the repeat after singing the third verse, and here is the astonishing part of it; after the singing of the third verse they hummed the repeat as natural as though they had rehearsed just last week, without anyone saying a word about it.

WEDDINGS.

BEZKEE—BOOR.

A wedding in which Bellefonte will be interested was that of Edward C. Bezke, of Phillipsburg, but well known in this place, and Miss Mary E. Boor, of Altoona. They were married at St. Mark's rectory in the latter city at eight o'clock on Wednesday evening of last week.

After a honeymoon spent in New York, Boston and other points in the east they will take up their residence at Phillipsburg.

STEELE—FORCEY.

Frank Steele, of Bellefonte, got off on his friends good and proper during the last week. He is not telling all he knows, was demonstrated Wednesday evening of last week when he was married to Miss Katherine Forcey, of Woodland, Clearfield county.

The beautiful ring ceremony was used, after which delightful refreshments were served. The bride was attended by her sister Luella A. Shook, as maid of honor; and H. R. Callahan, of Lock Haven, was the best man.

SHOPE—SHOOK.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Sarah J. Shook, south Allegheny street, Bellefonte, on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, when her daughter, Miss Grace Eleanor, was given in marriage to William F. Shope.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. David Harshinger, pastor of the United Brethren church, in the presence of the members of the immediate families of the contracting parties.

The beautiful ring ceremony was used, after which delightful refreshments were served. The bride was attended by her sister Luella A. Shook, as maid of honor; and H. R. Callahan, of Lock Haven, was the best man.

BITNER—CLARK.

At 6.30 o'clock Wednesday evening June 16, Miss Violet Ruth Clark and Lee Irwin Bitner were married. The wedding was solemnized at the beautiful country homestead of the Clark family on Marsh Creek, about two miles above Blanchard, now the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Irvin Clark parents of the bride.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Crow, of Hublersburg, a Reformed minister, and took place on a platform slightly elevated on the lawn beneath the overhanging branches of old familiar apple trees.

Over the bridal party were three arches of evergreen and blooming laurel. The wedding party came from the house to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Mae Harter, of Blanchard, on the piano at an open window, and the procession moved over a path of carpet to the altar in presence of a hundred invited guests.

Maid of honor was Miss Nora Clark, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids were Miss Nellie Kunes, of Johnsonburg, and Miss Nora Smith, of Lamar. The best man was Charles A. Bitner, of Lock Haven, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Clyde Bitner, of Lock Haven, brother of the groom, and Charles B. Clark, of Alexandria, La., brother of the bride.

She wore a beautiful gown of white satin empire, and the maid of honor and maids wore white batiste. All carried bouquets of white carnations. The color scheme of the wedding was green and white.

After the ceremony, delicious refreshments were served on the lawn where the guests were seated. The happy young couple left by carriage for Lock Haven where they took a train for Buffalo and Niagara Falls. They will take up their residence in Lock Haven.

SHAW—HOSTERMAN.

A pretty wedding was solemnized in the Reformed church, at Centre Hall, on Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, when Miss Helen Hosterman became the bride of Charles F. Shaw, of Rochester, N. Y., a graduate of Cornell University, but now a professor at Pennsylvania State College.

The temple of worship was beautifully decorated with roses, ferns and evergreen. The music was furnished by Christy Smith's orchestra, Bellefonte. First came the bridesmaids and ushers, then the maid of honor, then the flower girls and lastly the bride leaning on the arm of her father, Dr. G. F. Hosterman, who gave her away. They were met at the altar by the groom, and with the beautiful ring ceremony, they were united in marriage by Rev. Daniel Gress, pastor of the church.

The best man was Orrin T. Lee, of Maine. The ushers were Milton Pratt Jones, of Ithaca, N. Y.; Lowell Gable, of Wye-brooke, Chester county, Pa.; John Baron, of Ithaca, N. Y.; and Sumner V. Hosterman, of Lancaster. The maid of honor was Miss Mary Shaw, a sister of the groom, from Rochester, N. Y. The bridesmaids were Miss Estie Ocker, of Lewisburg; Miss Kathryn Keller, of Ingram, Pa.; Miss Sarah Allshouse, of Greensburg; Miss Emma Shaw, of Rochester, N. Y. The flower girls were Misses Carrie Mitterling, and Wilma Shutt, of Centre Hall.

The bride was attractively attired in a costume of white batiste over silk, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The bridesmaids were becomingly attired in white. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of Dr. Hosterman at which about one hundred and fifty guests were present.

Sunday morning the bride and groom left on their wedding tour followed by the best wishes of a host of friends. The bride is the only daughter of Dr. Hosterman, and for several years taught school at Centre Hall.

QUICK—DAVIS.

At the parsonage of the Fairview Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. H. J. Schuchart performed the ceremony that made Daisy Davis the bride of William R. Quick. The groom is a prominent contractor in Snow Shoe and the bride is one of the finest young ladies of that town.

On their return from a week's wedding tour they will find their newly erected home ready for occupancy and will at once go to housekeeping.
