For wheat the government's estimate was so much better than expected that prices fell sharply after its publication. Instead of a crop of less than 400,000,000 bushels of winter wheat for 1909, until yesterday the general estimate, the government made the crop "at harvest" 432,920,000 bushels, which is nearly equal to the crop harvested last year. For spring wheat the promise was also improved, so that the outlook now is for a wheat yield in excess of 700,000 .-000 bushels, as against 664,602,000 in 1908

IT IS GROWING.

State College expects to open up its fall term with no less than fourteen hundred students. State is fast nearing the pinnacle of famous colleges in the United States, and will reach it too, at the pace of its progress within late years. There are few parts of the civilized world that do not have a representation at State. Its equipment in every line is so extensive and under the educational guidance of so eminent corps of instructors as to give it a standing among the first rank of the educational institutions.

In its outstart State had its cloudy weather, and its ups were not as encouraging as its downs were gloomy. and its friends oft felt that their fond wishes for the success of the institution might not be realized. But at length the skies gradually began to brighten. Clouds began to dispel and State's springtime of new life set in and with it hope.

The influx of students required enlargements all around and the faculty needed enlargement and its equip- collections ment added to until now it is one of the celebrated colleges of the country. and its strides continue onward and upward.

Nearly every state in the union, as well as the Federal Government, has realized the need, as well as the wisdom, of enacting PURE FOOD LAWS for the protection of the General Health of the public. In these days of ingenuity in all lines of manufacture, the processes for imitating the GENUINE, by placing inferior goods on the market, no where has been more widely practiced than in the general line of groceries and Food Products.

Inferior adulterations of all kinds abound. They are, to all appearance, pure and nourishing, but invariably are injurious, and in some cases fatal.

For many years the firm of SECHLER & CO., BELLE-FONTE, has been a by-word and a God-send to the housewife for the reason that the name alone always was a guarantee of purity and quality in anything that came from this famous store.

The long experience in this one line enables SECHLER & CO. to buy intelligently and sell reliable groceries to those who appreciate the fact that PURE GROCERIES are the CHEAP-EST FOOD, and an assurance of good health to the consumer.

What you buy from SECHLER & CO. is always right and the price consistent every day of the week, and every week of the year.
