

BELLEFONTE AND VICINITY

—On Sunday Col. W. R. Teller left Bellefonte for Havana, Cuba, after spending about ten days with his many friends in this place. He is a remarkably well preserved man and attributes his excellent health to his life in the tropics.

—A report is out to the effect that James Newcomer, of Bellefonte, is negotiating for the purchasing of the hotel at Pleasant Gap. Mr. Newcomer was formerly the proprietor of the Haag House and made a most excellent landlord.

—The pictures this week at the opera house will be the finest we have ever shown and with Christy Smith's orchestra you ought to have an evening of rare pleasure, and all for 5c. Vogel's Minstrels are the road and you want to keep your eyes open as they will be here Tuesday of the Fair.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Rishel, of New York City, and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Rishel, of Montgomery, Pa., came by auto from the latter place and were in Bellefonte over Sunday. Years ago the former, John Rishel, was a clerk in the Harris drug store, now Krumrine's Pharmacy. He is now engaged in a manufacturing concern in that city and is prospering. Willis Rishel is the proprietor of the leading hotel at Montgomery, Pa. The young men are natives of Potter Twp. and visited the old homestead near the "Stone Mill," on this trip.

—On Saturday afternoon F. E. Naglney went up Bishop street to attend the Crider sale and left his Ford car on the outside. In his absence some curious boy got on the seat and began manipulating the levers. Finally one released the brake lever and the car started down the steep grade. Mr. Teager saw the danger and caught the steering wheel in time to run it to the sidewalk where it plunged against a porch, doing some damage to the front fenders. This is a timely warning for automobilists to drive all children away from their cars in order to avoid more serious accidents.

—In another column will be found the advertisement of Katz & Co., the progressive merchants of Bellefonte. On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week this firm will have their annual millinery opening which is always a pleasure for our people to attend, even if they do not care to make a purchase. One of the attractive features will be music by Christy Smith's orchestra. The store will be beautifully decorated which will render the place quite inviting. The milliner is Miss Emma Magarzee, of Philadelphia, who is an artistic trimmer, who thoroughly understands the latest New York fashions. Give her a trial which is the best method of testing her ability to please; everybody is cordially invited to the opening.

—Lawrence P. Monahan, Esq., and his wife, of Pittsburg, arrived in Bellefonte, on Saturday afternoon and spent Sunday as the guest of T. S. Strawn and wife. Shortly after their arrival Mr. and Mrs. Strawn, with their guests, left on a little automobile run. They went to State College and from there to Penn Cave. Then to Rebersburg and around by the old fishing creek haunts, on Fishing Creek, coming home by way of Lamar, Hublersburg and Zion. Mr. Monahan is a partner of Judge Marshall Brown, one of the most influential lawyers in the Smoky City, thus this firm has a very creditable standing among business interests at that thriving city. Both Mr. and Mrs. Monahan are pleasant people and while here made a number of friends.

Armstrong, in Bellefonte and at the home of Mrs. Armstrong's brother, Jerry Gill, at Pleasant Gap. While here they will also visit many other relatives and friends, and expect to remain until after the Centre County Fair.

—James Cheeseman, son of Roland C. Cheeseman, of Washington, D. C., was a visitor in Bellefonte on Wednesday. He looks well and is just about the same "Jimmy" as when he resided in Bellefonte years ago. He is not very tall but he is otherwise quite stout. His mother is now in Howard but will soon come to Bellefonte to spend several weeks.

—The Ladies Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. will give their first reception to the public on Thursday night, Sept. 30, at 7:30 o'clock. Refreshments, games, speeches and music will be the program. The building will be fully decorated and everything is being done to make it a grand success. Every man, woman, boy and girl in Bellefonte is invited. The Y. M. C. A. is now one of the most attractive places in the town for young men to go to and spend a pleasant time.

—Arrangements are now being made to repair the interior of Blair's jewelry store. A steel ceiling and a new floor will be some of the improvements. What would give that corner a dandy appearance would be a corner entrance with a large plate glass window on the northwest side. It would not only improve the attractiveness of the room but it would give the hotel a better appearance. The money that it would take to make the change would be well spent.

—Charles Saylor, of Bellefonte, has gone into the corn crisp business, and is working night and day to get a stock for the Lewisburg fair next week. He has also made arrangements with the Gable Brothers, of Altoona, to make and sell the crisp at their large department store. He is a hustler and some day Charles may drop around on Easy street. He is making the crisp good and palatable so it will be in great demand. He is hunting for those who have a sweet tooth in their head.

—Russell Blair, of Bellefonte, has been looking around for a house or a flat. We are not authorized to state the purpose of this house hunt, but if you read closely between the lines it ought not to be a difficult task to come to a right conclusion. A young man of this turn of mind must surely have a matrimonial intent. In this case the bride-to-be is Miss Helen Biddle, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. George P. Biddle, of Philadelphia, her father at one time being one of the publishers of the Centre Democrat.

—Master Jack and Miss Eliza Blackburn, who spent the summer at the home of their uncle, Col. J. L. Spangler, in Bellefonte, left for their home in Philadelphia on Thursday.

—Mrs. Louisa Wasson, widow of Samuel Wasson, of near Lemont, is now in her 84th year. Nevertheless the other day she did a large washing in the forenoon and in the afternoon took a pleasant little walk of about two miles, all the way to David Tressler's house at Houserville, and after finishing her call walked back again. Who will say that pedestrianism is a thing of the past?

—Special services will be held next Sunday, September 26th, in the Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. S. Wilcox, pastor. It is to be "A Grand Rally Day" in every department of the church. Rev. Fletcher W. Biddle, pastor of the Bedford Methodist Episcopal church, is to be the preacher of the day. At 10 a. m.—preaching by Rev. Fletcher W. —Senator Olliver's visit to Bellefonte and Grange Park, last week was a severe chill for a certain foreign element in town. They felt it, too—and everybody noticed it as well.

—The section of High street, from the diamond down, oiled some six weeks ago, has verified all that is claimed for it—the dust nuisance abated, almost clear of mud, and nice smooth surface all the while. Extend the oil treatment to other streets, it will be well worth all the cost, and improve the driveway.

—On Sunday evening Rev. Barshinger, pastor of the Bellefonte U. B. church, preached his farewell sermon and on Tuesday left for conference. He expects to be changed. The same is true of Rev. N. S. Bally who is a member of the same conference, and who has been preaching at Valley View, Houserville and Julian.

—Mr. Abs. Vore, of Bucyrus, Ohio, who visited here in his native Pennsylvania the past few weeks, returned by train from here on Saturday noon, last. He had the good fortune to meet twenty-three cousins, the last one being L. M. Musser, of Bellefonte, who happened to be at the curb market on that morning, and also met two aunts and an uncle, during his visit.

—On Friday evening Mrs. Tamazine Lane and Mrs. Harry E. Fenlon gave a fancy dress party at the Bush House which was pronounced to be one of the most stylish affairs given in Bellefonte for some time. There were a large number of ladies and gentlemen present, the former being attired in costly and beautiful gowns, which added brilliancy and lustre to the scene. It was the revival of the fascinating social events that took place in this popular hostelry years ago.

—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas K. Morris, with Thomas K. Jr., left on Monday afternoon for their home in Pittsburg, where they will spend the winter. Mrs. Morris and her son have been in Bellefonte the greater part of the summer as guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Gray Meek. Tommy, Jr. would rather live in Bellefonte than in the Smoky City. He can get out and breathe the fresh air in Bellefonte, but that's hard to do in the thriving metropolis.

—W. H. Macker, the green groceryman is having his own time trying to conquer that prancing bronco which he recently purchased at bronco sale. The indications are that the only thing that will provide for the future of Macker's family is a good life insurance. The animal has tried to get away on several occasions, thereby causing the driver considerable uneasiness. On Monday afternoon Mr. Macker was coming up High street when the bronco became a little too frisky. The animal started to run and Mr. Macker quickly turned him off High street, when his conveyance collided with the buggy of Irish House, which was standing on the corner. All the spokes in one wheel of the conveyance were broken out and the axle bent. The shaft on the Macker wagon was also broken and other damage done.

—On Tuesday morning a blast was set off in the rear of the court house that sent small stones into the air, some of which fell on the roof of Dr. Locke's house, on Allegheny street, almost a square away from the court house. Other spawls were picked up on the diamond. A fairly large stone was forced through the cornice on the rear of the court house.

—Emanuel Noll, baggage master at the P. R. R., passenger station, Bellefonte, scored a point recently. Some time ago C. E. Fleck, a traveling salesman, came for his baggage when he was charged storage because it hadn't been taken away within the required limit. Fleck had a woman in his baggage room it was closed, also that he had been over charged. He took the case before the State Railroad Commission which met in Harrisburg last week and after hearing it the Commission decided that it was Fleck's place to be present to take his baggage away when the station was open.

—The Renovo base ball club, which with the Bellefonte base ball club, belonged to the Central Pennsylvania League, has about $500 of a surplus to be divided among nineteen players. Renovo is to be congratulated upon being the only club in Central Pennsylvania league that can show such a splendid financial finish at the close of the season. While there were other clubs in the league that were making a great deal of money, the management of those clubs in some cases allowed outside influences to control and they ran the clubs into debt so badly that it was necessary to make an assessment in order to pay the floating debts and the players got nothing.

—John Brian, who has been residing here for years, acting in the capacity of mail carrier for the Buffalo Run Railroad Co., and who delivered registered letters from the postoffice, has decided to leave Bellefonte and go and live with his daughter, who resides near Greensburg. His daughter will be remembered to Miss May Brian, who was connected with the Salvation Army here. She married well and is now going to keep one of God's greatest commandments, that of remembering her parent in the days when he needs it. Mr. Brian is an old soldier and is deserving of the commendation which has been provided for him. His friends will miss that gravity automobile that he has been riding down High street for the last two years at such breakneck speed.
