

FRANCIS SPEER'S Breezy "That" Column

That the prettier a Bellefonte girl is the more often she wants to be told about it. That there is a self-made man in Bellefonte who had mighty poor material to begin with. That in the matter of slinging some voices in Bellefonte will fill a room while others will empty it. That you don't need to expect any woman in Bellefonte to take any kind of a hint unless it is a fashion hint. That Don. Potter, of Bellefonte, says that the early bird may catch the worm but the late one gets the snakes. That an ideal mother in Bellefonte is one who pays more attention to her children than she does to the card table. That the young man in Bellefonte who drifts with the tide is apt to borrow trouble when he starts to float alone. That the people in Centre county like to be taken for what they are worth, except when the tax assessor visits them. That Jake Knisely, the Bellefonte blacksmith, says that when it is as broad as it's long, it must be about the right thing. That Dr. Joe Brockerhoff, of Bellefonte, ought to get married because he really has more money than he knows what to do with. That it is much better for a young man in Bellefonte to make a few mistakes than to sit with his finger in his mouth and do nothing at all. That by the face of a wife in Bellefonte you can always tell what her husband is, and the shirt of the husband shows what the wife is. That many a good wife in Bellefonte after remedying a smoky stove or a smoking lamp, has been compelled to put up with a smoking husband. That the Bellefonte Academy has some bang-up mathematicians but where is the fellow who can take one from nineteen and have twenty. That J. C. Wan, the Bellefonte harness dealer, is handling lead now but if he gets to handling too much of it he knows what would happen. That it will not be long until Bert Taylor and Snyder Tate, the Bellefonte ice dealers, will be put out of business until summer comes again. That C. D. Casebeer, the Bellefonte jeweler, just received a patent alarm clock which surpasses anything in the market for effectiveness. The only man whom it can't arouse is a dead man. That John Harper, of Bellefonte, asked his father the other day what the left side of a plumb pudding was. "The part that is not eaten" was the reply. That one of the pleasant things in Bellefonte wedded life is to see women gadding on the street when their friends know they ought to be in their homes. That somebody asked why dentist H. W. Tate, of Bellefonte, would make a politician equal to that of the Gang in Philadelphia. Because he has a good pull. That birds of a feather flock together. So do certain women in Bellefonte who characterize women a little shabby. Many of them have been high flyers in their time. That Rev. Fred Barry, pastor of the Bellefonte Lutheran church, says it might look all right to travel in the beaten path, but the straight and narrow path can't be beaten. That "If the shoe fits wear it, is a timeworn saying; but Henry Kline, the Bellefonte shoe dealer, says that with some women if the shoe fits she takes it back because it's too big. That J. Miller Godhart, of near Spring Mills, who is one of the progressive farmers in that end of the valley, says that the farmer who sets in good, straight fence also sets a good example. That they say a man went into a certain cigar store in Bellefonte and in an indignant manner exclaimed: "This slot machine won't work for a cent." "Of course not," replied Harry "Try a nickel." That the man or woman in Bellefonte who are all the time jumping at conclusions at what they see in the "That Column" should equip themselves with a holding-back strap before they commence to read it. That a certain woman in Bellefonte has gotten in the habit of bawling her husband around as if he was nothing but an Italian or Hungarian. If this is her nature and she can't help it she should have sense enough to not be so boisterous as to let the entire neighborhood know what is going on in the family. That Bellefonte has two or three kickers who never are satisfied with anything, and if they were to get to Heaven they would kick because there wasn't more gold on the streets and in their crowns. Haven't these people discovered that the only kicker who accomplishes anything these days is the mule. That the other day we received an inquiry asking the difference between a gardener, a billiard player, a gentleman and a sexton. Well, there is Al. Dale, who always minds his peas. Then there is Thomas Shaughnessy the billiard player, who minds his cues. John Lane, the gentleman, generally minds his peas and cues, and Thomas Donachy, the sexton at the Methodist church, minds his keys and pews. That death is about the only thing that will stop certain fellows in Bellefonte from piling up money from the misfortunes of others. The biggest thief in the town is the culprit who hangs around waiting for the sheriff to sell someone out so that he can profit by his fellows' adversity. He is an undesirable citizen no matter how much money he has in the bank or in real estate. Because such a man pays for a front church pew in a church ought not to save him from the wrath and indignation of the better class of people; such men will never get their just dues until they pass in their checks to old St. Peter.

OVER THE COUNTY.

H. C. Robinson, has moved from Centre Hall to Milesburg where he will operate for some time. Mrs. Walter Moore, of Sandy Ridge, has been confined to her bed for over a month. Blood poison is the cause of her illness. Her many friends hope she may recover. Hon. Martin Bell, president Judge of Blair county, who is well known in Bellefonte, has been seriously ill at his home in Hollidaysburg. Judge Shull, of Perry county, is holding court for him this week. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Walkey, of Altoona, Pa., are guests of their sister, Mrs. Mary Clevenstine, of Hubersburg. Mr. Walkey formerly lived in Bellefonte and was glad to meet so many of his old friends, he is looking well. Harry Hartman, of Millheim, received from his brother, Frank, of Sparrows Point, Md., a hen and rooster of a new variety of fowls. They are large in size and are called "rubber necks" on account of having no feathers on their necks. All citizens of Baileyville are requested to meet at the Baileyville schoolhouse this Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock, to further the project of erecting a memorial tablet to Company E, Forty-fifth regiment, P. V. Good music will enliven the occasion. Miss Annie Frantz, of Sandy Ridge, is lying dangerously ill at the home of her parents. She has been ailing for more than a year and has consulted with several different doctors but received only temporary relief. She is now confined to her bed and seems to be gradually growing worse. Howard Dutton, of State College, lost a colt which died from fright as the result of being shod. The animal was a year old and had to be placed in stocks at the blacksmith shop. Perspiration poured from the little horse and after it killed it was done it dropped to the ground and died in a short time. Recently Fred Stover, farmer of Haines township, lost a valuable horse through a peculiar accident. The horse had been left out of the stable to go to water; in returning it began to run and reared, and in doing so broke one of its hind legs. The animal was killed at once to end its suffering. Ralph Bellman, son of Mrs. Sarah Bellman, of Millheim, accompanied Clyde W. Rockey, of Berrien Springs, Mich., in a 9000 miles trip by water, leaving that place on Friday, and ending the cruise in April of next year. The party will consist of four persons. Bellman goes in the capacity of cook. A few nights ago the two horses belonging to Merchant C. E. Finkle, of Spring Mills, broke the stall partition down, and finally got to kicking each other. The result was one of the horses broke the leg of the other, obliging its owner to have it killed. It was considerable of a loss to the merchant. About the first of the year, Lyman L. Smith will retire from the firm of Foreman & Smith, doing business at Centre Hall. Mr. Smith will be a wholesale shipper of grain, hay and produce. His successor will be ex-Sheriff Cyrus Brungart, who with Mr. Foreman will continue conducting the grain and coal business. Centre county horsemen and farmers are intensely interested in the horse show which will open Saturday at State College, under the auspices of the department of animal husbandry of the college. This year's exhibition will be by far the largest held by the department. Provision is made for all classes of horses. Allison's flouring mills, at Spring Mills, which were undergoing repairs, are about ready to begin the manufacture of flour with the new machinery installed. It is now one of the best in the State. Mrs. N. B. Shaffer, of near Centre Hall, who had been at the Bellefonte Hospital for a number of weeks, is back to her home again, and is able to be about the house, and is recovering strength gradually. Justice of the Peace W. S. Williams and wife, with their two children, of Martha, expect to leave the latter part of the month for St. Cloud, Florida, where they will spend the winter. A number of other persons in the county also contemplate a similar trip during November, among them being W. H. Musser, of Bellefonte, W. A. Hartsock, of Martha, G. M. Marks and George Faunsler, of Port Matilda. Harry McCracken, one of the most widely known farmers, of Centre county, met with a bad accident on Wednesday night of last week at his home in the Glades, near Pine Grove Mills. While ascending the stairs on his way to bed he lost his balance and fell to the bottom, sustaining a compound fracture of the hip. Mr. McCracken is well up in years, but blessed with a rugged constitution which assures recovery from the effects of the fall. A district Sunday-school convention will be held in the Egg Hill Evangelical church on Friday afternoon and evening, October 22. The district covers the territory of Gregg and Potter townships and Centre Hall borough. All schools are entitled to send delegates. In the afternoon addresses will be made by Rev. H. A. Snook, Rev. W. H. Schuyler, George T. Goodhart, and Rev. S. A. Snyder. Mrs. H. W. Kreamer will favor the convention with a select reading. In the evening Rev. J. McKendrick Riley will make an address. There will be the usual number of changes of tenants on farms next spring. Among those already announced are these: William F. Colyer, of Centre Hall, will begin farming on the Colyer farm, east of Old Port. Maynard Meeker, present tenant on that farm will succeed Marcellus Sankey on the Sankey farm, near Potters Mills. Mr. Sankey will move to his wife's farm, near Millheim. Irvin Burris will go from the William Silver farm, near Potters Mills, to the Grenoble farm, near Spring Mills.

THE FORTY-NINTH.

The survivors of the Forty-ninth regiment Pennsylvania volunteers to the number of seventy-five met in Harrisburg on Thursday. Among those present were W. H. Taylor and Charles Eckenroth, of Bellefonte. This veteran society has a membership of 250, and at this meeting twenty-nine states were represented, the member coming the longest distance was John M. Rupp, of Pocatello, Idaho, O. E. Rumberger, of Warriors Mark, president. "Secretary R. S. Westbrook has kept a complete record of the regiment, which the survivors appreciate very much. The organization was part of the Third brigade (Russell's) First division (Wright's) Sixth corps (Sedgewick's). There were 203 killed and mortally wounded, and the total wounded was 403; 171 died from disease and accidents in prison; prisoners not included in above, 23. The companies were recruited in Millin, Centre, Chester, Huntingdon, Juniata and Snyder counties.

Bird Fines May be $2290.

W. P. Harper, of Pittsburg, fell into the hands of a game warden as he was about to board a train at Pittsburg, where he intended to go with a suitcase full of game birds, with which he was caught red-handed. Harper, who had been shadowed for some time, claims to be doing business for a Smoky City commission house, and admitted that he had been carrying on this business for some time, and last year he had marketed over 1000 birds procured here. The suitcase contained 14 grouse, procured out of season; 22 woodcock and 2 ducks. While the two latter varieties are in season, he is liable to a fine of $25 apiece for purchasing these birds and a fine of $10 each for having the grouse in his possession out of season, a total of $1040.

Shortly after his arrest Harper went with the warden to the home of Magistrate Kerr, where he made affidavit naming Samuel Reynolds, J. A. Foley and Charles McCarthy as the persons from whom he procured the birds. They may be liable to fines aggregating $1250 for killing game out of season and selling it.

Shooting Accident.

Wilson Fisher, a 16-year-old Snyder county boy, was committed to jail at Millintown on Tuesday for shooting and killing Ira Benner in Juniata county, near Richfield on the 30th of August last, having as he claims mistaken Benner for a ground hog. Fisher will likely be tried for manslaughter at the December term of court.

BLOCKADED.

Every Household in Bellefonte Should Know How to Resist It. The back aches because the kidneys are blocked. Help the kidneys with their work. The back will ache no more. Lots of proof that Doan's Kidney Pills do this. It's the best proof, for it comes from Bellefonte. William McClellan, 244 E. Lamb St., Bellefonte, Pa., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as a very reliable kidney remedy. I suffered for a long time from a lame back and pains across my loins. My back was so stiff and lame in the morning that I was hardly able to get out of bed and I was also bothered by my kidneys, the secretions being irregular in passage. I heard so much about Doan's Kidney Pills that I concluded to give them a trial and I procured a box at Green's Pharmacy. They cured me and I have not had any pains in my loins or kidneys since. I feel so much better in every way that I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other sufferers."

FLAGS FAST TRAIN.

Young Lad Ambitious to Pose as a Hero. Desiring to pose as a hero, 17-year-old John Kretzinger, of Duncannon, the other night flagged Pennsylvania Railroad train No. 29, known as the eighteen-hour special between New York and Chicago, at a lonely point between Duncannon and Aqueduct, and then told of how he had risked his life to prevent a wreck. Kretzinger said that while walking along the railroad he was held up by two men and compelled to pile stones on the track. One of his assailants, the boy said, was a man about six feet tall, who weighed about 172 pounds and had two revolvers. This man asserted Kretzinger, was joined by a short, stout man in dark clothes, who also had two revolvers. The would-be hero's story of how he had made his escape, when he heard the train coming, seized a brand from a fire, and while bullets flew all around him, ran down the track was a thrilling one. Kretzinger said that he was glad he was brave enough to defy the wreckers' as by so doing he had saved the people on the train. Captain G. C. Port, of the Pennsylvania Railroad police accompanied by his force of men, hurried to the scene and immediately began questioning Kretzinger, who broke down and confessed that he had been faking. The young man, it is believed, had his head turned by reading trashy stories of alleged daring exploits. He was taken to the New Bloomfield jail pending an investigation.

The Eel Dam. The eel dam has become one of the most paying industries along the banks of the Juniata river in the section of Lewistown. A few years since an occasional river bottom farmer would throw up a loose fish dam during the idle hours of the summer evening, but if he captured a wash tub full of eels on any one night he immediately became the champion fisherman of the season, and the neighbors gathered in to assist in the skinning and cleaning process. This generally took several days and they skinned them just fast enough to provide meat for the table. Now every quarter of a mile of the river is marked by the latest improved fish baskets, inspected weekly by the fish wardens, and tons of the writhing, squirming, slimy delicacies are taken from the river and placed on the market nightly at two pounds for 25 cents. The Pennington camp, known as Camp Cripple, in the Lewistown Narrows is probably the most successful of the lot. Recently their catch numbered 1,752, or almost two tons of eels.

Diphtheria at Petersburg. The town of Petersburg, in Huntingdon county, with about five hundred inhabitants, has been having a scourge of diphtheria, there being nearly a score of cases of the disease. Rev. A. D. Potts, pastor of the Lutheran church, who was formerly from Centre Hall, is among those afflicted. Nearly all the residents have been treated with anti-toxin by John Keckhline, formerly of Bellefonte, is one of the physicians who have been assisting in the battle against this disease that is so hard to conquer. He did good work. All the new fall shoes in lace and blucher at a big reduction. At Yeagers.

A Gun Must be Shot Every Minute. One of our mammoth guns must be shot every minute to supply the call for Puffed Wheat and Puffed Rice. For, last month, these foods were served for seventeen million meals. We ask you tomorrow to surprise your folks, and have one of them served on your table. When you see these crisp, gigantic grains, you'll not wonder that people like them. Unbroken grains, puffed to eight times natural size—made four times as porous as bread. Grains with every starch granule exploded, so the digestive juices act instantly. Foods that are good—and good for you. Foods that the children like. You are missing more than you know while you cling to foods not nearly so enticing as these. Puffed Wheat—10c Puffed Rice—15c. These are the foods invented by Prof. Anderson, and this is his curious process: The whole wheat or rice kernels are put into sealed guns. Then the guns are revolved for sixty minutes in a heat of 550 degrees. That fierce heat turns the moisture in the grain to steam, and the pressure becomes tremendous. Made only by The Quaker Oats Company.
