Death's Relentless Hand Has fallen heavily in our midst again On Wednesday morning, 13th. Walter Wensel gave up his hard fight and passed over to the beyond. His death occurred at Yarnell where he has made his home with an aunt, and from there he was buried on Friday and interment made at the ceme-tery near the Messiah church in Boggs twp. Walter was just coming into manhood and was the oldest of a family of nine children born to Mrs. Wensel Baney, and the sixth one who has passed away. The three remaining are a sister, Agatha, and two young brothers, Arthur and Gregg, who live with their mother here. John Edman was not a citizen of our town, but has been here much of his time in late years as a guest in the home of his only daughter, Mrs. C. C. Lucas. His health has been frail for many months, and on Friday morning last he peacefully passed away. He was born near New Berlin, Union Co., Nov. 12, 1834, and has lived most of his life in Central Penna, though several years were spent in Chicago with his sons who reside there, he having been a widower for many years. Five children outlive him, Joseph, H. A., William B., and James, all of Chicago; and Floretta M., wife of C. C. Lucas, at Howard. Early in life Mr. Edman became a member of the Lutheran church, and has lived the life of a consistent, sincere christian. Interment was made in the cemetery at Curtin, on Monday.

Installation of Officers Our local lodge of L O. O. F. made pleasant function of the installation f their newly elected officers last Wednesday night. The ceremonies were ably conducted by District Deputy George S. Graham and his officers, State College, and at their conclusion a handsome collation was served by caterer Charles Lucas. The officers installed were: N. G.—J. T. Leathers; R. S.—John Baney; L. S.—Charles Yearick; V. G.—A. D. Gladhill; R. S.—Balser Weber; L. S.—Charles Lucas; P. G.—J. C. A PERTINENT QUESTION.

The following editorial appeared reently in an independent paper of large circulation. It indicates what the country is thinking of President Taft's administration up to this time. The article is from the Grit:

The platform of the Republican party was interpreted by President Taft, and probably by a majority of Rev. S. V. Bergen, of the Western the voters who supported him at the polls, as promising tariff revision downward. In his campaign speeches Mr. Bergen Mr. Taft endeavored to make it plain that he personally endorsed this pledge, and that he would do all he could to secure a fulfillment of this promise. Undoubtedly he kept faith with the people, but he failed to secure such revision as they had been led to expect. Repeatedly during his present tour of the country he has so stated, though admitting that he is not fully satisfied with the law, which he says be no preaching at any of the appointments on this charge.

pledges? There is no doubt whatever that this sued by President Taft, since, as he has condoned one offense, he may be expected to wink at others. The fact gress, unless his action was conditioned upon a distinct understanding with ditions of property at that place.

> In business life when a man fails to "make good" in one agreement, he is so far discredited that all his agreements are questioned. There seems no good reason why a rule of business should not be applied to politics. If it should be, there is grave doubt as to whether or not the remaining Republican pledges of 1908 will be fulfilled-at least in the manner expected by the people.
