A Business Change.

An important business change took place in Bellefonte on Thursday when Homer Barnes purchased from G. R. Spigelmyer a half interest in the china and confectionary store in Crider's Exchange. For years they have been associated as proprietor and clerk, and the most congenial relations have always existed between them. Homer has proven the true blue, being faithful in all his duties and this is the general outcome. Both are good, progressive gentlemen and will push the business more strongly in the future than in the past, and our people can help toward that end by a liberal patronage. We trust that the new firm will proser like a green bay tree planted by rivers of water.

Meeting of Council.

Monday night the Bellefonte Council passed an ordinance for the building of a sewer on East Logan street from Alle-gheny o Ridge streets. The residents along this thoroughfare will be asked to contribute something toward its cost. As soon as the bids are in and passed upon the new state road through Belle-fonte will be commenced. From Linn street to the alley at Parrish's drug store the street will only be paved the width 25 feot, from Parrish's store of to Bishop street the paving will be solid. This will be the beginning of some substantial improvements in our town.

Harvey-Johnston. Joseph Walter, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Harvey, of East College avenue, and Miss Alice A. Johnson, of Zion were married at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. John Strunk, at Bellefonte, on Wednesday evening, Oct. 27, by the Rev. Mr. Flack, pastor of the Lutheran church. The wedding was strictly private. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey left on the 8:16 train for Lock Haven and the

-On Friday afternoon Ivon Mahoney, a student of the Bellefonte Academy, left for his home at Wilkes-Barre. He had a slight attack of appendicitis when he was sent to the Bellefonte hospital for a couple of days. His parents thought it wise to have him where they could look after ing. There is absolutely none better him. The case is not a serious one. He is a sub-centre on the Academy foot ball team and has been doing some good work. The entire schoolbody was down to see him off, and if yelling for him could have eradicated the disease he would have been cured by that process.

-On Monday evening a fair sized audience assembled in Garman's opera house to see "Miss Petticoats,' a very pretty little drama but the conduct of four or five prominent young men in Bellefonte, who sat in the rear of the house was of such an outrageous character that the audience was annoyed from the time the curtain went up until the close of the play. > -Don't forget the entertainment in Petrikin Hall tomorrow (Friday) evenon the road and the hall should be crowded from the stage to the door. Everywhere they go they are meeting with wonderful receptions. In many places they were compelled to remain a second night. This is an opportunity of a life time to hear the Welsh singers and none should miss it. There has been a wonderful sale of season tickets for the entire Y. M. C. A. course, which is one of the finest and most complete ever presented to the people of Bellefonte. Those who have been hesitating should settle the question by going and purchasing one.

-Capt. George Runkle, of the training ship Adams, arrived in Bellefonte on Saturday after an extended European trip. This was his first experience as the chief officer of the big boat, but What manager Garman should occasions entertained his friends on done was to have arrested the ship. He is recognized as one of him.

-On Monday, December 20th the Certre county teachers' institute will be held in Bellefonte. On account of the repairing of the court house the sessions will be held in Garman's opera house. David O. Etters, the county superintendent, is making arrangements to make this one of the best institutes ever held in the county. The instructors and the evening entertainments will be above the average. The people of Bellefonte should get ready to enjoy both.

-On Saturday Hastings Gates, son of Charles L. Gates, came to Bellefonte from Yarnell with the expectation of taking his old job back again as driver on the Adams Express wagon, but finally concluded that his health would not et permit such a move. So it is probable he will spend the winter on the farm. Hastings' principal trouble is shortness of breath when he does any heavy lifting. It is to be hoped that he will soon gain his health and strength.

-Work on the new addition to the court house is progressing as rapidly as possible but it is very likely that the masons will get cold fingers before they complete their part of the job. The court room is filled up with scaffolding to support the plasterers who are putting on the new ceiling. The decorators will also use it. An effort will be made to have the court house in shape so that court can be held there in the latter part duce. This is appreciated from the alone and thus he will not move his of December. It is very doubtful, however, that this can be accomplished.

> -On Sunday Rev. Hogge, pastor of the Presbyterian cnurch at Fruit Hill, Clearfield county, and Dr. J. Allison Platts of the Bellefonte Presbyterian church, exchanged pulpits Rev. Hogge is a young man of Irish descent and possesses that grit and tenacity that is bound to make him one of the prominent and influential ministers of the bluestocking faith His morning sermon was to men who were after the Almighty dollar to the extent of neglecting their souls which will be more valuable in eternity than earth's millions. His brother is pastor of the Presbyterian church at Williamsport,

-Recently Charles McClure, son of Mr. and Mrs. james H. McClure, of Bellefonte became a law partner of the firm of Peck, Shields & Clark, doing business at 510 and 516. Penn Square building Philadelphia. This is one of the leading law firms of the Quaker City and the addition of Mr. McClure makes it even stronger and more relia-ble. The latter laid the foundation of success in the Bellefonte public his schools and Academy. Later he graduated from Princeton and the law depart-ment of the Pennsylvania University. He has been a close student and is deserving of the success he has attained.

-Every effort is being made to get the new school house under roof before the extremely cold weather sets in. Col. Taylor is busy setting the boilers for the heating plant so that the building can be beated and the work go on uninterrupted. On Sunday pedestrians would stop in front of the building and pass their opinion as to the location of the large columns in front of the entrance. The popular opinion was that they were built entirely too close to the building to show off to good effect. Robert Cole, the architect, says the people must not be too hasty to criticise a thing before it is completed. When the columns are finished they will appear different.

All Industries Now Working.

All the industries in Bellefonte are now working. The Bellefonte furnaces are now in operation The Pennsylvania Match Company, recognized as one of the leading industries of the town, is forced to consider the advisability of doubling its capacity. Since the starting of this factory ten years ago each year's business has been greater than the preceeding one. Thirty million matches are manufactured every twentytour hours. The Bellefonte and Nittany furnaces have promise of a long run of business.

Keep Pure Air Always.

With the cold weather here again it is important to live in pure rather than foul air even though it may be more chilly and less comfortable for the time being. Keep that sleeping room open now the same as it was during the warm nights of summer. Be extravagant with lots of air and your health will be better, colds fewer and doctor bills nothing
