

BELLEFONTE AND VICINITY

THE LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS

County Fair this week at the opera house.

Mrs. Walker, of Apgah, W. Va., favored our sanctum with a call.

Mrs. Murilla Dawson and Mrs. Isaac Dawson spent Thursday in Altoona.

George H. Emerick, of near Centre Hall, one of Potter township's farmers, favored us with a call.

Mrs. Emma Yeager, and her daughter, Mrs. Edward Harper, spent Thanksgiving with friends in Altoona.

Mac Curtin, of Pittsburgh, who was threatened with pneumonia, is getting better. At first his case was alarming.

On Thanksgiving evening quite a bunch of State students were down to have a tip of the light fantastic in Bush Arcade.

Miss Nettie Forcey, of Jersey Shore, has been a pleasant visitor in Bellefonte at the residence of Mrs. William Steele.

Landlord Horton S. Ray, of the Borchert House, on Thanksgiving served a palatable dinner to his guests. Many outsiders partook of the feast of good things.

Miss Sarah Greer, of Pittsburgh, who had been visiting in Bellefonte for some time, left for her home last Wednesday. She will be missed by her many friends here.

The first snow we had here this winter was on Friday morning of last week. When the train from Lock Haven came in there were five inches of snow on top of the cars.

Wade Cruse, who for the past year has been in the employ of the Bell Telephone Co., in Bellefonte, has been given the position of rural route line agent for the Williamsport district of the same company, with headquarters at Williamsport.

Evelyn Everole, of Philipsburg, was brought to Bellefonte and lodged in jail several days ago on a bench warrant for costs amounting to $40 or more, resulting from a charge of illegal liquor selling, to which she pleaded guilty about one year ago.

It is rumored that after the trolley road is built from Milesburg through Bellefonte to State College, there will be a link built connecting State College with Tyrone. While this is the report the managers of the Centre County Traction Co. say they knew nothing of any such deal.

Word has been received in Bellefonte that Mrs. J. Irvin Borches, of Knoxville, Tenn., had the misfortune of having her beautiful home destroyed by fire. Practically nothing was saved. Mrs. Borches' maiden name was Miss Mary Jackson, a half sister of Mrs. W. F. Reeder.

On Thanksgiving landlord Dazgett, of the Bush House, served an extra fine dinner to the patrons of the house. On this account quite a large number of people of the town dined there instead of feasting on turkey at home. A fine musical program was rendered by Christy Smith's orchestra.

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew is preparing to build an Episcopal church and parish club house at Pennsylvania State College. Those who have the matter in charge are Rev. John Hewitt, of Bellefonte; Dr. G. J. Pond and Prof. Frizzell, of State College. It is expected that ground will be broken in the spring.

The Bellefonte Daily, from Howard, reaches here with the regularity of trains under the Penna. R. R. schedule, and now Bellefonte folks feel at home and like themselves again. Long live the Daily and longer live Dunham—he has shown more get-up-and-get-there than all the slowpoke papers at the county seat. It evinces push that should be spelled S-u-c-c-e-e-s-s.

Messrs. Harry and Wallace Camp, of Tyrone, made a tour of the county last week in their automobile taking orders for the new candy factory they have opened in Tyrone recently. Harry formerly resided at McKaysport where he was engaged in the same business but moved to Tyrone recently. The Camps formerly were residents of Bellefonte, where their father engaged in the furniture business.

It is said that the other evening Arthur Beezer, of Bellefonte, called upon five bright and winsome young ladies on Logan street and he was not in their company long until he was snoring in an old arm chair. Now either of two things was the cause. What the fair damsels were talking about didn't interest him or he had been out too late with his best girl on the preceding night. Of course, these were both good enough reasons why he should go to sleep.

On Thursday evening union Thanksgiving services were held in the Bellefonte Methodist church which was better attended than if it had been held at the old hour of 10:30 in the morning. The change of hour was an experiment that seemed to have proven successful. Rev. Howar, of the United Evangelical church, preached in interesting sermon, which was well received by the large and attentive congregation. The custom of holding a union Thanksgiving sermon is a grand one, but there are many in Bellefonte who enjoy the blessings of life, yet who easily find an excuse for remaining away from such a service.

If you can't be entertained at the scenic there is no use of trying elsewhere. Manager Brown has things down so pat that any movie he makes in the picture line is always for the benefit of his patrons. The broncho picture on Thursday night was a dandy, and those who were not there missed a treat. These kind of pictures are of general interest and aid the memory much in storing up useful knowledge. The illustrated song, on this occasion, was also out of the ordinary and commanded much admiration. Remember that every evening there is always something new and pleasing. With Mrs. Russell Jury at the piano and Miss Norton as soloist the music was fine. If you are not a patron you had better get in line.

You will want to attend the County Fair on Friday and Saturday.

Three more issues of the Centre Democrat to complete the year 1909.

November had seven rains, the total rainfall being half an inch for the month.

Mrs. Edward Doll and daughter, of Altoona, who had been visiting in Bellefonte for a few days, returned to their home on Sunday.

William I. Swoop, of Clearfield, was a business visitor in Bellefonte on Saturday. It looked like old times to see him around again.

Miss Kathryn McCoy, of Bellefonte, spent Sunday in Altoona. It is rumored that some day she might permanently locate in the railroad city.

W. Harrison Walker, Esq., of Bellefonte the other day where he was in consultation with prominent lawyers of Columbia county in settling up two large estates.

Mrs. Frederick Topelt, nee Miss Bessie Brouse, of Brooklyn, N. Y., arrived in Bellefonte the other day and will be a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Brouse, until after Christmas.

On Tuesday evening a nine-pound daughter came to cheer the household of Mr. and Mrs. James K. Barnhart, on Linn street. The mother and child are at the hospital and both are getting along nicely.

Hon. Judge John G. Loveand wife, of Bellefonte are at Clifton Springs, N. Y., where the judge is undergoing treatment for rheumatism which has been causing him much pain and anxiety for several months.

Mrs. Cyrus Labe, with her child, who had been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Lobe, has gone to Harrisburg where she will make her future home. Her husband has a good position in the Capital City.

The memorial exercises of the Elks will be held in their present rooms, in the Larimer building, next Sunday afternoon, December 5th, and not in Petrikin Hall, as we announced last week. Rev. Hewitt will deliver the annual address.

On Sunday Ira Fox, cashier of the Lock Haven First National Bank, accompanied by his wife, Ida Sink, Viola Kurtz and Gertrude Stringfellow came to Bellefonte in a large touring car and spent the day pleasantly with Mr. and Mrs. Milton Kerns.

The production of James K. Hatchett's New York success "Call of the West" with Franklin Woodruff, which has been finding much favor and which is to be seen at Garman's opera house next Tuesday evening is said to be cleverly arranged. It has much to commend it, as it is clean and wholesome, tells a beautifully interesting story, is replete with bright lines and quaint sayings, and has a delightful and refreshing atmosphere.

While Rev. C. W. Winey, pastor of the Bellefonte United Brethren church, was in Harrisburg last week attending the laymen's missionary convention, his congregation purchased for him a handsome oak book case, something he very much needed at this time, as he has a large library. Of course Rev. Winey was much pleased to see this token of kindness and appreciation of his services in his home when he returned and is very thankful to the donors.

On Tuesday morning Lew Wallace and his men were putting up the ornaments that now crown the four large pillars in front of the new school building which means that the carpenters can get to work and complete that portion of the roof. While a large number of spectators were watching the crowning process some one stated to Wallace that he was getting to look more like Architect Huston, every day, to which he laughed and stated he would be "darned" with emphasis on the "darned," if he would get himself in the same fix Huston is in now.

On Tuesday morning the masons completed the stone work on the main part of the addition to the court house. The carpenters are now busy putting up the trusses for the roof. One week or ten days more of good weather will see it under roof. On Tuesday a representative of the Expanded Metal Co. of Philadelphia, arrived and is now busy concreting the tops of the various vaults. In both new and old buildings. Col. Taylor, who is putting in the heating plant, has received the boilers which will be put in position just as rapidly as possible.

F. W. Crider is making a change in the store room of W. H. Macker, on the corner of High and Allegheny streets. Edward Thompson has moved his shoe blacking shop from the room in the corner, near the First National Bank, to a room in the rear of Night-hart's barber shop. He now has a nice parlor where he will be glad to meet his friends. The room vacated by young Thompson is being thrown into the storeroom of W. H. Macker, the green groceryman, thus giving him additional space which he needed for his increasing business. In addition he will have a ware room in the rear, which will be another convenience.

S. D. Ray, proprietor of the Bellefonte Shirt Factory, has entered into a contract with Salant & Salant, of New York City, for the manufacturing of shirts. Miss L. V. Miles, of New York, is in charge of this department as instructress and forelady. Fifteen machines are now being kept busy on this line of work, but additional machinery has been ordered which will be set up and put in motion as soon as it comes. Calder Ray has also begun the manufacturing of Canton fannel gloves, which have good sale. This is one of the busiest places in Bellefonte, as from fifty to sixty girls find employment there and this will be increased in the near future. It is the intention of Mr. Ray to equip his building on south Water street with the best of machinery which will permit him to manufacture shirts on a large scale.

Don't forget the famous County Fair this week.

"Call of the West" at the opera house next Tuesday evening.

Turn to page 6 of this issue—Sim the Clothier has a special message for you.

Edward Latham, of Harrisburg, spent Sunday in Bellefonte at the home of his parents.

Joseph Sholl, who had been visiting friends in Altoona, returned to Bellefonte on Sunday evening.

Lewis Miller, who had been visiting friends in Bellefonte, left on Sunday for his home in Williamsport.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh N. Crider, of Bellefonte, spent Thursday and Friday at the home of C. H. Roland, in Phillipsburg.

Mrs. S. A. Bell and Miss Alice Tate are staying at the Love residence on Linn street, until they return which will probably be in ten days.

William Farmer, one of Potter townships good citizens—bigger, fatter and better looking than ever—gave us a handshake yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gray, of Bellefonte, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Quinn, at Thompsontown, near Tyrone.

R. R. Voris, formerly of Bellefonte, but now of Bloomsburg, passed through this place on Tuesday on his way to Pittsburgh. He has lost none of his avitardipols.

This week Frank P. Blair & Co. added three new work benches to the furniture in their handsome jewelry store. They are made of oak and have every convenience.

Charles Miffin, of Chicago, is in Bellefonte trying to interest some of our speculators in valuable real estate in Norfolk, one of the thriving cities in Virginia. He is the agent of W. W. Baker, of Latrobe, Pennsylvania, and he thinks that the man who invests with him will wake up one of these days and find himself well heeled.

On Sunday morning Rev. Demetrius Elias Vishanoff, a native of Macedonia, appeared in the Bellefonte Methodist church and told an interesting story of his conversion and the persecution that followed. Rev. Vishanoff was attired in his nobleman's costume and sang in his native tongue. In the evening he was at Pleasant Gap.

Haupt's grocery store, on north Thomas St., is open for business and will be conducted on a strictly cash basis, giving the consumer the benefit of the advantage of "no room rent to pay, no clerks to hire, cash paid for all goods, getting benefit of cash discounts—hence cut prices on all lines of groceries." Goods delivered to any part of the town.

T. Clayton Brown, the efficient manager of the Scenic, left on Wednesday for Philadelphia where he will enter a hospital for treatment. He expects to be away three or four weeks. Through his request W. G. Lave, now of Philadelphia, but who was formerly connected with the Scenic as a singer, will assist in keeping things straight at this popular place of amusement until Mr. Brown returns.

On Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the local Benevolent Protective order of Elks will hold a memorial service in Petrikin Hall to which the people of this vicinity are cordially invited. The speaker of the afternoon will be Rev. John Hewitt, rector of the St. John's Episcopal church. These services are always interesting, and those who go there will surely be repaid. One of the attractions will be good music.

Ambrose Ray, of Bellefonte, was in Williamsport the other day consulting Dr. Haskins, the eye specialist, and returned greatly encouraged. He was informed that there were several cataracts on his eyes which were almost ripe for removal. It is altogether probable that when this is done the sight will be entirely restored. Mr. Ray has been almost blind for the last year and should the operation prove a success, Ambrose will be a happy man.

This week Misses Mary and Elizabeth Blanchard, are in Philadelphia where they are supervising the sale of the Bellefonte basket shop. From there they will go to Washington, D. C., and New York City, spending a week in each place, Miss Eva Crisman is assisting them.

Mr. and Mrs. George Grimm, who had been spending most of the summer with friends in Brooklyn, N. Y., has returned to her home in Bellefonte.

William Kelley, of Bellefonte, has been appointed acting agent at the Pennsylvania freight station to succeed the late John J. Potter. For the last year or more he had been doing much of the work connected with the position and therefore is familiar with all its requirements. He is a steady, industrious young man, thoroughly competent to fill the position to which he was temporarily appointed. Nothing would suit the patrons of the company better than to see Mr. Kelley hold down the position permanently.

On Monday Miss Hall and Miss Clark, two Bellefonte young ladies, hired a horse and buggy from Frank Bartley, the liveryman, to take a drive. About 12 o'clock they were in the vicinity of what is known as the black barn, located along the pike between Axeman and Pleasant Gap, when they were run into by an automobile. The front of the buggy was wrecked but fortunately the young ladies escaped injury. The fellows in the machine never stopped to see what damage they had done but kept on their way toward Pleasant Gap. It is thought the auto was from Lewistown.

On Tuesday Kid Pikington was a caller at this office with a smile as broad as his face is long. On Wednesday night of last week he was in Williamsport and knocked out Kid McCoy, the heavyweight from Philadelphia before a large crowd of spectators. He knocked him through the ropes six times in six rounds, while McCoy only scored but one knock-down. Pikington being quick and nifty made so favorable an impression upon the Locomotive Athletic Club whose guest he was, that they wanted to contract with him to furnish this kind of sport through the entire winter.

Sim the clothier has something special on page 6.

J. W. Crawford, of Nittany, was a caller to announce sale—for which see posters and sale register.

Paul Fishburne, of Tyrone, spent Sunday with his parents in Bellefonte. He brought with him a bird dog.

Mrs. J. A. Gulsewhite, of Avis, while visiting friends in this county, gave the Democrat a pleasant call.

After spending Thanksgiving with his parents at Coleville, Elliott Hollabaugh returned to Altoona, where he has a good position.

On the day before Thanksgiving a boy baby arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Thal. Joe, his brother, had better get a move on.

Little Margery, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wagner, of North Spring street, is improving very nicely from a light attack of typhoid fever.

Mr. and Mrs. William Walker have returned to Bellefonte and will spend the winter in their home lately occupied by Mr. Walker's mother, in Brown row.

John Meyer, treasurer of the Altoona Trust and Security Co., spent Thanksgiving at his home in Centre Hall. He also spent a short time with his friends in Bellefonte.

Conductor Joseph Kelleher, wife and little daughter, of Bellefonte, spent Sunday with friends at Tyrone. Mr. Kelleher has almost recovered from the effects of a dislocated shoulder.

The Democrat takes it for granted that its readers in town and vicinity mean to do their Christmas shopping right here among the business people who live among us and advertise their wares and have a stake in the town.

Mrs. J. L. Spangler left on Saturday for Philadelphia, taking with her Albert Engles, the infant son of Dr. and Mrs. Blackburn, who with his nurse, has been at the Spangler home since April.

A. B. Huffman, one of the enterprising citizens of New Enterprise, is visiting his brother-in-law, Sheriff W. E. Hurley. He is a pleasant gentleman and is having a nice time while here.

The ladies of the Bellefonte Reformed church, at their Country Store in Petrikin hall, recently, cleared one hundred dollars, the last money necessary to clear the debt of two thousand dollars on their new chapel.

Miss Ebesolt was released from the Centre county jail on Wednesday. She was placed there sometime ago for not paying the cost in a case in which she was charged with selling liquor in a house in Philipsburg.

The public sale of Geo. Valentine, Jr., December 8th advertised in this paper contains some choice live stock that should interest persons who are in need of anything in that line. The sale takes place next Wednesday.

D. Wagner Geiss, who was housed up for a week or more with a bad attack of tonsillitis, is again at work as the efficient clerk in E. K. Rhoades' coal office. His sister, Miss Elsie, who had been doing the clerical work in his absence, has returned to her home at Centre Hall.

General and Mrs. James A. Beaver returned home on Friday evening after an absence of several weeks. At the close of the November term of the Superior court in Philadelphia, they went to the home of their son, Gilbert A. Beaver, at Yorktown Heights, N. Y., where they spent Thanksgiving.

Eugene Floto, a son of Hon. Wm. H. Floto, of Myersdale, Pa., and Ivan Walker came down from State College on Thursday to spend the day with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Miles Walker. They also attended the popular Thanksgiving dance given annually by Miss Crisman in Bush Arcade.

Hon. W. C. Heinle was circulating around among his friends on Tuesday in a happy frame of mind. The cause of this jubilation was that he had just reached the 59th milestone on the journey of life. One age is able thought about it was that he looks much younger than he really is. If he have given anything away that we shouldn't we hope he will pardon us.

On Saturday the Centre county commissioners awarded another contract to Gehrett & Lambert. It is for the marble stairs, marble wainscoting and marble floor in the corridor of the court house. The contract also includes the marble and glass partition through which the entrance to the court room will be made. The contract price is $11,900. The material will be ordered immediately and placed in position just as soon as they can get ready for it.

William Waddle, who for several years had been connected with the Nittany Furnace Co., as the treasurer and principal book-keeper, has resigned. His place is being temporarily filled by Linn Blackford, although Mr. Waddle has been doing some work in the office since he sent in his resignation. He is a good, competent man and gave the company excellent service. It is to be hoped that a new position will open up and he'll stay right here among his friends.

H. H. Fye, of Moshannon, was a business visitor in Bellefonte Friday and while here called at the sanctum of the Centre Democrat. He is one of our hunters in Centre county who carped on Wolf's Run. In his camp were his two sons, Edwin and H. H. Fye, who each killed a buck on the second day of the season. Several days afterwards the boys succeeded in killing another large buck. Elmer Fye also had a camp at the headquarters of Wolf's Run. One buck was killed by Allen Fye and Norman Fye and Elmer Fye each killed a big bear. This is a pretty good record.

Fourth of July and Christmas are not in it with butchering day at the home of Geo. Robb, in Coleville. We know what we are talking about for we were fortunate in being there last week. Geo. is a royal good fellow, but the success of the day was largely due to that excellent companion of his who prepared a dinner fit for a king's feast. Among the guests present from town were Col. H. S. Taylor, Hon. James Schofield, Hard P. Harris and the Centre Democrat man, Col. Taylor estimated that there was almost enough on the table to feed a regiment; while Mr. Schofield filled himself full of the neck, but not too full for utterance as he topped off the feast with a timely and eloquent speech as only a Schofield could make. It was a most enjoyable event and we hope Mr. and Mrs. Robb may live long to enjoy many more butchering.

Wilbur Twitmore, Jr., who had been working in Philipsburg, returned to Bellefonte on Thursday.

Miss Mary Hicklen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chaney Hicklen, went to State College on Friday to visit friends.

J. A. McQuistian and daughter, Miss Mary, spent Thursday in Centre Hall as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rooser.

Miss Josephine McDermott, of Bellefonte, left Thursday for Pittsburgh where she will spend several weeks with friends.

Dr. Crawford Bowles and wife, of Altoona, were Thanksgiving guests at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bible, of East Bishop street.

The Phillipsburg Journal says that Frank P. Blair, the well known Bellefonte Jeweler, was in that place on Monday looking after his Rush township interests and spent the day at Sandy Ridge in the same capacity.

CLARENCE. We are having cold weather. On the sick list are Mrs. Hayard and Mrs. William Haines. Revival meeting has closed—25 persons were converted.

Ray Crispden had the misfortune of missing a nice four-pronged buck not 100 yards away, and then was lucky to kill one, 200 yards away. That is doing some, Ray.

John Boyce killed a nice four-pronged buck. John says it is the best luck he ever had.

While Guy Caver, son of William Caver, was roasting potatoes on Thanksgiving day, his clothes caught fire, burning his left side from hip to knee. The burn is very deep. His condition is critical at this writing.

H. P. Thompson, of Bellefonte, spent Saturday evening and Sunday with his lady friend, Edna Crispden.

Ed Price, wife and son spent Sunday with William Crispden.

Jake Haggard, of Tyler, is visiting his mother, who is ill here.

Wedding bells will soon ring here.

Verna Price, Jennie Parks and Jennie Musser visited Annie Parks over Thanksgiving, in the hospital at Lock Haven.

A surprise party was held at the home of Mrs. M. Smith in honor of her daughter Mary, it being her 16th birthday. A supper of pumpkin pie and lemonade was served at 12 o'clock and a few games were played. All report a good time.

Someone had nerve enough to go to Davy Chambers' bee box and take about 10 pounds of honey.

Several weeks ago John Eckle, head butcher for L. C. Gettler's meat market, found in the road a piece of a $10 bill. He brought it to Bellefonte and made inquiry as to whether it was redeemable, but was informed that it would be a waste of time to even try. Finally he concluded to run the risk of a two-cent stamp by sending it to the redemption bureau of the United States treasury. On Monday he received from Washington, D. C., a new $5 bill which paid him ten times over for all his trouble. If he could make a "V" every day in that way he would be strictly in it.
