

BELLEFONTE AND VICINITY

THE LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS

—Charles Hughes, of New York, has been guest at the Academy. —Miss Lou Rowland, of Phillipsburg, is spending a few days with friends at Bellefonte. —Hon. J. C. Meyer left on Thursday for Pittsburgh where he transacted business of a legal character. —Roy Groves, son of Alfred Groves, of near Bellefonte, is just recovering from a severe attack of rheumatism. —Miss Anna Snyder, of Altoona, spent part of the holiday season in Bellefonte as the guest of the Misses Shields, on Logan street. —Ex-County Commissioner Daniel Heckman and wife spent Christmas season with their daughter, Mrs. Calvin Spicher, at Williamsburg. —The Ladies Aid Society of the Lutheran church will hold a bread, roll, pie and cake sale every Saturday afternoon this month in Coxe's store. —Mrs. Henry Haupt, of Bellefonte, was recently called to Moshannon to the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Bridget Kern, who had been seriously ill. —Harold Kirk, of Bellefonte, has secured a position in the large shops at Burnham, near Lewistown, and will leave for that place sometime this month. —Will Katz has rented the house on High street now occupied by the Elks. After Mr. Katz leaves the house he now occupies M. I. Gardner and family will move there. —Deputy Sheriff James B. Strohm and wife spent part of the Christmas vacation with their daughter, Mrs. A. E. Person at Phillipsburg, New Jersey. They enjoyed the trip very much. —Mrs. Susan Swartz, of Bellefonte, has sold her property on Bishop street, now occupied by Benjamin Getzler, to James Kerstetter, who will move his family there from his farm, near Bellefonte, on the 1st of April. —The Bellefonte friends of H. Laird Curtin will be pleased to know that he is recovering from his serious illness. Two trained nurses and the careful attention given by his physicians is what brought him around O. K. —The other evening Clayton Brown, proprietor of the Scenic, gave a dinner to the employees of that place of amusement. It was a feast fit to set before a king and naturally it was thoroughly enjoyed by all who were fortunate to partake of it. This is one of the ways to adjust the trouble between capital and labor. —Prof. Francis Pray, a member of the faculty of the Scenic, of Niagara, a large Catholic educational institution at Niagara Falls, was in town on Monday calling on friends. He was an instructor in our public schools a few years ago and has been making progress in his chosen profession since leaving here. —Robert R. Voris, of Bloomsburg, spent Monday and part of Tuesday in Bellefonte renewing his host of acquaintances who were glad to see him. He is a royal good fellow, and while here thoroughly enjoyed himself. He was accompanied by his son Lewis Voris, who is one of the most progressive students at Penna. State College. —It was reported that George Grimm had resigned as furnace tending at the Nittany furnace, and was going to Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Grimm is still an employe of the Nittany Furnace Co. and up to this time has not determined what he will do. It is to be hoped that he will not make a change, because Bellefonte needs men of the type of Mr. Grimm. —Arthur C. Harper, instructor in the Ohio University, at Columbus, Ohio, spent his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harper. He didn't come altogether to see the folks at home. He is getting along nicely and perhaps it won't be long before he will return to claim a bride. That's the rumor, and sometimes rumors are the forerunners of what is going to take place. —George Chambers has opened a shop on Thomas street, in the room formerly occupied by James Stine, where he is now ready to press and repair clothing of all kinds. He is a neat workman, and all his work will be guaranteed to be just right. He needs assistance and anything thrown his way will be appreciated not only by him but his friends. The man who is trying to make a living should be given a chance. —Everybody is going to the Scenic where everything is found up-to-date. This is what manager Brown prides himself in and strives continually to make his place more and more attractive. While Mr. Brown has been running an extra reel of pictures, which has been very satisfactory, yet there is a strong desire on the part of the patrons to see and hear the illustrated songs. The Scenic always presents a good, clean program that makes it the popular place for amusement. —Last week John D. Sourbeck, D. I. Willard and James Wian began thinking they were going to be put out of business by the fire fiend. The trouble was caused by an over-heated pipe in the store of Mr. Sourbeck, which set fire to the ceiling and burned through the roof. Had it not been for a heavy layer of snow on the roof there would have been three less business places in town. The fire companies appeared on the scene and extinguished the flames before it really had done any great damage. —A. D. Mair, the new manager of the Garman opera house, has introduced into Bellefonte something that cannot help but please that class of people who always desire to attend a good, clean show. It is in shape of a refined vaudeville with two performances can be seen each night. They start at 7:30 and 8:45 o'clock each evening with a matinee every Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. On Saturday afternoon children 12 years of age will be admitted for 5 cents; all other performances will cost 10 cents admission. The moving pictures change every night while the vaudeville performance will change on Monday and Thursday nights. These entertainments consist of singing, dancing, comedian work, and every now and then a good little drama is thrown in. If you want to be thoroughly entertained there is the place to go. The best of order is maintained, and everything is kept neat and attractive. The very best attractions will be brought here so that those who attend will see something worth more money than ten cents. Mr. Mair's efforts, along this line, should be appreciated, to the extent that enough people should attend to make it a success.

—Read our annual circulation statement in this issue. —Mrs. Emil Joseph is spending a few weeks among friends in New York City. —The list of jurors for February term of court will be found on page three of this issue. —Mr. W. P. Kuhn and daughter, of Williamsport, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Wian on Christmas. —Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Heckman were Christmas guests of their daughter, Mrs. C. G. Spicher, at Williamsburg. —The Y. M. C. A. bowling alley is now open for those who like this way of passing away the time. The alleys are in first class shape. —Lyman Smith, a popular business man in Centrehall, was a pleasant caller. Lyman will go into business in the spring as a wholesale dealer in hay, grain, etc. —James A. McClain and wife, of Spangler, have been spending the holiday season in Bellefonte. Mr. McClain is one of the influential business men of Cambria county and consequently is a busy man. —Claster, the Bellefonte merchant, has purchased the remaining stock of boots and shoes from Henry Klime, and has already transferred it to his store in Crider's Exchange. Neither Mr. Klime nor James Corl have yet decided what they will do in the future. —A little girl was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Franks, of Jersey Shore, formerly of Bellefonte. The happy mother will be remembered as Miss Mary Martin who was a compositor in the printing office here. They have named her Catherine Elizabeth. —Friday night the patrons of the Tanner boarding house on Bishop street, were given their New Year's dinner. It consisted of a big fat turkey and everything that goes with a set-out of that character. S. A. Keefe was chosen toastmaster, which would have made old Daniel W. Blush blush from the sole of his feet to the tips of his hair. This was followed with toasts by Al Dale, Esq., E. J. Williams, T. E. Mayer, Walter Burkholder and others, that would have made Chauncey Dewey go "way back and sit down, or wish he had never been born." Mr. Burkholder was in charge of the party. —When a man in Bellefonte pays $2.52 for a pint of milk, that's going some. That's what William Rumberger, of Bellefonte, did on Wednesday morning of last week. When the dairyman came around to his home on Spring street Mr. Rumberger went out and secured what he thought was three cents worth of milk. He paid for it and sometime afterwards he began looking for a $2.50 gold piece which he had been carrying around in his pocket, but it was missing. At first he thought he had lost it but after figuring a little he came to the conclusion he had given it to the milk man for a penny. He called him up and after going over a lot of money the dairyman discovered the missing coin. It was a lucky thing, for during the morning the milk dealer had given out a large number of pennies after he had left the Rumberger home. Of course it was returned, and Mr. Rumberger was just in $2.50. That's not to be sneezed at these times. —After a few days illness Henry Fryer was found dead in bed by his children on Thursday morning, Dec. 23. His age was about 78 years. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. Ella Snaveley, Jacob, William, Mrs. Linnie Sholter, Mrs. Mollie Starcloth, Calvin, Andrew, Clarence, Walter, Mrs. Pearl Swabb, and Eva. Funeral services were conducted on the following Monday in the U. E. church by Rev. C. F. Garrett and interment was made at Millheim. —Among the many holiday visitors in our town we note the following: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Corman and son Albert, of Scalp Level; Mrs. N. B. Shaffer, of near Centre Hall; Mrs. J. C. Krumrine, of Westport; Mrs. Minnie Meyer and sons Melvin and Robert, of Lewisburg; Luther Yarger, of Swengle, and Harry Bowersox, of Bellefonte. —Mrs. Hannah Black has gone to join her husband in Philadelphia and visit relatives in Boston. —Philip Meyer spent a week in Philadelphia with his son Orvis. —Prof. C. C. Meyer, who held a position in the academy at New Bloomfield, has resigned and accepted one in Washington, Pa. —Since our last communication a young son arrived at the home of A. D. Bettilyon. —Cloyd and Boyd Mark, Carl Malone and Rachael Meyer, who held terms of court in the U. E. church during the year 1909. —MARRIAGE LICENSES. —William F. Markle - State College Ida V. DEATH MESSENGER COMES TO MANY Continued from page one. —SMITH:—Mrs. Claude Smith died on Friday evening, December 31st, at Millsburg, where she had been confined since about the 1st of last May. She lived a sincere, christian life as a member of the Methodist church, and when the end came it was with the consciousness of knowing that all was well. The young woman was 35 years of age and the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elise, of Millsburg. On January 9th, 1907, Miss Edith Elise was married to Claude Smith, when they moved to Bellefonte and went to sleeping in Crider's exchange, in Bellefonte, where they fitted up cozy quarters. Finally the deceased became ill and went home, expecting to remain there only a short time. Providence, however, ordained that her life's work was over and thus called her hence. Her death was a peculiarly sad one, she spent most of her life in trying to make those around her happy, and as a devoted child and wife there could be none better. The funeral took place on Tuesday at 1:30 o'clock. Interment was made in the Union cemetery, Bellefonte. —REEBER:—On Wednesday morning W. E. Reeber died at his home in Philadelphia, after an illness of about ten days. The body will arrive in Bellefonte on Friday morning and will be taken to the Masonic Temple where services will be conducted to which the relatives and near friends are welcome to attend. Interment in the Union cemetery. Mr. Reeber was a native of Nittany and later came to Centre County Pa. He was a member of years was the official stenographer in our courts. For a number of years he was Captain of Company B. He is survived by his widow (nee Gertrude) and two children: Malcolm and Miriam; also by one brother, Lewis Reeber, now an instructor in the University of Wisconsin; and Mrs. John H. Beck, of Nittany. —KREBS:—John C. Krebs died on Christmas night at 9 o'clock at his home in Altoona, after a short illness with pneumonia. The deceased was born at Pine Grove Mills and his age was about 25 years. His mother was Mrs. Charles Smith, of Bellefonte, who went to Altoona sometime ago. Several years ago he left Bellefonte and went to the Railroad City, where he secured a position as a mailman with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. On Thanksgiving he was married to a bright and interesting young lady and at that time the future looked very promising, but soon after he was taken to the hospital by pneumonia. He was a member of the Lutheran church and was very active in all its work, and every body looked upon him as a good christian. Interment was made in Altoona on Tuesday morning. —HAIG:—Emma Hoffer Haig died at her home in Oak Lane, a suburb of Philadelphia, on Monday last week. A little daughter came to brighten their home a week previous. A son two years old and a husband survive. The funeral took place in Mt. Peace cemetery, at that place. His age was 28 years. The deceased was a daughter of George Hoffer, deceased, who some years ago resided near Centre Hall. She was a sister of Mrs. A. C. Mingle, Miss Fannie Hoffer and Mrs. Hoffer, of Bellefonte; and Frederick Hoffer, at that place. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Mingle attended the funeral last week. Prior to her marriage she resided with her brother, Olie Hoffer, in Philadelphia. —BELL:—Hon. Martin Bell, the president judge of the Blair county courts, was found lying dead in the bed chamber of his residence on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The waiting maid went to his room at that hour to hand him the morning newspapers. She was shocked to find the master of the house lying in the bed, with the vital spark of life departed. The family physician, Dr. H. H. Brothelin, was of the opinion that the death summons had come about one hour before the discovery. Death was due to an affection of the heart. Judge Bell had been an invalid for three years past. —BLOOM:—Mrs. William Bloom died on the 16th of December at the home of her son in Missouri. The maiden name of the deceased was Miss Sarah Jane Whitehill, of Lemont. Her first husband was Thomas Hess, a brother of Mrs. Stitzer, of Bellefonte. After his death she was again married to William Bloom, of Pine Grove Mills. Mr. Bloom was the grandfather of Mrs. Joseph Beezer, of Bellefonte. —RUNKLE:—William H. Runkle, formerly proprietor of the Mottler house, West Market street, York, Pa., died on Dec. 28, at Newark, N. J., aged nearly 47 years. Death was caused by hemorrhages. The funeral was held from the home of his wife, Mrs. Ada V. Runkle, 455 West King street, and interment was made in Prospect cemetery. The deceased was a native of Tusseyville, and some years ago was proprietor of the Centre Hall hotel, from whence he moved to York and engaged in the hotel business. A widow and an only daughter, Mrs. Pearl Condo, survive. —GINGERY:—Gordon Gingery, son of D. J. Gingery, died on Saturday morning at his home near Martha from tuberculosis from which he had been a sufferer for only a short time. His age was 21 years, 1 month and 27 days, and a young man who had quite a promising future. His death is thus sincerely mourned by a large circle of friends in the community where he was so well known. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock; interment in Williams cemetery. —MAYES:—Mrs. Mary Mayes died on Friday night at 10 o'clock at her home at Boalsburg at the age of 71 years. She was a member of the Methodist church and a good christian lady. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Peter Lehler, of Boalsburg. The funeral took place on Monday. —YARNELL:—Ines Olive, daughter of Claude and Maud Yarnell, of Boggs township, died on the 26th of December, aged about three years. She was in ill health most of her life. The interment took place in the cemetery near home. Services were conducted by Rev. Zeidler. —MUSSEY:—Mrs. Caroline Mussey, wife of John Mussey, died suddenly of heart disease on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 19, at her home near Wolf's Store, aged 68 years. She leaves to survive her husband and four children. Interment was made at Hebersburg.

—This community was shocked on hearing the sudden and unexpected death of Jerry Lee, of Hubersburg, which took place on Thursday evening about 6 o'clock. After eating a hearty supper he went to the stable to hitch up for the purpose of going to church at Zion. After putting the harness on the horse and had taken it outside he discovered the bridge was not on right, and while in the act of adjusting it, he was stricken with apoplexy and fell to the ground dead. Mr. Lee was a fine specimen of physical manhood and quite noticeable in any gathering. Being a man of rare good judgment he was often consulted on important questions that came up in business life. Several years ago he stopped farming and went to Hubersburg where he had been living retired. His age was about 60 years, and since childhood had been living a sincere christian life as a member of the Reformed church. He prized his reputation for honesty and integrity, and was an earnest worker for earthly goods. He is survived by his wife and the following children: Charles, of Nittany; Clyde, on the old homestead, near Hubersburg; and Mrs. Jacob Crow, of Liverpool, Pa. The funeral took place on Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment at Hubersburg. —WOODS:—Miss Ellen Woods, one of Bellefonte's most popular ladies, died on Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock from a complication of diseases from which she had been a sufferer for a year or more, but it was only a couple of months ago that her disease took a serious turn. The deceased was the daughter of James and Margaret Woods, deceased, and was born in Potter township, Centre county. Had she lived until the 20th of next March she would have been 66 years of age. For about 40 years she resided in Bellefonte where she conducted a dress-making establishment which had a large patronage. She belonged to the Episcopal church and lived an upright christian life, and much of her life was spent in bringing good cheer to others. She is survived by the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Henry Rothrock, of Nittany; Mrs. Theodore Kelley, John James, William and Edward, of Bellefonte. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from her home on Bishop street. —OWEN:—Miss Mary Owen died at her home in Bellefonte on Thursday, Dec. 23. Miss Owen had undergone an operation at the Bellefonte hospital one time since and when it was found that recovery was impossible, and with her blind sister, Miss Sarah, the sole surviving members of a family of twelve, at her bedside, this saintly christian woman passed away. Born and raised in the vicinity of Chautauque, Miss Mary and her sister moved to Phillipsburg to make a home for their brother, Albert Owen. By profession a teacher, Miss Mary did a little work along this line after coming to Pennsylvania. The little household of three left Phillipsburg nearly thirty years ago for Bellefonte. The funeral took place on Saturday. Interment in Bellefonte. —WILLIAMS:—Frederick Williams, at one time one of the most progressive citizens of Huston township, died on Thursday in the hospital at Danville where he had been taken about one year ago. Before he became ill he was one of the jolliest men in that community and was respected by all who knew him. He was 76 years of age; interment being made on Sunday in Williams cemetery at Martha. —D'INVILLIERS:—Camille S. D'Invilliers, a former well known and highly esteemed resident of Phillipsburg, Burgess of Cresson and engineer in charge of construction for the Pennsylvania railroad company, died at his home in Cresson on Sunday afternoon of pneumonia after a short illness. —UNIONVILLE. —Rev. Samuel Stimer, who is located at Tylersville, spent the holidays with his mother at this place. —Misses Martha and Mary Zahnizer, of Port Allegheny, formerly of this place, are visiting their hosts of friends here. —Miss Katherine Cooney, one of Bellefonte's brightest young ladies, is a guest of Mrs. Margaret McDonnell. —Foster Holt, book clerk in a large department store at Manongssahala, City, spent the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Holt. Foster, who left here a few years ago, has grown to be a regular heart crusher. So the ladies say. —Harry Crosser is assistant ticket agent and baggage smasher at this place. —John Emerick has been laid up for repairs for over a week. He had a small pimple on his leg which he scratched open with his finger nails which caused blood poisoning, but we are glad to say he is convalescing. —Harry Lucas has been quite ill for more than a week with la grippe. She, too, is improving. —At a dinner given by Mrs. Dora Fisher, recently, the engagement of her son Harold to Miss Martha Zahnizer, the pretty and accomplished daughter of the Rev. J. J. Zahnizer, of Port Allegheny, was announced. Wedding will take place in the spring. —John Wollslagle still delights in reading the Centre Democrat. —The High school, under the leadership of Miss Hattie Turner, the teacher, gave a most delightful entertainment in the Grange Hall on last Friday night and was repeated on Saturday night to crowded houses from which they realized over $26, with which they will replenish their library. The pupils acquitted themselves with much credit to themselves and honor to their teacher. As is always the case in school entertainments, there were some of the renditions that appealed to the audience as being especially pleasing. One of these was the duet sung by Misses Margaret McDonnell and Margaret Eckenroth. "There's another picture in Mama's Frame." Organ accompaniment by Ruth Parsons, one of the cutest "accusers" Missie Kerchner, one of the most natural players was Elizabeth Musser. Then there was James McDonnell, who hung a stocking up on Christmas eve, large enough to hold a good sized wheel barrow, but when old Santa came around and saw how greedy he was he simply put in a shaving mug and an old rusty razor. Raymond Snook played the Santa and he did it well. Hassel Stern played "The only young man in town" to perfection. Gee! how each of those half dozen young ladies tried to capture him, but poor Brown had to finally flee the town, and the girls all "got left." The music was an especially pleasing feature of the evening. Other fine players were: Ruth Summers, Beatrice Stern, Koshal Calhoun, Mammie Snook, Helen Moran, Hannah Holt, Jennie Parson, Beate and Mary Labury, Clark Emerick, Landy, Bertin, Hermon Fisher, Joseph Alexander, Irvin Holt, Helen Hazel and Ralph Moran. There may have been others as I have no list and give these from memory. They all did so well that it is hard to make any distinction, suffice to say it was an entertainment greatly enjoyed by all who were there. —One day during Institute week I went to Bellefonte and the first man I "struck" was O. M. Grazer, formerly of Gatesburg, but now of Penn Station. He had with him his ticked boy whom he has named Nip and Tuck. Oscar is very proud of them and with him were Ira Harpster the model farmer and brother of the well known politician, Sam, Harpster, and George Rider, of Gatesburg. George has lost a little in avoiddupis as he only weighs 198 lbs. Forth up the street I met Francis Speer, author of the "Millionaires trip to Altoona." He did not offer to shake hands with me, in fact he had a guilty look and when I saw his great toes protruding through the ends of his rubber shoes, my heart was moved with compassion and I instinctively filled out a check for $5000 which I had "grafted" while in the U. S. Senate and handed it to him, saying, "There Francis, take this, go and sin no more." I next met Al Dale; Al looked glum and he did not offer me his hand—simply looked and said "g-mornin." I think he had been around town canvassing for the sale of his famous hair restorer without success, as he had a large bottle protruding from his coat pocket. Farther up town I met the Glimbal Brothers, Alias Tom and George Hibel, Brothers. As I looked at the dilapidated condition of their clothing I inadvertently exclaimed, "How are the mighty fallen." You see they met with serious reverses and they now think they will join the "Knights of the Road." On Bishop street I met Andrew Wrennie, otherwise, Curt Wagner. Curt was delivering a couple of sacks of buckwheat flour to his customers on a wheel barrow. He too had a forlorn look and I had not the heart to interview him, but I learned, indirectly, that his millions took to themselves wings and left him where he stood. Poor Curt. He traded his automobile for a wheelbarrow. The next man I met was Prof. Wm. E. Keen, of Millheim. Billy gave me a regular Miles Walker grip. While I dislike to have the marrow crushed out of the bones of my fingers, it certainly is a pleasure to meet one who will give you a good hearty hand shake. By the way, did you ever shake hands with ex-sheriff Miles Walker? Well if you have not, you can have no conception of the crushing power of the tentacles of an Octopus. Prof. Keen informed me that he has taught school 32 consecutive years. Great record! Big; great record! You should be retired on a big fat pension. —I next went into the Court House. Gee! the reception I was accorded there made me feel as if I were a son of Hetty Green's. My poor fingers on my right hand were greatly swollen by the time I got through with all the officials. Gee! thought I. Is it possible that you are all candles for reelection. These are the persons I met: Miss Annie Nolan, Deputy Register; Earl Tuten, Register; pleasant Billy Brown and his Deputy, "Kimpky," the Prothy and Forman, Deputy; the three commissioners and their two clerks; Sheriff Hurley; Treasurer Geo. Fink and his son; also the Hon. John Noll. While they all greeted me cordially and all were "Oh, so glad to see me," but when I got outside of the Court House I felt in every pocket and there was only the lonely nickel and dime that I had when I entered. Well, I was glad to get away with the nickel. They didn't take a thing. "Domino."
