

FRANCIS SPEER'S

Breezy "That" Column

That many a man in Bellefonte has a champagn appetite with a milk-stomach.

That when a man in Bellefonte cannot stand the shafts of wit he is liable to kick over the traces.

That instead of some fellows in Bellefonte being originally made of dust, it must have been hot air.

That the reason some men in Bellefonte dislike to be alone because none is known by the company he keeps.

That Ralph Spiegelmyer wants to know where is the man in Bellefonte who is hankering after an old-fashioned winter.

That it is very doubtful whether even Joe Ceader and "Billy" Doll, the Bellefonte bakers, will get to heaven on floury beds of ease.

That some young men in Bellefonte should remember that a full purse and a whiskey bottle rarely occupy opposite pockets in the same coat.

That Harris Hartranft, of Bellefonte, and his best girl play a duet together on the piano. She plays the keys and he plays the pedals.

That Roy Shillings, who has charge of the Y. M. C. A. bowling alley, says if an attendant gets fired it proves that he doesn't amount to a row of pins.

That there are fathers in Bellefonte who tell their kids that life is a funny proposition and then haul them over the coals for not taking it more seriously.

That some fellows in Bellefonte will never think of the straight and narrow path until they come to die and then they will want some preacher to pow-wow over them.

That Elmer E. Davis, of Bellefonte, says pigs are soaring in price until they soon will be among the Big Bear, the Little Bear, the Dog Star and the other inaccessible sky dwellers.

That the trouble with the charity of some people in Bellefonte is that when they cast their bread upon the water they expect it to come back to them in the form of a ham sandwich.

That the other evening a young clerk in Bellefonte went to see a certain young lady in the South ward, and he jumped from the frying pan into the fire. His "monkey-doodle" business won't work with every girl.

That the young man in Bellefonte who wears a celluloid collar should never squeeze or try to kiss a red-headed girl because there might be a premature explosion. The girl with red hair had better be careful.

That the other day a young lady, of Bellefonte, asked a young man to put a dirty shirt how long he wore his linen. "Not quite to my knees," was his reply and the fair damsel blushed and wished he had not spoken.

That the Methodist revival in Bellefonte is on just now, and it is a splendid opportunity for a bunch of our young men to make a start to meet their way. They need it, and don't you think for one minute they don't.

That W. Harrison Walker has resolved that if it is in the wood he'll be the next congressman from this district. He has pretty long legs, thus he can run mighty fast, and the probabilities are he will beat the other fellows.

That the doctor said what James Derr, of Bellefonte, needed more than anything else was a change of scene. Here is where the physician was off, for every time a show appears in Gorman's opera house, he is changing scenes.

That Harris Olewine, of Bellefonte, was asked the other day how many duck eggs there are in a dozen. His reply was that there were five fresh ones, five doubtful ones, and two bad ones. Harris must have been studying "Eggology."

That they say that there is a father and mother in Bellefonte who are dead-ly opposed to a young man marrying their daughter, but the young lady is "standing pat." Then he should fear not, because he'll be elected by a big majority.

That Frank Naginey, the Bellefonte undertaker, says that the man who finds his little dog and restores him to his owner, will be given a free burial. That's like an insurance policy, you can't win until your dead, and some one else has the justification.

That it is said that George Harris Shugart asked his father, John M. Shugart, cashier of the Centre County Bank, what was necessary to feather your nest. "Cash down, my son," replied his father, which, of course, was capital advice.

That it is difficult for any person in Bellefonte to do what is right and honorable when they are controlled and under the dictation of a person who fears neither man, God or the devil. The person who is bossed about in this way is to be pitied and not cursed.

That they say "Davy" Stuart, of Bellefonte, says he would take a trip on the sea of matrimony if he could get a return ticket. A ship load of old bachelors could be hauled up in Bellefonte at the same time. There is a great deal of satisfaction in knowing you can get back.

That it is said that the other evening a young lady in Bellefonte of good reputation and character, positively refused to attend a card party because a woman of a very objectionable character had been invited. That's an improvement in Bellefonte society that is to be highly commended. To sit down at a table and play with a person of known depraved habits is very humiliating to the person whose life is an open book.

That the other night, about 11 o'clock, three young men of Bellefonte were on their way home and in passing a certain home they quietly stepped up on the porch and looked under the blind that had not been pulled down far enough by a quarter of an inch. What they saw is too racy to put in print but it has afforded much comment during the last week, and is one of the things that places the couple in the parlor just exactly in the class where they belong.

That the officers of the Salvation Army in Bellefonte might do some effective work, if they could suddenly open the doors of some of the parlors in the town anywhere between 10 and 1 o'clock at night. They probably would witness more debauchery than they would find in the slums of New York City. Because some people wear good clothes and bathe in cologne water there is no indication that their life is pure and chaste. No, the prettiest birds are often the foulest.

Teach the Children to Save Money. It often and truthfully said that a penny saved is a penny made. The foundation of many of the greatest fortunes was begun by saving a penny. The habit of saving is one of the best that can be formed. Every child should be taught to save some money every week. The satisfaction of counting one's savings in a bank is one of the pleasures of life we never forget; perhaps every one of us can remember the thrill of joy we had when we emptied the contents of the bank on the table and counted and recounted this mountain of wealth; how eager we were to tell our little friends the amount of our great fortune, and raced with them in refilling the bank.

To bring this pleasure within the reach of every child and help the forming of penny-saving habit, Messrs. Scott & Browne, 409 Pearl Street, New York, have devised a new kind of bank, Emulsion, for 10 cents, a beautiful Little Savings Bank; each bank contains a new Good Luck Penny. Send 10 cents and get one.

New Coal Operation. Having come to the end of the Mohawk mine close to Blue Bell, near Phillipsburg, the Lehigh Valley Coal company will begin extensive operations at that place and will give employment to a large number of men. The opening lies in a tract of 252 acres known as the John Hunter property, the place being underlain with a fine body of coal. The vein, running from three feet eight inches to four feet in thickness and the most valuable, will be worked at once. The property was opened several years ago by the Mohawk Coal company, but they had to abandon it on account of the difficulty in taking care of the water, caused by the way the coal dipped. The new company will surmount this difficulty by tunneling the hill and drawing the water from the side. Arrangements are being made with the Pennsylvania railroad to build sidings to the opening. Work already has started.

From Tacoma, Ill. Dear Editor:—We are having a hard winter out here; had four weeks of good sleighing prior to New Year. I see in the papers of some large porkers that were killed in Centre county. I helped to dress one here for my son that was 18 months old and tipped the scales at 629 pounds, and had 21 gallons of lard. I attended a "ring hunt" here during the holidays in which we captured 529 rabbits and 7 foxes. My health is good, but not that of my son. I expect to return home in the spring. I can't well do without the Centre Democrat.

D. W. McCloskey. Of interest to Farmers and Wood Shippers. The Oak Extract Co., of Newport, Pa., will advance the price of Chestnut and Rock Oak Wood, cut into four foot lengths, for extract purposes, from $2.75 to $3.00 per cord, on January 16, 1910.

Next question is, who will discover Cook.

AUTOISTS TAKE NOTICE.

New State Law Went into Effect Last Saturday.

Changes of a radical character in the regulations which govern the operation of automobiles and motorcycles in Pennsylvania became effective on Saturday of last week. One departure from the present laws is the license fee. Now a straight fee of $3 per machine is charged, regardless of the style. Under the new act each machine must be registered according to horsepower, a sliding scale of fees being provided, $5 for each machine of less than 10 horsepower, $10 each for more than 10 and less than 50 horsepower; $15 for each one of more than 50 horsepower. The fee for motorcycles is $2 each.

Autos from other states which allow Pennsylvania cars to be operated in their states without taking out a license there will be accorded similar privileges here. The average length of time during which visiting machines can be run without a home license is ten days.

Each chauffeur must be licensed and pay a fee of $2. Operators of this fee the driver is furnished with a bright nickel badge cut in the shape of a keystone and inscribed "Pennsylvania Licensed Driver." Owners of licensed cars or members of their families do not need to take out a chauffeur's license, no person who is less than 18 years of age may operate a car without special permission from the automobile division of the state highway department.

There is a fine of $1.00 or imprisonment of one year or both for operating a machine with any other than its own registry tag, and like penalty for "joy-riding" without the consent of the owner. To operate a machine while intoxicated is to court a fine of from $1.00 to $3.00 or imprisonment of one year or both.

It is required that the horn shall be sounded when overtaking another vehicle, or a pedestrian or ridden horse and at all crossings where the authorities have erected signs bearing the words "Danger, blow your horn." The machine, and, if necessary, the motor, must be stopped when the driver or rider of a horse signals to do so, and unnecessary sounding of signals and the use of the muffler cut out when passing other vehicles are prohibited.

The speed limits are as follows: In open country, one mile in two and one-half minutes in dangerous, congested or built-up places, and where the authorities have erected signs inscribed "Danger, run slow," one mile in five minutes. It is unlawful to pass a street car on the side on which passengers are being let on or off. Except in parks or local speed regulations shall conflict with the state law, and no public road open to horses shall be closed to automobiles.

Penalties for exceeding the speed limit or running a car without a registration tag, or with an unlicensed chauffeur are: First offense, $10 to $25 or ten days in jail; second offense, $25 to $50 or twenty days in jail; third and subsequent offense, $50 to $200 and thirty days in jail.

CHILDREN

In disorders and diseases of children drugs seldom do good and often do harm. Careful feeding and bathing are the babies' remedies.

Scott's Emulsion is the food-medicine that not only nourishes them most, but also regulates their digestion. It is a wonderful tonic for children of all ages. They rapidly gain weight and health on small doses.
