Suits to compel restitution to the State of more than $5,000,000, alleged to have been fradulently extorted under deceptive Capitol contracts, were on Monday instituted by the Attorney General in the Dauphin County Court against all the alleged extortioners. These include not only the two convicted grafters and conspirators, but all the other living men who had any official connection with the deals now branded by the State's highest Court as a crime, and also the estates of the two dead convicted grafters, Sanderson and Mathues, who, had they lived, would also have gone to prison, and the bondsmen of the officials.

There are more than a dozen separate defendants, as principals, their bondsmen or executors—these embracing the contractors, the architect, the ex-State officers connected with new Capitol jobs and the sureties. It will be observed that T. Larry Eyre, of West Chester, former Superintendent of Public Grounds and Buildings, is at last one of the defendants, although he escaped with former Governor Samuel W. Pennypacker from the suits for criminal conspir-acy. It is said the State has obtained interesting and pertinent testimony bearing upon his particular part in the proceedings. It is unfortunate that Pennypacker is not included in the list of grafters as he blatently up-held the whole jab,

DREADNAUGHT CARS

The nub of railroading is first-class equipment and reliable service. The Pennsylvania Railroad provides this for the public. For many months big all-steel coaches, built like Dreadnaughts, have been operated on all through trains. Their easy-riding qualities and steadiness of motion have been widely praised. The all-steel dining cars too have dtistinct advantages over the wooden ones. They are stronger and steadier, and the ack of eating is made more enjoyable by the smoother movement.

There are also some steel Pullman Cars-Combined Parlor-Smokers and Baggage in the service now. Travelers like them They have plenty of elbow room and they glide over the rails. The Sleeping Cars are coming. Some four hundred parlor and sleeping cars will be in use by Summer.

These steel coaches and cars are the strongest vehicles ever built for passenger transportation. They are fire proof, break proof and bend proof. They present the climax of satety and the perfection of comfort in railroad travel.

The Pennsylvania Bailroad has always been the leader in all manner of improved equipment as well as in all methods of making their patrons more comfortable. This is why it is known and honored as The Standard Railroad of
